Hurry

Webster's Timeline History
591 BC - 2007

Webster's Online Dictionary

(www.websters-online-dictionary.org)

Published by ICON Group International, Inc.
7404 Trade Street
San Diego, California 92121

www.icongrouponline.com

This edition published by ICON Group International, Inc. in 2009
Printed in the United States of America.

Hurry: Webster's Timeline History, 591 BC - 2007

Copyright ©2009 by ICON Group International, Inc.

All rights reserved. This book is protected by copyright. No part of it may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or otherwise, without written permission from the publisher.

Copying our publications in whole or in part, for whatever reason, is a violation of copyright laws and can lead to penalties and fines. Should you want to copy tables, graphs, or other materials, please contact us to request permission (E-mail: orders@icongroupbooks.com). ICON Group often grants permission for limited reproduction of our publications for classroom use, press releases, and academic research. Such reproduction requires confirmed permission from ICON Group International, Inc. Original authors holding copyright retain any copyrights.

Passages attributed to Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia, are exempt from any compilation or other copyright by ICON Group International, Inc., so users can use the text freely under the copyleft GFDL license established by Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia. Wikipedia content can be copied, modified, and redistributed so long as the new version grants the same freedoms to others and acknowledges the authors of the Wikipedia article used. The full GFDL is reproduced at the end of the book before the index, and applies to each Wikipedia headword cited with "[WP]". One can also refer to the online version at:
http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Wikipedia:Text_of_the_GNU_Free_Documentation_License.

ISBN 0-546-38030-1

PREFACE

Webster's bibliographic and event-based timelines are comprehensive in scope, covering virtually all topics, geographic locations and people. They do so from a linguistic point of view, and in the case of this book, the focus is on "hurry," including when used in literature (e.g. all books that might have "hurry" in their title). As such, this book represents the largest compilation of timeline events associated with "hurry". Webster's timelines cover bibliographic citations, patented inventions, as well as non-conventional and alternative meanings which capture ambiguities in usage. These furthermore cover all parts of speech (possessive, institutional usage, geographic usage) and contexts, including pop culture, the arts, social sciences (linguistics, history, geography, economics, sociology, political science), business, computer science, literature, law, medicine, psychology, mathematics, chemistry, physics, biology and other physical sciences. The following keywords were used to build the timeline: Hurry's, Hurry-, skynde sig (Danish). This "data dump" results in a comprehensive set of entries for a bibliographic and/or event-based timeline on the word "hurry", since editorial decisions to include or exclude events is purely a linguistic process. The resulting entries are used under license or with permission, used under "fair use" conditions, used in agreement with the original authors, or are in the public domain. Across all of the Webster's timelines, at the end of some entries the following codes are used to identify certain sources: [WP] Wikipedia.org. All entries marked [WP] are adapted from articles created by contributors to Wikipedia.org, the free encyclopedia under a copyleft GNU Free Documentation License (GFDL) based on the headword. Please note that these entries are not full articles. For the full article associated with a given Wikipedia headword, the reader can simply go to www.wikipedia.org or www.websters-online-dictionary.org and type in the name of the topic to better understand the context of the entry; passages attributed to Wikipedia are exempt from any compilation or other copyright held by this book and can be freely used under the GFDL found at www.wikipedia.org. The full GFDL is reproduced at the end of the book before the index, and applies to each Wikipedia headword in any of the Webster's Timelines. For all of the sources, the original authors holding copyright retain any copyrights. Proceeds from this book are used to expand the content and coverage of Webster's Online Dictionary (www.websters-online-dictionary.org).

591 BC

591 BC

Aesop Quotation: "But he took it up and put it in his bosom to warm while he hurried home." - Aesop in Aesop's Fables.

450 BC

Sophocles Quotation: "He is dead, then, or more likely the messengers held me in little regard, as messengers do, and hurried along to their homes." - Sophocles in Philoktetes (tr Gregory McNamee).

Sophocles Quotation: "If you are sure, let us sail quickly. Make the man hurry." - Sophocles in Philoktetes (tr Gregory McNamee).

Sophocles Quotation: "Why hurry headlong to thy fate, poor fool?" - Sophocles in Sophocles' Oedipus Trilogy.

415 BC

Aristophanes Quotation: "Hey, what's the hurry?" - Aristophanes in Lysistrata.

Aristophanes Quotation: "Then hurry back again." - Aristophanes in Lysistrata.

393 BC

Xenophon Quotation: "On his side Agesilaus was anxious to lead off his troops, seeing it was midwinter; but, to avoid seeming to hurry his departure out of fear, he preferred to remain three days longer and no great distance from Mantinea." - Xenophon in Hellenica (tr H.G. Dakyns).

Xenophon Quotation: "It was clear that there was something or other happening, but there was no time to go to the front and discover the cause of the hurry." - Xenophon in Anabasis (tr H.G. Dakyns).

Xenophon Quotation: "On the next day, however, the Argive troops arrived in all haste, hurrying to the rescue, and found the enemy duly drawn up." - Xenophon in Hellenica (tr H.G. Dakyns).

387 BC

Plato Quotation: "Nor can I think that you are at all justified, Socrates, in betraying your own life when you might be saved; in acting thus you are playing into the hands of your enemies, who are hurrying on your destruction." - Plato in Crito.

Plato Quotation: "Very good, but you are in too great a hurry to get to man." - Plato in Statesman.

36 BC

Horace Quotation: "The thought seems to be that the rapid course of time, hurrying men to the grave, proves the wisdom of contentment and the folly of avarice." - Horace in Odes and Carmen Saeculare.

Horace Quotation: "To hurry down their zigzag bed?" - Horace in Odes and Carmen Saeculare.

24

Ephesians, Epistle to: Paul's first and hurried visit for the space of three months to Ephesus is recorded in Acts 18:19-21.The work he began on this occasion was carried forward by Apollos (24-26) and Aquila and Priscilla.

63

Marcus Annaeus Lucanus Quotation: "Nor did he mingle dust and clouds of rain In whirling circles, but the earth was swept And hung in air suspended, till amazed The Nasamon saw his scanty field and home Reft by the tempest, and the native huts From roof to base were hurried on the blast." - Marcus Annaeus Lucanus in Pharsalia.

Marcus Annaeus Lucanus Quotation: "For while the fleet Hung in mid passage motionless, the foe Might hurry to attack, with sturdy stroke Churning the deep; or famine's deadly grip Might seize the ships becalmed." - Marcus Annaeus Lucanus in Pharsalia.

Marcus Annaeus Lucanus Quotation: "Best was their lot who gained the open waves Of ocean; others lightened of their masts Shook off the tempest; but a sweeping tide Hurried them southwards, victor of the gale." - Marcus Annaeus Lucanus in Pharsalia.

Marcus Annaeus Lucanus Quotation: "Fortune, high goddess of Praeneste's fane, Saw all her townsmen hurried to their deaths In one fell instant." - Marcus Annaeus Lucanus in Pharsalia.

796

Buta-ul: The treasure was probably buried in 796, when Pippin, the son of Frankish ruler Charles the Great, penetrated with his army into the centre of Avar caganate near the river Tisa. Buta-ul probably buried his treasure in great hurry before the Frankish army arrived, since the treasure was buried only half metre deep in the ground. [WP]

846

Nominoe, Duke of Brittany: Apparently the relations between the Duke and Charles were not as amicable, because Nominoe refused to swear allegiance to the new king and rebelled, declaring Brittany an independent state. Charles of France hurried to crush the rebellion but, after some minor skirmishes, was utterly defeated in the battle of Ballon. In 846, Charles was forced to recognise the independence of Brittany and Nominoe as its king. [WP]

877

Europe: Pope John VIII needed the help of Charles the Bald, king of West Francia, against attacks by the Saracens in Italy. At the end of June Charles set out for Italy accompanied by his wife Richilda and only a small number of his chief vassals. Orders had been issued for an army to be assembled to join him a little later. Pope John VIII received Charles at Vercelli. But at the same time Carloman, king of Bavaria and the East Mark, had also crossed the Alps into eastern Lombardy at the head of a powerful army. Charles hurried on the coronation of Richilda as Empress and sends her back to Gaul with orders for the reinforcements to hurry. However, the Frankish aristocracy was more concerned with the attacks by the Northmen in their country than the war with the Saracens in southern Italy. When the reinforcements didn't arrive, Charles the Bald was compelled to return to West Francia. But on the road he died in a poor hovel. It was said that he was poisoned by his Jewish doctor Zedekiah. Carloman of Bavaria forced by an epidemic, which broke out in his army, returned to Germany.

1071

William Fitzosbern, 1st Earl of Hereford: In 1070 trouble arose in Flanders, where king William's brother-in-law Baldwin VI of Flanders had died, leaving his county and his young sons in the hands of his widow Richildis of Hannonia. Her control of Flanders was challenged by the brother of her late husband, Robert the Frisian. Looking for help, she offered herself in marriage to fitzOsbern. He could not resist the chance to become also count of the rich principality in the German Empire, close to Normandy. He hurried with his army, but nevertheless was defeated by the Count of Flanders: fitzOsbern lost his life in the Battle of Cassel on February 22, 1071. [WP]

1092

Thomas I of York: The pope, referred the dispute to a council of English prelates, and this met at Windsor at Whitsuntide 1072. It was then decided that the archbishop of Canterbury was the superior of the archbishop of York, who had no rights south of the Humber, but whose province included Scotland. But this decision did not put a period to the dispute. It broke out again, and in 1092 and again in 1093 Thomas protested against what he regarded as infringements of his archiepiscopal rights. The first of these occasions was over the dedication of the cathedral built by Remigius at Lincoln and the second was over the consecration of St Anselm to the archbishopric of Canterbury. In 1100, during Anselm's exile to crown Henry I, the ceremony having been hurriedly performed by Maurice, bishop of London, but his anger at this slight was soon appeased. [WP]

1097

Kilij Arslan I: Because of this easy victory he did not consider the main Crusader army, led by various nobles of western Europe, to be a serious threat. He resumed his war with the Danishmends, and was away from Nicaea when these new Crusaders besieged Nicaea in May of 1097. He hurried back to his capital to find it surrounded by the Crusaders, and was defeated in battle with them on May 21. The city then surrendered to the Byzantines. [WP]

1118

Baldwin II of Jerusalem: Upon the death of Baldwin I in 1118, the crown was offered to the king's elder brother Eustace III, but Joscelin of Courtenay insisted that the crown pass to Baldwin of Bourcq, despite Count Baldwin having exiled Joscelin from Edessa in 1113. Baldwin of Edessa accepted and was crowned king of Jerusalem as Baldwin II on Easter Sunday, April 14, 1118. Almost immediately, the kingdom was simultaneously invaded by the Seljuks from Syria and the Fatimids from Egypt, although by showing himself ready and willing to defend his territory, Baldwin forced the Muslim army to back down without a battle. In 1119, the crusader Principality of Antioch was invaded, and Baldwin hurried north with the army of Jerusalem. Roger of Salerno, prince of Antioch, would not wait for Baldwin's reinforcements, and the Antiochene army was destroyed in a battle the crusaders came to call "Ager Sanguinis" (the Field of Blood). Although it was a crushing blow, Baldwin helped Antioch recover and drove out the Seljuks later that year. [WP]

1144

Second Crusade: In late 1144, Joscelin II allied with the Ortoqids and marched out of Edessa with almost his entire army to support the Ortoqid Kara Aslan against Aleppo. Zengi, already seeking to take advantage of Fulk's death in 1143, hurried north to besiege Edessa, which fell to him after a month on December 24, 1144. Manasses of Hierges, Philip of Milly and others were sent from Jerusalem to assist, but arrived too late. Joscelin II continued to rule the remnants of the county from Turbessel, but little by little the rest of the territory was captured or sold to the Byzantines. Zengi himself was praised throughout Islam as "defender of the faith" and "al-Malik al-Mansur", "the victorious king". He did not pursue an attack on the remaining territory of Edessa, or the Principality of Antioch, as was feared; events in Mosul compelled him to return home, and he once again set his sights on Damascus. However, he was assassinated by a slave in 1146 and was succeeded in Aleppo by his son Nur ad-Din. Joscelin attempted to take back Edessa following Zengi's murder, but Nur ad-Din defeated him in November of 1146. [WP]

1150

Baldwin III of Jerusalem: By 1149 the crusaders had returned to Europe, leaving a weakened Jerusalem. Nur ad-Din took advantage of the crusader defeat to invade the Principality of Antioch in the north, and Prince Raymond was killed in the subsequent Battle of Inab. Baldwin III hurried north to take up the regency of the principality. Raymond's wife, Constance, was Baldwin's cousin through his mother and heiress of Antioch by right of her father. Baldwin tried to marry her to an ally but with no success. Baldwin was unable to help defend Turbessel, the last remnant of the county of Edessa, and was forced to cede it to Byzantine emperor Manuel I Comnenus in 1150. In 1152 Baldwin and his mother were called to intervene in a dispute between Baldwin's aunt Hodierna of Tripoli and her husband Count Raymond II. When the matter was settled, Hodierna was about to return to Jerusalem with them, when Raymond was murdered by the Hashshashin. Baldwin remained behind to settle the affairs of the County, while Hodierna took up the regency for her young son Raymond III of Tripoli. Now, Edessa had been lost and Antioch and Tripoli had no leaders; only

Jerusalem had a true king, but even there a dispute was brewing. [WP]

1152

Frederick IV, Duke of Swabia: Frederick IV of Hohenstaufen (1145 - 1167) was duke of Swabia, succeeding his cousin, Frederick Barbarossa, Holy Roman Emperor, in 1152. He was the son of Conrad III, king of Germany (not crowned emperor) and Gertrude of Sulzbach and thus the direct heir of the crown, had there been true heredity. However, on his death bed, Conrad III allegedly advised the only two persons present, his nephew Frederick Barbarossa and the bishop of Bamberg, to nominate Frederick Barbarossa and handed the Imperial insignia to him. Barbarossa wasted no time to get the Bavarian clerics to endorse him and to have the archbishop of Cologne convene a hurried Reichstag where the electors of the Empire (minus their "primus inter pares", the archbishop of Mainz, an ally of the Pope) elected Frederick Barbarossa to be King instead of his six-year-old cousin Frederick who became of Duke of Swabia instead. Frederick participated in Barbarossa's campaigns in Italy, becoming one of the many casualties of the Imperial army that succumbed to disease after occupying Rome in 1167. Barbarossa then gave Swabia to his three-year-old son, Frederick V. [WP]

1193

Hubert Walter: He led the English army back to England after Richard's departure from Palestine; but in Sicily he heard of the king's captivity, and hurried to join him in Germany. In 1193 he returned to England to raise the king's ransom. Soon afterwards he was elected archbishop of Canterbury and made justiciar. [WP]

1205

Kaloyan: The "Greeks" (in this case meaning the Eastern Orthodox former subjects of Byzantium, as opposed to the Roman Catholic "Latins") sent envoys to Kaloyan, promising to make him emperor, if he would provide them with protection. The Crusaders, together with the Venetians under Doge Enrico Dandolo, challenged Kaloyan, and on March 29, 1205, laid siege to Adrianople, which Kaloyan had placed under his protection. Kaloyan hurried to Adrianople with a large army composed of Bulgars (Bulgarians), Vlachs, and 14,000 Cuman mercenaries. On Thursday, April 14, 1205, the Crusaders faced Kaloyan near by the Adrianople Fortress in what came to be called the Battle of Adrianople. Kaloyan soundly defeated the Crusaders and took Emperor Baldwin prisoner. Baldwin languished in prison in the Bulgarian capital of Turnovo until his death on June 11, 1205, despite repeated threats from the pope of a crusade against Bulgaria. [WP]

1216

Albigensian Crusade: Raymond together with Raymond VII of his son returned to the region in April, 1216 and soon raised a substantial force from disaffected towns. Beaucaire was besieged in May and fell after a three month siege, the efforts of de Montfort to relieve the town were repulsed. De Montfort had then to put down an uprising in Toulouse before heading west to captured Bigorre but was repulsed at Lourdes in December 1216. In 1217 while de Montfort was occupied in the Foix region Raymond took Toulouse in September, de Montfort hurried back but his forces were inadequate to take the town before campaigning halted. De Montfort renewed the siege in the spring of 1218; he was killed in June while fighting in a sortie. [WP]

1293

Dante Alighieri Quotation: "Never ran water with such hurrying pace Adown the tube to turn a landmill's wheel, When nearest it approaches to the spokes, As then along that edge my master ran, Carrying me in his bosom, as a child, Not a companion." - Dante Alighieri in The Divine Comedy, entire (tr H.F. Cary).

Dante Alighieri Quotation: "Whence heaping woe on woe he hurried off, As one grief stung to madness." - Dante Alighieri in The Divine Comedy, entire (tr H.F. Cary).

Dante Alighieri Quotation: "Nor with less hurried step did we depart." - Dante Alighieri in The Divine Comedy, entire (tr H.F. Cary).

1325

Elizabeth of Portugal: Denis died in 1325, his son succeeding him. Elizabeth then retired to a convent of the Poor Clares which she had founded at Coimbra, where she took the habit of the Franciscan Order, wishing to devote the rest of her life to the poor and sick in obscurity. But she was called forth to act once more as peacemaker. In 1336 Afonso IV marched his troops against the Alfonso XI of Castile, to whom he had married his daughter Maria, and who had neglected and ill-treated her. In spite of age and weakness, the queen dowager insisted on hurrying to Estremoz, where the two king's armies were drawn up. She again stopped the fighting and caused terms of peace to be arranged. But the exertion brought on her final illness; and as soon as her mission was fulfilled she died of a fever. [WP]

1344

Giovanni Boccaccio Quotation: "So, hurrying hither and thither with the utmost zeal, they made diligent search until they found their host, and told him how matters stood." - Giovanni Boccaccio in The Decameron, vol 1.

1401

Ibn Khaldun: In 1401, under Barquq's successor, his son Faraj, Ibn Khaldun took part in a military campaign against the Mongolian conqueror Timur, who besieged Damascus. Khaldun doubted the success of the venture and didn't really want to leave Egypt. His doubts were vindicated, as the young and inexperienced Faraj, concerned about a revolt in Egypt, left his army to its own devices in Syria and hurried home. Ibn Khaldun remained at the besieged city for seven weeks, being lowered over the city wall by ropes in order to negotiate with Timur, in a historic series of meetings which he reports extensively in his autobiography. Timur questioned him in detail about conditions in the lands of the Maghreb; at his request, Ibn Khaldun even wrote a long report about it. As he recognised the intentions behind this, he did not hesitate, on his return to Egypt, to compose an equally extensive report on the history of the Tartars, together with a character study of Timur, sending these to the Merinid rulers in Fez. [WP]

1464

Henry Beaufort, 3rd Duke of Somerset: For the next year or so Somerset remained close to Edward, attending his court and giving him military advice. But at the end of 1463 he slipped back over to the Lancastrian side, hurried north and started raising troops. He held out in the far north of England until the next May (1464), when he was defeated at the Battle of Hexham, and beheaded shortly afterwards. [WP]

1466

Joanot Martorell Quotation: "When Diafebus saw the squire, he hurried to the emperor and knelt at his feet, begging him not to have the squire killed so that wicked people could not say that it was done because he had spoken badly about his captain." - Joanot Martorell in The White Knight: Tirant Lo Blanc (tr R.S. Rudder).

Joanot Martorell Quotation: "When the son learned that the king was his father, he hurried to the chamber and knelt and kissed his hands and feet many times over." - Joanot Martorell in The White Knight: Tirant Lo Blanc (tr R.S. Rudder).

Joanot Martorell Quotation: "This, and the shape of the ship, made the Genoese realize that it was not one of theirs, and they hurried to prepare to attack." - Joanot Martorell in The White Knight: Tirant Lo Blanc (tr R.S. Rudder).

Joanot Martorell Quotation: "The king and the other Moors, unarmed, hurried to where the fire was greatest in order to put it out." - Joanot Martorell in The White Knight: Tirant Lo Blanc (tr R.S. Rudder).

1471

Joanot Martorell Quotation: "So she hurried to where the king was, and fell to her knees on the hard ground." - Joanot Martorell in The White Knight: Tirant Lo Blanc (tr R.S. Rudder).

1471

Battle of Barnet: The main protagonists were King Edward IV of England and Richard Neville, Earl of Warwick, former friends and allies who had fallen out as a result of Edward's tendency to favour the relatives of his queen, Elizabeth Woodville. In October of the previous year, Warwick "the Kingmaker" had driven Edward out of the country, replacing his Lancastrian predecessor, King Henry VI of England, on the throne. Warwick then made the mistake of agreeing to assist King Louis XI of France in his conflict with the Duke of Burgundy. This prompted the Burgundians to offer military aid to Edward, who returned to England on March 14, 1471. The two armies were evenly matched in numbers, but Warwick was expecting support from his son-in-law, George, Duke of Clarence, who happened to be Edward's brother and hurried to make his peace with the latter. [WP]

1483

Edward of Middleham, Prince of Wales: Edward was also invested as Prince of Wales following his father's succession as king of England in 1483. The investiture ceremony took place at York Minster, and contemporary records suggest it was arranged in a hurry. It is thought possible that the boy had been unable to travel to London for his parents' coronation because of ill-health, but that his condition had improved by the time they reached the north of England. [WP]

1485

Elizabeth of York: Elizabeth Woodville arranged to marry her daughter to Tudor if he could overthrow King Richard, which he did at the Battle of Bosworth Field on August 22, 1485, becoming King Henry VII. But he was in no hurry to marry Elizabeth of York, although he had publicly taken a sacred oath to do so before he had left France to invade England. On October 30, Henry was crowned, but still delayed his wedding. Finally Parliament itself, on behalf of the people, petitioned him to carry out his promise, and on January 18, 1486, the marriage took place. It was not until November 25, 1487, more than a year after their first child, Arthur, was born on September 20, 1486, that Elizabeth was crowned queen. [WP]

Leonardo Da Vinci Quotation: "The captain himself, his staff raised, hurries towards these auxiliaries, pointing to the spot where they are most needed." - Leonardo Da Vinci in The Notebooks, vol 1.

1498

Nicolo Machiavelli Quotation: "Thus the Florentines hurried on until they reached their encampment under Serravalle, intending to cross the hill on the following morning." - Nicolo Machiavelli in The Prince (tr W.K. Marriott).

1502

Desiderius Erasmus Quotation: "Whereas on the contrary, these devout persons, by how much the nearer anything concerns the body, by so much more they neglect it and are wholly hurried away with the contemplation of things invisible." - Desiderius Erasmus in The Praise of Folly.

1503

Ludovico Ariosto Quotation: "The impatient Child had dropt both shield and spear, And hurrying now his other arms uncased; When, casting down her eyes in shame and fear, The virtuous ring upon her finger placed, Angelica descried, and which of yore From her Brunello in Albracca bore." - Ludovico Ariosto in Orlando Furioso.

Ludovico Ariosto Quotation: "But the bold youths who, valiant and robust, Small thought upon the approaching ills bestow, Scorning their elders' counsel, here and there Hurrying, in fury, to the walls repair." - Ludovico Ariosto in Orlando Furioso.

1512

Ludovico Ariosto Quotation: "V The wily traitor thought that damsel sweet Had perished on the darksome cavern's floor, And with pale visages hurried his retreat From that, through him contaminated door." - Ludovico Ariosto in Orlando Furioso.

Ludovico Ariosto Quotation: "The captain, little distant from his crew, Is keener than the rest the chase to ply; And, when he sees them hurrying in such guise, Is certain that the twain are enemies." - Ludovico Ariosto in Orlando Furioso.

Ludovico Ariosto Quotation: "He to find Isabella was so pressed, Her in the midst of fire he would have sought; But could not hurry more than was allowed By her his convoy, since he so had vowed." - Ludovico Ariosto in Orlando Furioso.

1512

Pierre Terrail, seigneur de Bayard: At the siege of Padua Bayard won further distinction, by his courage and consummate skill. He continued to serve in the Italian wars until the siege of Brescia in 1512. Here his boldness in first mounting the rampart resulted in a severe wound, and his soldiers had to carry him into a neighbouring house, the residence of a nobleman, whose wife and daughters he protected from threatened insult. Before his wound was healed, he hurried to join Gaston de Foix, under whom he served in the Battle of Ravenna (1512). [WP]

1534

Josel of Rosheim: While still occupied with the Augsburg articles, Josel had to hurry to the court of Charles V of Brabant and Flanders in order to defend the calumniated German Jews there (1531). In this to him most inhospitable country-for no Jews were living there then-he spent three months, occupying himself, when he was not officially engaged, with Hebrew language studies. Though his life was once in danger, he succeeded in attaining the object of his journey. At the Reichstag of Regensburg (1532) he tried in vain to dissuade the proselyte Solomon Molko from carrying out his fantastic plan to arm the German Jews and to offer them as a help to the emperor in his wars with the Turks. Molko did not follow Josel's advice, and soon after was burned as a heretic. In 1534 Josel went to Bohemia to make peace between the Jews of Prague and those of the small Bohemian town of Horovice (Horowitz). He succeeded in his mission, but the Jews of Horowitz plotted against his life, and he had to seek refuge in the castle of Prague. [WP]

1535

Benvenuto Cellini Quotation: "One day he sent in a vast hurry for me, saying I must take the post at once, in order to present myself before the King of France, who had eagerly been asking for me, under the impression that I was in France." - Benvenuto Cellini in Autobiography (tr Symonds).

Benvenuto Cellini Quotation: "He, however, advised me not to be in such a hurry, for it might turn out perhaps that the evil was not so great as I imagined; and calling Messer Annibal Caro, who lived with him, bade him go for information." - Benvenuto Cellini in Autobiography (tr Symonds).

Benvenuto Cellini Quotation: "Leaving my home in a hurry, armed, however, as usual, I walked rapidly through Strada Giulia toward the Palazzo Farnese, not expecting to meet anybody at that hour of day." - Benvenuto Cellini in Autobiography (tr Symonds).

Benvenuto Cellini Quotation: "He also prayed me to invite Sbietta's wife to sit down with us; for she and that Cecchino Buti kept running hither and thither in the most extraordinary fuss and hurry." - Benvenuto Cellini in Autobiography (tr Symonds).

Benvenuto Cellini Quotation: "Accordingly he hurried to the Pope and told him the whole story; whereupon his Holiness sent three times on that day to see if the ring was finished." - Benvenuto Cellini in Autobiography (tr Symonds).

1548

Teresa of Avila Quotation: "The inhabitants were so excited, that they talked of nothing else; every one condemned me, and hurried to the Provincial and to my monastery." - Teresa of Avila in Life of St Teresa of Jesus.

1565

Pope Sixtus V: After a brief term as procurator of his order, he was attached to the Spanish legation headed by Buoncampagno (later Pope Gregory XIII) in 1565, which was sent to investigate a charge of heresy levelled against Archbishop Carranza of Toledo. The violent dislike he conceived for Buoncampagno exerted a marked influence upon his subsequent actions. He hurried back to Rome upon the accession of Pius V, who made him apostolic vicar of his order, and, later (1570), cardinal. [WP]

1590

William Shakespeare Quotation: "In few, they hurried us aboard a bark, Bore us some leagues to sea, where they prepared A rotten carcass of a boat, not rigg'd, Nor tackle, sail, nor mast: the very rats Instinctively have quit it." - William Shakespeare in The Tempest.

1596

Sir Richard Grenville, 1st Baronet: In 1630, he married Mary Fitz (1596-1671), the wealthy widow of Sir Charles Howard (d. 1622), and was made a baronet; his violent temper destroyed the marriage, and he was imprisoned as the result of two lawsuits, one with his wife, and the other with her kinsman, the Earl of Suffolk. In 1633 he escaped from prison and went to Germany, returning to England six years later to join the army which Charles I was collecting to march against the Scots. Early in 1641, just after the outbreak of the Irish rebellion, Sir Richard led some troops to Ireland, where he won some fame and became governor of Trim; then returning to England in 1643 he was arrested at Liverpool by Parliament, but was soon released and sent to join the parliamentary army. Instead, having obtained men and money, he hurried to Charles I at Oxford and was despatched to take part in the siege of Plymouth, quickly becoming the leader of the forces engaged in this enterprise. Compelled to raise the siege he withdrew into Cornwall, where he helped to resist the advancing Parliamentarians; but he quickly showed signs of insubordination, and, whilst sharing in the siege of Taunton, he was wounded and obliged to resign his command. [WP]

1597

Antonio de Morga Quotation: "When the governor heard the noise from his cabin, thinking that the galley was dragging and that the crew were lowering the awning and taking to the oars, he hurried carelessly out bareheaded through the hatchway of the cabin." - Antonio de Morga in History of the Philippine Islands, vols 1 and 2.

Antonio de Morga Quotation: "Very shortly after nightfall, Don Luys Dasmarinas, who was living near the monastery and church of Minondoc, on the other side of the river, came hurriedly to the city to advise the governor that the Sangleys had revolted." - Antonio de Morga in History of the Philippine Islands, vols 1 and 2.

1602

Henry Wotton: In 1602 he was living at Florence, and a plot to murder James VI of Scotland having come to the ears of the grand-duke of Tuscany, Wotton was entrusted with letters to warn the king of the danger, and with Italian antidotes against poison. As "Ottavio Baldi" he travelled to Scotland by way of Norway. He was well received by James, and remained three months at the Scottish court, retaining his Italian incognito. He then returned to Florence, but on receiving the news of James's accession hurried to England. James knighted him, and offered him the embassy at Madrid or Paris; but Wotton, knowing that both these offices involved ruinous expense, desired rather to represent James at Venice. [WP]

1619

Thirty Years' War: The rebellion initially favoured the Bohemians. They were joined in revolt by much of Upper Austria whose nobility was Lutheran and Calvinist (a fact that would swiftly change in the coming years.) Lower Austria revolted soon after and in 1619, Count Thurn led an army to the walls of Vienna itself. In the East, the Protestant Prince of Transylvania, Gabriel Bethlen, led a spirited campaign into Hungary with the blessings of the Turkish Sultan. The Emperor, who had been preoccupied with the Uzkok War, hurried to reform an army to stop the Bohemians and their allies from entirely overwhelming his country. Charles Bonaventure de Longueval, count of Count Bucquoy, the commander of the Austrian army, defeated the forces of the Protestant Union at the Battle of Sablat, led by Count Mansfeld, on 10 June 1619. This cut off Count Thurn's communications with Prague, and he abandoned his siege of Vienna at once. Sablat also cost the Protestants an important ally - Savoy, long an opponent of Habsburg expansion, had already sent considerable sums to the Protestants and even troops to garrison fortresses in the Rhineland. The capture of Mansfeld's field chancery revealed the Savoyards' plot, and forced the embarrassed duke to leave the war. [WP]

1638

Taylor, John: Born in 1580 and died in 1653, authored "Newes and strange newes from St. Christophers of a tempestuous spirit, which is called by the Indians a hurry-cano or whirlewind : Which hapneth in many of those ilands of America or the West-Indies, as it did in August last, about the 5. day. 1638. Blowing downe houses, tearing up trees by the rootes, and it did puffe men up from the earth, as they had beene feathers, killing divers men. Whereunto is added the true and last relation of the dreadfull accident which hapned at Withicombe in Devonshire the 21. of October last past." Publisher: by I(ohn) O(kes) for Francis Coules dwelling in the Old-Baily (Imprinted at London). Published in 1638.

1641

John Hurry: In 1641 he returned home and became Lieut.-Colonel in a Scottish regiment. At the end of the same year he was involved in the plot known as the "Incident". At the outbreak of the English Civil War, Hurry joined the army of the earl of Essex, and gave distinguished service at the Battle of Edgehill and Battle of Brentford. [WP]

1642

H. G.: Publication of "A true relation of the proceedings of His Excellence the Earle of Essex,: with his army, since his departure from these parts, in pursutie of the cavaliers. With the taking of Redding by Colonell Hampden, and Colonell Hurry with their regiments. With the departure of the Kings forces by Worcester towards Shrewsbury." Publisher: printed for Iohn Matthewes (London). Published in 1642.

Rupert, Prince, Count Palatine: Publication of "A speech, spoken by Prince Robert: to the King's Most Excellent Majesty and the lords of the Councell concerning His Majesties desire for an accomodation of peace: wherein is declared his resolution concerning Sergeant Major Skippon, Collonell Browne, and Collonell Hurry likewise the heads of a s(p)eech, spoken by Captaine Lilbourne, before a councell of warre, held at Oxford, December 18,." Publisher: printed for I.H. and Richard Crosby. Published in 1642.

1643

John Hurry: Early in 1643 he deserted to the Royalists, bringing with him information on which Prince Rupert acted at once. The result was the Battle of Chalgrove Field, where Hurry again showed conspicuous valour; he was knighted on the same evening. In 1644 he was with Rupert at Marston Moor, where with Charles Lucas he led the victorious left wing of horse. A little later, thinking the King's cause lost, he again deserted, and eventually was sent with William Baillie to fight against Montrose in the Highlands. [WP]

1644

Koxinga: Beijing fell in 1644 to rebels led by Li Zicheng, and the last emperor Chongzhen hanged himself on a tree at modern-day Jingshan Park in Beijing. Aided by Wu Sangui, Manchurian armies knocked off the rebels with ease and took the city. In the areas below the Yangtze River, there were many anti-Qing people of principle and ambition who wanted to restore descendants of the Ming Dynasty to the Imperial throne. One of these descendants, Prince Tang, was aided to gain power in Fuzhou by Huang Daozhou and Zheng Zhilong, Koxinga's father. When the Qing captured Prince Tang, Koxinga was in Zhangzhou raising soldiers and supplies. He heard the news that his father was preparing to surrender to the Qing court and hurried to Quanzhou to persuade him against this plan, but his father refused to listen and turned himself in. [WP]

1645

Publication: Publication of "An extract of severall letters from Scotland;: sent to their commissioners in England, concerning the defeat given to the rebels under the command of James Grahame, late Earl of Montrose, at Dundie; by the army of the Parliament of Scotland, under the conduct of Lieutenant Generall Baylie, and General Major Hurry. Together, with the pursuit of the rebels after the victory. Published by authority." Publisher: printed for R. Bostock and Samuell Gellibrand, April 15 (London). Published in 1645.

William Baillie: In 1644, Baillie marched into England with the Army of the Covenant. He commanded the Scottish infantry at the battle of Marston Moor. In 1645, he commanded the detachment sent from Lord Leven's army against the Marquis of Montrose. On his arrival in Scotland, Baillie successfully manoeuvred to prevent Montrose from marching south. In April, he almost caught up with Montrose at Dundee but Montrose succeeded in escaping into the Highlands. Baillie then split his forces, planning to trap Montrose between his own troops and a detachment commanded by Sir John Hurry. However, Montrose decisively defeated Hurry at Auldearn in May 1645; two months later he defeated Baillie himself at Alford. After this defeat, Baillie tendered his resignation. This was rejected by the Covenanter leaders. Instead a new army was raised. Baillie retained command but was now accompanied by a Committee of War headed by the Earl of Argyll. Against Baillie's advice, a battle with Montrose was forced at Kilsyth. Once again, he was defeated - his final involvement against Montrose who was defeated at Philiphaugh on 13 September. [WP]

1648

Cromwell, Oliver: Born in 1599 and died in 1658, authored "Lieut: General Cromwel's letter to the honorable William Lenthal Esq; speaker of the honorable House of Commons,: of the several great victories obtained against the Scots and Sir Marmaduke Langdales forces in the North: where were slain of the Scots party above two thousand, above nine thousand taken prisoners, four or five thousand arms taken, the whole infantry ruined, Duke Hamilton fled into Wales, and Langdale northward, Major General Vandrusk, Colonel Hurry, and Colonel Ennis taken prisoners, who formerly served the Parliament. Ordered by the Commons assembled in Parliament, that this letter be forthwith printed and published. H: Elsynge, Cler. Parl. D. Com." Publisher: printed for Edward Husband, printer to the Honorable House of Commons, August 23 (London). Published in 1648.

1650

Fronde: Mazarin at this point drew upon Plessis-Praslin's army for reinforcements to be sent to subdue the rebellion in the south, and the royal general had to retire. Then archduke Leopold Wilhelm decided that he had spent enough of the king of Spain's money and men in the French quarrel. His regular army withdrew into winter quarters, and left Turenne to deliver the princes with a motley host of Frondeurs and Lorrainers. Plessis-Praslin by force and bribery secured the surrender of Rethel on December 13, 1650, and Turenne, who had advanced to relieve the place, fell back hurriedly. But he was a terrible opponent, and Plessis-Praslin and Mazarin himself, who accompanied the army, had many misgivings as to the result of a lost battle. The marshal chose nevertheless to force Turenne to a decision, and the battle of Blanc-Champ (near Somme-Py) or Rethel was the consequence. [WP]

1655

John Hurry: Sir John Hurry (or Urry) (died May 29, 1650) was a Scottish soldier. [WP]

Nikolaes Heinsius: He proceeded to Milan, and worked for a considerable time in the Ambrosian library; he was preparing to explore Switzerland in the same patient manner, when the news of his father's illness recalled him hurriedly to Leiden. He was soon called away to Stockholm at the invitation of Queen Christina, at whose court he waged war with Salmasius, who accused him of having supplied Milton with facts from the life of that great but irritable scholar. Heinsius paid a flying visit to Leiden in 1650, but immediately returned to Stockholm. In 1651 he once more visited Italy; the remainder of his life was divided between Uppsala and Holland. [WP]

Publication: Publication of "Some passages concerning the declared King of Scots. Also, the confessions and speeches of the Laird Darsey, Major General Hurry, and Collonel Spotwood; made upon the scaffold. With some remarkable passages concerning the city of London." Published in 1650.

T. S.: Publication of "Several Passages concerning the declared King of Scots, both by sea and land, communicated by letters the first signed, S. T. to persons of credit: Also the confessions and speeches of Laird Darsey, Major-General Hurry, and Collonell Spotswood,. at." Published in 1650.

1655

Biddle, John: Born in 1615 and died in 1662, authored "Two letters of Mr. Iohn Biddle, late prisoner in Nevvgate, : but now hurried away to some remote island. One to the Lord Protector. The other to the Lord President Laurence. Wherein you have an account of his judgement concerning those opinions whereof he is accused. (Two letters of Mr. John Biddle, late prisoner in Newgate)." Published in 1655.

1657

Rogers, John: Born in 1627 and died in 1665, authored "Jegar-Sahadvtha: an oyled pillar. Set up for posterity, against present wickednesses, hypocrisies, blasphemies, persecutions and cruelties of this serpent power (now up) in England (the out-street of the beast.) Or, A heart appeale to heaven and earth,: broken out of bonds and banishment at last, in a relation of some part of the past and present sufferings of John Rogers in close prison and continued banishment, for the most blessed cause and testimony of Jesus; the sound of the seventh trumpet and the gospel of the seven thunders, or holy oracles (called rayling by them in power) sealed up to the time of the end. From Carisbrook Castle in the third year of my captivity, the fifth-prison, and the third in exile, having been hurried about from post to pillar, quia perdere nolo substantiam propter accidentia." Published in 1657.

1660

William Coventry: He was the son of the lord keeper Thomas Coventry, 1st Baron Coventry, by his second wife Elizabeth Aldersley. Coventry matriculated at Queens College, Oxford, at the age of fourteen. Owing to the outbreak of the English Civil War he was forced to abandon his studies, but according to Sir John Bramston he had a good tutor, and through travelling he learned to speak the French language fluently. He was young at the time of the war, yet Clarendon wrote that he joined the army and had the command of a foot company and shortly afterwards went to France. Here he remained till all hopes of obtaining foreign assistance and of raising a new army had to be laid aside, when he returned to England and kept aloof from the various royalist intrigues. When the prospect of a restoration appeared in 1660,

1668

Coventry hurried to Breda, was appointed secretary to James, Duke of York (who was Lord High Admiral of England) and headed the royal procession when Charles II entered London in triumph. [WP]

1668

Samuel Pepys Quotation: "Coming down again to my Lord, he told me that news was come that the Queen is landed; at which I took leave, and by coach hurried to White Hall, the bells ringing in several places; but I found there no such matter, nor anything like it." - Samuel Pepys in Diary, Mar/Apr 1661/62.

Samuel Pepys Quotation: "When the father heard of this, he hurried back, and managed to get Elizabeth out of the nunnery after she had been there twelve days." - Samuel Pepys in Diary of Samuel Pepys, Preface and Life.

Samuel Pepys Quotation: "Home and found all things in a hurry of business, Slater, our messenger, being here as my cook till very late." - Samuel Pepys in Diary, Jan/Feb/Mar 1660/61.

Samuel Pepys Quotation: "Batten, and myself met and did business, we being in a mighty hurry." - Samuel Pepys in Diary, Apr/May 1664.

Samuel Pepys Quotation: "So, in a hurry getting myself and her things ready, to bed." - Samuel Pepys in Diary, Sep/Oct 1663.

1673

Erasmus, Desiderius: Author of "The pope shut out of heaven gates, or, A dialogue between Pope Julius the 2d, his Genius, and Saint Peter: wherein is most elegantly, learnedly, and wittily set forth how Pope Julius (after death) imperiously knocking at heaven gates, is solutely denied entrance by Saint Peter, so that though having been alwayes stil'd His Holiness, and made famous by his warlike actions, whereby he hoped to become Lord of heaven, he is notwithstanding delivered over as a slave to Satan, and hurried away to the Devil's mansion." Exactly from the original of the famous and learned Erasmus Roterodamus. Publisher: printed for Roger Vaughan. (London). Published in 1673.

1674

Louis Jolliet: Having established beyond doubt the important fact that the great river emptied into the Gulf of Mexico, the expedition returned, arriving at Green Bay in September, after having paddled 2,500 miles. Here Marquette remained while Joliet hurried to Quebec, where he arrived the middle of August 1674 after having lost all his documents and maps by the upsetting of his canoe in the Lachine Rapids. Whether or not Joliet was the first Frenchman to have gazed upon the Great River, the reports that he laid before the governor and his establishment of the fact that the Mississippi was a highway to the sea led to the immediate formation of plans on the part of Canadian merchants and officers for the settlement of the Mississippi Valley, though Joliet's offer to plant a colony among the Illinois was refused by the French Government. [WP]

W. D.: Publication of "Terrible and wonderful news from Scotland, or, A dreadful warning for usurers and extortioners.: Being a full and faithful relation how a most miserable griping usurer and oppressor of the poor, living near John a Grotes house in the Highlands, was on the third of May last past, carried away by an evil-spirit, and hurried too and fro in the air two days together, in the sight of thousands of people, and at last his body torn to pieces, and dropt in several places." Communicated in a letter from one in the Highlands to a friend in London; dated from Glascow the 12th of May. Publisher: printed for A. Huish, in the year (London). Published in 1674.

1684

Publication: Publication of "The triumph at an end, or, The tyranness defeated.: Behold how rashly lovers hurry on upon the point of sure destruction, females are tyrants, for when they see they are admir'd & lov'd, theyl cruel be. When most you shun them, then they most do love, then let all mankind in a mean still move: or if your flame burn bright let then not know it, your hopes are vain'd if you once show it. To a pleasant new tune of, How bright are those etc.. Or. Young Jamey." Publisher: printed for J. Wright, J. Clark, W Thackeray & T. Passenger, between (London). Published in 1684.

1687

Sir Robert Holmes: On 21 August 1687, secretary of state Sunderland signed a commission that put Holmes in command of a squadron to suppress the buccaneers of the West Indies, but it is doubtful whether he ever actually took command. Since the wound received during the clash with the Smyrna Convoi, his health was steadily deteriorating, and an expedition that sailed in September 1687 was commanded by Sir John Narborough in his stead. Holmes was now busy preparing the defence against Dutch invasion. On 4 November 1688, five sailors of the invasion fleet landed on the Isle of Wight to buy provisions, being welcomed by the population. While the English fleet lay becalmed off Beachy Head and William III landed his forces at Torbay, Holmes wrestled with his mutinous militia. While James had fled his capital on 11 December (an action Parliament took as his relinquishing the throne) and one day later, the commander-in-chief, Sir George Legge, Lord Dartmouth brought the fleet over to William, it was not before 17 December that Holmes surrendered. He continued as governor of the Isle of Wight, although he was occasionally suspected of Jacobite conspiracy. But such reservations as he had against the overthrow of James II of James II stemmed from the loyalty of a military professional, and after his vote in parliament against the accession of William and Mary was defeated, he served them with the same determination as he had the Stuart kings. Although his health was now rapidly giving out and he had to spend more and more time of the year in Bath, the threat of French invasions in 1690 and 1692 made him hurry back to his post as swiftly as ever. [WP]

1691

Michel Baron Quotation: "Hurry! Have you a carriage?" - Michel Baron in The Lucky Man (tr Frank J. Morlock).

1696

Daniel Defoe Quotation: "But it is impossible to express the confusion and filthy vile noise, the hurry and universal disorder, that was among that vast multitude of people upon our firing off three guns." - Daniel Defoe in The Life, Adventures and Piracies of the Famous Captain Singleton.

Daniel Defoe Quotation: "As this fellow was himself a Tartar, and perfectly spoke their language, he counterfeited so well that they all believed him, and away they drove in a violent hurry to Sibeilka." - Daniel Defoe in Tour Through the Eastern Counties of England.

1699

William Congreve Quotation: "Gadso, the heat of my story carried me beyond my discretion, as the heat of the lady's passion hurried her beyond her reputation. But I hope you don't know whom I mean; for there was a great many ladies raffled." - William Congreve in Love for Love.

1700

Eccles, John: Died in 1735, authored "A song in Justice Buisy or Ye gentleman quack." Set by Mr. I: Eccles(,) sung by Mrs Bracegirdle. (Justice Busy I'll hurry thee hence) (I'll hurry thee hence). Published in 1700.

1705

Eccles, John: Author of "I'll hurry thee hence. =: A song: in Justice Buisy or Ye gentleman quack." Sung by Mrs Bracegirdle. (Justice Busy.). Published in 1705.

1706

Jonathan Swift Quotation: "It is true, indeed, that although their numbers be vast and their productions numerous in proportion, yet are they hurried so hastily off the scene that they escape our memory and delude our sight." - Jonathan Swift in A Tale of a Tub.

Jonathan Swift Quotation: "Here has been such a hurry with the Queen's Birthday, so much fine clothes, and the Court so crowded that I did not go there." - Jonathan Swift in The Journal to Stella.

Jonathan Swift Quotation: "He pulled off his hat in a hurry." - Jonathan Swift in Gulliver's Travels.

1712

Anthony Aston: He began to be known on the London stage in the early years of the 18th century. He had tried the law and other professions, which he finally abandoned for the theatre. He had some success as a dramatic author, writing "Love in a Hurry" (performed in Dublin about 1709) and "Pastora, or the Coy Shepherdess", an opera in 1712. For many years he toured the English provinces with his wife and son, producing pieces which he himself wrote, or medleys from various plays fitted together with songs and dialogues of his own. [WP]

1715

Saint-Simon Quotation: "At last, carried away by anger and vexation, Bissy seized the Marechal by the arm and the shoulder, and hurried him to the door, which he opened, and then pushed him out, and followed at his heels." - Saint-Simon in Memoirs of Louis XIV, vol 15.

Saint-Simon Quotation: "The Cardinal, stronger than his adversary, turned the Marquis round, hurried him towards the door, both talking the while, the Cardinal with measure, the Marquis in no way mincing his words." - Saint-Simon in Memoirs of Louis XIV, vol 12.

Saint-Simon Quotation: "At last, the hurry to make me set out was so great, that such of the things as were ready he sent on by rapid conveyance to Bayonne, at a cost by no means trifling to me." - Saint-Simon in Memoirs of Louis XIV, vol 14.

Saint-Simon Quotation: "Vendome passed the rest of his visit in a rage and embarrassment easy to conceive, and on the day Monseigneur returned to Versailles he hurried straight to Anet." - Saint-Simon in Memoirs of Louis XIV, vol 6.

Saint-Simon Quotation: "The Swedish minister, charged with protests from the principal Turkish chiefs, hurried to Constantinople, where the Grand Vizier was strangled upon arriving." - Saint-Simon in Memoirs of Louis XIV, vol 9.

1716

Alexander Pope Quotation: "At the end of two months, the Dean was hurried home by the tidings of Stella's illness." - Alexander Pope in The Poetical Works of Alexander Pope, vol 1.

1719

Ludvig Holberg Quotation: "Mistress swore you shouldn't do any work for us again in a hurry." - Ludvig Holberg in Comedies.

Ludvig Holberg Quotation: "Very well; but hurry up, for I am both hungry and thirsty." - Ludvig Holberg in Comedies.

Ludvig Holberg Quotation: "Hey, gentlemen! you are in too much of a hurry." - Ludvig Holberg in Comedies.

Ludvig Holberg Quotation: "But where shall we get a servant in a hurry?" - Ludvig Holberg in Comedies.

Ludvig Holberg Quotation: "Why is that fellow in such a hurry?" - Ludvig Holberg in Comedies.

1723

Browne, Moses: Born in 1704 and died in 1787, authored "All-bedevil'd : or, the house in a hurry. A farce." Publisher: printed in the year (London). Published in 1723.

1725

Samuel Richardson Quotation: "I hurried myself in writing this; and I hurry Robin away with it, that, in a situation so very critical, you may have all the time possible to consider what I have written, upon two points so very important." - Samuel Richardson in Clarissa, vol 2.

Samuel Richardson Quotation: "I took my pen, and addressed myself to my uncle Harlowe, enclosing that which my mother had returned unopened, and the torn unopened one sent to my father; having first hurried off a transcript for you." - Samuel Richardson in Clarissa, vol 2.

Samuel Richardson Quotation: "Instantly almost came in Betty, in a great hurry, looking at me as spitefully as if she were my sister: Sir, said she to my brother, my master desires to speak with you this moment at the door." - Samuel Richardson in Clarissa, vol 2.

Samuel Richardson Quotation: "It is only, that I may not be hurried away so soon as next Thursday." - Samuel Richardson in Clarissa, vol 2.

Samuel Richardson Quotation: "It may cost me my life, to be hurried away so suddenly." - Samuel Richardson in Clarissa, vol 2.

1730

Henry Fielding Quotation: "But in all these various changes I never enjoyed any real satisfaction, unless in the little time I lived retired in the country free from all noise and hurry, and while I was conscious I was the object of the love and esteem of a man of sense and honor." - Henry Fielding in From This World to the Next.

Henry Fielding Quotation: "This difficulty occurred upon the present occasion; and it was the greater, as some gentlemen had, in their extreme hurry, marched off, after their first draught, and had entirely forgot to contribute anything towards the said reckoning." - Henry Fielding in The History of Tom Jones, a Foundling.

Henry Fielding Quotation: "He then called for his bill with the utmost haste, declared he must be at Hereford that evening, lamented his great hurry of business, and wished he could divide himself into twenty pieces, in order to be at once in twenty places." - Henry Fielding in The History of Tom Jones, a Foundling.

Henry Fielding Quotation: "Poor Sophia was too much in her aunt's power to deny her anything positively; she was obliged to promise that she would see Mr Blifil, and be as civil to him as possible; but begged her aunt that the match might not be hurried on." - Henry Fielding in The History of Tom Jones, a Foundling.

Henry Fielding Quotation: "The coachman, in the meantime, took an opportunity to call up a surgeon, who lived within a few doors; after which, he reminded his passengers how late they were, and, after they had taken leave of Joseph, hurried them off as fast as he could." - Henry Fielding in Joseph Andrews, vol 1.

The Abbe Prevost Quotation: "She found nothing wanting for her complete equipment but a pair of pantaloons, which in my hurry I had forgotten." - The Abbe Prevost in Manon Lescaut.

1742

Englishman: Publication of "The Englishman's miscellany: containing, 1. The first lesson for the day, taken out of the first chapter of the last book of patriotism. 20. The world in a hurry: ...." Publisher: printed in the year (London). Published in 1742.

1743

David Hume Quotation: "The slow and deliberate steps of philosophers here, if any where, are distinguished from the precipitate march of the vulgar, who, hurried on by the smallest similitude, are incapable of all discernment or consideration." - David Hume in Dialogues Concerning Natural Religion.

David Hume Quotation: "When it often returns upon us, the novelty wears off; the passions subside; the hurry of the spirits is over; and we survey the objects with greater tranquillity." - David Hume in A Treatise of Human Nature.

David Hume Quotation: "We are hurried away by the lively imagination of our author or companion; and even be himself is often a victim to his own fire and genius." - David Hume in A Treatise of Human Nature.

1745

Hausset Quotation: "Amid their assurances of tender interest and concern, they both reproved me mildly for my imprudence in having, when I went to Brussels, hurried from Paris without my passport." - Hausset in Memoirs of Louis XV/XVI, vol 6.

Jean-Jacques Rousseau Quotation: "I had still, in favor of her manuscript, another idea more reasonable, but which, by more distant effects, has not been much less prejudicial to me; so much does everything concur with the work of destiny, when that hurries on a man to misfortune." - Jean-Jacques Rousseau in The Confessions, entire.

Jean-Jacques Rousseau Quotation: "What is astonishing, my conception is clear and penetrating, if not hurried: I can make excellent impromptus at leisure, but on the instant, could never say or do anything worth notice." - Jean-Jacques Rousseau in The Confessions, book 3.

Leopold I, Prince of Anhalt-Dessau: Early in that year his wife died. He was now over seventy, but his last campaign was destined to be the most brilliant of his long career. A combined effort of the Austrians and Saxons to retrieve the disasters of the summer by a winter campaign towards Berlin itself led to a hurried concentration of the Prussians. Frederick from Silesia checked the Austrian main army and hastened towards Dresden. But before he had arrived, Leopold, no longer in observation, had decided the war by his overwhelming victory of Kesselsdorf (December 14, 1745). It was his habit to pray before battle, for he was a devout Lutheran. On this last field his words were, "O Lord God, let me not be disgraced in my old days. Or if Thou wilt not help me, do not help these scoundrels, but leave us to try it ourselves." With this great victory Leopold's career ended. He retired from active service, and the short remainder of his life was spent at Dessau. [WP]

1746

Samuel Johnson Quotation: "At length I was received at a draper's, but when it was known to my mistress that I had only one gown, and that of silk, she was of opinion that I looked like a thief, and without warning hurried me away." - Samuel Johnson in The Works of Samuel Johnson, Volume 4 (of 16).

Samuel Johnson Quotation: "On the eighth morning Seged was awakened early by an unusual hurry in the apartments, and inquiring the cause, was told that the princess Balkis was seized with sickness." - Samuel Johnson in The Works of Samuel Johnson, Volume 4 (of 16).

Samuel Johnson Quotation: "In the hurry of my imagination I commanded rain to fall; and by comparing the time of my command with that of the inundation, I found that the clouds had listened to my lips." - Samuel Johnson in Rasselas, Prince of Abyssinia.

Tobias Smollett Quotation: "After having congratulated Pickle upon his succession, and shook his two friends by the hand, the misanthrope asked whose mare was dead, that he was summoned in such a plaguy hurry from his dinner, which he had been fain to gobble up like a cannibal?" - Tobias Smollett in The Adventures of Peregrine Pickle.

Tobias Smollett Quotation: "When we had made an end of our repast, and paid our reckoning, we went into the coach, took our places, and bribed the driver with sixpence to revenge us on the rest of his fare, by hurrying them away in the midst of their meal." - Tobias Smollett in The Adventures of Roderick Random.

Tobias Smollett Quotation: "Having dressed himself in a hurry, he mounted his horse, and for that time rid us of his company and a thousand fears that were the consequence of it." - Tobias Smollett in The Adventures of Roderick Random.

Tobias Smollett Quotation: "In the midst of this hurry, the remembrance of my charming Narcissa often interposed, and made me the most miserable of all mortals." - Tobias Smollett in The Adventures of Roderick Random.

Tobias Smollett Quotation: "Preparations are made for the Commodore's Wedding, which is delayed by an Accident that hurried him the Lord knows whither." - Tobias Smollett in The Adventures of Peregrine Pickle.

1755

Gotthold Ephraim Lessing Quotation: "Why in such hurry, Hafi?" - Gotthold Ephraim Lessing in Nathan the Wise.

Gotthold Ephraim Lessing Quotation: "Ben't in this hurry." - Gotthold Ephraim Lessing in Nathan the Wise.

1756

D'Holbach Quotation: "But, I ask, is he capable of reflecting on these consequences when his soul is hurried along by a very lively passion, which entirely depends upon his natural organization, and the causes by which he is modified?" - D'Holbach in System of Nature, vol 1.

Gilbert White Quotation: "The former has a variety of hurrying notes, and sings all night." - Gilbert White in The Natural History of Selborne.

1757

Horace Walpole Quotation: "Indeed, we are rather in a hurry to do all this, because people may be weary of paying thirteen millions; and besides it may grow decent for Mr. Pitt to visit his gout, which this year he has been forced to send to the Bath without him." - Horace Walpole in Letters of Horace Walpole, vol 2.

Horace Walpole Quotation: "Never having stirred ten miles from Paris, and having only rolled in an easy coach from one hotel to another on a gliding pavement, she is already worn out with being hurried from morning till night from one sight to another." - Horace Walpole in The Letters of Horace Walpole, vol 3.

Horace Walpole Quotation: "There was not a minute's time to be lost in debating this matter, nor in ceremonials; the Princess begging earnestly of the Prince to carry her to St. James's, in such a hurry that gentlemen went behind the coach like footmen." - Horace Walpole in Letters of Horace Walpole, vol 1.

Horace Walpole Quotation: "She told it directly to me and my niece Waldegrave, who was in such transport for her friend, that she promised the Duke of Bedford to kiss him, and hurried home directly to write to her sisters." - Horace Walpole in The Letters of Horace Walpole, vol 3.

Horace Walpole Quotation: "This hurry and lively scene, with the sight of the immense crowd in the Park and on every house, the guards, and the machine itself, which was very beautiful, was all that was worth seeing." - Horace Walpole in Letters of Horace Walpole, vol 2.

1765

Edward Gibbon Quotation: "On the slightest accusation, the first of the Roman nobles, who had governed provinces, commanded armies, and been adorned with the consular and triumphal ornaments, were chained on the public carriages, and hurried away to the emperor's presence." - Edward Gibbon in Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, vol 1.

Edward Gibbon Quotation: "Constantius, who was hurried along in the pursuit, attempted, without effect, to restrain the ardor of his troops, by representing to them the dangers of the approaching night, and the certainty of completing their success with the return of day." - Edward Gibbon in Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, vol 2.

Edward Gibbon Quotation: "In the hurry of military preparation, and the careless confidence of a familiar correspondence, the zeal of Julian appears to have been lively and uniform." - Edward Gibbon in Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, vol 2.

Edward Gibbon Quotation: "Shall I add, that I never found my mind more vigorous, not my composition more happy, than in the winter hurry of society and parliament?" - Edward Gibbon in Memoirs of My Life and Writings.

William Cowper Quotation: "Ah, treat them kindly! rude as thou appearest, Yet show that thou hast mercy, which the great, With needless hurry whirled from place to place, Humane as they would seem, not always show." - William Cowper in The Task and Other Poems.

1767

James Boswell Quotation: "This thought once form'd, all council comes too late, He flies to press, and hurries on his fate; Swiftly he sees the imagin'd laurels spread, And feels the unfading wreath surround his head." - James Boswell in The Life of Samuel Johnson, vol 1.

James Boswell Quotation: "He had, no doubt, a more than common share of that hurry of ideas which we often find in his countrymen, and which sometimes produces a laughable confusion in expressing them." - James Boswell in The Life of Samuel Johnson, vol 1.

James Boswell Quotation: "We stopped at Messieurs Dillys, booksellers in the Poultry; from whence he hurried away, in a hackney coach, to Mr. Thrale's, in the Borough." - James Boswell in Life of Johnson.

James Boswell Quotation: "He had, from the irritability of his constitution, at all times, an impatience and hurry when he either read or wrote." - James Boswell in The Life of Samuel Johnson, vol 1.

James Boswell Quotation: "He called this getting double pay, for thus he secured the sale of a hurried work." - James Boswell in The Life of Samuel Johnson, vol 1.

1769

Adam Ferguson Quotation: "But the original inhabitants of any country, forming many separate cantons, come by slow degrees to that coalition and union into which conquering tribes, in effecting their conquests, or in securing their possessions, are hurried at once." - Adam Ferguson in An Essay on the History of Civil Society, 8th edition.

Adam Ferguson Quotation: "With a power not inferior to that of resentment and rage, they hurry the mind into every sacrifice of interest, and bear it undismayed through every hardship and danger." - Adam Ferguson in An Essay on the History of Civil Society, 8th edition.

Adam Ferguson Quotation: "When he hopes to be safe, he possibly means to be just; but is hurried, from the first moment of his usurpation, into every exercise of despotical power." - Adam Ferguson in An Essay on the History of Civil Society, 8th edition.

Adam Ferguson Quotation: "Wounds received in a heat of passion, in the hurry, the ardour, or consternation of battle, are never felt till the ferment of the mind subsides." - Adam Ferguson in An Essay on the History of Civil Society, 8th edition.

Freeholder: Publication of "To the freeholders and freemen, of the city and county of New-York.: The querist, no. I. Whither my beloved countrymen do your passions hurry you?." Published in 1769.

1773

Kerst and Krehbiel Quotation: "What use is this perpetual turmoil, this hurried fortune?" - Kerst and Krehbiel in Mozart: The Man and the Artist, as revealed in his own words.

Le Page Du Pratz Quotation: "What besides facilitates these excursions in Autumn, or in the beginning of Winter, is, that all works in the fields are then at an end, or at least the hurry of them is over." - Le Page Du Pratz in History of Louisisana.

Le Page Du Pratz Quotation: "I could have wished to end my days in those charming solitudes, at a distance from the tumultuous hurry of the world, far from the pinching gripe of avarice and deceit." - Le Page Du Pratz in History of Louisisana.

Paul I of Russia: Her dissolute court provided a bad home for a boy destined to become the sovereign, but Catherine took great trouble to arrange his first marriage with Wilhelmina of Hesse-Darmstadt (who acquired the Russian name "Natalia Alexeievna") in 1773. She allowed him to attend the council in order that he might be trained for his work as emperor. His tutor Poroshin complained of him that he was "always in a hurry", acting and speaking without reflection. [WP]

1775

Horatio Gates: When the word of the revolution reached Gates in late May, 1775 he hurried to Mount Vernon to offer his services to George Washington. In June, the Congress began organizing the Continental Army. In accepting command, Washington urged the appointment of Gates as adjutant of the army. So, on June 17, 1775 the Congress commissioned him a Brigadier General and Adjutant General of the army. [WP]

1776

Elizabeth Chudleigh, Duchess of Kingston: Visiting Rome the Duchess was received with honor by Pope Clement XIV; after which she hurried back to England to defend herself from a charge of bigamy, which had been preferred against her by Kingston's nephew, Evelyn Meadows (d. 1826). The House of Lords in 1776 found her guilty, and retaining her fortune she hurriedly left England to avoid further proceedings on the part of the Meadows family, who had a reversionary interest in the Kingston estates. [WP]

Publication: Publication of the image "Billy Blubber, or The flying buck." E. Topham, del.; Hurry, sc. Published in 1776.

1777

Robert Burns Quotation: "Bickering, hurrying." - Robert Burns in Poems And Songs Of Robert Burns.

Thomas Holcroft Quotation: "Taken at unguarded moments, agitated, hurried away by passion, how seldom have we for a day together reason to be satisfied with our conduct?" - Thomas Holcroft in Anna St. Ives.

Thomas Holcroft Quotation: "What rash impulse was it that hurried me forward to tempt this trial?" - Thomas Holcroft in Anna St. Ives.

1778

Mary Wollstonecraft Quotation: "Why do people hurry to noisy scenes and crowded circles?" - Mary Wollstonecraft in A Vindication of the Rights of Woman.

1779

Mary Robinson Quotation: "Returning one evening from the bath, she beheld, a few paces before her chair, an elderly man, hurried along by a crowd of people, by whom he was pelted with mud and stones." - Mary Robinson in Beaux and Belles of England.

Mary Robinson Quotation: "The crowds within the gallery disappear; I look around me: the hedges of human beings who had been standing back to let the hero pass, are broken, and all are hurrying away." - Mary Robinson in Beaux and Belles of England.

Mary Robinson Quotation: "I hurried through the first scene, not without much embarrassment, owing to the fixed attention with which the Prince of Wales honoured me." - Mary Robinson in Beaux and Belles of England.

Mary Robinson Quotation: "We remember, as we are hurried along, with a bitter feeling, that Holborn was the appointed road for criminals from Newgate to Tyburn." - Mary Robinson in Beaux and Belles of England.

Mary Robinson Quotation: "We were in no hurry to return to London, having still more than three weeks' holidays." - Mary Robinson in Beaux and Belles of England.

1780

Johann David Wyss Quotation: "The whole of our stud, excepting the ostrich, were in their paddocks, near the tree; but Jack, saying that his mother and Jenny really must not walk the whole way, to the great amusement of the latter, leaped on Hurry, and fled away in front of us." - Johann David Wyss in Swiss Family Robinson.

Johann David Wyss Quotation: "This great bird guarded the entrance to the cave, occasionally retiring into it himself for a few minutes; but as soon as the other birds came pressing in after him, he hurried out again and they were forced to retire." - Johann David Wyss in Swiss Family Robinson.

Johann David Wyss Quotation: "The boys hurried by the nearest way to the beach where lay the monster of the deep, while I clambered to the highest point of the islet, which commanded a view of the mainland from Rockburg to Falconhurst." - Johann David Wyss in Swiss Family Robinson.

Johann David Wyss Quotation: "Jack, mounted as usual on Hurry, the ostrich, carried the mysterious wet bag very carefully slung at his side, and when near home started off at a prodigious rate in advance of us." - Johann David Wyss in Swiss Family Robinson.

Johann David Wyss Quotation: "No sooner was this plan adopted, than Fritz and Jack hurried off in the canoe to prepare for their reception, being followed in more leisurely style by the brig and our yacht." - Johann David Wyss in Swiss Family Robinson.

1781

American Revolutionary War: The northern, southern, and naval theaters of the war converged at Yorktown in 1781. On September 5, 1781, French naval forces defeated the British Royal Navy at the Battle of the Chesapeake, cutting off Cornwallis's supplies and transport. Washington hurriedly moved his troops from New York, and a combined Franco-American force of 17,000 troops commenced the Battle of Yorktown Battle of Yorktown on October 6, 1781. Cornwallis's position quickly became untenable, and on October 19 his army surrendered. The war was all but over. [WP]

Christopher Gadsden: After Clinton returned to New York the new British commander in the south, General Cornwallis changed the rules. On the morning of August 27, he arrested about 20 of the civil officers then on parole. They were marched as prisoners to a ship and taken to St. Augustine, Florida. When they arrived Governor Tonyn offered the freedom of the town if they would give their parole. Most accepted, but Gadsden refused claiming that the British had already violated one parole, and he couldn't give his word to a false system. As a result, he spent the next 42 weeks in solitary confinement in a dungeon at the old Spanish fortress of "Castillo de San Marcos". When they were finally released in 1781, they were sent by merchant ship to Philadelphia. Once there, Gadsden learned of the defeat of Cornwallis at Cowpens and withdrawal to Yorktown. He hurried home, to help the restoration of South Carolina's civil government. [WP]

1783

Joel Barlow Quotation: "Lee, Jackson, Hampton, Pinckney, matcht in might, Roll'd on the storm and hurried fast the flight: While numerous chiefs, that equal trophies raise, Wrought, not unseen, the deeds of deathless praise." - Joel Barlow in The Columbiad.

Joel Barlow Quotation: "Britons and Germans hurry from the field, Now wrapt in dust, and now to sight reveal'd; Behind, swift Washington his falchion drives, Thins the pale ranks, but saves submissive lives." - Joel Barlow in The Columbiad.

1785

Dorothy Kilner Quotation: "So saying, she stroked us all with her fore paw as a token of her affection, and then hurried away, to conceal from us the emotions of her sorrow, at thus sending us into the wide world." - Dorothy Kilner in Life and Perambulations of a Mouse.

1786

Hurry, Thomas: Author of "Hurry's tables of interest, from one pound to five hundred millions, for one day, at three, four, and five per cent: by which the interest for any sum of money within those limits, may be found with more expedition than by any tables hitherto published: to which are added tables, which have been formed with a view to expedite the business of those who deal in goods that are sold by the cwt." Publisher: printed for the author and sold by W. Meggy (Great Yarmouth). Published in 1786.

1787

Hurry, William: Author of "Supplementary to the trial of Hurry against Watson a report of the argument in the Common Pleas, upon a motion for a new trial, in Trinity Term last.. Together with a relation of the final issue of this long-contested business." Publisher: printed and sold by Chase and Co. Sold also by R. Baldwin, and G. G. J. & J. Robinson, London (Norwich). Published in 1787.

1789

F.A.M. Mignet Quotation: "He was received with all the evidence of admiration that such decided victories and prodigious activity could excite; the enthusiasm was universal. There was a spontaneous illumination, and the crowd hurried to the Tuileries to see him." - F.A.M. Mignet in History of the French Revolution from 1789 to 1814.

F.A.M. Mignet Quotation: "Some deputies, meanwhile, aroused by the tocsin, had hurried to the hall of the legislative body, and had opened the sitting under the presidentship of Vergniaud." - F.A.M. Mignet in History of the French Revolution from 1789 to 1814.

F.A.M. Mignet Quotation: "The mob disperses, part towards the quays, part fall back on the Boulevards, the rest hurry to the Tuileries by the Pont Tournant." - F.A.M. Mignet in History of the French Revolution from 1789 to 1814.

F.A.M. Mignet Quotation: "Robespierre, surprised at this unexpected resistance, hurried to the tribune." - F.A.M. Mignet in History of the French Revolution from 1789 to 1814.

F.A.M. Mignet Quotation: "The mob hurried to his office." - F.A.M. Mignet in History of the French Revolution from 1789 to 1814.

1790

Charles Brockden Brown Quotation: "Such was the beginning of a series ordained to hurry me to swift destruction. Such were the primary tokens of the presence of that power by whose accursed machinations I was destined to fall." - Charles Brockden Brown in Edgar Huntly.

Charles Brockden Brown Quotation: "The dread of unjust upbraiding hurried him to murder and to suicide, and the imputation of imaginary guilt impelled him to the perpetration of genuine and enormous crimes." - Charles Brockden Brown in Edgar Huntly.

Charles Brockden Brown Quotation: "At length the drama is brought to an imperfect close, and the series of events that absorbed my faculties, that hurried away my attention, has terminated in repose." - Charles Brockden Brown in Edgar Huntly.

Charles Brockden Brown Quotation: "My whole frame was petrified, and I paced to and fro, hurried from the chimney to the door, and from the door to the chimney, with the misguided fury of a maniac." - Charles Brockden Brown in Edgar Huntly.

Charles Brockden Brown Quotation: "You hurried the paper out of sight, and seemed too anxious to discover whether I knew the contents to allow yourself to make any inquiries." - Charles Brockden Brown in Wieland, The Transformation.

Elizabeth Inchbald Quotation: "They laid before her the piteous babe whom her eyeballs strained to behold once more, while her feet hurried her away for ever." - Elizabeth Inchbald in Nature And Art.

Johann Wolfgang von Goethe Quotation: "I can never blame the man who, active and restless, Hurries along, and explores each corner of earth and the ocean Boldly and carefully, while he rejoices at seeing the profits Which round him and his family gather themselves in abundance." - Johann Wolfgang von Goethe in The Poems of Goethe (tr E.A. Bowring).

Johann Wolfgang von Goethe Quotation: "Step by step, without the slightest deviation, I saw him attain his doctor's degree, and then raise himself to the assessorship, without any thing of all this appearing arduous to him, or his having in the least hurried or been too late with any thing." - Johann Wolfgang von Goethe in Autobiography.

Johann Wolfgang von Goethe Quotation: "He then spoke with great contempt of the art of printing, mimicked the compositor, ridiculed his gestures and his hurried picking out of letters here and there, and derived from this manoeuvre all the calamities of literature." - Johann Wolfgang von Goethe in Autobiography.

Johann Wolfgang von Goethe Quotation: "So the waggon lay broken, and those that it carried were helpless, For the rest of the train went on, and hurriedly pass'd them, Thinking only of self, and carried away by the current." - Johann Wolfgang von Goethe in The Poems of Goethe (tr E.A. Bowring).

Johann Wolfgang von Goethe Quotation: "We unhappily saw poor fellows passing in numbers, Some of them showing how bitter the sense of their sorrowful flight was, Some with a feeling of joy at saving their lives in a hurry." - Johann Wolfgang von Goethe in The Poems of Goethe (tr E.A. Bowring).

Villiers, George: Author of "Hurry scurry, an election squib." Published in 1790.

1791

Publication: Publication of "A representation of the Turks threatened with war learning in a hurry the French manual excercise (graphic)." Publisher: published April 3rd (London). Published in 1791.

1792

Publication: Publication of "At a meeting of the merchants, traders and inhabitants of Great Yarmouth, held at the Angel in the Market-Place, on Tuesday, December 11th, 1792, for the purpose of avowing their attachment to the present constitution. Samuel Hurry, Esq. in the chair, the following declaration of their sentiments was unanimously adopted elektronisk materiale." Published in 1792.

1793

Susanna Rowson Quotation: "This he afterwards contrived to evade by a pretended hurry of business; La Rue readily conceiving he never meant to fulfil his promise, determined to change her battery, and attack the heart of Colonel Crayton." - Susanna Rowson in Charlotte Temple.

1795

Mitchell, afterwards HURRY. Margaret: Publication of "Tales of instruction and amusement. Written for the use of young persons. By Miss Mitchell." Published in 1795.

1796

Jane Austen Quotation: "Fanny's hurry increased; and without in the least expecting Edmund's attendance, she would have hastened away alone; but the general pace was quickened, and they all accompanied her into the house, through which it was necessary to pass." - Jane Austen in Mansfield Park.

Jane Austen Quotation: "The Thrush had had her orders, the wind had changed, and he was sailed within four days from their reaching Portsmouth; and during those days she had seen him only twice, in a short and hurried way, when he had come ashore on duty." - Jane Austen in Mansfield Park.

Jane Austen Quotation: "I do not know of any other designs that he had formed; but he was in such a hurry to be gone, and his spirits so greatly discomposed, that I had difficulty in finding out even so much as this." - Jane Austen in Pride and Prejudice.

Jane Austen Quotation: "She continued in very agitated reflections till the sound of Lady Catherine's carriage made her feel how unequal she was to encounter Charlotte's observation, and hurried her away to her room." - Jane Austen in Pride and Prejudice.

Jane Austen Quotation: "Elizabeth jumped out; and, after giving each of them a hasty kiss, hurried into the vestibule, where Jane, who came running down from her mother's apartment, immediately met her." - Jane Austen in Pride and Prejudice.

William Godwin Quotation: "Hippolito, it is true, I have been hurried into many actions that have caused me the severest regret. But I would not for ten thousand worlds have that load of guilt upon my mind, that this man has to answer for." - William Godwin in Italian Letters, vols 1,2 (The History of the Count de St. Julian).

William Godwin Quotation: "The erroneousness of this notion however has from time to time been detected by moralists and philosophers; and it has been felt that he who proceeds in a hurry towards the goal, exposes himself to the imminent risk of never reaching it." - William Godwin in Thoughts on Man, His Nature, etc.

William Godwin Quotation: "But what glorious things might a man with extraordinary powers effect, were he not hurried unnumbered miles awry by the unconquerable power of circumstances?" - William Godwin in Thoughts on Man, His Nature, etc.

William Godwin Quotation: "My heart was tumultuous hurry, without leisure for retrospect, without a moment for deliberation." - William Godwin in Italian Letters, vols 1,2 (The History of the Count de St. Julian).

William Godwin Quotation: "Since I have felt my own dignity and strength, the tumultuous hurry of my mind is stilled." - William Godwin in Italian Letters, vols 1,2 (The History of the Count de St. Julian).

1798

Briggs, Enos: Born in 1746 and died in 1819, authored "The Salem frigate. Take notice!: Ye sons of freedom! all true lovers of the liberty of your country! step forth, and give your assistance in building the frigate, to oppose French insolence and piracy. Let every man in possession of a white oak tree, be ambitious to be foremost in hurrying down the timber to Salem where the noble structure is to be fabricated, to maintain your rights upon the seas." Published in 1798.

Francis W. Blagdon Quotation: "You walk in, and if any article strikes your fancy, you examine it at your ease; you consider the materials, the workmanship, and lastly the price, without being hurried by a loquacious shopkeeper into a purchase which you may shortly regret." - Francis W. Blagdon in Paris As It Was and As It Is (A Sketch Of The French Capital, Illustrative of the Effects of the Revolution), vols 1,2.

Francis W. Blagdon Quotation: "As we are in no particular hurry, travel article by article through the whole enumeration." - Francis W. Blagdon in Paris As It Was and As It Is (A Sketch Of The French Capital, Illustrative of the Effects of the Revolution), vols 1,2.

18th Century

Annie May Palmer: According to local legend, the White Witch still haunts the house, and would seize any intruders. Furthermore, according to the whispered stories, she could still be seen at night riding on Rose Hall and Ironshore estates, wearing a green velvet dress, seated on a large black horse, and flaying with her whip anyone who got in her way. Annie is also said to manifest most frequently as a series of hurried foots steps heard walking through the main hall to the back entrance of the Great House. There are also stories of whispered voices in the dungeon, invisible footsteps on the stairs, and tapping on the walls. Some also claim to hear the cries of the babies she murdered, as well as old, old music as if from a long ago ball. The 18th century ghosts seem to have developed an affinity for electricity, delighting in turning lights on and off at random times. The Great Hall fell into ruin over the course of 200 years, until it was purchased by a developer who built the Ritz-Carlton hotel on the grounds, and devoted considerable personal expense in renovating the old plantation house. Despite being abandoned all those years, the house was virtually untouched by vandals. Tales of disappearances connected to the old mansion, along with the strong belief in Voodoo and ghosts kept most would-be troublemakers away... just like in the days when Annie Palmer ruled the estate. As usual, with renovations comes ghostly phenomena.

Workmen reported tools being moved or hidden, only to reappear exactly where they were originally left... or more mysteriously, deposited in a place normally inaccessible. Some reported answering to someone calling their name, only to find that they were alone or out of earshot of anyone else. Newly refinished floors would become marred overnight, with what looked like old blood stains. Soon, most of the workforce were from off-island. Eventually, the place was completed and furnished. Few of the items from the original house were recoverable, although there were several miraculous exceptions, including a few paintings and one old mirror. The mirror has come to play an important role in the Hauntings at Rose Hall. The Rose Hall Great House is now a museum. Since it's opening, a large number of people who have photographed the rooms and features of the old place have reported strange phenomena and images. Many have written back to the museum and enclosed photos to prove what their cameras recorded. A disproportionately large number of these photos include the mirror mentioned above. The most common phenomena is the appearance of someone in the mirror... someone not in the room when the photo was taken. [WP]

1800

Maurice Joblin Quotation: "Fever and ague, brought on by exposure, privations, and by the miasma from swamp, river and uncleared lands, disabled a large number of the early settlers, and hurried some to untimely graves." - Maurice Joblin in Cleveland Past and Present (Its Representative Men Comprising Biographical Sketches of Pioneer Settlers and Prominent Citizens).

Maurice Joblin Quotation: "At once all was hurry; the entire population prepared for speedy flight." - Maurice Joblin in Cleveland Past and Present (Its Representative Men Comprising Biographical Sketches of Pioneer Settlers and Prominent Citizens).

Publication: Publication of "Three songs. The constant shepherd, Jack Munroe. Don't be in such a hurry." Publisher: printed and sold by J. Morren (Edinburgh). Published in 1800.

Theo F. Rodenbough Quotation: "By the middle of December the British had started on their return march, pursued as far as the Indus by the Afghans, and by this hurried conclusion to the war lessened their prestige in Asia to an enormous degree." - Theo F. Rodenbough in Afghanistan and the Anglo-Russian Dispute.

Walter Scott Quotation: "Mass was then hastily performed, but in such precipitation as if it had been hurried over rather to satisfy the scruples of a few youths, who were impatient to set out on a hunting party, than as if it made the most solemn part of a solemn ordination." - Walter Scott in The Abbot.

Walter Scott Quotation: "The quick intelligence of that lively maiden instantly comprehended the outline of what was believed to have happened, but her prejudices hurried her beyond the truth." - Walter Scott in The Abbot.

Walter Scott Quotation: "She was conducted to her apartment, and in the hurried consultation of her attendants, the fatal resolution of the retreat to England was finally adopted." - Walter Scott in The Abbot.

Walter Scott Quotation: "But his guide hurried him forward, permitting no farther question, and with the manner of one who has already tampered too much with a dangerous subject." - Walter Scott in The Abbot.

Walter Scott Quotation: "But as Roland seemed in no hurry to avail himself of her condescension, she carried it a step farther, and herself opened the conversation." - Walter Scott in The Abbot.

1801

Bunbury, Henry William: Born in 1750 and died in 1811, authored "A vexed doctor on horseback." Etching, 1801, after H.W. Bunbury. (Dr. Dawdle in a hurry. Mr. Bunbury del.). Publisher: S.W. Fores, 1 July ((London) (50 Piccadilly)). Published in 1801.

M.L. Weems Quotation: "This brilliant stroke of my brother, threw the enemy's camp into the utmost hurry and uproar; and their dragoons were quickly mounted, dashing out to rescue their comrades; but in vain, for my brother brought them all off in safety to our camp." - M.L. Weems in The Life of Gen. Francis Marion.

M.L. Weems Quotation: "So great was our impatience to see what our hearts had so long and so fondly dwelt on, an army of friends, that we could not wait until they came up, but hurried off instantly to meet them at Roanoke, where it was said they were crossing." - M.L. Weems in The Life of Gen. Francis Marion.

M.L. Weems Quotation: "We hasted to greet the beloved strangers; and hurrying them to our habitations, spread for them our feast, and rejoiced as men do in the society of their dearest friends." - M.L. Weems in The Life of Gen. Francis Marion.

M.L. Weems Quotation: "So off he went, as he pretended, to hurry dinner." - M.L. Weems in The Life of Gen. Francis Marion.

Walter Scott Quotation: "But she reckoned without her host; for in a moment her new companion was by her side, not running, indeed, but walking with prodigious long unwomanly strides, which soon brought her up with the hurried and timid steps of the frightened maiden." - Walter Scott in Woodstock; or, The Cavalier.

Walter Scott Quotation: "But the chance of the boy being stopped, or becoming confused with feeling himself the messenger of a hurried and important communication, made him, on the whole, glad that he had preferred a more enigmatical way of conveying the intelligence." - Walter Scott in Woodstock; or, The Cavalier.

Walter Scott Quotation: "He hurried across the open space which divided the front of the Lodge from the wood, with the haste of a bird, escaped from the cage, which, though joyful at its liberation, is at the same time sensible of its need of protection and shelter." - Walter Scott in Woodstock; or, The Cavalier.

Walter Scott Quotation: "She obeyed Ratcliffe's directions, though without well apprehending their purpose, and leaving her horse at large in a paddock near the garden, hurried to her own apartment, which she reached without observation." - Walter Scott in The Black Dwarf.

Walter Scott Quotation: "In the first place, I don't like to be hurried, and have had enough of duns in an early part of my life to make me reluctant to hear of or see one, even in the less awful shape of a printer's devil." - Walter Scott in Chronicles of the Canongate.

William Dobein James Quotation: "So hurried was his retreat for fifteen miles, that he brought his first division within a few miles of M`Arthur, coming to his aid, before Marion and Lee reached Ferguson's swamp, their point of destination." - William Dobein James in Life of Francis Marion.

1802

Black Hawk Quotation: "I hurried across the river, anxious for an opportunity to show the courage of my braves, but before we reached the scene of battle all was over." - Black Hawk in Autobiography of Ma-ka-tai-me-she-kia-kiak, or Black Hawk.

Black Hawk Quotation: "Strode, composed principally of miners and citizens of Galena, which had been hurriedly organized for home protection, whilst that of Col." - Black Hawk in Autobiography of Ma-ka-tai-me-she-kia-kiak, or Black Hawk.

Black Hawk Quotation: "My comrade joined me, we returned to the rest of the party and all hurried back to Rock river, where we arrived in safety at our village." - Black Hawk in Autobiography of Ma-ka-tai-me-she-kia-kiak, or Black Hawk.

Black Hawk Quotation: "I hurried across to the tail that led from the mouth of the Quiver to a fort, and soon after heard firing at the mouth of the creek." - Black Hawk in Autobiography of Ma-ka-tai-me-she-kia-kiak, or Black Hawk.

Black Hawk Quotation: "He bade his loved ones the last sad farewell and hurried across the prairie to the fort and arrived in time." - Black Hawk in Autobiography of Ma-ka-tai-me-she-kia-kiak, or Black Hawk.

Thomas Moore Quotation: "The answer made by the Prince yesterday to the Address of the two Houses was entirely mine, and done in a great hurry half an hour before it was to be delivered." - Thomas Moore in Life of R.B. Sheridan, vol 2.

William Beckford Quotation: "Loads of grapes, peaches, and melons arrived, and disappeared in an instant, for every vessel was in motion; and the crowds of purchasers hurrying from boat to boat, formed one of the liveliest pictures imaginable." - William Beckford in Dreams, Waking Thoughts, and Incidents.

1803

William Beckford Quotation: "Whilst I was indulging my astrological reveries, a ponderous bell struck ten, and such a peal of chimes succeeded, as shook the whole edifice, notwithstanding its bulk, and drove me away in a hurry." - William Beckford in Dreams, Waking Thoughts, and Incidents.

William Beckford Quotation: "Such a prospect, together with the fresh gales from the Mediterranean, charmed me; I hurried immediately to the port and sat on a reef of rocks, listening to the waves that broke amongst them." - William Beckford in Dreams, Waking Thoughts, and Incidents.

William Beckford Quotation: "Returning in the midst of it to my inn, I hurried to bed, and was soon lulled asleep by the storm." - William Beckford in Dreams, Waking Thoughts, and Incidents.

William Beckford Quotation: "My last letter was despatched in such a hurry that I had not time to conclude it." - William Beckford in Dreams, Waking Thoughts, and Incidents.

1803

Samuel Taylor Coleridge Quotation: "This night your chieftain arm'd himself, And hurried from me." - Samuel Taylor Coleridge in Specimens of the Table Talk of S.T.Coleridge.

1804

Hurry, Ives, Mrs: Publication of "The faithful contrast: or, virtue and vice accurately delineated, in a series of moral and instructive tales. Illustrated with a variety of engravings on wood." By Mrs. Hurry, author of Tales of instruction and amusement. and Rational amusement. Publisher: printed for J. Harris, successor to E. Newbery, at the original Juvenile Library, corner of St. Paul's Church yard (London). Published in 1804.

Mitchell, afterwards HURRY. Margaret: Publication of "Rational amusement for leisure hours; consisting of interesting tales for the mental improvement of youth. Illustrated with a variety of engravings on wood. By Mrs. Hurry." Published in 1804.

1805

Carl von Clausewitz Quotation: "In the latter we are hurried on with the moment; a Commander feels himself borne along in a strong current, against which he durst not contend without the most destructive consequences, he suppresses the rising fears, and boldly ventures further." - Carl von Clausewitz in On War, vol 1.

Carl von Clausewitz Quotation: "Now if the conqueror directs his march on this point by a lateral road, it is evident how that may quicken the retreat of the beaten Army in a destructive manner, convert it into hurry, perhaps into flight." - Carl von Clausewitz in On War, vol 1.

Daniel C. Eddy Quotation: "Without ceremony they were hurried away from the palace, and, after various annoyances, were allowed to return to the friendly shelter of their boat." - Daniel C. Eddy in Daughters of the Cross: or Woman's Mission.

Daniel C. Eddy Quotation: "They were hurried away without warning, and Mrs. Judson was left in a state bordering on distraction." - Daniel C. Eddy in Daughters of the Cross: or Woman's Mission.

J.F.C. Hecker Quotation: "At the sound of these instruments they awoke as it were by enchantment, opened their eyes, and moving slowly at first, according to the measure of the music, were, as the time quickened, gradually hurried on to the most passionate dance." - J.F.C. Hecker in The Black Death/The Dancing Mania.

J.F.C. Hecker Quotation: "This Order consisted chiefly of persons of the lower class, who were either actuated by sincere contrition, or who joyfully availed themselves of this pretext for idleness, and were hurried along with the tide of distracting frenzy." - J.F.C. Hecker in The Black Death/The Dancing Mania.

1806

Jean-Andoche Junot: He distinguished himself in Italy but received a serious head wound at Lonato, which some claim led to a permanent change in his thinking and character, reduced the quality of his judgement and made him rash and temperamental. He was made a minor general for the Egyptian campaign but was injured in a duel and captured when he was returning as an invalid to France. When he was returned he was promoted and made commander of Paris, although his failure to be made a marshal dismayed him. He married Laure Permon at this time. He was briefly ambassador to Portugal before hurrying back to serve under Napoleon at the Battle of Austerlitz (December 2, 1805). After that he returned to Paris. [WP]

John Lewis Burckhardt Quotation: "The manly spirit and enlightened curiosity of this lady ought to make many modern travellers ashamed of the indolent indifference with which they hurry over foreign countries." - John Lewis Burckhardt in Travels in Syria and the Holy Land.

Walter Savage Landor Quotation: "And now the chariot of the Sun descends, The waves rush hurried from his foaming steeds, Smoke issues from their nostrils at the gate, Which when they enter, with huge golden bar Atlas and Calpe close across the sea." - Walter Savage Landor in Gebir.

Walter Savage Landor Quotation: "Could not I have remained a moment more, And seen the end? although with hurried voice He bade me intercept the scattered foes, And hold the city barred to their return." - Walter Savage Landor in Count Julian.

Walter Savage Landor Quotation: "Madness, which like the spiral element The more it seizes on the fiercer burns, Hurried them blindly forward, and involved In flame the senses and in gloom the soul." - Walter Savage Landor in Gebir.

1806

August Wilhelm Schlegel Quotation: "This is not the case in Comedy: here Intrigue ought to prevail, the active spirit of which quickly hurries towards its object; and hence the unity of time may here be almost naturally observed." - August Wilhelm Schlegel in Lectures on Dramatic Art and Literature (tr John Black).

August Wilhelm Schlegel Quotation: "This example and many others are a sufficient refutation of Johnson's assertion, that Shakspeare usually hurries over the conclusion of his pieces." - August Wilhelm Schlegel in Lectures on Dramatic Art and Literature (tr John Black).

August Wilhelm Schlegel Quotation: "The poet has indeed gone very hurriedly to work with his plot, which he has most negligently patched together." - August Wilhelm Schlegel in Lectures on Dramatic Art and Literature (tr John Black).

1807

Hurry, Ives, Mrs: Publication of "Moral tales for young people. --." Publisher: Longman, Hurst, Rees, and Orme (London). Published in 1807.

Joseph Rodman Drake Quotation: "He turned him round and fled amain With hurry and dash to the beach again; He twisted over from side to side, And laid his cheek to the cleaving tide." - Joseph Rodman Drake in Culprit Fay and Other Poems.

Mitchell, afterwards HURRY. Margaret: Publication of "Moral tales for young people. By Mrs. Hurry." Published in 1807.

1808

A.A. Milne Quotation: "He had been hurried through a cheap grammar school and into a London office, and discovered there that there was not much fun to be got in this world on two pounds a week." - A.A. Milne in The Red House Mystery.

A.A. Milne Quotation: "He was in no hurry to get close to Robert's revolver, and yet wanted me to think that he was bursting with eagerness." - A.A. Milne in The Red House Mystery.

A.A. Milne Quotation: "He was an unsatisfactory son, and he had been hurried off to Australia; nor had he been seen since in the village." - A.A. Milne in The Red House Mystery.

A.A. Milne Quotation: "The man seemed to be trying to escape observation. Directly the train came in, he hurried into a carriage." - A.A. Milne in The Red House Mystery.

1809

A.A. Milne Quotation: "As quickly as he could Antony hurried round the ditch and took up his place at the back of the seat." - A.A. Milne in The Red House Mystery.

Hurry, Ives, Mrs: Publication of "Artless tales Vol. III." By Mrs. Ives Hurry. In three volumes. (The Bastille.) (A tale of other times.). Publisher: printed by Longman, Hurst, Rees, and Orme, Paternoster-Row (London). Published in 1808.

Maria Edgeworth Quotation: "She was not herself sensible of the nature of the attack, or clear in her ideas of any thing that had passed immediately previous to it. She had only an imperfect recollection of her daughter's illness, and of some hurry about Mr. Vivian's going away." - Maria Edgeworth in Tales and Novels, vol 5 (Tales of a Fashionable Life).

Maria Edgeworth Quotation: "The waiter told him that a Mr. Percival had asked for him; but, having been told by his black that he was just gone out, the gentleman being, as he said, much hurried, had left a note; for an answer to which he would call at eight o'clock in the evening." - Maria Edgeworth in Tales and Novels, vol 3 (Belinda).

Maria Edgeworth Quotation: "She, however, in the midst of her hurry, found time to make a very pretty pair, with neat roses, as a present for her schoolmistress, who, now that she saw her pupil in a good way of business, consented to receive the amount of her old debt." - Maria Edgeworth in The Parent's Assistant.

Maria Edgeworth Quotation: "It was all she could say; she broke from Lady Delacour, and hurried out of the house with the strongest feeling of compassion for this unhappy woman, but with an unaltered sense of the propriety and necessity of her own firmness." - Maria Edgeworth in Tales and Novels, vol 3 (Belinda).

Maria Edgeworth Quotation: "The other sex have no such constraint upon their understandings; neither the necessity of earning their bread, nor the ambition to shine in public affairs, hurry or prejudice their minds: in domestic life they have leisure to be wise." - Maria Edgeworth in Tales and Novels, vol 8.

Mitchell, afterwards HURRY. Margaret: Publication of "Artless tales: by Mrs. Ives Hurry." Published in 1808.

Walter Savage Landor: Here in 1808 he met Southey, and the mutual appreciation of the two poets led to a warm friendship. In 1808, under an impulse not less heroic than that which was afterwards to lead Byron to a glorious death in redemption of Greece and his own good fame, Landor, then aged thirty-three, left England for Spain as a volunteer to serve in the national army against Napoleon at the head of a regiment raised and supported at his sole expense. After some three months campaigning came the affair of Cintra and its disasters; his troop, in the words of his biographer, dispersed or melted away, and he came back to England in as great a hurry as he had left it, but bringing with him the honorable recollection of a brave design unselfishly attempted. [WP]

1809

John Galt Quotation: "They started on their legs, and shaking me in a warm manner by both the hands, they hurried away without speaking, nor could I say more, as I opened the back yett to let them out, than bid them take tent of themselves." - John Galt in The Provost.

John Galt Quotation: "It was indeed clear to be seen, that the man was hurried out of himself; but nobody could have thought that the death he was to dree would have been what it was." - John Galt in The Annals of the Parish.

Samuel Taylor Coleridge Quotation: "In general, when an author informs the public that his production was struck off in a great hurry, he offers an insult, not an excuse." - Samuel Taylor Coleridge in Biographia Epistolaris (ed Turnbull), vol 1.

Thomas De Quincey Quotation: "He was consigned to the medical care of the holy fathers; and Maximilian, with his companions, then hurried away to the chancery of the palace, whither the courier had proceeded with his despatches." - Thomas De Quincey in Memorials and Other Papers.

Thomas De Quincey Quotation: "Paulina and her maid took this opportunity for leaving their chamber, and slipping unobserved amongst the crowd who were hurrying on that summons into the cloisters." - Thomas De Quincey in Memorials and Other Papers.

Thomas De Quincey Quotation: "The restraints of high breeding, and the ceremonious decorum of his rank, involuntarily checked the Landgrave from pursuing with a hurried pace." - Thomas De Quincey in Memorials and Other Papers.

Thomas De Quincey Quotation: "He replied to their greetings in the language of cheerfulness; but his features expressed anxiety, and his manner was hurried." - Thomas De Quincey in Memorials and Other Papers.

Thomas De Quincey Quotation: "But who meantime was the victim, to whose abode he was hurrying?" - Thomas De Quincey in Notebook of an English Opium-Eater.

William Hazlitt Quotation: "The late Mr. Cooke's manner of representing this scene was more vehement, hurried, and full of anxious uncertainty." - William Hazlitt in Characters of Shakespeare's Plays.

1810

Friedrich de la Motte-Fouque Quotation: "He hurried swiftly in the direction of the sound, and found the trembling girl just attempting to climb the steep, in order to escape in any way from the dreadful gloom of the valley." - Friedrich de la Motte-Fouque in Undine (2nd trans).

Friedrich de la Motte-Fouque Quotation: "Whereupon the workmen withdrew, smiling with secret satisfaction: while Bertalda, pale with rage, hurried away to her room." - Friedrich de la Motte-Fouque in Undine (2nd trans).

Friedrich de la Motte-Fouque Quotation: "He hurried round the castle, inquiring if any one had seen which way the fugitive had gone." - Friedrich de la Motte-Fouque in Undine (2nd trans).

1811

W. Gilmore Simms Quotation: "The good old lady was too eager herself to get under way to waste much time in exhortation, and hurrying off, she scarcely gave herself time to answer the inquiry of the widow Thackeray, at her own door, after the daughter's health." - W. Gilmore Simms in Charlemont (Or, The Pride of the Village A Tale of Kentucky).

W. Gilmore Simms Quotation: "A decent pause of half an hour after the supper was finished, which was spent by the jealous youth in utter silence, and he then rose abruptly and hurried from the apartment, leaving the field entirely to his opponent." - W. Gilmore Simms in Charlemont (Or, The Pride of the Village A Tale of Kentucky).

W. Gilmore Simms Quotation: "In this way he was approaching the lower ledge along which Margaret Cooper was hurrying as rapidly as fearlessly, and calling to her as he came, implored her to forbear a progress which was so full of danger." - W. Gilmore Simms in Charlemont (Or, The Pride of the Village A Tale of Kentucky).

W. Gilmore Simms Quotation: "I can hardly keep hands off you till then; and it's only to do so, that I hurry you. If you stay, looking black, mouthing together, I can't stand it." - W. Gilmore Simms in Charlemont (Or, The Pride of the Village A Tale of Kentucky).

W. Gilmore Simms Quotation: "They're too eager on scent, to lose sight of you in a hurry, and they're ready to give tongue at a moment's warning." - W. Gilmore Simms in Charlemont (Or, The Pride of the Village A Tale of Kentucky).

1812

Achilles Rose Quotation: "If the stragglers arrive, we said to ourselves, we shall be lost; therefore, let us hurry and keep ahead of them." - Achilles Rose in Napoleon's Campaign in Russia Anno 1812 - Medico-Historical.

Mrs Orr Quotation: "The subsequent passage to the mortuary island of San Michele had been organized by the city, and was to display so much of the character of a public pageant as the hurried preparation allowed." - Mrs Orr in Life and Letters of Robert Browning.

1813

Mrs Orr Quotation: "We hurried to the house, of course, leaving Edith with Wilson." - Mrs Orr in Life and Letters of Robert Browning.

R.W. Wright Quotation: "The fruits they consume are retained but a comparatively short time in the crop, pass hurriedly through the gizzard, and no doubt carry along with them some of the smaller seeds of berries, and now and then the pit of a cherry or small plum." - R.W. Wright in Life: Its True Genesis.

R.W. Wright Quotation: "To show how perfectly they harmonize with all the phenomenal manifestations of life in nature, we hurriedly pass to our third chapter." - R.W. Wright in Life: Its True Genesis.

Sydney Waterlow Quotation: "His energy in entering upon ecstatic personal relations was as great as that which he threw into philanthropic schemes; but the relations, like the schemes, were formed with no notion of adapting means to ends, and were often dropped as hurriedly." - Sydney Waterlow in Shelley.

1813

Battle of Queenston Heights: The three attacks on Upper Canada would not go off. Hull was besieged in Detroit and, faced with the threat of a massacre by Britain's Native American allies, surrendered the city and his entire army at the so-called Battle of Detroit. Dearborn and his army were remaining, relatively inactive, at Albany, and seemed to be in no hurry to attempt an invasion (Dearborn would be replaced in 1813 with only minor successes to his credit). Van Rensselaer, was under considerable pressure to attempt his part of the invasion, both from his own men eager for battle, and from an American public chafing under the disgrace of Hull's surrender. [WP]

John Richardson Quotation: "In the hurry, confusion, and excitement, of that event however, his original intention was forgotten; or, rather so far delayed, that it was not until the third or fourth day of his establishment in the town, that it occurred to him to institute inquiry." - John Richardson in The Canadian Brothers, vol 1.

John Richardson Quotation: "The subject of that short, low, and hurried conference was, indeed, one that well warranted the singular intrusion; and, in the declaration of Halloway, we have already seen the importance and anxiety attached by the young officer to the communication." - John Richardson in Wacousta, vol 2.

John Richardson Quotation: "The Indian glanced hurriedly yet cautiously around, to see if he was observed; and then, with the rapidity of thought, divided, first the thongs that secured the legs, and then those which confined the arms of the defenceless captive." - John Richardson in Wacousta, vol 2.

John Richardson Quotation: "Hurry and confusion and despair were every where visible; for a band of Indians were already in the fort, and these, fast succeeded by others, rushed like a torrent into the square, and commenced their dreadful work of butchery." - John Richardson in Wacousta, vol 2.

John Richardson Quotation: "Already were the guard in the adjoining field, alarmed by the report of the pistol, hurrying toward the house, when they reached the little gate, and some even appeared to be making for their boats on the beach." - John Richardson in The Canadian Brothers, vol 1.

Maria Edgeworth Quotation: "From the removal of both Houses of Parliament, most of the nobility, and many of the principal families among the Irish commoners, either hurried in high hopes to London, or retired disgusted and in despair to their houses in the country." - Maria Edgeworth in The Absentee.

Maria Edgeworth Quotation: "Lord Colambre, almost before the wax was hard, seized possession of the letter; the count seeming almost as eager to hurry him off as he was to set out." - Maria Edgeworth in The Absentee.

Siege of Fort Meigs: Major General William Henry Harrison was placed in command of the Army of the Northwest, replacing General William Hull after his surrender at Detroit. Harrison's first objective was the recapture of Detroit, but after the defeat of American forces at the Battle of Frenchtown, Harrison took up a defensive position. He gave orders for the construction of a series of forts, Fort Meigs (named for Ohio governor, Return Jonathan Meigs) along the Maumee River and Fort Stephenson along the Sandusky River both in Ohio. In the spring of 1813 Harrison left in search of reinforcements. When he returned to his headquarters along the Maumee he was surprised to find that none of the work he ordered on Fort Meigs was completed. The term of the militia units assigned to the task had expired and they went home before work had begun. Harrison hurried to begin building what would become the largest wooden fortress in North America up to that point. The fort was located across the river from the ruins of the old British Fort Miami and the site of the Battle of Fallen Timbers, where Harrison and Tecumseh had both fought in 1794. [WP]

1814

James and Horace Smith Quotation: "Urged forward by hurry, and trusting to chance, two very bad coadjutors in any enterprise, we at length congratulated ourselves on having completed our task in time to have it printed and published by the opening of the theatre." - James and Horace Smith in Rejected Addresses.

USS John Adams (1799): The outbreak of the War of 1812 found her undergoing repairs at Boston whence she was hurried to New York to have the work completed. There the British blockade and a critical shortage of seamen kept her in a laid-up status until early 1814. She finally sailed under a flag of truce carrying peace commissioners Henry Clay and Jonathan Russell to Europe and arrived Wargo Island, Norway, 14 April. She returned to the United States 5 September bringing dispatches from the American commissioners at Ghent. [WP]

1815

Henry Hunt Quotation: "In another minute or two a second messenger hurried to us, to say that the Sheriff had opened the proceedings, and the meeting would be instantly closed if we did not proceed to the spot with all possible expedition." - Henry Hunt in Memoirs of Henry Hunt, Esq., vol 3.

Henry Hunt Quotation: "They had not merely been arrested, but their houses had been broken into, and they had been dragged out of their beds in the dead of the night, and hurried away in irons to the dungeons of the Boroughmongers." - Henry Hunt in Memoirs of Henry Hunt, Esq., vol 3.

Henry Hunt Quotation: "Nothing daunted by this failure at Madrid, the people of the Asturias, Andalusia, and other provinces of Spain, hurried to arms, and resolved to expel the invaders, or perish in the attempt." - Henry Hunt in Memoirs of Henry Hunt, Esq., vol 2.

J. Montgomery Gambrill Quotation: "It was then, however, that the Prince Prospero, maddening with rage and the shame of his own momentary cowardice, rushed hurriedly through the six chambers, while none followed him on account of a deadly terror that had seized upon all." - J. Montgomery Gambrill in Selections from Poe.

J. Montgomery Gambrill Quotation: "But, as I placed my hand upon his shoulder, there came a strong shudder over his whole person; a sickly smile quivered about his lips; and I saw that he spoke in a low, hurried, and gibbering murmur, as if unconscious of my presence." - J. Montgomery Gambrill in Selections from Poe.

J. Montgomery Gambrill Quotation: "With a too unscrupulous confidence she had previously communicated to me the secret of the costume in which she would be habited, and now, having caught a glimpse of her person, I was hurrying to make my way into her presence." - J. Montgomery Gambrill in Selections from Poe.

J. Montgomery Gambrill Quotation: "After some business transactions, hurried through in his ordinary manner, he produces a letter somewhat similar to the one in question, opens it, pretends to read it, and then places it in close juxtaposition to the other." - J. Montgomery Gambrill in Selections from Poe.

J. Montgomery Gambrill Quotation: "After a hurried and vain endeavor to thrust it in a drawer, she was forced to place it, open as it was, upon a table. The address, however, was uppermost, and, the contents thus unexposed, the letter escaped notice." - J. Montgomery Gambrill in Selections from Poe.

1817

Seventh Coalition: The Seventh Coalition was hurriedly prepared during the Napoleonic Wars in 1815 after Napoleon's return to France and before his successful entry of Paris. On 13 March, six days before Napoleon reached Paris, the powers at the Congress of Vienna declared him an outlaw; four days later the United Kingdom, Russia, Austria and Prussia bound themselves to put 150,000 men into the field to end his rule. [WP]

1817

K.M. Barrow Quotation: "The small vessel that was sighted yesterday evening and which the people felt sure was an American whaler was seen again this morning. As it was making for the island the men did not hurry to go out." - K.M. Barrow in Three Years in Tristan da Cunha.

K.M. Barrow Quotation: "Betty Cotton hurried in to say a steamer was making for the settlement. Graham soon followed and said we must pack at once, for the steamer might be coming for us, and if not, might take us." - K.M. Barrow in Three Years in Tristan da Cunha.

K.M. Barrow Quotation: "When I was resting after lunch there came a quick tap at the back door, and William hurried in to say a ship was in sight." - K.M. Barrow in Three Years in Tristan da Cunha.

K.M. Barrow Quotation: "Graham soon came hurrying in and also began to write. He made up his mind to go as the sea was very smooth." - K.M. Barrow in Three Years in Tristan da Cunha.

K.M. Barrow Quotation: "We at once decided it must be the Bishop, and hurried home and buckled to, for there was plenty to be done." - K.M. Barrow in Three Years in Tristan da Cunha.

1818

Charles Darwin Quotation: "Now I do not suppose any other professor of botany could have helped laughing at my coming in such a hurry to make such a communication." - Charles Darwin in The Autobiography of Charles Darwin.

Francis Augustus Cox Quotation: "Lively in imagination, but immature in judgment; easily, and therefore frequently deceived; they are hurried into those premature determinations which cannot be corrected when they come to discover their mistakes." - Francis Augustus Cox in Female Scripture Biographies, vol 1.

Francis Augustus Cox Quotation: "Many, however, did so; and even in the royal city five hundred men attacked them, probably some of the partisans of the late minister; but their temerity hurried them on to their own destruction." - Francis Augustus Cox in Female Scripture Biographies, vol 1.

Francis Augustus Cox Quotation: "She did not suffer herself to be hurried into a discouraging inference, without reviewing the circumstances of the case, and allowing time for reflection." - Francis Augustus Cox in Female Scripture Biographies, vol 1.

Jane Porter Quotation: "Whither do you hurry that wounded man?" - Jane Porter in The Scottish Chiefs.

Redford, George 1785-1860. pre: Born in 1785 and died in 1860, authored "The history of the ancient town and borough of Uxbridge, containing copies of interesting public documents, and a particular account of all charitable donations. By George Redford, A.M. and Thomas Hurry Riches." Published in 1818.

The Crafts Quotation: "I took it and went out, but did not stay more than a few minutes, because I was in a great hurry to get back to see how the invalid was getting on." - The Crafts in Running a Thousand Miles for Freedom.

The Crafts Quotation: "In a few minutes we were landed at Washington, where we took a conveyance and hurried off to the train for Baltimore." - The Crafts in Running a Thousand Miles for Freedom.

1820

Captain Marryat Quotation: "As soon as they entered the gates, Tommy escaped from Captain Osborn, and ran away in his hurry to see the lions; but Captain Osborn caught him again, and held him fast by the hand." - Captain Marryat in Masterman Ready.

1821

Captain Marryat Quotation: "Agatha went up to her mistress in a state of great perturbation, and the cook also hurried away to her bedroom." - Captain Marryat in Children of the New Forest.

Captain Marryat Quotation: "Captain Osborn hurried out to see him; Ready knew his voice, for his eyes were already so dim that he could not see." - Captain Marryat in Masterman Ready.

Captain Marryat Quotation: "Billy must have an hour to get his, and therefore there is no hurry for you." - Captain Marryat in Children of the New Forest.

James Fenimore Cooper Quotation: "As they had only, with their knowedge and readiness, to repair the damage done by the ignorant and hurried Arabs, in a short time every thing was on board the ship again, when their attention was directed to the situation of the vessel itself." - James Fenimore Cooper in Homeward Bound (The Chase).

James Fenimore Cooper Quotation: "The very slightness of the defense was its chief merit, for no one thought of disturbing a mass of brush, which all of them believed, in that moment of hurry and confusion, had been accidentally raised by the hands of their own party." - James Fenimore Cooper in The Last of the Mohicans.

James Fenimore Cooper Quotation: "The Dawn was overtaken by the seas, from time to time; and, then, like everything else that floats, she yawed, or rather, had her stern urged impetuously round, as if it were in a hurry to get ahead of the bows." - James Fenimore Cooper in Afloat and Ashore (A Sea Tale).

James Fenimore Cooper Quotation: "As this supplied the means of motion, the gentlemen began to breathe more freely, and to bethink them of those minor comforts and essentials that in the hurry of such a scene would be likely to be overlooked." - James Fenimore Cooper in Homeward Bound (The Chase).

James Fenimore Cooper Quotation: "Accidentally turning his eye in our direction, he caught a glimpse of our figures, and making a few hurried apologies to those around him, the excellent philosopher came eagerly forward, with both hands extended." - James Fenimore Cooper in The Monikins.

Wolfgang Menzel Quotation: "When, resolute in his determination not to abandon his native soil, he was on his way back to his dwelling, he encountered Speckbacher hurrying away in a carriage in the company of some Austrian officers." - Wolfgang Menzel in Germany from the Earliest Period, vol 4 (tr Mrs George Horrocks).

Wolfgang Menzel Quotation: "The duke of Brunswick, with impatience equalling that of Blucher, was the only one who had quitted the ball during the night and had hurried forward against the enemy." - Wolfgang Menzel in Germany from the Earliest Period, vol 4 (tr Mrs George Horrocks).

Wolfgang Menzel Quotation: "Austria, abandoned in every former campaign and hurried to ruin by Prussia, could no longer be reckoned on for aid." - Wolfgang Menzel in Germany from the Earliest Period, vol 4 (tr Mrs George Horrocks).

Wolfgang Menzel Quotation: "Dr. Moritz Busch, who had hurried to the spot, has left a characteristic description of the emperor." - Wolfgang Menzel in Germany from the Earliest Period, vol 4 (tr Mrs George Horrocks).

Wolfgang Menzel Quotation: "At once hurry orders were given to open the line which led from Nancy to Paris." - Wolfgang Menzel in Germany from the Earliest Period, vol 4 (tr Mrs George Horrocks).

1821

Washington Irving Quotation: "Scarcely were they on board, however, when a whirlwind came rushing down the ravine, with such violence as to drag the vessel from her anchor, and hurry her out to sea; and they never saw any thing more of this hidden and inhospitable island." - Washington Irving in The Life and Voyages of Christopher Columbus, vol 2.

Washington Irving Quotation: "Sometimes, probably when in moods of composition, he would wander into the kitchen, without noticing any one, stand musing with his back to the fire, and then hurry off again to his room, no doubt to commit to paper some thought which had struck him." -

Washington Irving in Oliver Goldsmith (A Biography).

Washington Irving Quotation: "While Knowlton and his men were putting up this fence, Putnam proceeded with other of his troops to throw up the work on Bunker's Hill, despatching his son, Captain Putnam, on horseback, to hurry up the remainder of his men from Cambridge." - Washington Irving in The Life of George Washington, vol 1.

Washington Irving Quotation: "Still the hurried manner in which I have had to do this amid the pressure of other claims on my attention, and with the press dogging at my heels, has prevented me from giving some parts of the subject the thorough handling I could have wished." - Washington Irving in Oliver Goldsmith (A Biography).

Washington Irving Quotation: "During all this time the yeomanry from the neighboring towns were hurrying in with such weapons as were at hand, and joining the militia on the height, until the little cloud of war gathering there numbered about four hundred and fifty." - Washington Irving in The Life of George Washington, vol 1.

1822

Alfred de Vigny Quotation: "There he wiped his pale forehead, fatigued with the cares of the day and with the unaccustomed weight of a suit of armor; he bade adieu, in a few hurried but always attentive and polite words, to those who came to salute him as they retired." - Alfred de Vigny in Cinq Mars, vol 3.

Alfred de Vigny Quotation: "This dialogue had passed in low and hurried tones; at the last word, De Thou, pushing aside his friend, entered, and with a firm step crossed the apartment to the fireplace." - Alfred de Vigny in Cinq Mars, vol 5.

Collins, Widow of Walsingham Collins. Elizabeth: Publication of "The Case of Elizabeth Collins whose Husband was formerly a Merchant, he was hurried out of the world. by a conspiracy, etc." Published in 1822.

Samuel Rogers: In 1854 Rogers made a tour on the Continent with his sister Sarah. He travelled through Switzerland to Italy, keeping a full diary of events and impressions, and had made his way to Naples when the news of Napoleon's escape from Elba obliged him to hurry home. Seven years later he returned to Italy, paying a visit to Byron and Shelley at Pisa. Out of the earlier of these tours arose his last and longest work, "Italy". The first part was published anonymously in 1822; the second, with his name attached, in 1828. It was at first a failure, but Rogers was determined to make it a success. He enlarged and revised the poem, and commissioned illustrations from J.M.W. Turner, Thomas Stothard and Samuel Prout. These were engraved on steel in the sumptuous edition of 1830. The book then proved a great success, and Rogers followed it up with an equally sumptuous edition of his "Poems" (1838). In 1850, on Wordsworth's death, Rogers was asked to succeed him as poet laureate, but declined the honour on account of his age. For the last five years of his life he was confined to his chair in consequence of a fall in the street. He died in London. [WP]

Thomas De Quincey Quotation: "Lord Chesterfield himself, so brilliant a man by nature, already therefore making a morbid estimate of brilliancy, and so hurried throughout his life as a public man, read under this double coercion for craving instantaneous effects." - Thomas De Quincey in Biographical Essays.

Thomas de Quincey Quotation: "No sooner did the Goths hear of his approach, than, with transports of ferocious joy, they gave up the siege, and hurried to annihilate the last pillar of the empire." - Thomas de Quincey in The Caesars.

Thomas De Quincey Quotation: "These sacrifices he made in no hurry or tumult, but deliberately, and in religious tranquillity." - Thomas De Quincey in Biographical Essays.

W. Gilmore Simms Quotation: "Meanwhile, Stewart had hurried on by Goose Creek Bridge, and, joining the fugitives from Dorchester, halted at the Quarter House, and prepared to encounter the whole army of Greene, which, in their panic, was supposed to be upon their heels." - W. Gilmore Simms in The Life of Francis Marion.

W. Gilmore Simms Quotation: "With the departure of the enemy from the river, the completion of his arrangements for the removal of the stores at Georgetown, and the defence of that place, Marion again recrossed the Santee and hurried to Watboo, on the Cooper." - W. Gilmore Simms in The Life of Francis Marion.

1824

W. Gilmore Simms Quotation: "Vanderhorst was advancing and had got within one hundred yards, when a British officer was seen to pass hurriedly to the detachment, and the next moment the men retreated, with a quick step, towards the main body." - W. Gilmore Simms in The Life of Francis Marion.

W. Gilmore Simms Quotation: "That night McIlraith abandoned his heavy baggage, left fires burning, and retreating silently from the ground, hurried, with all dispatch, along the river road towards Singleton's Mills, distant ten miles." - W. Gilmore Simms in The Life of Francis Marion.

W. Gilmore Simms Quotation: "Watson, consulting his fears, did not wait to receive them; but, throwing a garrison of about eighty men into Fort Watson, five miles above the ferry, hurried off to Camden." - W. Gilmore Simms in The Life of Francis Marion.

1824

George William Curtis Quotation: "It is one of those quiet New England towns, whose few white houses, grouped upon the plain, make but a slight impression upon the mind of the busy traveller hurrying to or from the city." - George William Curtis in Literary and Social Essays.

George William Curtis Quotation: "When Ristori came, who seemed to have a virtue for every vice of Rachel, Paris, with one accord, hurried with hymns and incense to the new divinity." - George William Curtis in Literary and Social Essays.

George William Curtis Quotation: "I, who am merely a diplomatist, skulk and hurry along, and if Mr. Croesus smiles, I inwardly thank him for his charity." - George William Curtis in Prue and I.

George William Curtis Quotation: "We ought to hurry." - George William Curtis in From the Easy Chair, vol 1.

Honoré de Balzac Quotation: "Elisabeth might have told us, I think, why Falleix went off in such a hurry." - Honoré de Balzac in Bureaucracy.

Honoré de Balzac Quotation: "Eugene hurried up to Goriot's room." - Honoré de Balzac in Father Goriot (tr Ellen Marriage).

William A. Alcott Quotation: "However, she not only hurries out of bed the instant she wakes, but recalls her former view of the sinfulness of her conduct." - William A. Alcott in The Young Woman's Guide.

William Mienhold Quotation: "Next morning, one can easily imagine with what eagerness she hurried to the abbess, to relate the past night's horrible tale." - William Mienhold in Sidonia The Sorceress, vol 2.

William Ware Quotation: "The way was all along obstructed by the bodies of men and horses who had there fallen and died, their wounds allowing them to proceed no further, or who had been run down and trampled to death in the tumult and hurry of the entrance." - William Ware in Zenobia.

William Ware Quotation: "It was the silent, dismal march of a funeral train, rather than the hurried flight of a routed and discomfited army." - William Ware in Zenobia.

1825

G. Whitfield Ray Quotation: "He was shot and stabbed, stoned and beaten until he became almost a shapeless heap, and was then hurried away in a mule cart, and, without coffin, priest or mourners, was buried like a dog." - G. Whitfield Ray in Through Five Republics on Horseback.

G. Whitfield Ray Quotation: "Two of these women were very sick, so the chief steward, to whom I was known, hurried me to them, and I was thankful to be able to help the poor females." - G. Whitfield Ray in Through Five Republics on Horseback.

G. Whitfield Ray Quotation: "I hurried through with little wish to penetrate its secret." - G. Whitfield Ray in Through Five Republics on Horseback.

G. Whitfield Ray Quotation: "In early morning the women hurry to mass." - G. Whitfield Ray in Through Five Republics on Horseback.

1827

1827

M.Y. Lermontov Quotation: "Fortunately Pechorin was sunk in thought as he gazed at the jagged, blue peaks of the Caucasus, and was apparently by no means in a hurry for the road." - M.Y. Lermontov in A Hero of Our Time.

M.Y. Lermontov Quotation: "She hurried through the gate of one of the best houses in Pyatigorsk; her mother walked behind her and bowed adieu to Raevich at the gate." - M.Y. Lermontov in A Hero of Our Time.

William H. Prescott Quotation: "The indignation of the Venetians and of Alviano, the same general who had fought so gallantly under Gonsalvo at the Garigliano, hurried them into an engagement with the allies near La Motta, at two miles' distance from Vicenza." - William H. Prescott in History of the Reign of Ferdinand and Isabella, vol 3.

William H. Prescott Quotation: "At length, Pizarro, unable, in the hurry of the moment, to adjust the fastenings of his cuirass threw it away, and enveloping one arm in his cloak, with the other seized his sword, and sprang to his brother's assistance." - William H. Prescott in The History Of The Conquest Of Peru (2nd ver).

William H. Prescott Quotation: "Considering the hurry and confusion of the scene, the different narratives of the catastrophe, though necessarily differing in minute details have a remarkable agreement with one another." - William H. Prescott in The History Of The Conquest Of Peru (2nd ver).

William H. Prescott Quotation: "Before he could extricate himself, Carbajal was seized by some of his own followers, who hoped, by such a prize, to make their peace with the victor, and hurried off towards the president's quarters." - William H. Prescott in History of the Conquest of Peru.

William H. Prescott Quotation: "Some few, indeed, fell into the water, and were drowned; and more than sixty horses, in the attempt to swim them across the river, were hurried down the current, and dashed against the rocks below." - William H. Prescott in History of the Conquest of Peru.

1828

Goodeve, Henry Hurry: Author of "Synoptical table of midwifery shewing the management of natural and difficult labours, their consequences and treatment. By H. H. G. and T. E." Published in 1828.

Hurry, M. pre: Author of "Sunday lectures." Published in 1828.

Lyndon Orr Quotation: "Helene heard of his whereabouts, and hurried to him, with several friends." - Lyndon Orr in Famous Affinities of History, vol 3.

1829

Edgar Allan Poe Quotation: "Thus speaking, and having carefully shaded his lamp, he hurried to one of the casements, and threw it freely open to the storm." - Edgar Allan Poe in The Fall of the House of Usher.

George Meredith Quotation: "This is the state of public opinion here, and unless the greatest advantages are obtained by a premature armistice and a hurried treaty of peace, it is likely to continue the same, not to the entire security of public order in Italy." - George Meredith in Miscellaneous Prose.

George Meredith Quotation: "She sighed thankfully, half way through the breakfast with Skepsey, at sight of the hour by the clock; she was hurriedly sentient of the puzzle of her feelings, when she guessed at a chance that Dudley would be delayed." - George Meredith in One of Our Conquerors, vol 4.

George Meredith Quotation: "He wavered more, and drooped to her, but summoning the powers of hell, kissed her suddenly, cried the words of parting, and hurried to the door." - George Meredith in The Ordeal of Richard Feverel, entire.

George Meredith Quotation: "She shut her eyes, and with open lips, lay waiting; prepared to thank the kindness about to hurry her hence, out of the seas of pain, without pain." - George Meredith in One of Our Conquerors, vol 4.

George Meredith Quotation: "At Torre

Malamberti, where the general headquarters are, no end of general officers were to be seen yesterday hurrying in all directions." - George Meredith in Miscellaneous Prose.

John Laird: In 1829 Laird married Elizabeth Hurry. In 1860, John Laird was joined in partnership by his three sons, William, John and Henry. However, John Laird retired in 1861 and the business was taken over by his sons. It merged with Charles Cammell & Co to form Cammell Laird in 1903. [WP]

Rees Howell Gronow Quotation: "Sir Rowland, availing himself of an elevated position, hurriedly surveyed his ground, and concentrated his men at such points as he knew the nature of the field would induce the enemy to attack." - Rees Howell Gronow in Reminiscences of Captain Gronow.

Rees Howell Gronow Quotation: "James's for a few months, we were hurried off, one fine morning, in charge of a splendid detachment of five hundred men to join Lord Wellington in Spain." - Rees Howell Gronow in Reminiscences of Captain Gronow.

Thomas Chandler Haliburton Quotation: "When Sall heerd this, she began to knit away like mad in a desperate hurry; she looked foolish enough, that's a fact." - Thomas Chandler Haliburton in The Clockmaker.

Thomas Chandler Haliburton Quotation: "If you have ever been to sea, in a calm, you'd know what a plaguy tiresome thing it is for a man that's in a hurry." - Thomas Chandler Haliburton in The Clockmaker.

Thomas Chandler Haliburton Quotation: "Slick, I'm in a considerable of a hurry to katch the Packet, have you any commands for Sow West?" - Thomas Chandler Haliburton in The Clockmaker.

Thomas Chandler Haliburton Quotation: "I'm in a considerable of a hurry to katch the packet, have you any commands for Sou'west?" - Thomas Chandler Haliburton in The Clockmaker.

1830

Charles de Bernard Quotation: "There was something so serious and urgent in Gerfaut's accent as he said these words, that the artist got up at once and hurriedly dressed himself." - Charles de Bernard in Gerfaut, vol 4.

Charles de Bernard Quotation: "Mustering up all her courage through excessive fear, she returned to the closet, hurried down the stairs, and pushed the bolt." - Charles de Bernard in Gerfaut, vol 4.

Charles de Bernard Quotation: "The young man stood motionless, trying to catch his breath, which had been hurried, either by emotion or rapid walking." - Charles de Bernard in Gerfaut, vol 1.

Charles de Bernard Quotation: "At this sight Clemence supported herself against the framework of the window, and Marillac hurriedly left the room." - Charles de Bernard in Gerfaut, vol 2.

Charles de Bernard Quotation: "He hurriedly left the room, almost running against the persons who were carrying Marillac to his room." - Charles de Bernard in Gerfaut, vol 4.

D.P. Thompson Quotation: "My mare has a fleet foot, Risdon; so you now understand why I was in a hurry to be off, don't you?" - D.P. Thompson in The Rangers (The Tory's Daughter).

D.P. Thompson Quotation: "But what can the fellow be up to here, in such a hurry, just at this time?" - D.P. Thompson in The Rangers (The Tory's Daughter).

G.P.R. James Quotation: "But one thing at least may be told, that with him, and with a hurried and timid examination of the feelings of her own bosom regarding him, her thoughts had been busied at the very moment when she had been dragged away from her own home." - G.P.R. James in The King's Highway.

G.P.R. James Quotation: "At length, some one knocked loudly at the door, and starting up, she hurried to open it and give entrance to the stranger whom we have mentioned before." - G.P.R. James in The King's Highway.

G.P.R. James Quotation: "There was, consequently, much hurrying to horse." - G.P.R. James in The King's Highway.

Matthew L. Davis Quotation: "Is not that industry? I write as if I were in a hurry. You may perceive the state of my head and house from the style of my letter. More from Hagley." - Matthew L. Davis in Memoirs of Aaron Burr, vol 2.

1831

Publication: Publication of "A Few real bang-up songs,: viz. Don't be in such a hurry. The ploughman. Yon, yon, yon, lassie. The rantin dog the daddie on't. Kissing." Published in 1830.

Rev. W. Tcikwell Quotation: "In October his nurse takes the pen; Madame Novikoff comes back hurriedly from Scotland to find him in his last illness." - Rev. W. Tcikwell in Biog Study of A. W. Kinglake.

Rev. W. Tcikwell Quotation: "Kinglake quieted his sick friend by an assurance that the servants, whom he would not wish to hurry, were packing." - Rev. W. Tcikwell in Biog Study of A. W. Kinglake.

Rev. W. Tcikwell Quotation: "To the Athenaeum; and having dined pleasantly with Merivale, Kinglake, and Stirling, I hurried off to the House." - Rev. W. Tcikwell in Biog Study of A. W. Kinglake.

Robert Huntington Fletcher Quotation: "To him, as he flatly declared, Fleet Street, in the midst of the hurry of London life, was the most interesting place in the world." - Robert Huntington Fletcher in A History of English Literature.

Robert Huntington Fletcher Quotation: "Into impetuous action they were easily hurried; but their momentary ardor easily cooled into fatalistic despondency." - Robert Huntington Fletcher in A History of English Literature.

1831

John Bull (locomotive): The "John Bull" was built in England by Robert Stephenson for the Camden and Amboy Railroad (C&A), the first railroad built in New Jersey. It was dismantled and then shipped across the Atlantic Ocean in crates aboard the "Allegheny". C&A engineer Isaac Dripps reconstructed the locomotive to the best of his knowledge (the shipment did not include any drawings or instructions to assemble the locomotive) and ran it for the first time in September 1831. On November 12 1831, Robert Stevens (then president of the C&A) repaid some political debts by inviting several members of the New Jersey legislature and some local dignitaries, including Napoleon's nephew Prince Murat, for rides behind the newly delivered locomotive over a short test track. The prince's wife made a point of hurrying onto the train so she could be declared the first woman to ride a steam-powered train in America. [WP]

Thomas Bullfinch Quotation: "Merlin's mother was a virtuous young woman, who, on the birth of her son, intrusted him to a priest, who hurried him to the baptismal fount, and so saved him from sharing the lot of his father, though he retained many marks of his unearthly origin." - Thomas Bullfinch in Bullfinch's Mythology.

Thomas Bullfinch Quotation: "He seized the reins of Huon's horse, and turned him about, hurrying the prince away, and assuring him that they were lost if they stopped to parley with the mischievous dwarf, who, though he appeared a child, was full of years and of treachery." - Thomas Bullfinch in Bullfinch's Mythology.

Thomas Bullfinch Quotation: "He descended to the region where the fountains of the great rivers lie; he saw the enormous receptacles of waters and was almost deafened with the roar, while he surveyed them hurrying off in various directions to water the face of the earth." - Thomas Bullfinch in Bullfinch's Mythology.

Thomas Bullfinch Quotation: "Foreseeing the consequence of this violence, pitying Ogier, and in his heart excusing him, Namo hurried him away before the guards of the palace could arrest him, made him mount his horse, and leave Paris." - Thomas Bullfinch in Bullfinch's Mythology.

Thomas Bullfinch Quotation: "Thence, hurrying through the fields, she disenchanted the victims changed into trees, fountains, stones, or brutes; all of whom recovered their liberty, and vowed eternal gratitude to their deliverer." - Thomas Bullfinch in Bullfinch's Mythology.

1832

Alexis de Tocqueville Quotation: "But nothing is more pernicious than similar instances of favor exhibited to the eyes of a democratic people: they give the last impulse to the public mind in a direction where everything hurries it onwards." - Alexis de Tocqueville in Democracy In America, vol 2.

Alexis de Tocqueville Quotation: "He who has set his heart exclusively upon the pursuit of worldly welfare is always in a hurry, for he has but a limited time at his disposal to reach it, to grasp it, and to enjoy it." - Alexis de Tocqueville in Democracy In America, vol 2.

Alexis de Tocqueville Quotation: "The mind is then seized by both ends, and hurried into trade and manufactures, which are the shortest roads that lead to opulence." - Alexis de Tocqueville in Democracy In America, vol 2.

Edward William Watkin Quotation: "All this rapid and regular action drives dinner on amazingly; indeed, it almost hurries you." - Edward William Watkin in Canada and the States.

Maria Monk Quotation: "I think there was another nun with her at the moment; and it is probable that my hurried manner, and prompt intimation that I was sent on a pressing mission, to the Superior, prevented them from entertaining any suspicion of my intention." - Maria Monk in Awful Disclosures.

Maria Monk Quotation: "Whoever volunteered to make a story on the spot, was sent immediately to tell it, and the other nuns present were hurried off with her under strict injunctions to uphold her in every thing she might state." - Maria Monk in Awful Disclosures.

Maria Monk Quotation: "And so saying she hurried down to the street, while a number of women, children, and some men, came running out, and pursued after me." - Maria Monk in Awful Disclosures.

Maria Monk Quotation: "I hurried, therefore, by the door; and the great church being at hand, my next thought was to enter there." - Maria Monk in Awful Disclosures.

Walter Bagehot Quotation: "Then he rises in a fuss and must explain: but in his hurry he mistakes, and cannot find the right paper, and becomes first hot, then confused, next inaudible, and so sits down." - Walter Bagehot in The English Constitution.

Walter Bagehot Quotation: "But the manner in which it was hurried through the House savoured of despotism." - Walter Bagehot in The English Constitution.

1833

George Borrow Quotation: "I shall never forget the look of agony he cast us whilst the ship hurried past him." - George Borrow in Letters of George Borrow.

George Borrow Quotation: "I hurried with it to my chamber, and commenced the examination of it." - George Borrow in Letters of George Borrow.

George Borrow Quotation: "I write these lines in a great hurry, as no time must be lost." - George Borrow in Letters of George Borrow.

George Borrow Quotation: "Having said this, he hurried towards the town." - George Borrow in Letters of George Borrow.

George Borrow Quotation: "I am in a great hurry and can write no more." - George Borrow in Letters of George Borrow.

George MacDonald Quotation: "Teufelsbuerst stood staring at him for some minutes without moving, then suddenly turned and left the room. Karl heard him hurrying down the cellar stairs." - George MacDonald in Adela Cathcart, vol 3.

George MacDonald Quotation: "On they hurried, assailed the rocks, devoured the sands, cast themselves in wild abandonment on whatever opposed them." - George MacDonald in Adela Cathcart, vol 3.

George MacDonald Quotation: "But they were not of long duration; for the moment I appeared, they bade each other a hurried good night, and parted." - George MacDonald in Adela Cathcart, vol 3.

George MacDonald Quotation: "A voice behind her would make her turn pale and look hurriedly round." - George MacDonald in Adela Cathcart, vol 3.

John Keble Quotation: "The busy world a thousand ways Is hurrying by, nor ever stays To catch a note of Thy dear praise." - John Keble in The Christian Year.

Nikolai Gogol Quotation: "But, unfortunately, they were all people who were hard to get along with, either busy, hurried people, or else belonging to the fashionable world, and consequently more occupied than any one else, and therefore impatient to the last degree." - Nikolai Gogol in Taras Bulba, et. al.

Nikolai Gogol Quotation: "He began at once to hurry about and give orders; selected horses and trappings for his sons, looked through the stables and storehouses, and chose servants to accompany them on the morrow." - Nikolai Gogol in Taras Bulba, et. al.

T.S. Arthur Quotation: "It was nearly night when she finished ironing the last piece. Hurriedly putting on her things, after sending two of her children with the clothes in a basket, she joined them as they were about entering the dwelling of Mrs. Hamil." - T.S. Arthur in The Lights and Shadows of Real Life.

T.S. Arthur Quotation: "I say mystery, for she did not fully credit the reason he had given for his hurried visit to New York, and felt that there was a mystery connected with it, that, somehow or other, deeply affected her happiness." - T.S. Arthur in Married Life; Its Shadows and Sunshine.

T.S. Arthur Quotation: "One young friend had been with her all the morning, but had left towards the middle of the day Alone, for the first time, since her hurried marriage, her feelings became somewhat saddened in their hue." - T.S. Arthur in The Lights and Shadows of Real Life.

T.S. Arthur Quotation: "A hurried movement and the low murmur of voices was heard for some moments; then the door was unlocked and held partly open by Green, whose body so filled the narrow aperture that I could not look into the room." - T.S. Arthur in Ten Nights in a Bar Room.

T.S. Arthur Quotation: "Rosalie heard that familiar step on the stairway; she had seen Duncan hurrying away from the house, and she knew the conference was over; but she had no fear for the result." - T.S. Arthur in Words of Cheer for the Tempted, the Toiling, and the Sorrowing.

1834

George Webbe Dasent Quotation: "Well, up jumped the lad and ran to the door, and unlocked it, but in his hurry he forgot to hide the picture." - George Webbe Dasent in Popular Tales from the Norse.

George Webbe Dasent Quotation: "As for Halvor, he had no rest, and wanted to be off at once, but the old wife said there was no hurry." - George Webbe Dasent in Popular Tales from the Norse.

Mary J. Holmes Quotation: "That was among the bygones, a thing never again to be talked about, and offering him her hand, she looked for an instant earnestly into his face, then without a word, hurried from the room, while the doctor, with a sad, heavy heart, went in quest of Guy." - Mary J. Holmes in Aikenside.

Mary J. Holmes Quotation: "Thus she ever reasoned, and when Janet said that he was coming, and she, too, heard his step upon the piazza, the bright blushes broke over her youthful face, and casting a hurried glance at the mirror, she hastened out to meet him." - Mary J. Holmes in Cousin Maude.

Mary J. Holmes Quotation: "This little act recalled so vivedly the scenes of other days that Grace burst into a flood of tears, and hurried from the room to the parlor adjoining, where, unobserved, she could weep again over the hopes forever fled." - Mary J. Holmes in Darkness and Daylight.

Mary J. Holmes Quotation: "The stranger reached the little gate and, undoing the fastening, went hurrying up the walk, his step upon the crackling snow catching Maddy's ear at last and making her wonder who could be coming there on such a night as this." - Mary J. Holmes in Aikenside.

Mary J. Holmes Quotation: "They were laying the table for dinner now, and with a kind of dizzy, uncertain feeling, Maddy watched the servants hurrying to and fro, bringing out the choicest china, and the glittering silver, in honor of the bride." - Mary J. Holmes in Aikenside.

Nathaniel Hawthorne Quotation: "The engine at this moment took its station in advance of the cars, looking, I must confess, much more like a sort of mechanical demon that would hurry us to the infernal regions than a laudable contrivance for smoothing our way to the Celestial City." - Nathaniel Hawthorne in From Mosses From An Old Manse.

Nathaniel Hawthorne Quotation: "They perform the journey from this point into town in about half an hour; and yesterday morning, being in a hurry to get to the railway station, I found that I could outwalk them, taking into account their frequent stoppages." - Nathaniel Hawthorne in Passages From the English Notebooks, vol 2.

1835

Nathaniel Hawthorne Quotation: "The papers were indeed reduced to a heap of black cinders, with a multitude of sparks hurrying confusedly among them, the traces of the pen being now represented by white lines, and the whole mass fluttering to and fro in the draughts of air." - Nathaniel Hawthorne in From The Snow Image.

Nathaniel Hawthorne Quotation: "Twice, however, little parties of men, among whom Robin distinguished individuals in outlandish attire, came hurrying along; but, though on both occasions, they paused to address him such intercourse did not at all enlighten his perplexity." - Nathaniel Hawthorne in From The Snow Image.

Nathaniel Hawthorne Quotation: "At the portal of every palace, too, she made so loud a summons that the menials hurried to throw open the gate, thinking that it must be some great king or queen, who would demand a banquet for supper and a stately chamber to repose in." - Nathaniel Hawthorne in Tanglewood Tales.

Nikolai Gogol Quotation: "Yes, in spite of the responsibility of the Inferior Land Court, the speaker cast all thoughts of it to the winds as he hurried to greet our hero." - Nikolai Gogol in Dead Souls.

Nikolai Gogol Quotation: "Did you hear how he bullies the Imperial Council? Come, let's hurry off to Ammos Fiodorovich and Korobkin and tell them about it." - Nikolai Gogol in The Inspector-General.

Nikolai Gogol Quotation: "Hurry up, quick! You're so slow. Well, where are they? What? Speak from where you are." - Nikolai Gogol in The Inspector-General.

Nikolai Gogol Quotation: "All hurry to the door, crowding and jostling in their struggle to get out." - Nikolai Gogol in The Inspector-General.

Nikolai Gogol Quotation: "Please hurry them up! See that I get it as soon as possible." - Nikolai Gogol in The Inspector-General.

Succession crisis (Mormonism): The highest executive council of the church was the First Presidency. The death of both Joseph and Hyrum Smith left Sidney Rigdon as the only surviving member of the First Presidency. As early as April 19, 1834, Joseph Smith and Oliver Cowdery had "laid hands upon bro. Sidney [Rigdon] and confirmed upon him the blessings of wisdom and knowledge to preside over the Church in the absence of brother Joseph" (Joseph Smith Diary, 19 Apr. 1834, Church Archives; Jessee, Papers of Joseph Smith, vol. 2, pp. 31-32). In the spring of 1844, Joseph Smith had begun running a third-party candidacy to be elected President of the United States. Sidney Rigdon was nominated as Smith's Vice Presidential running mate and had moved to Pennsylvania to establish legal residency there (the United States Constitution dictates that the President and Vice President must come from separate states). Upon receiving word of Smith's death, Rigdon claimed to receive a revelation calling him to succeed Smith as "guardian" of the church and he hurriedly returned to Nauvoo to exercise his claim. [WP]

1835

Jose Rizal Quotation: "The alferez went blind from rage and with a roar attempted to throw himself upon her, but she, with astonishing quickness, hit him across the face with the whip and ran hurriedly into an inner room, shutting and bolting the door violently behind her." - Jose Rizal in The Social Cancer [Noli Me Tangere].

Jose Rizal Quotation: "He was hurriedly placing the arms in his belt when he caught sight of the portrait of Maria Clara and hesitated a moment, then thrust it into one of the sacks and with them in his hands leaped from the window into the garden." - Jose Rizal in The Social Cancer [Noli Me Tangere].

Jose Rizal Quotation: "She could not endure the young people, so from there she would scrutinize and mock the passing girls, who, being afraid of her, would hurry by in confusion, holding their breath the while, and not daring to raise their eyes." - Jose Rizal in The Social Cancer [Noli Me Tangere].

Jose Rizal Quotation: "Rizal standing alone, the occasion of so much hurried preparation and fearful precaution, is a pathetic testimonial to the degree of incapacity into which the ruling powers had fallen, even in chicanery." - Jose Rizal in The Social Cancer [Noli Me Tangere].

Jose Rizal Quotation: "Finding herself in the street, she instinctively started to hurry toward her house, with her head bared, her hair disheveled, and her gaze fixed on the distant horizon." - Jose Rizal in The Social Cancer [Noli Me Tangere].

Matthew L. Davis Quotation: "Lo Alexander and Cesar, the fabled heroes of antiquity, to what lengths did passion hurry them?" - Matthew L. Davis in Memoirs of Aaron Burr, vol 1.

Washington Irving Quotation: "Hurrying on by long marches, they at length fell upon a trail, which, with the experienced eye of veteran woodmen, they soon discovered to be that of the party of trappers detached by Captain Bonneville when on his march, and which they were sent to join." - Washington Irving in The Adventures of Captain Bonneville.

Washington Irving Quotation: "The travellers were annoyed also by frequent but brief storms, which would come hurrying over the hills, or through the mountain defiles, rage with great fury for a short time, and then pass off, leaving everything calm and serene again." - Washington Irving in The Adventures of Captain Bonneville.

Washington Irving Quotation: "In the course of their march, Mr. Fitzpatrick, the partner of the company who was resident at that time beyond the mountains, came down from the rendezvous at Pierre's Hole to meet them and hurry them forward." - Washington Irving in The Adventures of Captain Bonneville.

Washington Irving Quotation: "By this time the cloud of dust had swept on as if hurried along by a blast, and a band of wild horsemen came dashing at full leap into the camp, yelling and whooping like so many maniacs." - Washington Irving in The Adventures of Captain Bonneville.

Washington Irving Quotation: "They hurried off to obtain relief; but on their return he was nowhere to be found." - Washington Irving in The Adventures of Captain Bonneville.

1836

Baldomero Espartero: His military duties at the head of the principal national army did not prevent Espartero from showing for the first time his political ambition. He displayed such radical and reforming inclinations that he laid the foundations of his popularity among the lower and middle classes, which lasted more than a quarter of a century, during which time the Progressists, Democrats and advanced Liberals ever looked to him as a leader and adviser. In November 1836 he again forced the Carlists to raise the siege of Bilbao. His troops included the British legion under Sir de Lacy Evans. This success turned the tide of war against Don Carlos, who vainly attempted a raid towards Madrid. Espartero was soon at his heels, and obliged him to hurry northwards, after several defeats. In 1839 Espartero carefully opened up negotiations with Maroto and the principal Carlist chiefs of the Basque provinces. These ended in their accepting his terms under the famous convention of Vergara, which secured the recognition of their ranks and titles for nearly 1000 Carlist officers. Twenty thousand Carlist volunteers laid down their arms at Vergara; only the irreconcilables led by Cabrera held out for a while in the central provinces of Spain. Espartero soon, in 1840, stamped out the last embers of the rising, which had lasted seven years. He was styled El pacificador de Espana, was made a grandee of the first class, and received two dukedoms. [WP]

Friedrich von Schiller Quotation: "The Imperialists immediately broke up their camp, and hurried towards the Polish frontier to block up the route; Bucheim left his station, and the Oder was stripped of its defenders." - Friedrich von Schiller in The History of the Thirty Years' War.

Friedrich von Schiller Quotation: "He pointed out to them the danger in which all who had signed the petition were involved, and sought by working on their resentment and fears to hurry them into violent resolutions." - Friedrich von Schiller in The History of the Thirty Years' War.

Friedrich von Schiller Quotation: "Made masters of the field in a single summer, they were as rapidly dispossessed; but only to acquire it a second time, and to hurry from one extreme to another." - Friedrich von Schiller in The History of the Thirty Years' War.

Friedrich von Schiller Quotation: "But instead of joining the Swedes, he soon hurried back to the Rhine and the Maine, from which he seemed to think he had removed farther than was expedient." - Friedrich von Schiller in The History of the Thirty Years' War.

Friedrich von Schiller Quotation: "This flight was so hurried, that the Prince of Anhalt left behind him his most private papers, and Frederick his crown." - Friedrich von Schiller in The History of the Thirty Years' War.

Horatio Alger Quotation: "John Somerville paced the room with hurried steps. Peg watched him carelessly." - Horatio Alger in Try and Trust.

Houston, Sam: Born in 1793 and died in 1863, authored "Events hurry themselves upon us every day results in something important connected with the fate of Texas." Published in 1836.

1837

Elizabeth Gaskell Quotation: "His talent for gossip and his love of small details had scarcely fair play in the hurry of a London life, and were much nipped in the bud during his Continental sojournings, as he neither spoke French fluently, nor understood it easily when spoken." - Elizabeth Gaskell in Wives and Daughters.

Elizabeth Gaskell Quotation: "She was so pretty and so graceful in her deep mourning, that even her hurry in eating, as if she was afraid of some one coming to surprise her in the act, did not keep her little observer from admiring her in all she did." - Elizabeth Gaskell in Wives and Daughters.

Elizabeth Gaskell Quotation: "They had left the house in good time for church, so they needed not to hurry; and they went leisurely along the road, now and then passing some country person whom they knew, and with whom they exchanged a kindly, placid greeting." - Elizabeth Gaskell in Ruth.

Elizabeth Gaskell Quotation: "I ought to have offered you something to eat, sir! Oh, Paul, we have gathered quite enough; how stupid I was to forget that Mr Holdsworth had been ill!' And in a blushing hurry she led the way towards the house." - Elizabeth Gaskell in Cousin Phillis.

Elizabeth Gaskell Quotation: "We found out, in the course of the evening, that Lady Glenmire was going to pay Mrs Jamieson a long visit, as she had given up her apartments in Edinburgh, and had no ties to take her back there in a hurry." - Elizabeth Gaskell in Cranford.

George Meredith Quotation: "He worked his arms hurriedly into his fatigue jacket, trusting to get away to the house and spend a couple of minutes on his adornment; and with any other visitor it might have been accomplished, but Lady Camper disliked sitting alone in a room." - George Meredith in Case of General Opel.

George Meredith Quotation: "She could not understand how it had come to pass that she found herself suddenly on this incline, precipitated whither she would fain be going, only less hurriedly, less openly, and with her secret merely peeping, like a dove in the breast." - George Meredith in Beauchamps Career, vol 5.

George Meredith Quotation: "Returning from the city, I hurried to my father's house, late in the afternoon, and heard that he had started to overtake the prince, leaving word that the prince was to be found at his address in the island." - George Meredith in Adventures Harry Richmond, vol 7.

George Meredith Quotation: "Ultimately she fancied the miniature had been overlooked in his hurry to dress, and that he was now merely excited by his lively gallop to a certain degree of hard brightness noticeable in hunting men at their dinner." - George Meredith in Celt and Saxon, vol 1.

George Meredith Quotation: "Rosamund essayed a tender sketch of the fair young lady, and fancied that she drew forth a sigh; she would have coloured the sketch, but he commanded her to hurry off to bed, and think of her morning's work." - George Meredith in Beauchamps Career, vol 5.

Herman Melville Quotation: "Could it have been thrown down by some solitary native, who, alarmed at seeing us, had hurried forward to carry the tidings of our approach to his countrymen?" - Herman Melville in Typee.

1838

Herman Melville Quotation: "But might not the savages who had acted so strangely, hurry me off somewhere before his return?" - Herman Melville in Typee.

P.J. Proudhon Quotation: "His very handwriting, bold, uniform, legible, even in the most tiresome passages, betrays no haste, no hurry to finish." - P.J. Proudhon in What is Property?.

Treaties of Velasco: Santa Anna was not given passage to Veracruz. He was kept as a prisoner of war ("clapped in irons for six months", he later claimed) in Velasco and, in Orizimbo, before being taken to Washington, D.C., in the United States to meet with President Andrew Jackson (ostensibly to negotiate a lasting peace between Mexico and Texas, with the USA acting as mediator). Sailing on the frigate USS "Pioneer", the guest of the U.S. Navy, he did arrive back in Veracruz until 23 February 1837 but, in any event, was probably not in any great hurry to return home. [WP]

William Makepeace Thackeray Quotation: "Somehow, in the hurry and confusion of this struggle, the oyster remained with the British Government, who had so kindly offered to dress it for the Emperor, while His Majesty was obliged to be contented with the shell." - William Makepeace Thackeray in Adventures of Major Gahagan.

William Makepeace Thackeray Quotation: "There were very innocent young ladies with their mammas, who would hurry them off trembling to the farther corner of the room when certain doubtful professional characters made their appearance." - William Makepeace Thackeray in Men's Wives.

William Makepeace Thackeray Quotation: "Molloy, my boy, run off in a hurry to your mamma, and tell her an English gentleman is coming home to dine; for you'll dine with me, Fitz, in course?" - William Makepeace Thackeray in Men's Wives.

William Makepeace Thackeray Quotation: "You don't mean that these words, uttered in a hurried moment, are to weigh against a whole life's devotion?" - William Makepeace Thackeray in Vanity Fair.

William Makepeace Thackeray Quotation: "Wherefore be in such a hurry to set up new faiths?" - William Makepeace Thackeray in The Paris Sketch Book.

1838

Abram J. Ryan Quotation: "The sun had passed his noon and westward sloped; He hurried to the cloister and was told The Mother waited him." - Abram J. Ryan in Poems: Patriotic, Religious, Miscellaneous.

Edward Bulwer Lytton Quotation: "Fervently hoping that she would, and more and more averse to the idea of reduction to a cinder after I had seen the rapidity with which a human body can be hurried into a pinch of dust, I amused myself by watching the manners of the other young people." - Edward Bulwer Lytton in The Coming Race.

Edward Bulwer Lytton Quotation: "What! was he to be thus mystically cajoled and hurried into a rash marriage, because Zanoni, a mere stranger, told him with a grave face that he must decide before the clock struck a certain hour?" - Edward Bulwer Lytton in Zanoni.

Edward Bulwer Lytton Quotation: "Meanwhile, let me make the reader somewhat better acquainted with the character and designs of Montreal, than the hurry of events has yet permitted him to become." - Edward Bulwer Lytton in Rienzi, last of the Roman Tribunes.

Edward Bulwer Lytton Quotation: "The qualities that made him rise, hurry him to his fall; and victory at the Marengo of his fortunes, urges him to destruction at its Moscow." - Edward Bulwer Lytton in Rienzi, last of the Roman Tribunes.

Edward Bulwer Lytton Quotation: "With a hurried glance towards the dead, he sprung upon his steed, and, followed by his train, vanished through the arch." - Edward Bulwer Lytton in Rienzi, last of the Roman Tribunes.

Edward Bulwer-Lytton Quotation: "At that instant, the deer, which lay waving their lordly antlers to and fro beneath the avenue which sloped upward from the stream to the house, rose hurriedly and in confusion, and stood gazing, with watchful eyes, upon a man advancing towards the pair." - Edward Bulwer-Lytton in The Disowned, vol 3.

Edward Bulwer-Lytton Quotation: "Then he hurried away to take leave of his host and hostess, say a few significant words to the ally he had already gained in Mrs. Campion, and within an hour was on his road to London, passing on his way the train that bore Kenelm to Exmundham." - Edward Bulwer-Lytton in Kenelm Chillingly, book 8.

Edward Bulwer-Lytton Quotation: "The young gentleman, with a schoolboy's usual bluntness, was about to say that he was in a hurry, and had rather not; but Dr. Riccabocca's grand manner awed him, while a glimpse of the hall excited his curiosity, so he silently obeyed the invitation." - Edward Bulwer-Lytton in My Novel, book 2.

Edward Bulwer-Lytton Quotation: "As we gained the door which she had left open, the starlight shining across the shadowy gloom within, she lifted her face from my breast, and cast a hurried fearful look round the shining garden, then into the dim recess beyond the threshold." - Edward Bulwer-Lytton in A Strange Story, vol 7.

Edward Bulwer-Lytton Quotation: "On perceiving whom he had thus addressed, he had sought to soothe the anger or alarm of the Lady Anne; but still mistaking his intention, she had hurried into Warner's chamber; he had followed her thither, and now she had fled the palace." - Edward Bulwer-Lytton in Last of the Barons, book 9.

L.A. Abbott Quotation: "I ran till I came to the house of a farmer whom I had been attending for some ailment, and hurriedly narrating the situation, I offered him one hundred dollars if he would secrete me till the hue and cry was over and I could safely get away." - L.A. Abbott in Seven Wives and Seven Prisons.

L.A. Abbott Quotation: "There was nothing to be done, then, but to hurry on to the east, and when we arrived in New York Henry would not go home to his mother in Unadilla, but insisted upon accompanying me to Boston." - L.A. Abbott in Seven Wives and Seven Prisons.

L.A. Abbott Quotation: "We had a great deal of fun over it, then more wine, and then it was time for us to hurry to the depot to take the six o'clock train for Rutland." - L.A. Abbott in Seven Wives and Seven Prisons.

L.A. Abbott Quotation: "We were in no great hurry now; we were comparatively safe from pursuit." - L.A. Abbott in Seven Wives and Seven Prisons.

L.A. Abbott Quotation: "I rested one day and then hurried on to New York." - L.A. Abbott in Seven Wives and Seven Prisons.

Thomas Carlyle Quotation: "The child was a boy, of rather weakly aspect; no important person present, except Sigvat, the King's Icelandic Skald, who happened to be still awake; and the Bishop of Norway, who, I suppose, had been sent for in hurry." - Thomas Carlyle in Early Kings of Norway.

Thomas Carlyle Quotation: "He looked always hurried, abrupt, even beyond wont; and indeed was, I suppose, overwhelmed in details of business." - Thomas Carlyle in Sartor Resartus.

1839

Charles James Lever Quotation: "I meanwhile hurried to rescue poor Curzon, who, having fallen to the ground, was getting a cast of his features taken in pewter, for such seemed the operation a stout farmer was performing on the adjutant's face with a quart." - Charles James Lever in Confessions of Harry Lorrequer, vol 1, ch.1-10.

Charles James Lever Quotation: "On my addressing her, she turned round suddenly, and became at first deep scarlet, then pale as death: while, turning to the table, she hurriedly threw her letters into a drawer, and motioned me to a place beside her." - Charles James Lever in Confessions of Harry Lorrequer, vol 5, ch.29-41.

Charles James Lever Quotation: "This done, they stealthily retreated, and hurried back to their quarters, unable to speak with laughter at the success of their plot, and their anticipation of Ridgeway's rage on awakening in the morning." - Charles James Lever in Confessions of Harry Lorrequer, vol 2, ch.11-17.

Charles James Lever Quotation: "As it was growing late I hurriedly bade adieu to my friends, and hastened to Colonel Carden's quarters, where I found him waiting for me, in company with my old friend, Fitzgerald, our regimental surgeon." - Charles James Lever in Confessions of Harry Lorrequer, vol 1, ch.1-10.

Charles James Lever Quotation: "Having hastily arranged with my new friend to watch the carriage till my return, I took the path he showed me, and smarting with pain at every step, hurried along as best I could towards the chateau." - Charles James Lever in Confessions of Harry Lorrequer, vol 6, ch.42-55.

Henry David Thoreau Quotation: "The buds swell imperceptibly, without hurry or confusion, as if the short spring days were an eternity." - Henry David Thoreau in A Week on the Concord and Merrimack Rivers.

1840

Alexis de Tocqueville Quotation: "An eager crowd hastens toward the resort of commerce and industry; everything around you bespeaks motion, bustle, hurry." - Alexis de Tocqueville in American Institutions and Their Influence.

Hans Christian Andersen Quotation: "It is, no doubt, cold enough in your woods, but there at least is the breath of liberty; therefore fly away. In the hurry they have forgotten to shut your cage, and the upper window is open." - Hans Christian Andersen in Hans Christian Andersen's Fairy Tales.

Hans Christian Andersen Quotation: "There need not, however, be any haste about that; but you are always in such a tremendous hurry, and the little one is beginning to be the same." - Hans Christian Andersen in Hans Christian Andersen's Fairy Tales.

Hans Christian Andersen Quotation: "People came in crowds; there was a crush and a hurry, but no one was successful either on the first or second day." - Hans Christian Andersen in Hans Christian Andersen's Fairy Tales.

John Thomas Codman Quotation: "The autumn fled rapidly away, and things had to be hurried up and put into shape for the winter." - John Thomas Codman in Brook Farm.

Mark Rutherford (William Hale White) Quotation: "In a few minutes she hurried Catharine downstairs, and when she was again admitted Phoebe lay dead, and her pale face, unutterably peaceful and serious, was bound up with a white neckerchief." - Mark Rutherford (William Hale White) in Catherine Furze.

Mark Rutherford (William Hale White) Quotation: "He was hurried away, brought before the judges, and examined." - Mark Rutherford (William Hale White) in Catherine Furze.

Samuel Smiles Quotation: "The tapes hurry the now completely printed newspaper up an inclined plane, from which the divided sheets are showered down in a continuous stream by an oscillating frame, where they are met by two boys, who adjust the sheets as they fall." - Samuel Smiles in Men of Invention and Industry.

Thomas Hardy Quotation: "The other mummers appeared to be in no hurry to leave; and murmuring to the lad who sat next to her that she preferred waiting for them outside the house, she moved to the door as imperceptibly as possible, opened it, and slipped out." - Thomas Hardy in Return of the Native.

Thomas Hardy Quotation: "But it was possible that her presence might not be desired by Clym and his mother at this moment of their first meeting, or that it would be superfluous. At all events, she was in no hurry to meet Mrs. Yeobright." - Thomas Hardy in Return of the Native.

Thomas Hardy Quotation: "I opened my door and held out my lantern, and just as far as the light would reach I saw a woman; she turned her head when the light sheened on her, and then hurried on downhill." - Thomas Hardy in Return of the Native.

Thomas Hardy Quotation: "They had brought a lantern and matches, water, a pillow, and a few other articles which had occurred to their minds in the hurry of the moment." - Thomas Hardy in Return of the Native.

Thomas Hardy Quotation: "Thomasin paid them a hurried visit, and Clym's share was delivered up to him by her own hands." - Thomas Hardy in Return of the Native.

1841

Charles Dickens Quotation: "He was still placidly engaged in this latter survey, when Mrs. Corney, hurrying into the room, threw herself, in a breathless state, on a chair by the fireside, and covering her eyes with one hand, placed the other over her heart, and gasped for breath." - Charles Dickens in Our Mutual Friend.

Charles Dickens Quotation: "When they had been thus refreshed, the whole house hurried away into an empty stable where the show stood, and where, by the light of a few flaring candles stuck round a hoop which hung by a line from the ceiling, it was to be forthwith exhibited." - Charles Dickens in The Old Curiosity Shop.

Charles Dickens Quotation: "Thinking this a favourable opportunity for departing before any of the torrent of her wrath discharged itself upon him, Nicholas hurried Kate off, and left the unfortunate subject of this unexpected recognition to explain his conduct as he best could." - Charles Dickens in Nicholas Nickleby.

Charles Dickens Quotation: "The hurry of spirits consequent upon the events of yesterday, and the unexpected intelligence he had heard at night, had troubled his sleep through the long dark hours, and summoned such uneasy dreams about his pillow that it was rest to rise." - Charles Dickens in The Old Curiosity Shop.

Charles Dickens Quotation: "It was dark, awful, and solitary to the last degree; there were mountains above mountains, veiled in angry clouds; and there was such a wrathful, rapid, violent, tumultuous hurry, everywhere, as rendered the scene unspeakably exciting and grand." - Charles Dickens in Pictures From Italy.

John S.C. Abbott Quotation: "Napoleon dispatched courier after courier to hurry the division along, while his troops stood firm through terrific hours, as their ranks were plowed by the murderous discharges of their foes." - John S.C. Abbott in Napoleon Bonaparte.

John S.C. Abbott Quotation: "David, in a state of high, joyous excitement, hurried back to the wagoner, to get his seven dollars of money and some clothes he had left with him." - John S.C. Abbott in David Crockett.

John S.C. Abbott Quotation: "Then the whole party gave it up as a bad job, and hurried off to the camp, leaving the cannon ready charged where they had planted it." - John S.C. Abbott in David Crockett.

John S.C. Abbott Quotation: "I now thought of the hole in the side, and made my way in a hurry for that." - John S.C. Abbott in David Crockett.

John S.C. Abbott Quotation: "Such men are seldom in a hurry. Time is to them of but very little value." - John S.C. Abbott in David Crockett.

Order of the Oak Crown: When first established in 1841, the Order of the Oak Crown was constituted in a hurry, as the Grand Duke wanted to establish the Order before the Grand Duchy got a constitution. The badge, the ribbon, and the (then) four-class structure of the order were inspired by the Russian Order of St. George. This was probably due to the fact that William II was married to a daughter of the Czar, and that he had received the Order of St. George after his gallant command at the Battle of Waterloo. [WP]

Theophile Gautier Quotation: "She did not linger to examine and admire all the beautified things dimly revealed to her by the feeble light of her small lamp, but hurried on to the third door, which opened into an apartment yet more spacious and magnificent than the other two." - Theophile Gautier in Captain Fracasse.

Theophile Gautier Quotation: "She cast a hurried glance round her, as she stepped down, saw that she was in a large, square court, and that all the tall, narrow windows in the high brick walls that surrounded it had their inside shutters carefully closed." - Theophile Gautier in Captain Fracasse.

Theophile Gautier Quotation: "In his hurry and preoccupation he did not notice Lampourde, who suddenly approached and laid hold of his cloak, which he snatched off, with a quick, strong jerk that broke its fastenings." - Theophile Gautier in Captain Fracasse.

Theophile Gautier Quotation: "I have bestowed my hand so often in the last act of the pieces I have played that I am in no hurry to do it in reality." - Theophile Gautier in Captain Fracasse.

1842

Benjamin Disraeli Quotation: "At half past six o'clock the bell announced that the train was in sight; a few minutes afterwards Dandy Mick hurried up to the leader of the nearest Trade, spoke a few words, and instantly the signal was given and the hymn commenced." - Benjamin Disraeli in Sybil, or the Two Nations.

Benjamin Disraeli Quotation: "Clever, brisk, and bustling, with an university reputation and without patrimony, Floatwell shrunk from the toils of a profession, and in the hurry skurry of reform found himself to his astonishment a parliament man." - Benjamin Disraeli in Sybil, or the Two Nations.

Benjamin Disraeli Quotation: "He might shrink from mixing himself up with such characters and such transactions; he might not have received her hurried appeal in time to act upon it, even if the desire of her soul were practicable." - Benjamin Disraeli in Sybil, or the Two Nations.

Benjamin Disraeli Quotation: "One ruffian had grasped the arm of Sybil, another had clenched her garments, when an officer covered with dust and gore, sabre in hand, jumped from the terrace, and hurried to the rescue." - Benjamin Disraeli in Sybil, or the Two Nations.

George Borrow Quotation: "The poor people no sooner heard their curate recommend the volumes, than all were eager to secure one, and hurried here and there for the purpose of procuring money, so that between twenty and thirty copies were sold almost in an instant." - George Borrow in The Bible in Spain.

George Borrow Quotation: "Leaping from his couch, he came running to the door in great hurry and confusion, and perceiving us, he made many apologies for being asleep at a period when, he said, he ought to have been on the lookout for his invited guest." - George Borrow in The Bible in Spain.

George Borrow Quotation: "Without a moment's hesitation I took my young master by the shoulders, and hurrying him to the door, dismissed him in the manner which he deserved; squalling loudly, he hurried away to the upper part of the house." - George Borrow in The Bible in Spain.

George Borrow Quotation: "Rushing out of my tent, I hurried up the path to the top of the dingle, where I heard the sound distinctly enough, but it was going from me, and evidently proceeded from something much larger than the cart of Isopel." - George Borrow in The Romany Rye.

George Borrow Quotation: "The man was commonly dressed, with a broad felt hat on his head, and a kind of satchel on his back; he seemed to be in a mighty hurry, and was every now and then belabouring the donkey with a cudgel." - George Borrow in The Romany Rye.

1843

Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu Quotation: "I had time before they made their appearance to move my seat hurriedly from the table to the hearth, where, under the shade of the large chimney, I might observe the coming visitors with less chance of being myself remarked upon." - Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu in The Purcell Papers, vol 3.

Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu Quotation: "He again unlocked the door, and entered with the same precautions which he had adopted before, locking the door upon the inside; and as I hurried from the room, I heard his voice again exerted as if in eager parley." - Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu in The Purcell Papers, vol 3.

Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu Quotation: "She returned to the room, and with the assistance of her daughter, whom I had occasion to mention before, she succeeded in finding and lighting a candle, with which she hurried again to the head of the staircase." - Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu in The Purcell Papers, vol 1.

Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu Quotation: "We hurried to the hall in time to hear the steps let down with the sharp clanging noise peculiar to the operation, and the hum of voices exerted in the bustle of arrival." - Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu in The Purcell Papers, vol 3.

1844

Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu Quotation: "Three or four servants, alarmed by the noise, now hurried upstairs, and Lady Ardagh was carried apparently lifeless to her own chamber." - Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu in The Purcell Papers, vol 1.

Louisa Mühlbach Quotation: "Each one had hurried by, and now they all were free again, and were preparing to fly as far as possible from the infected spot." - Louisa Mühlbach in Joseph II. and His Court.

Louisa Mühlbach Quotation: "Escorted by the peasants, the disarmed and defenceless Bavarians were hurried into the barracks, whose doors closed noisily behind them." - Louisa Mühlbach in Andreas Hofer.

Victor Hugo Quotation: "Neither seemed to be in any hurry, and both walked slowly, as though each of them feared by too much haste to make his partner redouble his pace." - Victor Hugo in Les Miserables (tr Isabel F. Hapgood).

Victor Hugo Quotation: "The two bridges, situated thus close together, augment the peril; the water hurries in formidable wise through the arches." - Victor Hugo in Les Miserables (tr Isabel F. Hapgood).

Victor Hugo Quotation: "But Fauchelevent was in too great a hurry to terminate this adventure to take any notice of this sad side of his success." - Victor Hugo in Les Miserables (tr Isabel F. Hapgood).

Victor Hugo Quotation: "Hurry up and jump down, trot, my girl, your legs are young." - Victor Hugo in Les Miserables (tr Isabel F. Hapgood).

Victor Hugo Quotation: "Are you in a hurry, sir?" - Victor Hugo in Les Miserables (tr Isabel F. Hapgood).

1844

Charles Darwin Quotation: "This sign of the approaching winter hurried our steps, more than was convenient for geologising. The house where we slept was situated at the foot of a mountain, on the summit of which are the mines of S. Pedro de Nolasko." - Charles Darwin in The Voyage of the Beagle (A Naturalist's Voyage Round the World).

Charles Darwin Quotation: "The journey from Guasco to Copiapo, owing to the utterly desert nature of the country, was necessarily so hurried, that I do not consider my notes worth giving." - Charles Darwin in South American Geology.

Charles Darwin Quotation: "One's mind hurries back over past centuries, and then asks, Could our progenitors have been men like these?" - Charles Darwin in The Voyage of the Beagle (A Naturalist's Voyage Round the World).

Edward Wilson Landor Quotation: "Starting up at the call of our Sovereign, we rushed to our cabins in a state of nervous bewilderment, and loading our pistols in a manner that ensured their not going off, we valiantly hurried on deck in the rear of the exasperated officer." - Edward Wilson Landor in The Bushman.

Edward Wilson Landor Quotation: "Is there any moment in life so dear to memory as those we have passed on horseback, in the fine air of morning, when we hurried along towards the haunt of cunning Reynard, and expected every instant to see him break cover?" - Edward Wilson Landor in The Bushman.

Edward Wilson Landor Quotation: "Shaking the water out of his nose as he swam, he whimpered with pleasure, and hurried after the swan which was now slowly making towards the middle of the lake. Its companions had left it to its fate." - Edward Wilson Landor in The Bushman.

Edward Wilson Landor Quotation: "Then we gave our able steeds the head, and dashed along with all those happy and exulting thoughts which bubble in the breast of youth hurrying to the chase." - Edward Wilson Landor in The Bushman.

Edward Wilson Landor Quotation: "It was about six o'clock in the evening, and darkness, hurried on prematurely by the tempest, spread suddenly around." - Edward Wilson Landor in The Bushman.

Elizabeth Davis Bancroft Quotation: "The time of closing the despatch bag has come and I must hurry over my delight at the scenery of the lakes." - Elizabeth Davis Bancroft in Letters from England.

Goodeve, Henry Hurry: Author of "Hints for the general management of children in India, in the absence of professional advice. Second edition."

1844

Published in 1844.

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow Quotation: "These gifts in Fortune's hands are found; Her swift revolving wheel turns round, And they are gone! No rest the inconstant goddess knows, But changing, and without repose, Still hurries on." - Henry Wadsworth Longfellow in The Complete Poems of Longfellow.

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow Quotation: "Still for a moment he stood, and listened, and stared at the vessel, Then went hurriedly on, as one who, seeing a phantom, Stops, then quickens his pace, and follows the beckoning shadow." - Henry Wadsworth Longfellow in The Complete Poems of Longfellow.

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow Quotation: "The voices of the Present say, Come! But the voices of the Past say, Wait! With calm and solemn footsteps the rising tide bears against the rushing torrent up stream, and pushes back the hurrying waters." - Henry Wadsworth Longfellow in Hyperion.

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow Quotation: "Yet I pity thee, And most of all I pity thy wild heart, That hurries thee to crimes and deeds of blood, Beware, beware of that." - Henry Wadsworth Longfellow in The Complete Poems of Longfellow.

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow Quotation: "Lo! in the midst of this scene, a breathless messenger entered, Bringing in hurry and heat the terrible news from the village." - Henry Wadsworth Longfellow in The Complete Poems of Longfellow.

John McDouall Stuart Quotation: "Our hopes and spirits are again revived; the sight of it has even invigorated the horses, and they are hurrying on towards it." - John McDouall Stuart in Explorations in Australia.

John McDouall Stuart Quotation: "Sent Ben for the horses. He was a long time in finding them, as is generally the case when one wants a thing in a hurry." - John McDouall Stuart in Explorations in Australia.

Loyal National Repeal Association of Ireland Parliamentary Committee: Publication of "Report from the Parliamentary Committee, on the hurrying of Bills through Parliament: read at a meeting of the Association, in the Conciliation Hall, on Monday, the 19th August, 1844." Publisher: J. Browne (Dublin). Published in 1844.

Pye Henry Chavasse Quotation: "He is in too great a hurry to bring out his words; they do not flow in proper sequence: hence his words are broken and disjointed." - Pye Henry Chavasse in Advice to a Mother on the Management of her Children.

Samuel White Baker Quotation: "In about ten minutes we saw the Latookas hurrying towards us, and almost immediately after, I saw two enormous bull elephants with splendid tusks about a hundred yards from us, apparently the leaders of an approaching herd." - Samuel White Baker in The Albert N'Yanza, Great Basin of the Nile.

Samuel White Baker Quotation: "One day, during the heat of noon, after a long march in the burning sun through a treeless desert, we descried a solitary tree in the distance, to which we hurried as to a friend." - Samuel White Baker in The Albert N'Yanza, Great Basin of the Nile.

Samuel White Baker Quotation: "The route lay across the plain westward, and in some parts we rode along the sea margin, eagerly hurrying our animals to turn the corner of the hills and escape from the hot and dreary plain." - Samuel White Baker in Cyprus, as I Saw it in 1879.

Samuel White Baker Quotation: "This announcement appeared so practical, that the official hurriedly departed, while I marched my men on board, and ordered the boatmen to get ready to start." - Samuel White Baker in The Albert N'Yanza, Great Basin of the Nile.

Samuel White Baker Quotation: "This was immediately accepted, and leaving the elephants to form line, I hurried forward on Nielmonne, keeping in the grass outside the edge of the long jungle." - Samuel White Baker in Wild Beasts and their Ways, vol 1.

Susanna Moodie Quotation: "My husband finally determined to emigrate to Canada, and in the hurry and bustle of a sudden preparation to depart, Tom and his affairs for a while were forgotten." - Susanna Moodie in Roughing it in the Bush.

Susanna Moodie Quotation: "One of my Indian friends found this sword lying upon the bookshelf, and he hurried to communicate the important discovery to his companions." - Susanna Moodie in Roughing it in the Bush.

Susanna Moodie Quotation: "The clouds, that had before lain so motionless, were now in rapid motion, hurrying and chasing each other round the horizon." - Susanna Moodie in Roughing it in the Bush.

Susanna Moodie Quotation: "The mate hurried off with the cabin light upon the deck, and we were left in total darkness to await the result." - Susanna Moodie in Roughing it in the Bush.

Susanna Moodie Quotation: "By daybreak all was hurry and confusion on board the Anne." - Susanna Moodie in Roughing it in the Bush.

Walter Bagehot Quotation: "The patriarchs Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob could not have had the steady calm which marks them, if they had themselves been teased and hurried about their flocks and herds." - Walter Bagehot in Physics and Politics.

William Makepeace Thackeray Quotation: "I purposely hurry over the description of my life in which the incidents were painful, of no great interest except to my unlucky self, and of which my companions were certainly not of a kind befitting my quality." - William Makepeace Thackeray in Barry Lyndon.

William Makepeace Thackeray Quotation: "But Lady Lyndon knew that I was concerned in the plot, for I met her hurrying the next day to the Castle; all the town being up about the enlevement." - William Makepeace Thackeray in Barry Lyndon.

1845

Charles Darwin Quotation: "The respiration is likewise a little hurried; and as all the muscles serving for this function act in association, the wings of the nostrils are somewhat raised to allow of a free indraught of air; and this is a highly characteristic sign of indignation." - Charles Darwin in The Expression of Emotion in Man and Animals.

Charles Darwin Quotation: "The mouth was not even opened; the respiration was not hurried; and no muscle was affected except those which draw down the corners of the mouth." - Charles Darwin in The Expression of Emotion in Man and Animals.

Charles Darwin Quotation: "In connection with the disturbed action of the heart, the breathing is hurried." - Charles Darwin in The Expression of Emotion in Man and Animals.

Charles Darwin Quotation: "The breathing is hurried." - Charles Darwin in The Expression of Emotion in Man and Animals.

Edward Creasy Quotation: "He informed the Prussian general that he had ordered the British troops to move forward upon Quatre Bras; but with characteristic coolness and sagacity resolved not to give the appearance of alarm by hurrying on with them himself." - Edward Creasy in The Fifteen Decisive Battles of the World from Marathon to Waterloo.

Edward Creasy Quotation: "The narrow bridge was soon choked up by the flying thousands who rushed towards it, and vast numbers of the Persians threw themselves, or were hurried by others, into the rapid stream, and perished in its waters." - Edward Creasy in The Fifteen Decisive Battles of the World from Marathon to Waterloo.

Edward Creasy Quotation: "I was trying to return to General Foy, when another horde of flyers burst into Beaumont, swept me into the current of their flight, and hurried me out of the town with them." - Edward Creasy in The Fifteen Decisive Battles of the World from Marathon to Waterloo.

Edward Creasy Quotation: "On learning that Darius was with a large army on the left of the Tigris, Alexander hurried forward and crossed that river without opposition." - Edward Creasy in The Fifteen Decisive Battles of the World from Marathon to Waterloo.

Edward Creasy Quotation: "He then hurried forward to Paris, and reached his capital before the news of his own defeat." - Edward Creasy in The Fifteen Decisive Battles of the World from Marathon to Waterloo.

John Hanning Speke Quotation: "My hurry he thought was uncalled for; for, as I had spent so many days with Kamrasi, why could I not be content to do so with him?" - John Hanning Speke in The Discovery of the Source of the Nile.

1846

Andrew Steinmetz Quotation: "Lord Castlefort, in the most affectionate manner, pocketed the draft; at the same time recommending the duke not to be in a hurry, but to send it when he was cool." - Andrew Steinmetz in The Gaming Table.

Andrew Steinmetz Quotation: "Rotrou, the acknowledged master of Corneille, hurried his poetical effusions in order to raise money for gambling." - Andrew Steinmetz in The Gaming Table [Pros/Cons].

Edward Fitzgerald Quotation: "What, without asking, hither hurried whence?" - Edward Fitzgerald in The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayam.

1847

Charles Kingsley Quotation: "I stopped on the landing of the second floor, and asked which way; and seeing her in no hurry to answer, opened a door, inside which I heard the hum of many voices, saying in as sprightly a tone as I could muster, that I supposed that was the workroom." - Charles Kingsley in Alton Locke, Tailor And Poet (An Autobiography).

Charles Kingsley Quotation: "Did she fly at Tom, catch him by the scruff of the neck, hold him, howk him, hump him, hurry him, hit him, poke him, pull him, pinch him, pound him, put him in the corner, shake him, slap him, set him on a cold stone to reconsider himself, and so forth?" - Charles Kingsley in The Water-Babies.

Charles Kingsley Quotation: "Strong and free, strong and free, The floodgates are open, away to the sea, Free and strong, free and strong, Cleansing my streams as I hurry along, To the golden sands, and the leaping bar, And the taintless tide that awaits me afar." - Charles Kingsley in The Water-Babies.

Charles Kingsley Quotation: "And then I recollected the tailor's shop, and the Charter, and the starvation, and the oppression which I had left behind, and ashamed of my own selfishness, went hurrying on again." - Charles Kingsley in Alton Locke, Tailor And Poet (An Autobiography).

Charles Kingsley Quotation: "The under gardener, mowing, saw Tom, and threw down his scythe; caught his leg in it, and cut his shin open, whereby he kept his bed for a week; but in his hurry he never knew it, and gave chase to poor Tom." - Charles Kingsley in The Water-Babies.

T.S. Arthur Quotation: "To find them sitting alone in the woods, only a little while afterwards, almost maddened her; and so soon as she took Jenny home, she hurried over to Mr. Lofton, and in a confused, exaggerated, and intemperate manner, complained of the conduct of Mark." - T.S. Arthur in Heart-Histories and Life-Pictures.

T.S. Arthur Quotation: "Replacing the light and faded form of her who, a little while before, had been in the vigor of health, upon the bed, Edwin gazed upon the sunken features for a few moments, and then, leaving a last kiss upon her cold lips, hurried aware." - T.S. Arthur in Heart-Histories and Life-Pictures.

T.S. Arthur Quotation: "When we have been fretted by some petty grievance, or, hurried by some reasonable cause of offence into a degree of anger far beyond what the occasion required, our subsequent regret is seldom of a kind for which we are likely to be much better." - T.S. Arthur in Friends and Neighbors.

T.S. Arthur Quotation: "We never spoke another word of remonstrance to her tender heart, though often, in the few months that flitted by us together, we used to choke with sobbing, in some speech that hinted of the coming separation, and hurry from her presence to cry alone." - T.S. Arthur in Woman's Trials.

T.S. Arthur Quotation: "Hurrying on his clothes, he descended to his office, and, possessing himself of some necessary medicines, it being too late for the family to send out a prescription, wrapped his cloak around him, and turned out into the storm." - T.S. Arthur in Finger Posts on the Way of Life.

1848

Anthony Trollope Quotation: "It consists in a general raising of the hat to all mankind; in a daily walk that never hurries itself into a jostling trot, inconvenient to passengers on the pavement; in a placid voice, a soft smile, and a small cup of coffee on a boulevard." - Anthony Trollope in North America, vol 1.

Anthony Trollope Quotation: "The hunting lady who demands assistance is very particular about her gates, requiring that aid shall be given to her with instant speed, but that the man who gives it shall never allow himself to be hurried as he renders it." - Anthony Trollope in Hunting Sketches.

Anthony Trollope Quotation: "The stock had of course disappeared; it had not been stolen, but had been sold in a hurry for what under such circumstances it might fetch." - Anthony Trollope in North America, vol 2.

Anthony Trollope Quotation: "I acknowledged the rebuke, gave up my pursuits of literature and cleanliness, and hurried out of the house as quickly as I could." - Anthony Trollope in North America, vol 1.

Anthony Trollope Quotation: "Then he went to sleep again, and was aroused in a few minutes by some one entering the carriage in a great hurry." - Anthony Trollope in The Small House at Allington.

Carlton J.H. Hayes Quotation: "He thought that he could understand at a glance the problems upon which more earnest men had spent their lives; he would hurriedly dash off a tragedy, or in spare moments write a pretentious history." - Carlton J.H. Hayes in A Political and Social History of Modern Europe, vol 1.

Carlton J.H. Hayes Quotation: "Just in the nick of time the hated Marie Antoinette hurried to safer quarters, although several of her personal bodyguard were killed in the melee." - Carlton J.H. Hayes in A Political and Social History of Modern Europe, vol 1.

Carlton J.H. Hayes Quotation: "New recruits hurried to the front; rich and poor poured in their contributions; a supreme effort was made to stay the advancing enemy." - Carlton J.H. Hayes in A Political and Social History of Modern Europe, vol 1.

Carlton J.H. Hayes Quotation: "He raised volunteers and drafted militia, drilled them, and hurried them to the frontiers." - Carlton J.H. Hayes in A Political and Social History of Modern Europe, vol 1.

Carlton J.H. Hayes Quotation: "In hot haste he hurried home and wreaked dire vengeance upon the mutineers." - Carlton J.H. Hayes in A Political and Social History of Modern Europe, vol 1.

Franz Liszt Quotation: "I am not in the slightest hurry to force myself on to the public, and can quietly let a little more of the nonsense about my failure in attempts at composition be spread abroad." - Franz Liszt in Letters of Franz Liszt, vol 1, Paris to Rome.

Franz Liszt Quotation: "There is no doubt that he deserves it; but fortune, grand sovereign of doubtful manners, is often in no hurry to array herself on the side of merit." - Franz Liszt in Letters of Franz Liszt, vol 2, From Rome to the End.

Franz Liszt Quotation: "For my own part I am in no great hurry, as I have heard enough of the work in Pest, and found no alterations to make in it." - Franz Liszt in Letters of Franz Liszt, vol 2, From Rome to the End.

Franz Liszt Quotation: "All things considered, it does not appear to me advisable to hurry my return." - Franz Liszt in Letters of Franz Liszt, vol 2, From Rome to the End.

Franz Liszt Quotation: "There is no hurry about the article on theater curtains." - Franz Liszt in Letters of Franz Liszt, vol 1, Paris to Rome.

Helen M. Johnson Quotation: "And while the hope was fresh within her heart She hurried in, but only to return And take her station at the door again." - Helen M. Johnson in Canadian Wild Flowers.

John Charles Herries: Herries was one of few men of ministerial experience to side with the protectionist Tories after the repeal of the Corn Laws. Following the death of Lord George Bentinck in 1848, Herries was suggested by Lord Stanley as an alternative to Benjamin Disraeli as Shadow Leader of the House of Commons. In the end Herries declined, and Disraeli gradually came into his own as leader. Staunchly protectionist,

1849

Herries was in repeated conflict with Disraeli who, despite championing protectionism barely six years previously, was hurriedly disassociating both himself and the party with that doctrine. The two never got along, and Herries' refusal to assist in the framing of the 1852 Budget (which he regarded as "wild work"), cannot have helped matters. By the time of Derby's second government in 1858, Herries had died. Ironically enough his son, Charles Herries, was appointed Chairman of the Inland Revenue Board by Disraeli during the latter's second premiership in 1877. [WP]

Manfredo Fanti: But on the outbreak of the war between Piedmont and Austria in 1848 he hurried back to Italy, and although at first his services were rejected both by the Piedmontese government and the Lombard provisional government, he was afterwards given the command of a Lombard brigade. In the general confusion following on Charles Albert's defeat on the Mincio and his retreat to Milan, where the people rose against the unhappy king, Fanti's courage and tact saved the situation. He was elected member of the Piedmontese chamber in 1849, and on the renewal of the campaign he again commanded a Lombard brigade under General Ramorino. [WP]

Richard Henry Dana Quotation: "In a few minutes, the captains came hurrying down, on the run; and there was no time to be lost, for the gale promised to be a severe one, and the surf was breaking upon the beach, three deep, higher and higher every instant." - Richard Henry Dana in Two Years Before the Mast.

Richard Henry Dana Quotation: "Yet, as we were not called, we knew there was no danger. We hurried to get through with our job, when, seeing the steward's black face peering out of the pantry, Mr. Hatch hailed him to know what was the matter." - Richard Henry Dana in Two Years Before the Mast.

Richard Henry Dana Quotation: "Unintelligible orders were so rapidly given, and so immediately executed; there was such a hurrying about, and such an intermingling of strange cries and stranger actions, that I was completely bewildered." - Richard Henry Dana in Two Years Before the Mast.

Richard Henry Dana Quotation: "Having got everything ready, we set the agent ashore, who went up to the Mission to hurry down the hides for the next morning." - Richard Henry Dana in Two Years Before the Mast.

Richard Henry Dana Quotation: "The captain hurried everything." - Richard Henry Dana in Two Years Before the Mast.

Wagner and Liszt Quotation: "But of course a thing of this kind is always on the verge of being quite misunderstood, unless all concerned approach it in the most perfect, most elevated, most intelligent mood; merely to play it through as we tried, in a hurried way, is impossible." - Wagner and Liszt in Correspondence of Wagner and Liszt, vol 2.

Wagner and Liszt Quotation: "For the commencement of the work I fixed upon the coming spring, partly in order, first, to get rid of my always depressed winter humour, and partly to give you time for carrying out your kind intention without hurry." - Wagner and Liszt in Correspondence of Wagner and Liszt, vol 1.

Wagner and Liszt Quotation: "The letter I received from you at Baden quite satisfied me, and I felt quite ashamed at having proposed so hurried, and to you so inconvenient, a meeting." - Wagner and Liszt in Correspondence of Wagner and Liszt, vol 2.

Wagner and Liszt Quotation: "Even to our next meeting I attach no real hope; I always feel as if we were in a hurry, and that is most detrimental to me." - Wagner and Liszt in Correspondence of Wagner and Liszt, vol 2.

Wagner and Liszt Quotation: "It is just this sacrifice which appears to me too great at the price of a few hurried days in a Strassburg hotel." - Wagner and Liszt in Correspondence of Wagner and Liszt, vol 2.

1849

Anna Sewell Quotation: "It was not always so; when I lived with my first master I always went a good regular trot, but then he was not in such a hurry." - Anna Sewell in Black Beauty.

Anna Sewell Quotation: "The farmer was hurrying out into the road, and his wife was standing at the gate, looking very frightened." - Anna Sewell in Black Beauty.

Anna Sewell Quotation: "There was a great deal of hurry and excitement after the news became known." - Anna Sewell in Black Beauty.

Charles Reade Quotation: "He knew a shorter cut, ran, and took it, and lay in wait. As Smith approached the box, letter in hand, he bustled up in a furious hurry, and posted his own letter so as to stop Smith's hand at the very aperture before he could insert his letter." - Charles Reade in The Woman-Hater.

Charles Reade Quotation: "But the souls of his victims? Oh, sir, when a good man is hurried to his grave our lamentations are natural but unwise; but think what he commits who hurries thieves and burglars and homicides unprepared before their eternal Judge." - Charles Reade in It Is Never Too Late to Mend.

Charles Reade Quotation: "The open sympathy of one so young and beautiful, and withal rather reserved, made Lord Uxmoor gulp, and, not to break down before them all, he blurted out that he must go and pack: with this he hurried away." - Charles Reade in The Woman-Hater.

Charles Reade Quotation: "Then came shrieks of nervous women, and buzzing of men; and Margaret, seeing so many eyes levelled at her, shrank terrified behind the pillar, with one scared, hurried glance at the preacher." - Charles Reade in The Cloister and the Hearth.

Charles Reade Quotation: "As for Gatty, he hurried home in a fever of passion, begged his mother's pardon, and reproached himself for ever having disobeyed her on account of such a perfidious creature as Christie Johnstone." - Charles Reade in Christie Johnstone.

David Livingstone Quotation: "Charging through the centre of our extended line, and causing the men to throw down their burdens in a great hurry, she received a spear for her temerity." - David Livingstone in Missionary Travels and Researches in South Africa.

David Livingstone Quotation: "Scarcely is the breath out of the body when the unfortunate patient is hurried away to be buried." - David Livingstone in Missionary Travels and Researches in South Africa.

David Livingstone Quotation: "Part of my goods, abandoned in the hurry, were brought up from the bottom after I was safe." - David Livingstone in Missionary Travels and Researches in South Africa.

George Eliot (Mary Anne Evans) Quotation: "As soon as he got out of doors, he began to walk at his habitual rapid pace, hurrying along without knowing why, busy with the painful thought that the memory of this day, so full of honour and promise to him, was poisoned for ever." - George Eliot (Mary Anne Evans) in Adam Bede.

George Eliot (Mary Anne Evans) Quotation: "It was the first time he had encountered an open expression of scorn from any man higher than Raffles; and with that scorn hurrying like venom through his system, there was no sensibility left to consolations." - George Eliot (Mary Anne Evans) in Middlemarch.

George Eliot (Mary Anne Evans) Quotation: "Fred turned round and hurried out of the room, conscious that he was getting rather womanish, and feeling confusedly that his being sorry was not of much use to the Garths." - George Eliot (Mary Anne Evans) in Middlemarch.

George Eliot (Mary Anne Evans) Quotation: "The months would be short with all he had to fill his mind, and this foolish eagerness which had come over him of late must not hurry him into any premature words." - George Eliot (Mary Anne Evans) in Adam Bede.

George Eliot (Mary Anne Evans) Quotation: "The tears came into the grey eyes too fast to be hidden and she got up hurriedly, meaning it to be understood that she was going to put on her bonnet." - George Eliot (Mary Anne Evans) in Adam Bede.

Horatio Bridge Quotation: "The more distinguished of these advocates are sometimes sent for, from a distance of two or three hundred miles, to speak at a palaver; and, in such cases, they leave all other employment, and hurry to the scene of action." - Horatio Bridge in Journal of an African Cruiser.

Horatio Bridge Quotation: "A respectable merchant assured me, that these men were not permitted to communicate with their countrymen, but were hurried off to the vessel, without knowing whither they were bound." - Horatio Bridge in Journal of an African Cruiser.

Horatio Bridge Quotation: "On the way we overtook several armed colonists, hurrying to the point of danger." - Horatio Bridge in Journal of an African Cruiser.

James Nasmyth Quotation: "But what's a' the hurry for?" - James Nasmyth in James Nasmyth: Engineer, An Autobiography.

John Greenleaf Whittier Quotation: "He had proceeded but a few rods when he heard footsteps behind him; and, supposing himself pursued, he hurried into the woods, casting a glance backward." - John Greenleaf Whittier in The Boy Captives.

John Greenleaf Whittier Quotation: "Thither the Indians usually hurried their captives, where they compelled them to work in their villages or sold them to the French planters." - John Greenleaf Whittier in The Boy Captives.

William Wells Brown Quotation: "At this moment an elderly gentleman, also dressed in black, was seen approaching with a hurried step, which seemed to indicate that he was in some way connected with the lady." - William Wells Brown in Clotelle; or The Colored Heroine.

William Wells Brown Quotation: "He takes a last look and then walks hurriedly off." - William Wells Brown in Clotelle; or The Colored Heroine.

1850

A.W. Kinglake Quotation: "The priest, strong and portly, fresh, fat, and alive with the life of the animal kingdom, unpaid, or ill paid for his work, would scarcely deign to mutter out his forms, but hurried over the words with shocking haste." - A.W. Kinglake in Eothen.

A.W. Kinglake Quotation: "Every man, according to his station, was properly buried, and that in the usual way, except that he went to his grave in a more hurried pace than might have been adopted under ordinary circumstances." - A.W. Kinglake in Eothen.

Abby Morton Diaz Quotation: "You sometimes see a woman, after hurrying through her forenoon's work, sink down entirely prostrated, too tired to speak a loud word, every nerve in her body quivering." - Abby Morton Diaz in A Domestic Problem.

Abby Morton Diaz Quotation: "Perhaps by sitting up later, by getting up earlier, by hurrying more, and by never setting her foot outside the door, she might follow this suggestion." - Abby Morton Diaz in A Domestic Problem.

Alfred Tennyson Quotation: "I trod upon him even now, my lord, in my hurry, and broke him." - Alfred Tennyson in Becket and other plays.

Alfred Tennyson Quotation: "Why do they hurry out there?" - Alfred Tennyson in Queen Mary and Harold.

Bret Harte Quotation: "There was no doubt that she and Enriquez had been together, perhaps not for the first time; but what was the result of their interview? From the young girl's demeanor and Enriquez' hurried departure, I could only fear the worst for him." - Bret Harte in Selected Stories.

Bret Harte Quotation: "I pointed out somewhat hurriedly that he was a scion of one of the oldest Castilian families, that the performance was a national gypsy dance which he had joined in as a patriot and a patron, and that he was my dearest friend." - Bret Harte in Selected Stories.

Bret Harte Quotation: "I hurry to the bow of the boat, and find, not George, but the irrepressible Wise, sitting on a coil of rope, a little dirtier and rather more dilapidated than I can remember having seen him." - Bret Harte in Selected Stories.

Bret Harte Quotation: "Then, albeit she was hurried for time, she could not resist trying the effect of a certain lavender neck ribbon upon the dress she was then wearing, before the mirror." - Bret Harte in Selected Stories.

Bret Harte Quotation: "Scarcely knowing why, he dragged the body hurriedly ashore, concealing it in the reeds, as if he were disposing of the evidence of his own crime." - Bret Harte in Selected Stories.

Catherine Parr Traill Quotation: "Louis, who had watched the direction the herd had taken with breathless interest, now noiselessly hurried to Hector's assistance, taking an advantageous post for aim, in case Hector's arrow missed, or only slightly wounded one of the deer." - Catherine Parr Traill in Canadian Crusoes.

Catherine Parr Traill Quotation: "At daybreak they returned, sad and dispirited, to their homes, to snatch a morsel of food, endeavour to cheer the drooping hearts of the weeping mothers, and hurry off, taking different directions." - Catherine Parr Traill in Canadian Crusoes.

Catherine Parr Traill Quotation: "While he yet stood hesitating within himself which way to turn, he heard steps as of some one running, and perceived his cousin hurrying through the bushes in the direction of the shanty." - Catherine Parr Traill in Canadian Crusoes.

Catherine Parr Traill Quotation: "It was evident by his disordered air, and the hurried glances that he cast over his shoulder from time to time, that something unusual had occurred to disturb him." - Catherine Parr Traill in Canadian Crusoes.

Catherine Parr Traill Quotation: "The first streak of dawn saw them again hurrying to and fro, calling in vain upon the name of the loved and lost companion of their wanderings." - Catherine Parr Traill in Canadian Crusoes.

Charles Dickens Quotation: "I was casting my eyes with increasing complacency over these and many similar objects, when hasty footsteps were heard in the room outside, and Mr. Spenlow, in a black gown trimmed with white fur, came hurrying in, taking off his hat as he came." - Charles Dickens in David Copperfield.

Charles Dickens Quotation: "She did this hurriedly and secretly, as if it were wrong, but tenderly; and, putting out her hand behind her, held mine in it, until we came near to where he was standing in the garden, where she let mine go, and drew hers through his arm." - Charles Dickens in David Copperfield.

Charles Dickens Quotation: "He did not gather his eyebrows together, for he had none worth mentioning; but he frowned to that degree that he almost closed his small eyes, while the hurried raising of his grisly hand to his chin betrayed some trepidation or surprise." - Charles Dickens in David Copperfield.

Charles Dickens Quotation: "I never was so frightened in my life, before or since; but I told him humbly that I wanted money, and that nothing else was of any use to me, but that I would wait for it, as he desired, outside, and had no wish to hurry him." - Charles Dickens in David Copperfield.

Charles Dickens Quotation: "My aunt, with every sort of expression but wonder discharged from her countenance, sat on the gravel, staring at me, until I began to cry; when she got up in a great hurry, collared me, and took me into the parlour." - Charles Dickens in David Copperfield.

Frederick Niecks Quotation: "On his return to Paris Pixis invited Chopin to visit him; the latter, who had by this time forgotten pretty Francilla, was in no hurry to call." - Frederick Niecks in Frederic Chopin as a Man and Musician, vol 1.

Gustave Flaubert Quotation: "The sounds followed one another hurried and deep, like the buzzing of bees, and with increasing sonorousness floated away into the night with the complaining of the waves, and the rustling of the great trees on the summit of the Acropolis." - Gustave Flaubert in Salammbo.

Gustave Flaubert Quotation: "Nevertheless he was in a hurry to end matters; he commanded him to fall back upon Tunis; and Hanno, who loved his country, was under the walls of the town on the appointed day." - Gustave Flaubert in Salammbo.

Gustave Flaubert Quotation: "At this thundering voice the lines of men closed up; even the lame hurried their steps; the intervening space lessened in the middle of the isthmus." - Gustave Flaubert in Salammbo.

Gustave Flaubert Quotation: "Still they hurried on, for they could hear the noisy breathing of the bull behind them." - Gustave Flaubert in A Simple Soul.

Gustave Flaubert Quotation: "Having left her chamber hurriedly, she wore no jewels nor other ornaments." - Gustave Flaubert in Herodias.

Henrik Ibsen Quotation: "Make your escape By hurried flight, if still it can be done." - Henrik Ibsen in Early Plays Catiline, The Warrior's Barrow, Olaf Liljekrans.

Margaret Deland Quotation: "Hold on; what's your hurry?" - Margaret Deland in The Iron Woman.

Mark Pattison Quotation: "For Fleetwood was a sentenced regicide, and in July, Pennington and Ellwood were hurried off to Aylesbury gaol by an indefatigable justice of the peace, who was desirous of giving evidence of his zeal for the king's government." - Mark Pattison in Milton.

Mark Pattison Quotation: "From these words biographers have inferred that he hurried home with the view of taking service in the Parliamentarian army." - Mark Pattison in Milton.

Mark Pattison Quotation: "These extemporised effusions betray in their style, hurry and confusion, the restlessness of a coming despair." - Mark Pattison in Milton.

Mark Pattison Quotation: "What the ultimate form of his poetic utterance shall be, he is in no hurry to decide." - Mark Pattison in Milton.

Oliver Optic Quotation: "Bertha, do you know what your father used to say to me when I was in a hurry?" - Oliver Optic in Haste and Waste.

Willis, Nathaniel Parker: Born in 1806 and died in 1867, authored "People I have met, or, Pictures of society and people of mark: drawn under a thin veil of fiction; Hurry-graphs: sketches taken from life." Publisher: H.G. Bohn (London). Published in 1850.

1851

Bayard Taylor Quotation: "It vanished as the sled stopped; the door was thrown open and the man came forth hurriedly, followed by a Russian nurse with a lantern." - Bayard Taylor in Beauty and The Beast, Etc.

Bayard Taylor Quotation: "At the risk of his wealth and rank being suspected, he dressed himself in new and rich garments, and hurried away towards the Smolnoi." - Bayard Taylor in Beauty and The Beast, Etc.

Bayard Taylor Quotation: "I don't know as there's any particular hurry in my case; only, we never can tell, from one day to another." - Bayard Taylor in Beauty and The Beast, Etc.

Bayard Taylor Quotation: "It was not inhumanity, but fear of the knout that hurried him away." - Bayard Taylor in Beauty and The Beast, Etc.

Bayard Taylor Quotation: "They deliberated hurriedly and anxiously." - Bayard Taylor in Beauty and The Beast, Etc.

Charles MacKay Quotation: "The noises were systematically arranged, and the actors, seeing how useless it was to struggle against the popular feeling, hurried over their parts as quickly as they could, and the curtain fell shortly after nine o'clock." - Charles MacKay in Memoirs of Popular Delusions Vol 1.

Charles MacKay Quotation: "He seems to have imagined that the Turks themselves were enemies less formidable to his power than these outpourings of the refuse of Europe: he soon found a pretext to hurry them into Asia Minor." - Charles MacKay in Memoirs of Popular Delusions Vol 2.

Charles MacKay Quotation: "At another signal the noose is twisted, drawn tightly by a strong hand at each extremity, and the traveller, in a few seconds, hurried into eternity." - Charles MacKay in Memoirs of Popular Delusions Vol 1.

Charles MacKay Quotation: "You risk nothing in giving him a little time, and in hurrying him you may lose a great deal." - Charles MacKay in Extraordinary Popular Delusions Vol 3.

Charles MacKay Quotation: "In the House of Lords the bill was hurried through all its stages with unexampled rapidity." - Charles MacKay in Memoirs of Popular Delusions Vol 1.

Fyodor Dostoyevsky Quotation: "There was light enough, and he began hurriedly looking himself all over from head to foot, all his clothes; were there no traces?" - Fyodor Dostoyevsky in Crime and Punishment.

Fyodor Dostoyevsky Quotation: "Don't be in such a hurry, you quite frighten me! Shall I get you the loaf or not?" - Fyodor Dostoyevsky in Crime and Punishment.

Jose Zorrilla Quotation: "Don't stay for me, Don Juan, hurry." - Jose Zorrilla in Don Juan Tenorio.

1852

Nathaniel Hawthorne Quotation: "The young clergyman, after a few hours of privacy, was sensible that the disorder of his nerves had hurried him into an unseemly outbreak of temper, which there had been nothing in the physician's words to excuse or palliate." - Nathaniel Hawthorne in The Scarlet Letter.

Nathaniel Hawthorne Quotation: "The excitement of Mr. Dimmesdale's feelings as he returned from his interview with Hester, lent him unaccustomed physical energy, and hurried him townward at a rapid pace." - Nathaniel Hawthorne in The Scarlet Letter.

Willis, Nathaniel Parker: Born in 1806 and died in 1867, authored "Hurry-graphs, or, Sketches of scenery, celebrities & society, taken from life." Publisher: H.G. Bohn (London). Published in 1851.

1852

Ellen Clacy Quotation: "She consented, and he himself led her to her brother, confessed their mutual fault, and second preparations for an immediate marriage were hurriedly made." - Ellen Clacy in A Lady's Visit to the Gold Diggings of Australia in 1852-53.

Ellen Clacy Quotation: "A man once extracted ten pounds weight of the precious metal from a heap of soil which his mate had washed too hurriedly." - Ellen Clacy in A Lady's Visit to the Gold Diggings of Australia in 1852-53.

Ellen Clacy Quotation: "In hurried words she told me this, for their boat was already alongside the pier waiting to take them to their ship." - Ellen Clacy in A Lady's Visit to the Gold Diggings of Australia in 1852-53.

Emile Gaboriau Quotation: "She hurried up the stairs, glad to escape the scrutinizing glances of several men standing near; but, in spite of the minute directions given by the porter, she lost her way in one of the long corridors of the hotel." - Emile Gaboriau in File No. 113.

Emile Gaboriau Quotation: "Revolving in his mind these plans, whose frightful consequences he could neither calculate nor foresee, Martial was walking up the avenue leading to the chateau, when he heard hurried footsteps behind him." - Emile Gaboriau in The Honor of the Name.

Emile Gaboriau Quotation: "Hence, when the accident became known, in an instant sailors and officers came hurrying up from one end of the frigate to the other, and even from the lowest deck, to see what had happened to him." - Emile Gaboriau in The Clique of Gold.

Emile Gaboriau Quotation: "I must tell you that at about three o'clock in the morning, of the day before yesterday, I was quietly returning home, when two ladies, who were seemingly in a great hurry, overtook me and passed on." - Emile Gaboriau in Monsieur Lecoq.

Emile Gaboriau Quotation: "While Lagors and Clameran were anxiously trying to devise some means of discovering the clown's identity, Verduret hurried up the back street, and reached the Archangel as the clock struck three." - Emile Gaboriau in File No. 113.

John Lord Quotation: "His mother Theodora went to Naples to extricate him from the hands of the Dominicans, who secretly hurried him off to Rome and guarded him in their convent, from which he was rescued by violence." - John Lord in Beacon Lights of History vol 3 part 1.

John Lord Quotation: "Cromwell was hurried to that gloomy fortress whose outlet was generally the scaffold, he was denied even the form of trial." - John Lord in Beacon Lights of History vol 3 part 2.

1853

Alice Meynell Quotation: "Here is no hoot, nor hurry of engines, nor whisper of the cyclist's wheel, nor foot upon a road, to overcome that light but resounding note." - Alice Meynell in Ceres' Runaway and Other Essays.

Harriet Beecher Stowe Quotation: "He thought of forcing him to do it; but, having had, of old, experience of his inflexibility when commanded to take part in any deed of inhumanity, he would not, in his hurry, stop to enter into any conflict with him." - Harriet Beecher Stowe in Uncle Tom's Cabin.

Harriet Beecher Stowe Quotation: "In an occupation so sedentary as dressmaking, and especially in the case of young females, hurried meals are most injurious, and are a frequent cause of deranged health." - Harriet Beecher Stowe in Sunny Memories of Foreign Lands, vol 2.

Harriet Beecher Stowe Quotation: "Mr. Shelby hastily drew the bills of sale towards him, and signed them, like a man that hurries over some disagreeable business, and then pushed them over with the money." - Harriet Beecher Stowe in Uncle Tom's Cabin.

Harriet Beecher Stowe Quotation: "She had hurried on through her story, with a wild, passionate utterance; sometimes seeming to address it to Tom, and sometimes speaking as in a soliloquy." - Harriet Beecher Stowe in Uncle Tom's Cabin.

Harriet Beecher Stowe Quotation: "When he hurriedly announced the tidings among his hands, there was a sudden light in Tom's eye, a sudden upraising of his hands, that did not escape him." - Harriet Beecher Stowe in Uncle Tom's Cabin.

Hector Malot Quotation: "Saniel saw Phillis hurrying to the station without an umbrella, and, as some friend had lent him one, he decided to speak to her for the first time." - Hector Malot in Conscience, vol 1.

Hector Malot Quotation: "Saniel, who was in such a hurry a few moments before, now silently walked by Glady, whose eyes were on the shining asphalt pavement." - Hector Malot in Conscience, vol 1.

Hector Malot Quotation: "Without hurrying too much, Saniel went out, and in a strong voice asked what had happened." - Hector Malot in Conscience, vol 2.

Hector Malot Quotation: "It was important to proceed methodically, without hurry, but, also, without loitering." - Hector Malot in Conscience, vol 2.

Hector Malot Quotation: "Two minutes had passed since he left the vestibule; he must hurry." - Hector Malot in Conscience, vol 2.

Henry Kingsley Quotation: "He rapidly cleared the moor, and soon gained the little grey street, lying calm and peaceful beneath the bright winter moon, which was only now and then obscured for a moment by the last flying clouds of the late storm hurrying after their fellows." - Henry Kingsley in Recollections of Geoffrey Hamlyn.

Henry Kingsley Quotation: "She saw he was in earnest, by his looks, and by his hurried, confused way of speaking. She feared she might have been to blame, and have encouraged him in her thoughtlessness, more than she ought." - Henry Kingsley in Recollections of Geoffrey Hamlyn.

Henry Kingsley Quotation: "And although they were begged by the new comer not to hurry or incommode themselves, yet they too wished to be gone from the house whence everything they loved had departed." - Henry Kingsley in Recollections of Geoffrey Hamlyn.

Henry Kingsley Quotation: "A wild cry from the foretop. A mass, grey, indistinct, horrible, rising from the wild waters, scarce a hundred yards from her bowsprit. A mad hurrying to and fro." - Henry Kingsley in Recollections of Geoffrey Hamlyn.

Henry Kingsley Quotation: "I feel the queerest wambling in my innards, as we used to say in Devon, at the sight of so many old faces. Somehow, a man can't make a new home in a hurry." - Henry Kingsley in Recollections of Geoffrey Hamlyn.

Philip Henry Sheridan Quotation: "The only place at hand that gave any hope of successful resistance was a small island in the Arickaree, the channel on one side being about a foot deep while on the other it was completely dry; so to this position a hurried retreat was made." - Philip Henry Sheridan in Personal Memoirs of General Sheridan, entire.

Philip Henry Sheridan Quotation: "There they were to separate, two taking the railroad toward Lynchburg and two toward Danville, and as soon as a telegraph station was reached the telegram was to be transmitted as it had been written and the provisions thus hurried forward." - Philip Henry Sheridan in Personal Memoirs of General Sheridan, entire.

Philip Henry Sheridan Quotation: "From Abercrombie we drove on to Saint Cloud, the terminus of the railroad, where, considerably the worse for our hurried trip and truly wretched experience with the mosquitoes, we boarded the welcome cars." - Philip Henry Sheridan in Personal Memoirs of General Sheridan, entire.

Philip Henry Sheridan Quotation: "I was disappointed that more of the corps was not already up, and as the precious minutes went by without any apparent effort to hurry the troops on to the field, this disappointment grew into disgust." - Philip Henry Sheridan in Personal Memoirs of General Sheridan, entire.

Philip Henry Sheridan Quotation: "Upon arrival at Lee and Gordon's Mills I found the ford over Chickamauga Creek temporarily uncovered, through the hurried movement of Wood to the assistance of Davis's division." - Philip Henry Sheridan in Personal Memoirs of General Sheridan, entire.

Susan Fenimore Cooper Quotation: "Jane also was absent, she was in New York with the Taylors; but Elinor's faithful nurse and the old black cook came hurrying to her assistance, as soon as they knew she had reached the house so much indisposed." - Susan Fenimore Cooper in Elinor Wyllys, vol 2.

Susan Fenimore Cooper Quotation: "Mr. Wyllys learned that Elinor and the Van Hornes had supposed Harry lost, from the paper, and the first hurried note of de Vaux." - Susan Fenimore Cooper in Elinor Wyllys, vol 2.

Susan Fenimore Cooper Quotation: "Jane never wrote oftener than was absolutely necessary; and only two of Hurry's letters reached their destination." - Susan Fenimore Cooper in Elinor Wyllys, vol 1.

Susan Fenimore Cooper Quotation: "The conversation was interrupted by the hurried return of Mr. Wyllys, who held a newspaper in his hand." - Susan Fenimore Cooper in Elinor Wyllys, vol 1.

Ulysses S. Grant Quotation: "I therefore turned over to Colonel Davis my orders, and hurriedly stated to him the progress that had been made to carry out the department instructions already described." - Ulysses S. Grant in Personal Memoirs of General U.S. Grant, vol 1.

Ulysses S. Grant Quotation: "Sherman went back, at the request of the admiral, to clear out Black Bayou and to hurry up reinforcements, which were far behind." - Ulysses S. Grant in Personal Memoirs of General U.S. Grant, vol 1.

Ulysses S. Grant Quotation: "Many were killed, and others were drowned by being pushed off the bridge in their hurried retreat." - Ulysses S. Grant in Personal Memoirs of General U.S. Grant, vol 1.

Ulysses S. Grant Quotation: "There was no hurry, but fair marches were made every day until the Illinois River was crossed." - Ulysses S. Grant in Personal Memoirs of General U.S. Grant, vol 1.

Ulysses S. Grant Quotation: "In the evening I returned to headquarters to hurry up reinforcements." - Ulysses S. Grant in Personal Memoirs of General U.S. Grant, vol 1.

Wilkes, George: Author of "Europe in a Hurry." Published in 1853.

1854

Andre Theuriet Quotation: "He obeyed the summons, although in a somewhat absent mood, and hurried over the services in a manner which did not contribute to the edification of the assistants." - Andre Theuriet in A Woodland Queen, vol 3.

Andre Theuriet Quotation: "He had hurriedly caught his skullcap from his head, as if he feared the heat of his meditation might cause a rush of blood to the head." - Andre Theuriet in A Woodland Queen, vol 3.

Andre Theuriet Quotation: "Thereupon he took his departure, but, instead of returning to the parsonage, he directed his steps hurriedly toward La Thuiliere." - Andre Theuriet in A Woodland Queen, vol 3.

Andre Theuriet Quotation: "He would have wished the affair hurried up, and the sacrifice consummated without hindrance." - Andre Theuriet in A Woodland Queen, vol 3.

Hall, S. C., Mrs: Publication of "There is no hurry!: a tale." By Mrs S.C. Hall. Published in 1854.

John Hanning Speke Quotation: "Vain hope, trying to do anything in a hurry in Negroland! I started early in the morning, unfortified within, and escorted by two Beluches, the Kirangozi, three porters, Bombay, and Mabruki." - John Hanning Speke in What Led to the Discovery of the Source of the Nile.

John Hanning Speke Quotation: "After crossing the river, we hurried along by a more southernly and straighter road than we formerly came by, and reached Kaze towards the latter end of June." - John Hanning Speke in What Led to the Discovery of the Source of the Nile.

John Hanning Speke Quotation: "I began the formation of the new caravan for exploring Northern Unyamuezi immediately after our arrival, but found it difficult to do things hurriedly." - John Hanning Speke in What Led to the Discovery of the Source of the Nile.

Thomas Dykes Beasley Quotation: "For years, Mr. Donner cherished a boot left by the highwayman in the hurry of departure, which, much to his annoyance, was finally abstracted by some person unknown." - Thomas Dykes Beasley in A Tramp Through The Bret Harte Country.

Thomas Stevens Quotation: "The moment the officer arrives, behold, there is a hurrying to and fro of the villagers to sweep out the room, kindle a fire to brew his coffee, and to bring him water and a vessel for his ablutions before saying his evening prayers." - Thomas Stevens in Around the World on a Bicycle, vol 1 (From San Francisco to Teheran).

Thomas Stevens Quotation: "During the meal I call for another piece of bread, and behold there is a hurrying to and fro, and a resounding of feet scurrying along the stone corridors of the rambling old building, and ten minutes later I receive a small roll." - Thomas Stevens in Around the World on a Bicycle, vol 1 (From San Francisco to Teheran).

Thomas Stevens Quotation: "Three blooming damsels, in all the bravery of holiday attire, with necklaces and pendants of jingling coins to distinguish them from the matrons, come hurrying down the pathway toward the road at my approach." - Thomas Stevens in Around the World on a Bicycle, vol 1 (From San Francisco to Teheran).

Thomas Stevens Quotation: "They seem to comprehend in a moment that I have them at a disadvantage, and they hurriedly retreat a short distance, executing a series of gyral antics, as though expecting me to fire at their legs." - Thomas Stevens in Around the World on a Bicycle, vol 1 (From San Francisco to Teheran).

Thomas Stevens Quotation: "We happen to arrive while he is busily engaged with an important legal decision, but upon our being announced he begs us to wait a few minutes, promising to hurry through with the business." - Thomas Stevens in Around the World on a Bicycle, vol 1 (From San Francisco to Teheran).

1855

Charles Reade and Dion Boucicault Quotation: "He recognized that with a certain thrill, but was in a great hurry to get home with his pot of pitch; for it was in truth a very remarkable discovery, though not without a parallel." - Charles Reade and Dion Boucicault in Foul Play.

Charles Reade and Dion Boucicault Quotation: "As he hurried to the railway station, he tried to recollect the hour at which the early train started; but his confused and excited mind refused to perform the function of memory." - Charles Reade and Dion Boucicault in Foul Play.

Charles Reade and Dion Boucicault Quotation: "After this preliminary, and the deposit of the papers, nothing was hurried; the merchant, absorbed in his grief, seemed to be forgetting to ask for his money." - Charles Reade and Dion Boucicault in Foul Play.

Charles Reade and Dion Boucicault Quotation: "Wylie remonstrated; but Arthur convinced him they were still on too ticklish ground to show any hurry without exciting suspicion." - Charles Reade and Dion Boucicault in Foul Play.

Charles Reade and Dion Boucicault Quotation: "Directly after breakfast, Hazel took his ax and some rope from the boat, and went off in a great hurry to the jungle." - Charles Reade and Dion Boucicault in Foul Play.

Herman Melville Quotation: "Some twenty or thirty natives armed with spears which through the glass looked like reeds, had just come out of the grove, and were apparently shouting to the strangers not to be in such a hurry, but return and be sociable." - Herman Melville in Omoo: Adventures in the South Seas.

Herman Melville Quotation: "The utter solitude and silence were oppressive; and after peering about under the shades, and seeing nothing but ranks of dark, motionless trunks, we hurried across the hollow, and ascended a steep mountain opposite." - Herman Melville in Omoo: Adventures in the South Seas.

Herman Melville Quotation: "Of course the uproar roused all hands, and when we hurried on deck, there was the owner of the box, looking aghast at its scattered contents, and with one wandering hand taking the altitude of a bump on his head." - Herman Melville in Omoo: Adventures in the South Seas.

Herman Melville Quotation: "Presently the physician was spied coming along the Broom Road at a great rate, and so absorbed in the business of locomotion, that he heeded not the imprudence of being in a hurry in a tropical climate." - Herman Melville in Omoo: Adventures in the South Seas.

Herman Melville Quotation: "We hurried down to the beach, and saw the boat gliding toward us, with a dozing islander at the helm, and Zeke standing up in the bows, jingling a small bag of silver, the proceeds of his cargo." - Herman Melville in Omoo: Adventures in the South Seas.

Walt Whitman Quotation: "The noble son on sinewy feet advancing, I saw, out of the land of prairies, land of Ohio's waters and of Indiana, To the rescue the stalwart giant hurry his plenteous offspring, Drest in blue, bearing their trusty rifles on their shoulders." - Walt Whitman in Leaves of Grass.

Walt Whitman Quotation: "I myself but write one or two indicative words for the future, I but advance a moment only to wheel and hurry back in the darkness." - Walt Whitman in Leaves of Grass.

Walt Whitman Quotation: "Fast as she can she hurries, something ominous, her steps trembling, She does not tarry to smooth her hair nor adjust her cap." - Walt Whitman in Leaves of Grass.

William Tecumseh Sherman Quotation: "He said that the price of every thing had so risen in comparison with the depreciated money, that there was danger of national bankruptcy, and he appealed to me, as a soldier and patriot, to hurry up matters so as to bring the war to a close." - William Tecumseh Sherman in Memoirs of General William T. Sherman.

William Tecumseh Sherman Quotation: "It was then late in the afternoon, and I concluded to wait till the next morning; but that night I received a dispatch from General Anderson in Louisville to hurry back, as events were pressing, and he needed me." - William Tecumseh Sherman in Memoirs of General William T. Sherman.

William Tecumseh Sherman Quotation: "The Army of the Cumberland had so long been in the trenches that he wanted my troops to hurry up, to take the offensive first; after which, he had no doubt the Cumberland army would fight well." - William Tecumseh Sherman in Memoirs of General William T. Sherman.

William Tecumseh Sherman Quotation: "I motioned to them to hurry forward, and turned my horse across the head of the pond, knowing the ground well, as it was a favorite place for shooting geese and ducks." - William Tecumseh Sherman in Memoirs of General William T. Sherman.

William Tecumseh Sherman Quotation: "I also dispatched orders after orders to hurry forward Stanley, so as to lap around Jonesboro on the east, hoping thus to capture the whole of Hardee's corps." - William Tecumseh Sherman in Memoirs of General William T. Sherman.

1856

Buntline, Ned: Born in 1822 and died in 1886, authored "Sad times. The burning of the steamboat New Jersey, on the Delaware, night of March 15th, 1856. Sixty-two persons hurried into eternity by water and by fire." Publisher: printed at Johnson's, No. 5 North Tenth Street, Philad (Philadelphia, Pa.). Published in 1856.

Charles Dickens and Wilkie Collins Quotation: "One of the two men hurried off with the dogs at such topmost speed as he could make; the other set up the lighted torches in the snow, and applied himself to recovering the Englishman." - Charles Dickens and Wilkie Collins in No Thoroughfare.

Charles Dickens and Wilkie Collins Quotation: "When they had hurriedly refreshed and changed, they went together to the house of business of Defresnier and Company." - Charles Dickens and Wilkie Collins in No Thoroughfare.

Frederick Douglass Quotation: "The intense heat of the sun, the heavy dust rising from the fan, the stooping, to take up the wheat from the yard, together with the hurrying, to get through, had caused a rush of blood to my head." - Frederick Douglass in My Bondage and My Freedom.

Frederick Douglass Quotation: "Not fewer than forty Americans have within the past two years been hunted down, and without a moment's warning, hurried away in chains, and consigned to slavery and excruciating torture." - Frederick Douglass in My Bondage and My Freedom.

Frederick Douglass Quotation: "The vessels were to be launched in the July of that year, and in failure thereof, Mr. Gardner was to lose a considerable sum; so that when I entered, all was hurry." - Frederick Douglass in Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass.

Frederick Douglass Quotation: "Fortunately, in the hurry of the moment, he did not see me; and the trains soon passed each other on their respective ways." - Frederick Douglass in Collected Articles of Frederick Douglass, a Slave.

Frederick Douglass Quotation: "In less than a week after leaving Baltimore, I was walking amid the hurrying throng, and gazing upon the dazzling wonders of Broadway." - Frederick Douglass in My Bondage and My Freedom.

George Park Fisher Quotation: "He refused to be hurried to the issue of an edict of emancipation, which, as he judged, if prematurely framed, would lose to the Union cause the great States of Maryland, Tennessee, Arkansas, and Missouri." - George Park Fisher in Outline of Universal History.

H. Rider Haggard Quotation: "Naturally they were in no hurry to return to the old order of things, in which murder, flogging, and slavery were events of everyday occurrence." - H. Rider Haggard in Cetywayo and his White Neighbours.

James De Mille Quotation: "He hurried over to the place, and, pulling away the bodies of several Malays, found at length a Hindu of large stature, in whom life was by no means extinct, for he was pushing with hands and feet and making faint efforts to rise." - James De Mille in Cord and Creese.

James De Mille Quotation: "More particularly he was troubled by the sudden departure of the old man, who about an hour previously had started off in a great hurry, leaving no directions whatever as to what was to be done with the body up stairs." - James De Mille in Cord and Creese.

James De Mille Quotation: "He had found this out when, after receiving a letter from Philips about her flight, he had hurried there and learned the result. Then he had himself gone to Holby, and found that she was at Mrs. Thornton's." - James De Mille in Cord and Creese.

James De Mille Quotation: "The labor of dressing was followed by a hurried arrangement of the trunks and bedding; after which they all emerged from the hold and ascending to the deck, looked around upon the scene." - James De Mille in Lost in the Fog.

James De Mille Quotation: "All this took place in an instant, and Potts, who was talking, did not notice the hurried glance; or if he did, saw in it nothing but a casual look cast by one stranger upon another." - James De Mille in Cord and Creese.

The Marquess of Dufferin Quotation: "When, therefore, a Lapp is in a great hurry, instead of taking to his sledge, he puts on a pair of skates exactly twice as long as his own body, and so flies on the wings of the wind." - The Marquess of Dufferin in Letters From High Latitudes.

Wilkie Collins Quotation: "Looking anxiously toward the ground occupied by our adversaries, we could only see vague, shadowy forms hurriedly crossing and recrossing each other in the mist. Something had happened! My French colleague took my arm and pressed it significantly." - Wilkie Collins in The Black Robe.

Wilkie Collins Quotation: "The same headlong eagerness to reach her end, which had hurried her into questioning Geoffrey before he left Windygates, now drove her, just as recklessly, into taking the management of Bishopriggs out of Sir Patrick's skilled and practiced hands." - Wilkie Collins in Man and Wife.

Wilkie Collins Quotation: "Madame Fontaine hurried up the next flight of stairs, and ran along the corridor as lightly as a young girl. The door of her room was ajar; she saw her daughter through the opening sitting on the sofa, with some work lying idle on her lap." - Wilkie Collins in Jezebel's Daughter.

Wilkie Collins Quotation: "Hurrying his actions with the reckless energy of a man determined on banishing his thoughts by his employments, Hermanric placed himself at the head of his troop, and marched quickly onwards in an eastward direction past the Pincian Gate." - Wilkie Collins in Antonina.

William Elliot Griffis Quotation: "At once, the good man dropped what he was doing and hurried off to his neighbor, who had first presented him with a trayful of these apples." - William Elliot Griffis in Welsh Fairy Tales.

William Elliot Griffis Quotation: "Hurrying home and perfectly sure that she knew the secret that would save her boy, she set cheerily about her regular work and daily tasks." - William Elliot Griffis in Welsh Fairy Tales.

William Elliot Griffis Quotation: "Then, it took plenty of time to pass through the doors and windholes, for no one person or thing was in a hurry, when they were young." - William Elliot Griffis in Welsh Fairy Tales.

William Elliot Griffis Quotation: "So early in the morning, he hurried to the hill tops, and going into one of the caves, met the fairies and told them his troubles." - William Elliot Griffis in Welsh Fairy Tales.

William Elliot Griffis Quotation: "When Van Eyck woke up in the morning, he recalled his dream, and, before he was dressed, hurried to the kitchen." - William Elliot Griffis in Dutch Fairy Tales for Young Folks.

Willis, Nathaniel Parker: Born in 1806 and died in 1867, authored "Rural letters and other records of thought at leisure / written in the intervals of more hurried literary labor." Publisher: Alden and Beardsly (Auburn (N.Y.); Rochester (N.Y.)). Published in 1856.

1857

Alexander Maclaren Quotation: "Why is it that you hurry from business to pleasure, from pleasure to business, until it is scarcely possible to get a quiet breathing time for thought at all?" - Alexander Maclaren in Expositions of Holy Scripture, (Kings II chapter 8 to end, and Chronicles, Ezra, and Nehemiah, Esther, Job, Proverbs, and Ecclesiastes).

Alexander Maclaren Quotation: "If we try to realise the state of mind of the Israelites on that night, we shall feel how significant of the true nature of their deliverance this summons to an act of worship, in the midst of their hurry, must have been." - Alexander Maclaren in Expositions of Holy Scripture (Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus and Numbers).

Alexander Maclaren Quotation: "The hurry and bustle of daily life, the very weakness of our characters, the rush of sensuous delights, may make us blind and deaf to the voice of conscience; and we think that all chance of the evil deed rising again to harm us is past." - Alexander Maclaren in Expositions of Holy Scripture (St Mark).

Alexander Maclaren Quotation: "There is no interval between the cry and the appearance of the bridegroom; only a moment to rouse themselves, to look to their lamps, and to speak the hurried words of the foolish and the answer of the wise, and then the procession is upon them." - Alexander Maclaren in Expositions of Holy Scripture.

Alexander Maclaren Quotation: "The old threadbare emblem of a journey which is implied in the text suggests how, moment by moment, we hurry on and how everything is slipping past us, as fields and towns do to a traveller in a train." - Alexander Maclaren in Expositions of Holy Scripture (Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus and Numbers).

Charles Dickens Quotation: "But Little Dorrit, being bashful, and not used to make herself at home on such occasions, felt at a loss how to do it; so she was still sitting near the door with her bonnet on, when Flora came in in a hurry half an hour afterwards." - Charles Dickens in Little Dorrit.

Charles Dickens Quotation: "People stood and sat at their doors, playing with children and enjoying the evening; numbers were walking for air; the worry of the day had almost worried itself out, and few but themselves were hurried." - Charles Dickens in Little Dorrit.

Charles Dickens Quotation: "While it was being brought from the cellar to the bar, a number of excited people asked him what had happened; when he hurriedly informed them that Mr Dorrit had succeeded to a fortune." - Charles Dickens in Little Dorrit.

Charles Dickens Quotation: "Disengaged from the turmoil, which was already calming down as the crowd of mules began to be bestowed in the stable, they hurried shivering up the steps and into the building." - Charles Dickens in Little Dorrit.

Charles Dickens Quotation: "But the stoppage of the bell, and the quiet in the prison, were a warning to depart; and with a few hurried words of kindness he left her gliding back to her father." - Charles Dickens in Little Dorrit.

E.A. Freeman Quotation: "But he does not hurry matters; he waits for a favourable opportunity." - E.A. Freeman in William the Conqueror.

Henry Adams Quotation: "Fortunately for tourists, the world, restless though it might be, could not hurry, and Abelard was to know of the pointed arch very little except its restlessness." - Henry Adams in Mont-Saint-Michel And Chartres.

Henry Adams Quotation: "Of course the Pope confirmed the judgment, and even hurried to do so in order that he might not be obliged to give Abelard a hearing." - Henry Adams in Mont-Saint-Michel And Chartres.

Maturin Murray Quotation: "The time so anxiously anticipated at length arrived, and stealing from a private entrance to the Palazzo, accompanied by a faithful female servant, who had been her attendant for years, she hurried on foot to the designated spot." - Maturin Murray in The Duke's Prize.

Maturin Murray Quotation: "Petro determined to prevent this meeting, or rather to be present at it, and he hurried from the spot without meeting Carlton, resolving to be punctually at the terrace a little before eleven." - Maturin Murray in The Duke's Prize.

Maturin Murray Quotation: "A sort of instinct explained to him the meaning of this, and hurrying his people on shore with the wounded, they sought the shelter of the jungle once more." - Maturin Murray in The Sea-Witch.

Maturin Murray Quotation: "It was night, and the pale moon, as if in a fickle mood, was smiling and scowling by turns, as the fleecy clouds hurried swiftly past her." - Maturin Murray in The Duke's Prize.

Maturin Murray Quotation: "But the iron grip of Egbert's powerful hand upon his shoulder awoke him to a sense of pain and fear for his safety, and he hurried away." - Maturin Murray in The Duke's Prize.

Pepys, Charlotte Maria: Author of "'Waiting through the Weary Day;' a few thoughts for the hurried and hard-working." Published in 1857.

1858

American Sunday School Union Quotation: "She had been watching for the children, and as soon as they came in sight she laid down the baby and ran to help them come in the house. She set the gate wide open for the wagon, and then hurried the girls in to the fire." - American Sunday School Union in The Allis Family; or, Scenes of Western Life.

American Sunday School Union Quotation: "He had seen the fire at a distance, and, understanding the danger far better than his wife, hurried home as rapidly as possible." - American Sunday School Union in The Allis Family; or, Scenes of Western Life.

Colorado Territory: In 1858, William Green Russell and a party of Georgians, having heard the story of the gold in the South Platte from Cherokee after they returned from California, set out to mine the area they described. That summer they founded a mining camp Auraria (named for a gold mining camp in Georgia) at the confluence of the South Platte and Cherry Creek. The Georgians left for thier home state the following winter. At Bent's Fort along the Arkansas River, Russel told William Larimer, Jr., a Kansas land speculator, about the placer gold they had found. Larimer, realizing the opportunity to capitalize on it, hurried to Auraria and in November 1858, he laid claim to an area across Cherry Creek from Auraria and named it "Denver City" in honor of James W. Denver, the current governor of the Kansas Territory. Larimer did not intend to mine gold himself, but rather he wanted to promote the new town and sell real estate to eager miners. [WP]

Felice Orsini: On the evening of January 14 1858, as the emperor and empress were on their way to the theatre in the Rue Le Peletier, the precursor of the Opera Garnier, Orsini and his accomplices threw three bombs at the imperial carriage. The first bomb landed among the horsemen in front of the carriage. The second bomb wounded the animals and smashed the carriage glass. The third bomb landed under the carriage and seriously wounded a policeman who was hurrying to protect the occupants. Eight people were killed and 142 wounded, though the emperor and empress were unhurt. Napoleon, the first modern European politician, realized that he and Eugnie had to proceed to the performance and appear in their box. The opera, circumstantially enough, was Rossini's "William Tell". [WP]

Hall, S. C., Mrs: Publication of "There is no hurry; and, Deeds - not words." Published in 1858.

John Addington Symonds Quotation: "Yet he indulged Harriet's vanity by setting up a carriage, in which they afterwards took a hurried journey to Edinburgh and back." - John Addington Symonds in Percy Bysshe Shelley.

John Addington Symonds Quotation: "Shelley hurried at once to London, and found some consolation in the society of Leigh Hunt." - John Addington Symonds in Percy Bysshe Shelley.

L. de Hegermann-Lindencrone Quotation: "But you are not energetic more than once, because you do not find it worth your while, as you must hurry back, and change your dress and shoes before appearing in the salon a little before eleven o'clock, the hour for breakfast." - L. de Hegermann-Lindencrone in In the Courts of Memory 1858-1875.

L. de Hegermann-Lindencrone Quotation: "Then there was a hurried putting on of coats and wiping of perspiring brows, and they all went forward to receive the Archduke Louis, who had driven over from Wiesbaden to spend the day, bringing with him some younger gentlemen." - L. de Hegermann-Lindencrone in In the Courts of Memory 1858-1875.

L. de Hegermann-Lindencrone Quotation: "Oh yes! there is a mirror for each of us, which in my hurry to finish my letter I forgot to mention; but they are so small and wavy that the less we look in them the better we are satisfied with ourselves." - L. de Hegermann-Lindencrone in In the Courts of Memory 1858-1875.

L. de Hegermann-Lindencrone Quotation: "When I reached the carriage I found a small crowd collected around it, and I hurried to get in, and hardly had time to shut the door when Louis whipped the horse, and we were galloping away toward home." - L. de Hegermann-Lindencrone in In the Courts of Memory 1858-1875.

L. de Hegermann-Lindencrone Quotation: "The Marquis de Gallifet, seeing his chance, hurried to tell the story of the d'Albe family, which the crestfallen Baron drank in with open mouth and swallowed whole." - L. de Hegermann-Lindencrone in In the Courts of Memory 1858-1875.

Samuel Smiles Quotation: "On the other hand, the miscalculation of time involves us in perpetual hurry, confusion, and difficulties; and life becomes a mere shuffle of expedients, usually followed by disaster." - Samuel Smiles in Self Help.

Samuel Smiles Quotation: "The young people of the town wished to give Jasmin a banquet, but he declined, as he had to hurry on to another place for a similar purpose." - Samuel Smiles in Jasmin: Barber, Poet, Philanthropist.

Samuel Smiles Quotation: "This important phial was taken in charge by the Prince Furst von Furstenburg, who, accompanied by a regiment of Guards, hurried with it to Warsaw." - Samuel Smiles in Self Help.

1859

Arthur Conan Doyle Quotation: "He hurried in, fearing that she might have taken some turn for the worse, but he was reassured to find her sitting up in her bed, with Clara and Ida Walker in attendance upon her." - Arthur Conan Doyle in Beyond the City.

Arthur Conan Doyle Quotation: "Westmacott raised his hat and strode away to the westward, while the Admiral, after a hurried lunch, bent his steps towards the east." - Arthur Conan Doyle in Beyond the City.

Arthur Conan Doyle Quotation: "Clara used often to meet him there of a morning to say a few words before he hurried away into the City." - Arthur Conan Doyle in Beyond the City.

Emma Dorothy Eliza Nevitte Southworth Quotation: "Traverse started and gazed upon his friend in amazement, and was about to express his astonishment, when Herbert, seeing others approach, drew the arm of his friend within his own, and they hurried silently on toward Major Greyson's quarters." - Emma Dorothy Eliza Nevitte Southworth in Capitola The Madcap.

Emma Dorothy Eliza Nevitte Southworth Quotation: "And now there was no eager restlessness: no frequent listening and looking toward the door. Alas! she could not now expect to hear her boy's light and springing step and cheerful voice as he hurried home at eventide from his daily work." - Emma Dorothy Eliza Nevitte Southworth in Capitola The Madcap.

Emma Dorothy Eliza Nevitte Southworth Quotation: "Then, instead of taking the beasts to the stable, he tied them to the tree and hurried into the house and upstairs to his master's room, to apprise him of the return of the lost sheep, Capitola." - Emma Dorothy Eliza Nevitte Southworth in Capitola The Madcap.

Emma Dorothy Eliza Nevitte Southworth Quotation: "She hurried up the second flight of stairs and along the narrow passages, empty rooms, and steep steps and dreary halls, until she reached the door of her own dormitory." - Emma Dorothy Eliza Nevitte Southworth in Capitola The Madcap.

Emma Dorothy Eliza Nevitte Southworth Quotation: "Then she hurried back into her own chamber, locked the pistols up in her own drawer, and, wearied out with so much excitement, prepared to go to rest." - Emma Dorothy Eliza Nevitte Southworth in Capitola The Madcap.

John Greenleaf Whittier Quotation: "What is it but plucking flowers on the banks of the stream which hurries us over the cataract, or feasting on the thin crust of a volcano upon delicate meats prepared over the fires which are soon to ingulf us?" - John Greenleaf Whittier in Doctor Singletary, vol 5, part 2.

John Ruskin Quotation: "No, it wasn't the wind; there it came again very hard, and, what was particularly astounding, the knocker seemed to be in a hurry and not to be in the least afraid of the consequences." - John Ruskin in The King of the Golden River.

Mrs Alfred Gatty Quotation: "Then quitting his companions, he went into the crowd of men, and made known to them in a few hurried words, that, by the order of their young princes, there would, before another day had dawned, be something found to do for them all." - Mrs Alfred Gatty in Aunt Judy's Tales.

Mrs Alfred Gatty Quotation: "But the speaker hurried forward, and No." - Mrs Alfred Gatty in Aunt Judy's Tales.

Ormsby, Robert McKinley: Born in 1814 and died in 1881, authored "A history of the Whig party, or some of its main features: with a hurried glance at the formation of parties in the United States, and the outlines of the history of the principal parties of the country to the present time, etc., etc." Publisher: Crosby, Nichols (Boston). Published in 1859.

R.M. Ballantyne Quotation: "It was now our turn to laugh; but as we were not yet quite sure that he was unhurt, and as we knew not when or where the next spout might arise, we assisted him hastily to jump up and hurry from the spot." - R.M. Ballantyne in The Coral Island (A Tale Of The Pacific Ocean).

R.M. Ballantyne Quotation: "The men instantly raised me shoulder high, and hurrying down the rocks, tossed me into the bottom of the boat, where I lay for some time stunned with the violence of my fall." - R.M. Ballantyne in The Coral Island (A Tale Of The Pacific Ocean).

R.M. Ballantyne Quotation: "I was in a great quandary now what to do, for I couldn't concoct in my mind, in the hurry, any good reason for firin' off my piece." - R.M. Ballantyne in The Coral Island (A Tale Of The Pacific Ocean).

R.M. Ballantyne Quotation: "From this we hurried to the Water Garden, and took a last dive into its clear waters, and a last gambol amongst its coral groves." - R.M. Ballantyne in The Coral Island (A Tale Of The Pacific Ocean).

R.M. Ballantyne Quotation: "Having satisfied ourselves as to the bower, we hurried to the spot where the boat had been left; but no boat was there." - R.M. Ballantyne in The Coral Island (A Tale Of The Pacific Ocean).

Thomas Hughes Quotation: "Tom hurried over his own breakfast, and went first to Martin's study and then to his own; but no signs of the missing boys were to be found." - Thomas Hughes in Tom Brown's Schooldays.

Thomas Hughes Quotation: "So we must hurry through Master Tom's year at a private school as fast as we can." - Thomas Hughes in Tom Brown's Schooldays.

Thomas Hughes Quotation: "Stop a minute; there's no hurry." - Thomas Hughes in Tom Brown's Schooldays.

William M. Thayer Quotation: "They parted, and John hurried away to see the captain." - William M. Thayer in From Boyhood to Manhood (Life of Benjamin Franklin).

1860

Henry Kendall Quotation: "From street to street The noise of labour, linked to hurrying wheels, Rolls off, as rolls the stately sound of wave, When he that hears it hastens from the shore." - Henry Kendall in The Poems of Henry Kendall.

Louisa May Alcott Quotation: "I always planned that we'd be married some bright summer day, with many friends about us; then take a happy little journey somewhere together, and come back to settle down at home in the dear old way. Now it's all so hurried, sorrowful, and strange." - Louisa May Alcott in Work: A Story of Experience.

Louisa May Alcott Quotation: "Nan tugged on, growing hotter and wearier, more hurried and more hopeless, till at last the crisis came; for in one fell moment she tore her gown, burnt her hand, and smutched the collar she was preparing to finish in the most unexceptionable style." - Louisa May Alcott in A Modern Cinderella.

Louisa May Alcott Quotation: "Wandering up and down these lower halls, I often heard cries from above, steps hurrying to and fro, saw surgeons passing up, or men coming down carrying a stretcher, where lay a long white figure, whose face was shrouded and whose fight was done." - Louisa May Alcott in Hospital Sketches.

Louisa May Alcott Quotation: "David set things in order, conferred with Bennet, petted his womankind, and then hurried away to pack boxes of stores, visit camps, and watch departing regiments with a daily increasing certainty that his time had come." - Louisa May Alcott in Work: A Story of Experience.

Louisa May Alcott Quotation: "Day after day he hurried away to help Mr. Power in the sanitary work that soon claimed all hearts and hands; and, day after day, he came home with what Christie called the "heroic look" more plainly written on his face." - Louisa May Alcott in Work: A Story of Experience.

1861

F. Scott Fitzgerald Quotation: "In the morning he awoke stiff and aching, hollow as a ghost, and hurried forth to meet the other ghostly figures who swarmed in the wan company streets, while a harsh bugle shrieked and spluttered at the gray heavens." - F. Scott Fitzgerald in The Beautiful and the Damned.

F. Scott Fitzgerald Quotation: "For two nights and two days they rattled southward, making mysterious inexplicable stops in what were apparently arid wastes, and then rushing through large cities with a pompous air of hurry." - F. Scott Fitzgerald in The Beautiful and the Damned.

1862

F. Scott Fitzgerald Quotation: "He walked into a plumber's shop, but when he mentioned his business the plumber began pulling on his coat in a great hurry, gruffly announcing that he had to go to lunch." - F. Scott Fitzgerald in The Beautiful and the Damned.

F. Scott Fitzgerald Quotation: "When he was out of sight he changed his course, and with his heart beating wildly, hurried to his company, feeling that he had made a fatal error of judgment." - F. Scott Fitzgerald in The Beautiful and the Damned.

F. Scott Fitzgerald Quotation: "Perspiring profusely he stood in the hall wondering why they didn't come and arrest him; in every hurried look he discerned infallibly a glance of scorn." - F. Scott Fitzgerald in The Beautiful and the Damned.

Isaac Taylor Headland Quotation: "She hurried to Peking, boldly faced and denounced the Emperor, took from him his seal of state, and confined him a prisoner in the Winter Palace." - Isaac Taylor Headland in Court Life in China.

J.B. Bury Quotation: "All classes were hurried along by the prevailing sentiment." - J.B. Bury in The Idea Of Progress.

Owen Meredith Quotation: "Luvois hurried on, As though in remonstrance with what had been spoken." - Owen Meredith in Lucile.

Owen Meredith Quotation: "He pass'd his hand hurriedly over his eyes, Bewilder'd, incredulous." - Owen Meredith in Lucile.

Owen Meredith Quotation: "She turn'd from him nervously, hurriedly." - Owen Meredith in Lucile.

Sørensen Peder: Publication of "Den sidste Time et Opmuntrings- og Formanings-Ord til stakkels Mennesker, at skynde sig med den rette Beredelse til at møde den Herre som siger: "See Jeg kommer snart"." Published in 1861.

USS St. Lawrence (1848): Still in ordinary at the outbreak of the American Civil War, "St. Lawrence" was hurriedly prepared for action and recommissioned on 21 June 1861, Capt. Hugh Y. Purviance in command. She sailed for the Confederate coast eight days later but was delayed in the lower Delaware River by low tides until 8 July when she finally put to sea. After joining the Atlantic Blockading Squadron upon her arrival at Hampton Roads, she headed further south on the 14th. Two days later, she captured British brig, "Herald", off Cape Hatteras, North Carolina. That blockade runner had escaped from Beaufort, North Carolina, laden with naval stores and was bound for Liverpool. Capt. Purviance sent the prize to Hampton Roads and continued his voyage south. [WP]

William Dean Howells Quotation: "He took nothing but beer when he hurried out of the theatre into one of the neighboring resorts, just as the great platters of stewed kidneys and lyonnaise potatoes came steaming up out of the kitchen, prompt to the drop of the curtain on the last act." - William Dean Howells in A Modern Instance.

William Dean Howells Quotation: "Kinney hurried after him, imploring and protesting in a low voice, trying to get before him, and longing to lay his floury paws upon him and detain him by main force, but even in his distress respecting Bartley's overcoat too much to touch it." - William Dean Howells in A Modern Instance.

William Dean Howells Quotation: "Marcia inferred the early habits of the household from the departure of this older friend, but Bartley was in no hurry; he was enjoying himself, and he could not see that Mr. Halleck seemed at all sleepy." - William Dean Howells in A Modern Instance.

William Dean Howells Quotation: "London is like nature in its vastness, simplicity, and deliberation, and if it hurried or worried, it would be like the precession of the equinoxes getting a move on, and would shake the earth." - William Dean Howells in London Films.

William Dean Howells Quotation: "But that is no great wonder: when a tree has worked as hard as a tree must in England to get its blossoms out, it is naturally in no hurry to drop them; it likes to keep them on for weeks." - William Dean Howells in London Films.

1862

Charlotte Mary Yonge Quotation: "Accordingly, on the report that Tirhakah, the great King of Ethiopia, was coming to the aid of the Egyptians, he hurried on to reinforce the army he had sent against him, intending to take Jerusalem on his way back." - Charlotte Mary Yonge in The Chosen People (A Compendium of Sacred And Church History For School-Children).

Charlotte Mary Yonge Quotation: "Richard hurrying hither and thither, and waiting upon every one, had little of the diversion of the affair; but he would willingly have taken treble the care and toil in the relief it was to be free from the prying mistrustful eyes of Hamlyn de Valence." - Charlotte Mary Yonge in The Prince and the Page.

Charlotte Mary Yonge Quotation: "It was the little son of the Count von Bardi whom Wilhelm von Mosen brought down by mistake for young Albrecht, and Kunz, while hurrying up to exchange the children, bade the rest of his band hasten on to secure the elder prince without waiting for him." - Charlotte Mary Yonge in A Book of Golden Deeds.

Charlotte Mary Yonge Quotation: "But oh! that the handkerchief had been less grimy with which she mopped her eyes, as she spoke of the happy days that were gone! Gillian saw that poor Aunt Ada was in an agony to get away, and hurried out her questions for fear of being stopped." - Charlotte Mary Yonge in Beechcroft at Rockstone.

Charlotte Mary Yonge Quotation: "In the heart of winter he hurried back, and took the Gauls by surprise by crossing the snows that lay thick on the wild waste of the Cebenna, which the Arverni had always considered as their impenetrable barrier throughout the winter." - Charlotte Mary Yonge in A Book of Golden Deeds.

J.G. Austin Quotation: "Your neighbors in the country were up before I was, and have eaten their breakfasts, and half cleared it away by this time; and here are you just beginning to dress yourselves! Hurry up, I say! hurry up! It is the last day of October, don't you know?" - J.G. Austin in Outpost.

J.G. Austin Quotation: "So saying, Mrs. Ginniss closed the window, and, throwing a little shawl over her head, locked the door, leaving the key underneath, and hurried away to her sick friend, with whom she staid till nearly night." - J.G. Austin in Outpost.

J.G. Austin Quotation: "Then, calling the child, he hurried with her into the cars, and selected a seat behind the door, in the evident wish of being seen as little as possible." - J.G. Austin in Outpost.

Jules Claretie Quotation: "And the old misanthrope hurried to the Prince's hotel, thinking this: that there always exist people ready to forward paragraphs of this kind." - Jules Claretie in Prince Zilah, vol 3.

Octave Feuillet Quotation: "At that moment there was a sound of hurried footsteps; a shadowy form glided toward them from the depth of the thicket, and the next instant Camors recognized Madame de Tecle." - Octave Feuillet in Monsieur de Camors, entire.

R.D. Blackmore Quotation: "I knew that the Captain's house was first, both from what Lorna had said of it, and from my mother's description, and now again from seeing Charlie halt there for a certain time, and whistle on his fingers, and hurry on, fearing consequence." - R.D. Blackmore in Lorna Doone, A Romance of Exmoor.

R.D. Blackmore Quotation: "I was inclined to pursue the enemy and try to capture more of them; but Jeremy Stickles would not allow it, for he said that all the advantage would be upon their side, if we went hurrying after them, with only the moon to guide us." - R.D. Blackmore in Lorna Doone, A Romance of Exmoor.

R.D. Blackmore Quotation: "With this I hurried to that bridge of fear, which I had not yet brought myself to go across; and then, not to tell any story about it, I snipped a little hole in the corner of my pocket, while my hand was still steady ere I had to mount the bridge." - R.D. Blackmore in Erema.

R.D. Blackmore Quotation: "Two women were scolding one another across the road, very violently, both from upstair windows; and I in my hurry for quiet life, and not knowing what might come down upon me, quickened my step for the nearest corner." - R.D. Blackmore in Lorna Doone, A Romance of Exmoor.

R.D. Blackmore Quotation: "The two great packages of powder, slung behind my back, knocked so hard against one another that I feared they must either spill or blow up, and hurry me over Peggy's ears from the woollen cloth I rode upon." - R.D. Blackmore in Lorna Doone, A Romance of Exmoor.

1863

Edward Payson Roe Quotation: "The vagrants, apparently, had a wholesome fear of John Jones, junior, for, on hearing his voice, they beat a hurried retreat; but knowing that no one was at the house, and in the spirit of revengeful mischief, they took their flight in that direction." - Edward Payson Roe in Driven Back to Eden.

Edward Payson Roe Quotation: "You are too hurried, too eager for temporary success, too taken up with details, to form calm, philosophical opinions of the great events of your time, and thus be able to shape men's opinions." - Edward Payson Roe in A Day of Fate.

Edward Payson Roe Quotation: "I followed him hastily, and found that considerable mischief had already been done, and I went to one of my fruit books in a hurry to find out how to cope with this new enemy." - Edward Payson Roe in Driven Back to Eden.

Edward Payson Roe Quotation: "As soon as de ossifers heared de shots dey rush out an' shout to dere men, an' dey saddle up in a hurry an' gallop out in de lawn in front of de house an' form ranks." - Edward Payson Roe in An Original Belle.

Edward Payson Roe Quotation: "One would not have guessed, as he hurried up Third Avenue, that he was well armed, but there were two small, yet effective revolvers and a dirk upon his person." - Edward Payson Roe in An Original Belle.

John Burroughs Quotation: "I have looked down into the cavity and seen the poor thing palpitating with fear and looking up with distended eyes, but never moving till I had withdrawn a few paces; then she rushes out with a cry that brings the male on the scene in a hurry." - John Burroughs in Wake-Robin.

John Burroughs Quotation: "He walks on the ground ahead of me with such an easy, gliding motion, and with such an unconscious, preoccupied air, jerking his head like a hen or a partridge, now hurrying, now slackening his pace, that I pause to observe him." - John Burroughs in Wake-Robin.

John Burroughs Quotation: "No temporizing, no makeshifts, no evidence of hurry, or failure, or contract work; no wood and little paint, but plenty of iron and brick and stone." - John Burroughs in Winter Sunshine.

John Burroughs Quotation: "After leaping a few yards, he pauses an instant, as if to determine the degree of danger, and then hurries away with a much lighter tread." - John Burroughs in Winter Sunshine.

John Burroughs Quotation: "Hardly have her wings rested before her eye has penetrated my screen, and with a hurried movement of alarm she darts away." - John Burroughs in Wake-Robin.

Pepys, Charlotte Maria, Lady: Publication of "A few thoughts for the hurried and hard-working." Offered to them by their friend and sister Lady Charlotte-Maria Pepys. Publisher: Rivingtons (London). Published in 1863.

Theodore A. Dodge Quotation: "Howard, upon being attacked, had sent hurriedly for a cavalry regiment." - Theodore A. Dodge in The Campaign of Chancellorsville.

Theodore A. Dodge Quotation: "McLaws was hurried forward to sustain the line taken up by Anderson." - Theodore A. Dodge in The Campaign of Chancellorsville.

1864

Anthony Trollope Quotation: "Then she ran from the terrace to the gate, and, hurrying through the gate, made her way into the churchyard, from the farther corner of which she could see the heads of the two men till they had made the turn into the main road beyond the parsonage." - Anthony Trollope in The Small House at Allington.

Anthony Trollope Quotation: "Travelling was not then very quick; but a messenger, one Mallius Glaucia, a man on very close terms with Titus Magnus, was sent down at once in a light gig to travel through the night and take the information to Titus Capito Why was all this hurry?" - Anthony Trollope in The Life of Cicero, vol 1.

Anthony Trollope Quotation: "It was a placid black little streamlet, which in that portion of its course was hurried by no steepness, had not broken rocks in its bed, no trees on its low banks, and played none of those gambols which make running water beautiful." - Anthony Trollope in The Duke's Children.

Anthony Trollope Quotation: "She stood at the door as the two men got into the gig, and, as it passed down through the gate, she hurried out upon the terrace, from whence she could see it for a few yards down the lane." - Anthony Trollope in The Small House at Allington.

Anthony Trollope Quotation: "There would be no necessity for hurry as to a marriage for her under ordinary circumstances, but there may be circumstances to make such a thing desirable, and I think that there are." - Anthony Trollope in The Small House at Allington.

Charles Dudley Warner Quotation: "Upon the flat shores near Phaleron the purple seas broke in spray, and the salty drops were caught up by the wind and mingled with the hurrying grains of dust." - Charles Dudley Warner in In the Wilderness.

Charles Dudley Warner Quotation: "And the Canon had put her in a stall close to where he would presently be sitting, and had then hurried back to meet Father Robertson." - Charles Dudley Warner in In the Wilderness.

Charles Dudley Warner Quotation: "She might obstinately refrain from treading a path, but if once she had set her feet on it she hurried eagerly along it." - Charles Dudley Warner in In the Wilderness.

Charles Dudley Warner Quotation: "He shut the door rather hurriedly, and again stood considering. Something cracked." - Charles Dudley Warner in In the Wilderness.

Charles Dudley Warner Quotation: "She longed, too, to hear voices, hurrying feet, the innumerable sounds of life." - Charles Dudley Warner in In the Wilderness.

David Masson Quotation: "And is not the King's cause on the whole prospering, and is not that in itself another reason for being at least in no hurry to make it up with Milton?" - David Masson in Life of John Milton, vol 3, 1643-1649.

George MacDonald Quotation: "In the afternoon, peeping from the recess, they saw several of the servants enter hurriedly, one after the other, draw wine, drink it, and steal out; but their business was to take care of the king, not of his cellar, and they let them drink." - George MacDonald in The Princess and Curdie.

George MacDonald Quotation: "She drew it out carefully, and, looking into it, saw, not indeed the ugly creature she had seen there before, but still a very dirty little animal; whereupon she hurried to the well, took off her clothes, plunged into it, and washed herself clean." - George MacDonald in A Double Story.

George MacDonald Quotation: "Thou wouldst not have thy man crushed back to clay; It must be, God, thou hast a strength to give To him that fain would do what thou dost say; Else how shall any soul repentant live, Old griefs and new fears hurrying on dismay?" - George MacDonald in The Diary of an Old Soul.

George MacDonald Quotation: "I opened it as quietly as I could, but just as I stepped into the dark hall, came a third fearful cry, through the echoes of which in the empty house I heard the rush of hurried feet and trailing garments on the stair." - George MacDonald in Thomas Wingfold, Curate, entire.

George MacDonald Quotation: "There, to the accompaniment of the water, as it hurried down to the valley and the sea, talking busily of a thousand true things which it could not understand, Curdie told his tale, outside and in, to his father and mother." - George MacDonald in The Princess and Curdie.

George Parsons Lathrop Quotation: "He sends off frequent and hurried missives to one of his sisters, who did some of the condensing and compiling which was a part of the business." - George Parsons Lathrop in A Study of Hawthorne.

George Parsons Lathrop Quotation: "The meal was put in the wagon, the horse unhitched, the wagon mounted, the goad picked up and a thrust made, but dobbin was in no hurry." - George Parsons Lathrop in A Study of Hawthorne.

George Parsons Lathrop Quotation: "There is no picture of Mephisto hurrying him off to an apparently irrevocable doom." - George Parsons Lathrop in A Study of Hawthorne.

George Parsons Lathrop Quotation: "He could not enter into the spectacle when hurrying through strange regions." - George Parsons Lathrop in A Study of Hawthorne.

James O'Meara Quotation: "A force of vigilance officers demanded his surrender, took him and hurried him to the Committee rooms. Through this action the lawful authorities were forcibly prevented passing upon his case." - James O'Meara in The Vigilance Committee of '56.

James O'Meara Quotation: "In taking the furniture, he had also carried away some articles which belonged to the girl. She hurried to the police Court, made charge against him, and he was arrested." - James O'Meara in The Vigilance Committee of '56.

James O'Meara Quotation: "There would have been short invoking of trial in his case and a hurried death by the rope." - James O'Meara in The Vigilance Committee of '56.

Johanna Spyri Quotation: "Directly after lunch Nika and Agnes had to hurry off to school again and the mother had to supervise Trina's work, so Mux was entrusted with the task of entertaining Cornelli for a little while." - Johanna Spyri in Cornelli.

Johanna Spyri Quotation: "Cornelli's school had been over sooner than the other children's, so she was in no hurry and stood still to listen." - Johanna Spyri in Cornelli.

Johanna Spyri Quotation: "Mux, gazing motionless at the shining horses, could not be taken away in a hurry from that wonderful sight." - Johanna Spyri in Cornelli.

Johanna Spyri Quotation: "Now you can stay quietly together, for there is no hurry about supper." - Johanna Spyri in Cornelli.

Johanna Spyri Quotation: "He got up from the table, as soon as possible, and hurried away." - Johanna Spyri in Cornelli.

Philip Gilbert Hamerton Quotation: "It was a pleasure to see his tall straight figure going over the roughest ground with no appearance of hurry, but in fact with such unostentatious swiftness that few sportsmen could follow him." - Philip Gilbert Hamerton in Philip Gilbert Hamerton (An Autobiography, 1834-1858, and a Memoir by His Wife, 1858-1894).

Philip Gilbert Hamerton Quotation: "If you ever do another big book, we must take two or three years for it, and have no sort of hurry." - Philip Gilbert Hamerton in Philip Gilbert Hamerton (An Autobiography, 1834-1858, and a Memoir by His Wife, 1858-1894).

Philip Gilbert Hamerton Quotation: "Having been anxious about it and hurried, he became subject to painful attacks of palpitation." - Philip Gilbert Hamerton in Philip Gilbert Hamerton (An Autobiography, 1834-1858, and a Memoir by His Wife, 1858-1894).

1865

Alexander Mackenzie Quotation: "Montrose halted at the village of Auldearn, and General Hurry finding such a large force waiting for him at Inverness, decided to retrace his steps the next morning, and give battle to the Marquis at that village." - Alexander Mackenzie in History Of The Mackenzies.

Alexander Mackenzie Quotation: "In another moment swords and dirks were drawn on both sides, but the Lord President and Macleod laid hold of Mackenzie and hurried him from the Court." - Alexander Mackenzie in History Of The Mackenzies.

Alexander Mackenzie Quotation: "In their hurry to escape they left all the bodies of their slain companions unburied on the island." - Alexander Mackenzie in History Of The Mackenzies.

Alexander Mackenzie Quotation: "The slaughter continued, and the remnant of the Macleods hurried aboard their birlinn." - Alexander Mackenzie in History Of The Mackenzies.

Alfred Tennyson Quotation: "Shout Icenian, Catieuchlanian, shout Coritanian, Trinobant, Till the victim hear within and yearn to hurry precipitously Like the leaf in a roaring whirlwind, like the smoke in a hurricane whirl'd." - Alfred Tennyson in Enoch Arden etc.

Edward Everett Hale Quotation: "And if you have a chance to see a good draughtsman work, quietly watch him, and remember. Do not hurry, nor try hard things at the beginning." - Edward Everett Hale in How To Do It.

Edward Everett Hale Quotation: "When the service is ended, do not hurry away." - Edward Everett Hale in How To Do It.

Edward Everett Hale Quotation: "Again I hurried to the strand." - Edward Everett Hale in How To Do It.

Horatio Alger Quotation: "He was at once filled with anxiety about his son, and had hurried to the place to call him back, when to his horror he found that the tide had already covered the only way by which the dangerous place might be approached." - Horatio Alger in The Errand Boy.

Horatio Alger Quotation: "Ben made a clutch for them in which he lost his own hold, and made a hurried descent in their company, alighting with his bare feet on some flinty gravel stones, which he found by no means agreeable." - Horatio Alger in Paul Prescott's Charge.

Horatio Alger Quotation: "It was accompanied with a note from his employer, stating that it was intended as a New Year's gift, but in the hurry of business, he had forgotten to give it to him during the day." - Horatio Alger in Paul Prescott's Charge.

Horatio Alger Quotation: "Joe had applied for the position and was waiting for the proprietor to address him when, on chancing to look up, he saw Henry Davis rush past as if in a tremendous hurry." - Horatio Alger in Joe The Hotel Boy.

Horatio Alger Quotation: "Dawkins hurried on feeling very uncomfortable. He was quite aware that four days hence he would be as unprepared to encounter the Frenchman as now." - Horatio Alger in Paul Prescott's Charge.

J. Cuthbert Hadden Quotation: "The hint was enough for Bland, who immediately hurried off to his lodgings and fetched a more serviceable tool." - J. Cuthbert Hadden in Haydn.

Samuel Butler (1835-1902) Quotation: "Everything in a second flew past me, and I had no more control over the raft; neither can I remember anything except hurry, and noise, and waters which in the end upset me." - Samuel Butler (1835-1902) in Erewhon (Revised Edition).

William Morris Quotation: "So he goes thither, deeming that mayhappen one of the company had dropped something, pouch or clout, or what not, in his haste and hurry." - William Morris in The Well At The World's End.

William Morris Quotation: "Down then leapt Jack Straw from the cross, and the whole throng set off without noise or hurry, soberly and steadily in outward seeming." - William Morris in A Dream of John Ball, etc.

William Morris Quotation: "Therewith she hurried him on, and her feet seemed never tired, though now, to say sooth, he began to go somewhat heavily." - William Morris in The Well At The World's End.

William Morris Quotation: "But here again see how helpless those are who care about art or nature amidst the hurry of the Century of Commerce." - William Morris in Hopes and Fears for Art.

William Morris Quotation: "So saying she hurried off to the buttery, leaving Ralph laughing at her outspoken flattering words." - William Morris in The Well At The World's End.

1866

Carleton: Publisher of "Epidemic cholera: its mission and mystery, haunts and havocs, pathology and treatment: with remarks on the question of contagion, the influence of fear, and hurried and delayed interments." By a former surgeon in the service of the Honorable East India Company. Publisher: Carleton (New York). Published in 1866.

Jules Verne Quotation: "To disembark from the Henrietta, jump into a hack, hurry to the St. Nicholas, and return with Aouda, Passepartout, and even the inseparable Fix was the work of a brief time, and was performed by Mr. Fogg with the coolness which never abandoned him." - Jules Verne in Around the World in 80 Days.

Jules Verne Quotation: "At the different relays at which they stopped during the day Strogoff ascertained that the berlin still preceded them on the road to Irkutsk, and that the traveler, as hurried as they were, never lost a minute in pursuing his way across the steppe." - Jules Verne in Michael Strogoff.

Jules Verne Quotation: "He did not appear to be in the slightest hurry; he was not walking fast that he might spare his horse, and, to look at him, it would not have been believed that he was following a road which might at any instant be swarming with Tartars." - Jules Verne in Michael Strogoff.

Jules Verne Quotation: "On the sole occasion when he had ventured to broach the subject with the astronomer, he had received for answer that as there was no hurry to get back to the earth, there need be no concern about any dangers of transit." - Jules Verne in Off on a Comet.

Jules Verne Quotation: "One day, as he was hurrying down to his study, he met Ben Zoof, who, secretly entertaining a feeling of delight at the professor's manifest discomfiture, made some casual remark about things not being very straight." - Jules Verne in Off on a Comet.

Lew Wallace Quotation: "He glanced hurriedly from one to another, as if to find answer to the question half formed in his mind, What business can these have with me?" - Lew Wallace in Ben-Hur: A Tale of the Christ.

Lew Wallace Quotation: "What if the victim was then being hurried away?" - Lew Wallace in The Prince of India, vol 1.

Macpherson, John: Author of "Epidemic cholera: its mission and mystery, haunts and havocs, pathology and treatment: with remarks on the question of contagion, the influence of fear, and hurried and delayed interments." By a former surgeon in the service of the Honorable East India Company. Publisher: Carleton (New York). Published in 1866.

Noah Brooks Quotation: "We hurried to the bank, and saw with exquisite satisfaction our friends descending the river." - Noah Brooks in First Across the Continent.

Romain Rolland Quotation: "Christophe came home: he was in a hurry and his first inclination when he saw her was; to bow and pass on. But something held him back as he was passing: was it Sabine's paleness, or some indefinable feeling: remorse, fear, tenderness?." - Romain Rolland in Jean-Christophe (Dawn, Morning, Youth, Revolt) (tr Gilbert Cannan), vol 1.

Romain Rolland Quotation: "But when at last he did fall asleep, he was roused unpleasantly at dawn by the voices of his neighbors arguing, and the creaking of a pump worked furiously by some one who was in a hurry to swill the yard and the stairs." - Romain Rolland in Jean-Christophe (Dawn, Morning, Youth, Revolt) (tr Gilbert Cannan), vol 1.

Romain Rolland Quotation: "He always expressed himself correctly and deliberately, choosing his words, and never hurrying. Amalia, simmering, never had patience to wait until he had finished; the whole family cried out upon his slowness." - Romain Rolland in Jean-Christophe (Dawn, Morning, Youth, Revolt) (tr Gilbert Cannan), vol 1.

Romain Rolland Quotation: "In vain did they explain to him that there was no hurry, that the train he wanted to go by did not leave for hours, and that he had much better wait in the hotel. He insisted on going to the station at once." - Romain Rolland in Jean-Christophe (Dawn, Morning, Youth, Revolt) (tr Gilbert Cannan), vol 1.

Romain Rolland Quotation: "If they had questioned Christophe it was from politeness rather than from curiosity: they had no curiosity: they hardly seemed to notice his replies: and they hurried back at once to the Parisian topics which were regaling the rest of the company." - Romain Rolland in Jean Christophe: In Paris.

W.W. Jacobs Quotation: "Now, speaking deliberate and without any hurry, which side o' the ship do you say the cook's galley's on?" - W.W. Jacobs in Many Cargoes.

Walter Horatio Pater Quotation: "In the little that still remains before the end of the play, destiny now hurrying things rapidly forward, and strong emotions, hopes and forebodings being now closely packed, Euripides has before him an artistic problem of enormous difficulty." - Walter Horatio Pater in Imaginary Portraits.

Walter Horatio Pater Quotation: "Men and women, again, in the hurry of life, often wear the sharp impress of one absorbing motive, from which it is said death sets their features free." - Walter Horatio Pater in The Renaissance.

1867

Constance Fenimore Woolson Quotation: "If the sermon was not finished, so much the worse for the sermon, but it made no difference to the bugle; at a given moment it sounded, and out marched all the soldiers, drowning the poor chaplain's hurrying voice with their tramp down the stairs." - Constance Fenimore Woolson in Castle Nowhere.

Constance Fenimore Woolson Quotation: "Old Fog had hurried it, hurried everything; he seemed driven by a spirit of unrest, and wandered from place to place, from room to room, his eyes fixed in a vacant way upon the familiar objects." - Constance Fenimore Woolson in Castle Nowhere.

G.A. Henty Quotation: "They found at once that they were powerless to swim in the broken water, which, as it rushed across the sand, impelled alike by the rising tide behind it and the force of the wind, hurried them along at a rapid pace, breaking in short steep waves." - G.A. Henty in By England's Aid (Or, the Freeing of the Netherlands, 1585-1604).

G.A. Henty Quotation: "They were but just in time, for a considerable force of Boers from Monte Cristo were hurrying along to assist the defenders of Cingola, it having now become evident to them that this was the point to which the infantry moving across the plain were making." - G.A. Henty in With Buller in Natal.

G.A. Henty Quotation: "Upon arriving there Jack was at once taken before the Duke of Berwick, who received him courteously, and asked him many questions concerning the force under the earl, the intentions of Barcelona to resist the two French armies now hurrying before it." - G.A. Henty in The Bravest of the Brave.

G.A. Henty Quotation: "When after dark food and wine were served out, he seized the portion offered to him, and hurrying away crouched under the shelter of a gun, and devoured it as if fearing it would be taken from him again." - G.A. Henty in By England's Aid (Or, the Freeing of the Netherlands, 1585-1604).

G.A. Henty Quotation: "The sergeants calmly raised or depressed the soldiers' muskets to direct the fire; each vacant place was filled quietly and regularly without hesitation or hurry; and exclamations of surprise and admiration broke even from the French officers." - G.A. Henty in Bonnie Prince Charlie.

Isabella L. Bird (Mrs Bishop) Quotation: "I had not realized the magnificence of that ride when I took it before, but the pony was tired, and I could not hurry her, and the distance seemed interminable, as after every range I crossed another range." - Isabella L. Bird (Mrs Bishop) in Lady's Life in Rocky Mountains.

Isabella L. Bird (Mrs Bishop) Quotation: "Vrain, which, towards its mouth, is a narrow, fertile, wooded valley, through which a bright rapid river, which we forded many times, hurries along, with twists and windings innumerable." - Isabella L. Bird (Mrs Bishop) in Lady's Life in Rocky Mountains.

Isabella L. Bird (Mrs Bishop) Quotation: "I hurried after the latter, and twice he stopped till I was close to him, then turned round and cantered away." - Isabella L. Bird (Mrs Bishop) in Lady's Life in Rocky Mountains.

Isabella L. Bird (Mrs Bishop) Quotation: "I hurried along, and came upon the Donner Lake quite suddenly, to be completely smitten by its beauty." - Isabella L. Bird (Mrs Bishop) in Lady's Life in Rocky Mountains.

Jane Addams Quotation: "While I was able to reach her at once, every possible obstacle of a delayed and blocked transportation system interrupted the journey of her husband and children who were hurrying to her bedside from a distant state." - Jane Addams in Twenty Years At Hull House.

Jane Addams Quotation: "This quick adaptability is the great gift of the city child, his one reward for the hurried changing life which he has always led." - Jane Addams in Twenty Years At Hull House.

Louisa May Alcott Quotation: "Leaving a note for Sir Jasper, he hurried away, to the great relief of Treherne and the deep regret of Blanche, who, however, lived in hopes of another trial later in the season." - Louisa May Alcott in The Abbot's Ghost, Or Maurice Treherne's Temptation (A Christmas Story).

Louisa May Alcott Quotation: "While I waited, that mysterious affair hurried you from Paris, and then came the wreck, the illness, and the rumor that old Sir Jasper had disinherited both nephews." - Louisa May Alcott in The Abbot's Ghost, Or Maurice Treherne's Temptation (A Christmas Story).

Louisa May Alcott Quotation: "Hurrying into the parlor, they found only Annon and the major, both looking startled, and both staring out of the windows." - Louisa May Alcott in The Abbot's Ghost, Or Maurice Treherne's Temptation (A Christmas Story).

Louisa May Alcott Quotation: "And the man hurried away." - Louisa May Alcott in The Abbot's Ghost, Or Maurice Treherne's Temptation (A Christmas Story).

Mary Mapes Dodge Quotation: "Not one of them had she seen, and she must hurry back without even catching a glimpse of her mother's cottage, for the poor helpless grandmother, she knew, was by this time moaning for someone to turn her upon her cot." - Mary Mapes Dodge in Hans Brinker/Silver Skates/etc.

Mary Mapes Dodge Quotation: "These seemed to Ben like little boys who had, by a miracle, sprung suddenly into manhood and were forced to wear garments that their astonished mothers had altered in a hurry." - Mary Mapes Dodge in Hans Brinker/Silver Skates/etc.

Mary Mapes Dodge Quotation: "If he had called before Saint Nicholas's Day they might have given him a job as they were hurried then; but at present they had more boys than they needed." - Mary Mapes Dodge in Hans Brinker/Silver Skates/etc.

Mary Mapes Dodge Quotation: "There was no need of his hurrying, you know, for he was a saint, but in the morning he went to the inn and charged the landlord with murder." - Mary Mapes Dodge in Hans Brinker/Silver Skates/etc.

Mary Mapes Dodge Quotation: "Shall I hurry home, he was thinking, to tell the good news, or shall I get the waffles and the new skates first?" - Mary Mapes Dodge in Hans Brinker/Silver Skates/etc.

McLaughlin Quotation: "Summoning all his strength for one more trial to overcome his antagonist, he rushed him toward the chasm, and in his hurry to get away from this fierce attack, the enemy stepped back one step too far, and down they both went into the chasm." - McLaughlin in Myths and Legends of the Sioux.

McLaughlin Quotation: "The war party waited all night, and when the first rays of dawn disclosed to them the absence of the tepee, they at once concluded that Big Eagle had been discovered and killed, so they hurriedly started on their trail for home." - McLaughlin in Myths and Legends of the Sioux.

McLaughlin Quotation: "He passed through this first room and on entering the second it was so dark that he could not see his hands before his face, so becoming scared, he hurriedly left the place, and returning home told what he had seen." - McLaughlin in Myths and Legends of the Sioux.

McLaughlin Quotation: "When the hunters would return with a goodly supply of beef, the sister would hurry and relieve them of their packs, hanging each one high enough from the ground so the prowling dogs and coyotes could not reach them." - McLaughlin in Myths and Legends of the Sioux.

McLaughlin Quotation: "Unktomi, hearing the approach of the two, hurriedly dished out the baby soup in two wooden dishes and then seated himself near the door so that he could get out easily." - McLaughlin in Myths and Legends of the Sioux.

Nathaniel Parker Willis: Among his later works were "Hurry-Graphs" (1851), "Outdoors at Idlewild" (1854), "Ragbag" (1855), "Paul Fane" (1856), and the "Convalescent" (1859), but he had survived his great reputation. He died on the 20th of January 1867, and was buried in Mount Auburn, Boston. [WP]

Pierre Loti (Julien Viauld) Quotation: "And as if they were charged to add to this babel a note of beauty, the battalions of Mr. Cook, of both sexes, and always in a hurry, pass by with long strides." - Pierre Loti (Julien Viauld) in Egypt (La Mort De Philae).

Pierre Loti (Julien Viauld) Quotation: "A league away, in the hotels of Luxor, I can fancy how they have hurried away from the tables, for fear of missing the celebrated spectacle." - Pierre Loti (Julien Viauld) in Egypt (La Mort De Philae).

Republican Representative Convention: Publication of "Address to the Republican voters of the Fifth Worcester Representative District.: The undersigned, delegates elected at Republican caucuses in the several towns of Fitchburg, Leominster, Lunenburg, and Westminster, to attend the Republican Representative Convention, held at Fitchburg on the thirty-first day of October last (1867), feel called upon in justice to themselves to make a plain statement of the facts attending the action of that convention, and of the course to which they were compelled by the arbitrary and gross assumption of illegal authority on the part of the temporary chairman, chosen at an early stage of the meeting.. The other sets of delegates, after a hurried and informal transaction of their business, dissolved their meeting, leaving the undersigned in possession of the hall.." Published in 1867.

Thomas Wentworth Higginson Quotation: "As they drifted past a wharf, the great black piles of coal hung high and gloomy; then a stray sunbeam brought out their peacock colors; then came the fog again, driving hurriedly by, as if impatient to go somewhere and enraged at the obstacle." - Thomas Wentworth Higginson in Malbone: An Oldport Romance.

Thomas Wentworth Higginson Quotation: "Everywhere there were the same rectangular fields, smooth canals, and bushy dikes. A few negroes stole out to us in dugouts, and breathlessly told us how others had been hurried away by the overseers." - Thomas Wentworth Higginson in Army Life in a Black Regiment.

Thomas Wentworth Higginson Quotation: "The blacks halted; the whites advanced cautiously within a hundred yards, and fired a volley; on its being returned, they broke into disorder, and hurriedly retreated, leaving some wounded on the ground." - Thomas Wentworth Higginson in Black Rebellion.

Thomas Wentworth Higginson Quotation: "She hated to be hurried in dressing, too; for she was accustomed to say that she must have leisure to understand herself, and this was clearly an affair of time." - Thomas Wentworth Higginson in Malbone: An Oldport Romance.

Thomas Wentworth Higginson Quotation: "Brandan bent his head in prayer; and when he looked up, the hour was passed, and Judas had been hurried back into his torments." - Thomas Wentworth Higginson in Tales of the Enchanted Islands of the Atlantic.

USS Dunderberg: Webb began seeking buyers for the warship, the design of which was already beginning to influence naval architecture worldwide. Otto von Bismarck expressed some interest, and the thought of Prussia armed with such a vessel prompted France to hurriedly buy her and commission her in 1867 as "Rochambeau". The French scrapped her in 1874. [WP]

William Aikman Quotation: "What an advance a year has made! We have been hurried past the place of argument against slavery." - William Aikman in The Future of the Colored Race in America.

1868

Alexander Maclaren Quotation: "Take a hundred men at random as they hurry through the streets, and how many of them would have to acknowledge that no thought of God had crossed their minds for days or months?" - Alexander Maclaren in Expositions of Holy Scripture (Isaiah and Jeremiah).

Bjornstjerne M. Bjornson Quotation: "Opens them hurriedly." - Bjornstjerne M. Bjornson in Three Dramas.

Charles Dickens Quotation: "He was at present occupied in making a fair copy of his draught of the catalogue; on which, as there was no hurry, he was painfully concentrating all the ingenious and laborious neatness he had ever expended on map or plan in Mr Pecksniff's workroom." - Charles Dickens in Martin Chuzzlewit.

Charles Dickens Quotation: "There they lay, alongside of each other; hard and fast for ever, to all appearance, but designing to get out somehow, and quite confident of doing it; and in that faith shoals of passengers, and heaps of luggage, were proceeding hurriedly on board." - Charles Dickens in Martin Chuzzlewit.

Charles Dickens Quotation: "Being by this time weary of such trifling performances, the boisterous rover hurried away rejoicing, roaring over moor and meadow, hill and flat, until it got out to sea, where it met with other winds similarly disposed, and made a night of it." - Charles Dickens in Martin Chuzzlewit.

Charles Dickens Quotation: "She withdrew into the coach again, and he saw the hand waving towards him for a moment; but whether in reproachfulness or incredulity or misery, or grief, or sad adieu, or what else, he could not, being so hurried, understand." - Charles Dickens in Martin Chuzzlewit.

Charles Dickens Quotation: "With this announcement he hurried away to the outer door of the Blue Dragon, and almost immediately returned with a companion shorter than himself, who was wrapped in an old blue camlet cloak with a lining of faded scarlet." - Charles Dickens in Martin Chuzzlewit.

Edith van Dyne Quotation: "I object to being hurried, don't you, Mary Louise?" - Edith van Dyne in Mary Louise.

Eugene Field Quotation: "But the wind did not hear her answer, for it had hurried up the street to throw a handful of snow in the face of an old man who was struggling along with a huge basket of good things on each arm." - Eugene Field in A Little Book of Profitable Tales.

Eugene Field Quotation: "And without any further ado, the wind seized upon the snowflake and hurried it along the street and led it a merry dance through the icy air of the winter night." - Eugene Field in A Little Book of Profitable Tales.

Finley Peter Dunne Quotation: "Her heart, an' a cold look in th' eye iv th' wurruld an' her Ma tell her to hurry up." - Finley Peter Dunne in Observations by Mr Dooley.

Frank R. Stockton Quotation: "Glascow was in no hurry at all, and was very glad to have some quiet reading by a warm fire; and so Mr. Tolman left him, feeling perfectly confident that a man who had been allowed by the old lady to renew a book nine times must be perfectly trustworthy." - Frank R. Stockton in The Magic Egg and Other Stories.

Frank R. Stockton Quotation: "In this village she was born, here she had married and buried her husband, and here she expected somebody to bury her; but she was in no hurry for this, for she had scarcely reached middle age." - Frank R. Stockton in The Magic Egg and Other Stories.

Frank R. Stockton Quotation: "But Mr. Tolman was in a hurry to take possession; and as the son Henry would have to start off on another trip in a short time, he wanted to see his mother moved and settled before he left." - Frank R. Stockton in The Magic Egg and Other Stories.

Frank R. Stockton Quotation: "Hurrying thither, I perceived Euphemia standing on the roof of the shed in perilous proximity to the edge, while near the ridge of the roof sat our hired girl with her handkerchief over her head." - Frank R. Stockton in Rudder Grange.

Frank R. Stockton Quotation: "Then I hurried off to catch the train, for, as there was a station near Ginx's, I ceased to patronize the steamboat, the hours of which were not convenient." - Frank R. Stockton in Rudder Grange.

George Herbert Palmer Quotation: "Since I desire to take all knowledge for my province, why not hurry off at once to study astronomy?" - George Herbert Palmer in The Nature of Goodness.

George Meredith Quotation: "She saw herself in the light that he would have seen her by, till she stood with the sensations of an exposed criminal in the dark length of the street, and hurried down it, back, as well as she could find her way, to the friendly policeman." - George Meredith in Sandra Belloni, vol 6.

George Meredith Quotation: "Mary Ann hurried them on, declaring that they might be too late even now at a couple of dozen paces distant, seeing that London cabs, crawlers as they usually were, could, when required, and paid for it, do their business like lightning." - George Meredith in Rhoda Fleming, vol 1.

George Meredith Quotation: "Weisspriess, her hero, appeared at her brother's house, fresh from the field of Novara, whither he had hurried from Verona on a bare pretext, that was a breach of military discipline requiring friendly interposition in high quarters." - George Meredith in Vittoria, vol 8.

George Meredith Quotation: "Sooth, meanwhile, then did Automedon, brave son of Diores, Oft, on the one hand, urge them with flicks of the swift whip, and oft, too, Coax entreatingly, hurriedly; whiles did he angrily threaten." - George Meredith in A Reading of Life, and Other Poems.

George Meredith Quotation: "Seeing that, I ran from her to the aviary in her palace, and hurried over a story of men to the birds, that rocked them on their perches with chestquakes of irresistible laughter." - George Meredith in The Shaving of Shagpat, vol 3.

Haviland, Alfred: Author of ""Hurried to death;" or, A few words of advice on the danger of hurry and excitement, especially addressed to railway travellers." Published in 1868.

1869

August Strindberg Quotation: "Does not hurry as though fearing the audience might grow restless. Soft violin music from the distance, schottische time." - August Strindberg in Plays: The Father; Countess Julie; The Outlaw; The Stronger (tr Edith and Warner Oland).

August Strindberg Quotation: "Hurry if you want company." - August Strindberg in Plays: The Father; Countess Julie; The Outlaw; The Stronger (tr Edith and Warner Oland).

G.A. Henty Quotation: "He was roughly repulsed by the men guarding the door; and at last, finding that nothing could be done, he forced his way out again into the open air, and hurrying away for some distance, threw himself on the ground and burst into a passion of tears." - G.A. Henty in In The Reign Of Terror.

G.A. Henty Quotation: "Troops were hurried through the town, the bugles and trumpets sounded the alarm, while the populace thronged to the roofs of their houses wildly cheering and waving handkerchiefs and scarves, and the church bells added to the clamour." - G.A. Henty in With Moore at Corunna.

G.A. Henty Quotation: "They had a longer time for preparation than they expected, for the mutineers, feeling sure of their prey, were in no hurry, and finding how strong was the door, decided to sit down and wait until their guns would be up to blow it in." - G.A. Henty in In Times of Peril.

G.A. Henty Quotation: "The regiments as they arrived were hurried across the bridge, to take part in the defense of the position guarding the bridge, where General Wyndham's troops were defending themselves desperately against immense forces of the enemy." - G.A. Henty in In Times of Peril.

G.A. Henty Quotation: "As soon as the news spread that the Kaiserbagh was taken the guns fired a royal salute in honor of the triumph; and all officers who could obtain an hour's leave from their regiments hurried away to see the royal palace of Oude." - G.A. Henty in In Times of Peril.

Leo Tolstoy Quotation: "He could be heard getting up hurriedly, stumbling against something, and Levin saw, facing him in the doorway, the big, scared eyes, and the huge, thin, stooping figure of his brother, so familiar, and yet astonishing in it weirdness and sickliness." - Leo Tolstoy in Anna Karenina (tr Constance Garnett).

Leo Tolstoy Quotation: "Having done this he hurriedly undid his girdle, opened out his fur coat, and having pushed Nikita down, lay down on top of him, covering him not only with his fur coat but with the whole of his body, which glowed with warmth." - Leo Tolstoy in Master and Man (tr Louise and Aylmer Maude).

Leo Tolstoy Quotation: "At such moments the hostess ordered some dish that had not been served, and the footman hurried off to the kitchen, or to the housekeeper, and hurried back again." - Leo Tolstoy in The Forged Coupon.

Leo Tolstoy Quotation: "Then she hurriedly put on her shoes and her beshmet and, taking a small bundle of bread, she harnessed the bullocks and drove away to the vineyards for the whole day." - Leo Tolstoy in The Cossacks.

Leo Tolstoy Quotation: "When he had finished the refrain Eroshka suddenly seized a gun that hung on the wall, rushed hurriedly out into the yard and fired off both barrels into the air." - Leo Tolstoy in The Cossacks.

Martin Anderson Nexo Quotation: "Why was he not with them? What nonsense had it been that induced him to leave them? He could no longer recollect; but if it had not been all up with him now he would have hurried home to them, to play with Young Lasse." - Martin Anderson Nexo in Pelle the Conqueror, vol 3.

Martin Anderson Nexo Quotation: "But these men were all alike, he thought; they came hurrying out of the darkness of the side streets, and were not fully awake and steady on their feet until they joined the throng, but then they did walk capitally." - Martin Anderson Nexo in Pelle the Conqueror, vol 4.

Martin Anderson Nexo Quotation: "The poor old worm! thought Pelle, as he ran past; she might have spared herself the trouble! When he had delivered his work he hurried over to Holberg Street, in order to wish Ellen a happy Christmas." - Martin Anderson Nexo in Pelle the Conqueror, vol 3.

Martin Anderson Nexo Quotation: "Others had nothing to hurry for, and looked weariedly about them as they walked, until perhaps they suddenly brightened up at sight of a young man in the throng." - Martin Anderson Nexo in Pelle the Conqueror, vol 4.

Martin Anderson Nexo Quotation: "They hurried weeping through the crowd, seeking one another; it was impossible for the police to assemble them or to ascertain how many had failed to escape." - Martin Anderson Nexo in Pelle the Conqueror, vol 3.

1870

Alphonse Daudet Quotation: "Spurred on by the word dishonor, he had started instantly, without awaiting his leave of absence, risking his place and his future prospects; and, hurrying from steamships to railways, he had not stopped until he reached Paris." - Alphonse Daudet in Fromont and Risler, vol 2.

Alphonse Daudet Quotation: "Georges, jealous beyond words, hurried to Asnieres in the afternoon, neglecting everything, and was already beginning to think that Risler did not watch his wife closely enough." - Alphonse Daudet in Fromont and Risler, vol 3.

Alphonse Daudet Quotation: "Thereupon, in my wrath, I hurry home, put on a thick gown and busy myself on the farm, in the servants' quarters, everywhere." - Alphonse Daudet in Fromont and Risler, vol 1.

Alphonse Daudet Quotation: "Claire hurried the bewildered servants, and dressed her mother and the child, who laughed merrily amid all the excitement." - Alphonse Daudet in Fromont and Risler, vol 3.

Alphonse Daudet Quotation: "A few moments later the sound of hurried steps, the rustling of silk filled the dark and narrow staircase." - Alphonse Daudet in Fromont and Risler, vol 4.

Anker, Moses: Author of "A hurry-graph of Colorado and its silver mines. By M. Anker." Published in 1870.

Augustus Jessopp Quotation: "Hurrying on to Norwich, the Bishop stayed but a single day, leaving his official at the palace." - Augustus Jessopp in The Coming of the Friars.

Edward Everett Hale Quotation: "Do not be in a hurry, and be sure your work stands." - Edward Everett Hale in The Brick Moon, et. al.

Edward Everett Hale Quotation: "Matty hurried back with their treasures." - Edward Everett Hale in The Brick Moon, et. al.

Guy de Maupassant Quotation: "I think you are a young person of good sense, and practicalness, or if you prefer, of good practical sense, who knows very well how to arrange her pastime, to amuse people, to hide her views, to lay her snares, and who, without hurrying, awaits events." - Guy de Maupassant in Yvette.

Guy de Maupassant Quotation: "Here and there a cafe threw a flood of light upon a knot of patrons drinking at little tables on the sidewalk, which were covered with bottles and glasses, hindering the passing of the hurrying multitude." - Guy de Maupassant in Yvette.

Guy de Maupassant Quotation: "He hurriedly told her about the conspiracy to marry off Rosalie and about the gift of the Barville property, which was worth at least twenty thousand francs." - Guy de Maupassant in Une Vie, A Piece of String and Other Stories.

Guy de Maupassant Quotation: "The waiters did not hurry themselves, in order to give the late comers a chance and thus avoid the trouble of bringing in the dishes a second time." - Guy de Maupassant in Une Vie, A Piece of String and Other Stories.

Guy de Maupassant Quotation: "The hour is late, the night is at hand; weary of suffering any longer, he hurriedly begs for tenderness and remembrance." - Guy de Maupassant in Une Vie, A Piece of String and Other Stories.

J. Walker McSpadden Quotation: "The Bishop had hurriedly donned his gown and now stood ready to meet the couple at the chancel." - J. Walker McSpadden in Robin Hood.

J. Walker McSpadden Quotation: "Pray continue, if you have not done, for I am in no hurry this morning." - J. Walker McSpadden in Robin Hood.

J. Walker McSpadden Quotation: "Nathless, the stranger seemed in no great hurry." - J. Walker McSpadden in Robin Hood.

Keene Quotation: "Ghausgarh was hurriedly evacuated at their approach to be completely plundered; and Zabita was soon driven to take refuge in his eastern fort of Pathargarh, nearest to any aid that the Rohilkand Pathans might be able and willing to afford." - Keene in The Fall of the Moghul Empire of Hindustan.

Margret Howth Quotation: "Through the clear, frosty night he could hear a low chime of distant bells shiver the air, hurrying faint and far to tell the glad tidings." - Margret Howth in A Story of To-day.

Margret Howth Quotation: "He did not like such faces in this genial and gracious time, so hurried over his examination." - Margret Howth in A Story of To-day.

Margret Howth Quotation: "She hurried down it to gain the suburbs, for she lived out in the country." - Margret Howth in A Story of To-day.

Margret Howth Quotation: "The Doctor quit talking, hurrying her, watching her anxiously." - Margret Howth in A Story of To-day.

Margret Howth Quotation: "Nobody in such a road could be in a hurry." - Margret Howth in A Story of To-day.

Rebecca Harding Davis Quotation: "Nor was it his fault that during the next two years the world was in no hurry to run to his feet, either to learn of him, or to bring him its bags of gold." - Rebecca Harding Davis in Frances Waldeaux.

Rebecca Harding Davis Quotation: "The evening of her arrival she strolled with Frances through the park, listening to the story of George's sudden wooing, and the quiet, hurried wedding." - Rebecca Harding Davis in Frances Waldeaux.

Rebecca Harding Davis Quotation: "He pushed it open, and they passed suddenly out of the hurrying crowd into the solemn silence of an ancient dingy building." - Rebecca Harding Davis in Frances Waldeaux.

Rebecca Harding Davis Quotation: "He obeyed her at last, and would come down but once during the day, and then for only a few hurried minutes." - Rebecca Harding Davis in Frances Waldeaux.

Rebecca Harding Davis Quotation: "Selo came to wile George up to the mysterious cave, but Lisa impatiently hurried them to the beach." - Rebecca Harding Davis in Frances Waldeaux.

Rolf Boldrewood (T.A.Browne) Quotation: "We used to talk away about old times, regular confidential, and though she'd great spirits generally, she used to change quite sudden sometimes and say she was a miserable woman, and wished she hadn't been in such a hurry and married as she had." - Rolf Boldrewood (T.A.Browne) in Robbery Under Arms.

Rolf Boldrewood (T.A.Browne) Quotation: "As I crossed there was just moon enough to show the deep pools and the hurrying, tearing waters of the wild river, foaming betwixt the big boulders and jags of rock which the bar was strewed with." - Rolf Boldrewood (T.A.Browne) in Robbery Under Arms.

Rolf Boldrewood (T.A.Browne) Quotation: "They never encouraged them to stay when they came about the place, and weren't that over liberal in feeding their horses, or giving them a hand in any way, that they'd come again in a hurry." - Rolf Boldrewood (T.A.Browne) in Robbery Under Arms.

Rolf Boldrewood (T.A.Browne) Quotation: "But on every goldfield there's scores and scores of men that always hurry off there like crows and eagles to a carcass to see what they can rend and tear and fatten upon." - Rolf Boldrewood (T.A.Browne) in Robbery Under Arms.

Rolf Boldrewood (T.A.Browne) Quotation: "Not that they're in a hurry to impart them; for that there's more natural, unaffected good manners on a digging than in any society I ever mingled in I shall never doubt." - Rolf Boldrewood (T.A.Browne) in Robbery Under Arms.

Sarah Tytler Quotation: "The couple hurried on, as if desirous of not being detained, and could not have tarried many minutes in the building when a few straggling cheers announced their departure." - Sarah Tytler in Life of Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria, vol 2.

Sarah Tytler Quotation: "Who would not hurry to meet and greet her, to give her the warmest reception?" - Sarah Tytler in Life of Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria, vol 1.

1871

Albion W. Tourgee Quotation: "The sound to which she referred was that of hurried footfalls in the road beyond their house." - Albion W. Tourgee in Bricks Without Straw.

Albion W. Tourgee Quotation: "Hesden Le Moyne bent over her for a little while, and then hurried away." - Albion W. Tourgee in Bricks Without Straw.

Bjornstjerne M. Bjornson Quotation: "In the most elegant toilettes, with her discreet manner and distinguished deportment, she was hurried from party to party, from excursion to excursion, until it became too much for her." - Bjornstjerne M. Bjornson in Absalom's Hair.

Bjornstjerne M. Bjornson Quotation: "As soon as ever he returned home he hurried off with her to see the result of his work." - Bjornstjerne M. Bjornson in Absalom's Hair.

Bjornstjerne M. Bjornson Quotation: "Whoever has read Helene's words quickly, hurriedly, must read them over again." - Bjornstjerne M. Bjornson in Absalom's Hair.

Emile Zola Quotation: "Finally Marescot, with a desperate air, plunged his hands deep in his pockets, shrugged his shoulders and gave his consent to the repairs on the ceiling and to the paper, on condition that she would pay for half the paper, and then he hurried away." - Emile Zola in L'Assommoir.

Emile Zola Quotation: "Mamma Coupeau and Gervaise, each with large white aprons, were washing celery and running hither and thither with pepper and salt or hurriedly turning the veal with flat wooden sticks made for the purpose." - Emile Zola in L'Assommoir.

Emile Zola Quotation: "The workwomen ate their breakfast on their knees; they were in no hurry, either, to return to their work, when suddenly Leonie uttered a low hiss, and like magic each girl was busy." - Emile Zola in L'Assommoir.

Emile Zola Quotation: "The beadle awaited them in the empty church; he hurried them toward a small chapel, asking them indignantly if they were not ashamed to mock at religion by coming so late." - Emile Zola in L'Assommoir.

Emile Zola Quotation: "It was very pleasant out she said; besides, they were in no hurry, and it would be charming to return home on foot." - Emile Zola in Nana/Miller's Daughter/Captain Burle/Death of Olivier Becaille.

Fielding Yost: Fielding Harris Yost (April 30, 1871 - August 20, 1946) was a U.S. football coach. He was a coach for University of Michigan between 1901 and 1923, and again between 1925 and 1926. Nicknamed "Hurry Up" for his excitable demeanor, he was a resounding success, winning 165 games, losing only 29, and tying 10 for a winning percentage of .833. [WP]

G. Mercer Adam Quotation: "Their gracious lives the woodman had spared, and now, with their outstretched branches, catching the faint evening breeze, they seemed to breathe a sad benediction upon the returning youth, who walked hurriedly and tremblingly beneath them." - G. Mercer Adam in An Algonquin Maiden.

1871

G. Mercer Adam Quotation: "But the next moment every sensation and emotion gave way to overwhelming and profound grief, for his sister Rose, hurrying to meet him, threw herself into his arms with an abandon of sorrow that seemed to leave no room for hope." - G. Mercer Adam in An Algonquin Maiden.

G. Mercer Adam Quotation: "Into the grounds of one of these mansions had the younger horseman disappeared to pay his hurried respects to the stately dame who was its owner, and who, with her fair daughter, were intimate friends of the Macleod family." - G. Mercer Adam in An Algonquin Maiden.

G. Mercer Adam Quotation: "Muttering a hurried excuse, he went on into the cold gloom of the early winter twilight, shivering slightly, not from the chill without, but from the deadlier chill within." - G. Mercer Adam in An Algonquin Maiden.

G. Mercer Adam Quotation: "Bidding the former a hurried goodbye, with injunctions to her brother to take care of her friend, Rose disappeared with the children into the woods." - G. Mercer Adam in An Algonquin Maiden.

Guy de Maupassant Quotation: "The door was left open, and they could see a great crowd hurrying by, as if it were a street on a holiday, for all the friends of the passengers and a host of inquisitive visitors had invaded the huge vessel." - Guy de Maupassant in Pierre and Jean.

Guy de Maupassant Quotation: "He sat looking at his glass full of the clear and luminous liquor while its light soul, its intoxicating soul, flew off in tiny bubbles mounting from its depths in hurried succession to die on the surface." - Guy de Maupassant in Pierre and Jean.

Guy de Maupassant Quotation: "They all hurried off, but two young men were already lunching at the best place, which Madame Dufour had chosen in her mind as her seat." - Guy de Maupassant in Selected Writings of Guy de Maupassant.

Guy de Maupassant Quotation: "But he was unable to finish them, for such hurried and violent sobs overtook him that he was completely overwhelmed." - Guy de Maupassant in Selected Writings of Guy de Maupassant.

Guy de Maupassant Quotation: "The anguish of having known that experience made her breathless, and she tried to guess what this hurried message might be." - Guy de Maupassant in Strong as Death.

H. de Vere Stacpoole Quotation: "The palm tree at the entrance of the lagoon still bent gazing into the water, and round the projection of coral to which he had last moored the boat still lay a fragment of the rope which he had cut in his hurry to escape." - H. de Vere Stacpoole in The Blue Lagoon: A Romance.

H. de Vere Stacpoole Quotation: "He fed the children hurriedly with some biscuits and tinned meat, and then, with a biscuit in his hand, eating as he went, he trotted about the decks, collecting things and stowing them in the dinghy." - H. de Vere Stacpoole in The Blue Lagoon: A Romance.

H. de Vere Stacpoole Quotation: "The manliness in him greater and more beautiful than physical strength, developed in those dark hours just as a plant under extraordinary circumstances is hurried into bloom." - H. de Vere Stacpoole in The Blue Lagoon: A Romance.

H. de Vere Stacpoole Quotation: "The sky that had been so leaden and peaceful and like a solid roof was now all in a hurry, flowing eastward like a great turbulent river in spate." - H. de Vere Stacpoole in The Blue Lagoon: A Romance.

H. de Vere Stacpoole Quotation: "When she found herself adrift, she had made an effort to row back, and in her hurry shipping the sculls she had lost one." - H. de Vere Stacpoole in The Blue Lagoon: A Romance.

Henry J. Coke Quotation: "Such a hurry was he in that, in his rush for the river, he got bogged in the muddy swamp at its edge." - Henry J. Coke in Tracks of a Rolling Stone.

Hjalmar Hjorth Boysen Quotation: "In his bewilderment he quite forgot where he was, and, in hurried Norse sentences, assured his persecutor that he was a harmless, honest traveler, and implored him to release him." - Hjalmar Hjorth Boysen in Tales From Two Hemispheres.

Hjalmar Hjorth Boysen Quotation: "With a violent effort, she gathered up her wrapper, which somehow had got unbuttoned at the neck, and, with heedlessly hurrying steps, darted away toward the house." - Hjalmar Hjorth Boysen in Tales From Two Hemispheres.

Hjalmar Hjorth Boysen Quotation: "She gazed for a moment steadily into his face, then, in a few hurried words, she pledged him her love, her faith, her all." - Hjalmar Hjorth Boysen in Tales From Two Hemispheres.

Hjalmar Hjorth Boysen Quotation: "In the meanwhile Albert hurried on, seeing that the issue of the race depended upon him." - Hjalmar Hjorth Boysen in Boyhood in Norway.

Hjalmar Hjorth Boysen Quotation: "He hurried up to Strand's room, but, as he had expected, found it empty." - Hjalmar Hjorth Boysen in Tales From Two Hemispheres.

J.C. Ridpath Quotation: "But, as he saw the patriotic farmers hurrying by and heard of the rumor of the impending conflict, he was suddenly seized with a martial spirit." - J.C. Ridpath in James Otis The Pre-Revolutionist.

J.C. Ridpath Quotation: "Without saying a word to a single soul, he slipped away unobserved and hurried on towards Boston." - J.C. Ridpath in James Otis The Pre-Revolutionist.

Joel Benton Quotation: "They were then living in Dresden, but Madame Goldschmidt had insisted on his hurrying over to England to see her old manager, and ascertain whether he really was in want." - Joel Benton in A Unique Story of a Marvellous Career. Life of Hon. Phineas T. Barnum.

Joel Benton Quotation: "What in the world are sixty pounds to me, when I wish to go to Rugby, or elsewhere, in a hurry." - Joel Benton in A Unique Story of a Marvellous Career. Life of Hon. Phineas T. Barnum.

Joel Benton Quotation: "The distinct rapidity, without hurry, of many passages, was remarkable in both performers." - Joel Benton in A Unique Story of a Marvellous Career. Life of Hon. Phineas T. Barnum.

Joel Benton Quotation: "Leaving the rest of the task to his assistants, he hurried back to New York." - Joel Benton in A Unique Story of a Marvellous Career. Life of Hon. Phineas T. Barnum.

John Fiske Quotation: "Yet again his separation from the bride of his youth is described as due to no fault of his own, but to a resistless decree of fate, which hurries him away as Aineias was compelled to abandon Dido." - John Fiske in Myths and Myth-Makers: Old Tales and Superstitions Interpreted by comparative mythology.

John Fiske Quotation: "Corn and preserved meats might have been hurried by thousands of tons into the beleaguered city. Friendly Dutch vessels, freighted with abundance, were waiting at the mouth of the river." - John Fiske in The Unseen World and Other Essays.

John Fiske Quotation: "We lack culture because we live in a hurry, and because our attention is given up to pursuits which call into activity and develop but one side of us." - John Fiske in The Unseen World and Other Essays.

John Fiske Quotation: "The life is simpler and less hurried, so that there is time to attend to a great many sensations." - John Fiske in The Unseen World and Other Essays.

Ludovic Halevy Quotation: "Marcel hurried to Longueval, overwhelmed with grief, for he adored his father." - Ludovic Halevy in L'Abbe Constantin, vol 1.

Mildred Stapley Quotation: "Then, for fear it might never be washed ashore, he hurriedly prepared a second cask and lashed it to the deck, hoping that the little caravel, even if he and all his men perished, might toss about till it reached the Azores, which he judged must be near." - Mildred Stapley in Christopher Columbus.

Mildred Stapley Quotation: "Columbus, who had received word of Agnado's advent into Isabella, hurried to meet him there. Seeing himself in a sorry plight, he told Agnado that he would immediately go back to Spain and answer his sovereigns' inquiries in person." - Mildred Stapley in Christopher Columbus.

Mildred Stapley Quotation: "The sailors hurriedly pushed back the hatchway so that no more might climb out on deck; but next morning it was discovered that all those who had not escaped were dead." - Mildred Stapley in Christopher Columbus.

Mildred Stapley Quotation: "The minute this happened the crew, who had not the slightest interest in discovering beautiful islands, hurried direct to their countrymen in Isabella." - Mildred Stapley in Christopher Columbus.

Mildred Stapley Quotation: "No wonder he sneaked off of his ship in the dusk and wrapped his cape high around his face and hurried to his house." - Mildred Stapley in Christopher Columbus.

Rudyard Kipling Quotation: "But I don't think it was the blind hurry of the people, their argot, and their grand ignorance of things beyond their immediate interests that displeased me so much as a study of the daily papers of Chicago." - Rudyard Kipling in American Notes.

Rudyard Kipling Quotation: "Yes; but there's only dark, and cold, and hurry, down here; and how do I know whether the other plates are doing their duty?" - Rudyard Kipling in The Day's Work, vol 1.

Rudyard Kipling Quotation: "He said that Chicago was a live town, and that all the creatures hurrying by me were engaged in business." - Rudyard Kipling in American Notes.

S. Weir Mitchell Quotation: "How I was watched and guarded, and how hurried over a thousand miles of rail to my fate, little concerns us now." - S. Weir Mitchell in The Autobiography of a Quack.

S. Weir Mitchell Quotation: "At the next turn I hurried away northward in a sort of anguish of terror. I have said I was an uncommon person." - S. Weir Mitchell in The Autobiography of a Quack.

Thomas Bailey Aldrich Quotation: "That fellow is always hankering after a licking, and of course you'll give him one by and by; but what's the use of hurrying up an unpleasant job?" - Thomas Bailey Aldrich in The Story of a Bad Boy.

Thomas Bailey Aldrich Quotation: "While we were dressing, a few hurried drops of rain came lisping down, and we adjourned to the tent to wait the passing of the squall." - Thomas Bailey Aldrich in Majorie Daw.

Thomas Bailey Aldrich Quotation: "Herrick was the bearer of no heavy message to the world, and such message as he had he was apparently in no hurry to deliver." - Thomas Bailey Aldrich in Ponkapog Papers.

Thomas Bailey Aldrich Quotation: "I took the letter mechanically, and hurried away with it to my little room, where I had passed so many happy hours." - Thomas Bailey Aldrich in The Story of a Bad Boy.

Thomas Bailey Aldrich Quotation: "I grasped my pilgrim's bundle, and, hurrying out of the car, dashed up the first street that presented itself." - Thomas Bailey Aldrich in The Story of a Bad Boy.

W.S. Gilbert Quotation: "Hurried music. Mercury shoots up from behind precipice at the back of stage." - W.S. Gilbert in The Complete Plays of Gilbert and Sullivan.

W.S. Gilbert Quotation: "Don't hurry your work, do it slowly and well." - W.S. Gilbert in The Complete Plays of Gilbert and Sullivan.

1872

Augusta Evans Wilson Quotation: "Six months before, Mr. Dunbar had walked down these steps, mounted his horse and hurried away to keep tryst with the fair, noble woman, whose promised hand was the guerdon of ambitious schemes, and years of patient, persistent wooing." - Augusta Evans Wilson in At the Mercy of Tiberius.

Augusta Evans Wilson Quotation: "During the week of the trial, she had seen him but twice, and immediately after he had been summoned to attend some suit in New Orleans, and had hurriedly bidden her adieu in the presence of others." - Augusta Evans Wilson in At the Mercy of Tiberius.

Augusta Evans Wilson Quotation: "While in Washington on my return, arguing a case before the Supreme Court, a telegram was forwarded from the office here, and I hurried off by the first train, but arrived about ten hours too late." - Augusta Evans Wilson in At the Mercy of Tiberius.

1872

Augusta Evans Wilson Quotation: "Carefully replacing the tissue paper and silk thread, she tied the leathern straps of the portfolio, and left the car, holding the sketches close to her heart as she hurried homeward." - Augusta Evans Wilson in At the Mercy of Tiberius.

Augusta Evans Wilson Quotation: "She hurried away along that iron mesh swinging high in air like a vast spider web, spun from shore to shore across the swirling, snarling caldron of hissing waters." - Augusta Evans Wilson in At the Mercy of Tiberius.

Augusta J. Evans Quotation: "The glowing yellow chestnut leaves dropped down at her feet, and the oaks tossed their gnarled arms as if welcoming the wanderer whose head they had shaded in infancy, and, stifling a moan, the orphan hurried on." - Augusta J. Evans in St. Elmo.

Augusta J. Evans Quotation: "Early in winter, having an unusual amount of work on hand, Mr. Hunt hurried away from home one morning, neglecting to take the bucket which contained his dinner, and Edna was sent to repair the oversight." - Augusta J. Evans in St. Elmo.

Augusta J. Evans Quotation: "From their birth she had trained her daughters to confide unreservedly in her, and now to perceive the youngest avoiding her caresses, or hurrying away from her anxious glance, was bitter indeed." - Augusta J. Evans in Beulah.

Augusta J. Evans Quotation: "The money rolled ringingly down the steps, and the grating sound of the key, as it was hurriedly turned, seemed typical of the unyielding lock which now forever barred the child's hopes." - Augusta J. Evans in Beulah.

Augusta J. Evans Quotation: "She conjectured that the bodies had probably been disinterred by friends and removed to Georgia; and she hurried on toward the hillside, where the neighborhood graveyard was situated." - Augusta J. Evans in St. Elmo.

Dillon Wallace Quotation: "An almost irresistible impulse seized me to go on into our old trail and hurry to the camp where we had left him that stormy October day and find if he were not after all still there and waiting for me to come back to him." - Dillon Wallace in The Lure of the Labrador Wild.

Dillon Wallace Quotation: "The noise of our approaching komatik caused the wolf to slink off, and then the man hurried to the tilt, reappeared with a rifle and shot the beast as it still prowled among the ice hills." - Dillon Wallace in The Lure of the Labrador Wild.

Dillon Wallace Quotation: "George and I hurried back for the canoe, and when we paddled out, there, sure enough, were the two geese, one dead and the other helpless with a broken wing." - Dillon Wallace in The Lure of the Labrador Wild.

Dillon Wallace Quotation: "Just above the rapid we ran the canoe ashore, and Hubbard with his rod hurried down to the pool and cast a fly upon the water." - Dillon Wallace in The Lure of the Labrador Wild.

Dillon Wallace Quotation: "Close down to the shore of the river they scrambled, and hurried on, shouting and discharging a rifle." - Dillon Wallace in The Lure of the Labrador Wild.

Emile Gaboriau Quotation: "And, regardless of his professional dignity, the doctor hurried down the stairs; while Noel, full of thought, his countenance displaying the greatest anxiety, returned to Madame Gerdy." - Emile Gaboriau in The Widow Lerouge.

Emile Gaboriau Quotation: "Arrived at the Seine, you threw the bundle into the water, then hurried off to the railway station on foot, and at eleven o'clock you reappeared amongst your friends." - Emile Gaboriau in The Widow Lerouge.

Emile Gaboriau Quotation: "He seemed greatly annoyed at the circumstance, threw the man a ten sou piece, and hurried on, without waiting for the nine sous change." - Emile Gaboriau in The Widow Lerouge.

Emile Gaboriau Quotation: "Seeing a barber's shop, he hurried to the door; but, when on the point of turning the handle, he grew frightened." - Emile Gaboriau in The Widow Lerouge.

Emile Gaboriau Quotation: "The usurer hurried away, leaving the poor old fellow standing like a milestone in the middle of the pavement." - Emile Gaboriau in The Widow Lerouge.

1872

George MacDonald Quotation: "Unable to restrain myself, I hurried into the back room: there was the cabinet beyond! In a few moments more I was absolutely satisfied that this was indeed the house in which I had first found refuge." - George MacDonald in The Vicar's Daughter.

George MacDonald Quotation: "Her husband understood her movements, and hurried to her assistance. When she took the handkerchief from her mouth, there was a red spot upon it." - George MacDonald in The Vicar's Daughter.

George MacDonald Quotation: "I hurried after him with his coat, and found him pursuing Fido about the garden, the brute declining to obey his call, or to drop the tortoise." - George MacDonald in The Vicar's Daughter.

George MacDonald Quotation: "My father mounted hurriedly, took the child from Burton, and rode away, followed by the two men and Wagtail." - George MacDonald in The Vicar's Daughter.

George MacDonald Quotation: "My mother hurried to meet him, and then only saw the little lost lamb asleep in his bosom." - George MacDonald in The Vicar's Daughter.

Goodeve, Henry Hurry: Author of "Goodeve's Hints for the general management of children in India. re-written by J. Ewart. Sixth edition." Published in 1872.

Hurry, Augustus William: Author of "Fragmentary Poems: sacred and secular." Published in 1872.

John Knox Laughton Quotation: "It is easy to prove that, during the late war, all the good advice given to the King came from Moltke; all hurried, or lame, or improvident, or perfidiously cruel measures came from the Chancellor." - John Knox Laughton in Life of Henry Reeve, vol 2.

John Knox Laughton Quotation: "Similarly, at Turin, it was allowed to appear that war was intended; and on both sides preparations were hurried on." - John Knox Laughton in Life of Henry Reeve, vol 2.

John Knox Laughton Quotation: "This letter, though not calling for any hurry, Reeve answered immediately, as was his general custom." - John Knox Laughton in Life of Henry Reeve, vol 2.

Louis Becke Quotation: "I said he seemed in a bit of a hurry to start stocktaking before the poor thing was buried; but anyhow, I went, and we took stock, and he counted his cash, and asked me to lock the place up if anything happened to him." - Louis Becke in By Reef and Palm.

Louis Becke Quotation: "The Frenchman was in a hurry to get ashore, and tells his skipper to put two men in the boat and some grub, as he meant to pull ashore to his station." - Louis Becke in By Reef and Palm.

Mark Twain (Samuel Clemens) Quotation: "He hurried along, as briskly as he could, during several hours, keeping a nervous watch over his shoulder for pursuit; but his fears left him at last, and a grateful sense of security took their place." - Mark Twain (Samuel Clemens) in The Prince and the Pauper.

Mark Twain (Samuel Clemens) Quotation: "But when he got down to his latest experiences and they learned how long he had been without food, they cut him short and hurried him away to the farmhouse to find a breakfast for him." - Mark Twain (Samuel Clemens) in The Prince and the Pauper.

Mark Twain (Samuel Clemens) Quotation: "He seized Becky's hand and hurried her into the first corridor that offered; and none too soon, for a bat struck Becky's light out with its wing while she was passing out of the cavern." - Mark Twain (Samuel Clemens) in Adventures of Tom Sawyer.

Mark Twain (Samuel Clemens) Quotation: "That was sufficient; he did not wait to scan them critically, but hurried on, and never abated his pace till he was far within the twilight depths of the wood." - Mark Twain (Samuel Clemens) in The Prince and the Pauper.

Mark Twain (Samuel Clemens) Quotation: "He was careful not to hurry, and equally careful not to do anything whatever for himself, but wait till the proper official knelt down and did it for him." - Mark Twain (Samuel Clemens) in The Prince and the Pauper.

Maurice Thompson Quotation: "When you read this, think of me as hurrying through the wilderness to reach our army and bring it here. Be brave, as you always have been; be good, as you cannot help being; wait and watch for me; love me, as I love you." - Maurice Thompson in Alice of Old Vincennes.

Maurice Thompson Quotation: "She and Jean now hurried away, and, so vigorously did they paddle the pirogue, that the sky was yet red in the west when they reached home and duly received their expected scolding from Madame Roussillon." - Maurice Thompson in Alice of Old Vincennes.

Maurice Thompson Quotation: "Roussillon did was to see Father Beret and take counsel of him; then he hurried home to dig a great pit under his kitchen floor in which he buried many bales of fur and all his most valuable things." - Maurice Thompson in Alice of Old Vincennes.

Maurice Thompson Quotation: "His hands were not firm; his fingers fumbled nervously; but he hurried, and Father Beret soon had the rapier sheathed and secured at his belt beside its mate." - Maurice Thompson in Alice of Old Vincennes.

Maurice Thompson Quotation: "Kenton fired again, making a hurried and ineffectual attempt to stop the nearest warrior, who saved himself by quickly skipping behind a tree." - Maurice Thompson in Alice of Old Vincennes.

Paul Heyse Quotation: "Had it not been on account of this friend that he had hurried to strike this blow?" - Paul Heyse in Andrea Delfin.

Robert Louis Stevenson and Lloyd Osbourne Quotation: "Breakfast was scarce swallowed before Jim must run to the City Hall and Frank's about the cares of marriage, and I hurry to John Smith's upon the account of stores, and thence, on a visit of certification, to the Norah Creina." - Robert Louis Stevenson and Lloyd Osbourne in The Wrecker.

Robert Louis Stevenson and Lloyd Osbourne Quotation: "I could not but observe that our pace was progressively relaxing; and indeed I have often wondered since whether the hurry of the start were not intended for the gallery alone." - Robert Louis Stevenson and Lloyd Osbourne in The Wrecker.

Robert Louis Stevenson and Lloyd Osbourne Quotation: "Thence, with an agile pace, he hurried ashore, and they saw his white clothes shining in the chequered dusk of the grove until the house received him." - Robert Louis Stevenson and Lloyd Osbourne in The Ebb-Tide.

Robert Louis Stevenson and Lloyd Osbourne Quotation: "There was a hurried murmur of approval, but curiosity for what was coming next prevented an articulate reply." - Robert Louis Stevenson and Lloyd Osbourne in The Wrecker.

Robert Louis Stevenson and Lloyd Osbourne Quotation: "Others came with a vast show of hurry and despatch, but I observed it to be principally show." - Robert Louis Stevenson and Lloyd Osbourne in The Wrecker.

Robert Louis Stevenson Quotation: "Mr. and Mrs. Henry were gone from the hall; my lord, for warmth's sake, hurried to his bed; there was still no sign of stir among the servants, and as I went up the tower stair, and entered the dead man's room, a horror of solitude weighed upon my mind." - Robert Louis Stevenson in Master of Ballantrae.

Robert Louis Stevenson Quotation: "He desired to forget the sight; he desired, above all, to put as great a distance as possible between himself and General Vandeleur; and in his eagerness for this he forgot everything about his destination, and hurried before him headlong and trembling." - Robert Louis Stevenson in New Arabian Nights.

Robert Louis Stevenson Quotation: "The man had an object in view, he was hastening towards a definite end; and Brackenbury was at once astonished at the fellow's skill in picking a way through such a labyrinth, and a little concerned to imagine what was the occasion of his hurry." - Robert Louis Stevenson in New Arabian Nights.

Robert Louis Stevenson Quotation: "He looked round him as if for help, but he was alone in the garden, with his scattered diamonds and his redoubtable interlocutor; and when he gave ear, there was no sound but the rustle of the leaves and the hurried pulsation of his heart." - Robert Louis Stevenson in New Arabian Nights.

Robert Louis Stevenson Quotation: "In the hall several other attendants relieved him of his hat, cane, and paletot, gave him a ticket with a number in return, and politely hurried him up a stair adorned with tropical flowers, to the door of an apartment on the first storey." - Robert Louis

Stevenson in New Arabian Nights.

1873

Bill Nye Quotation: "He had a way, too, when I was asleep, of glancing hurriedly through the pockets of my pantaloons as they hung over a chair, probably to see what evidence he could find that might aid the jury in arriving at a verdict." - Bill Nye in Remarks.

Bill Nye Quotation: "We opened his vest hurriedly and found that, in falling, this bouquet de Gluefactoro cigar, with the spinal column, had been driven through his breast bone and had penetrated his heart." - Bill Nye in Remarks.

Bill Nye Quotation: "So I sought for him till darkness found me several miles from my cabin. I realized at once that I must hurry back, or lose my way and spend the night in the mountains." - Bill Nye in Remarks.

Bill Nye Quotation: "One relic of barbarism rears in gaunt form amid the clash and hurry and rush of civilization, and in the dazzling light of science and smartness." - Bill Nye in Remarks.

Bill Nye Quotation: "He then kicked my person in a rude and hurried tone of voice, and told me that the feed stone was burning up." - Bill Nye in Remarks.

E.F. Benson Quotation: "But aren't you piling up a European conflagration rather in a hurry, Aunt Barbara?" - E.F. Benson in Michael.

Georg Ebers Quotation: "Is my lord in such a hurry?" - Georg Ebers in The Complete PG Edition of Georg Ebers.

Grant Allen Quotation: "To be sure, a week is a terribly cramped and hurried time in which to view Florence, the beloved city, whose ineffable glories need at least one whole winter adequately to grasp them." - Grant Allen in The Woman Who Did.

Grant Allen Quotation: "That might have spoiled all. Happily I perceived it, rode up by the short cut, and arrived somewhat hurriedly and hotly at the gate before you." - Grant Allen in An African Millionaire.

Grant Allen Quotation: "And he withdrew his balance just two days later, saying he was in a hurry to get back to Vienna." - Grant Allen in An African Millionaire.

Grant Allen Quotation: "Suddenly a hurried knock at the door attracted his attention." - Grant Allen in The British Barbarians.

Grant Allen Quotation: "At one short week's close they hurried on to Perugia." - Grant Allen in The Woman Who Did.

Kate Milner Rabb Quotation: "Cloridan agreed, and they crept through the sleeping lines of the Christians, slaughtering many, found the body, and were hurrying into the forest when they heard the troops of Zerbino." - Kate Milner Rabb in National Epics.

Kate Milner Rabb Quotation: "Angry at the reminder of his doom, Achilles drove hurriedly to the field, determined to fight until he had made the Trojans sick of war." - Kate Milner Rabb in National Epics.

Kate Milner Rabb Quotation: "Ismeno, accompanied by two witches, hurried to the wall, but was crushed by a stone that ground his and their bones to powder." - Kate Milner Rabb in National Epics.

Kate Milner Rabb Quotation: "The fainting Dido was carried to her palace, whence she could watch the hurried preparations for the departure." - Kate Milner Rabb in National Epics.

Kate Milner Rabb Quotation: "They hurried on, but paused to free Guido the savage, Gryphon." - Kate Milner Rabb in National Epics.

Oliver Wendell Holmes Quotation: "Fancying that her breathing was somewhat hurried and high, or thoracic, as my friend, the Professor, calls it, I watched her a little more closely." - Oliver Wendell Holmes in Autocrat of Breakfast Table.

Orison Swett Marden Quotation: "In answer to the clerk's summons, Mr. Franklin hurried out from the newspaper establishment at the back of the store." - Orison Swett Marden in Stories from Life.

Orison Swett Marden Quotation: "He was much distressed, and hurried to the owner of the book as soon as possible to explain the mishap." - Orison Swett Marden in Stories from Life.

Orison Swett Marden Quotation: "With a wistful, loving glance at the sleeper, he stole from the room and hurried out into the street." - Orison Swett Marden in Stories from Life.

Orison Swett Marden Quotation: "Washington instantly sprang to his feet and hurried to the woman's assistance." - Orison Swett Marden in Stories from Life.

Orison Swett Marden Quotation: "Next morning he hurried to the office to tell Mr. Gore of his good fortune." - Orison Swett Marden in Stories from Life.

Th. Bentzon (Mme. Blanc) Quotation: "At this moment a man with brown hair, tall, elegant, and with his moustache turned up at the ends, after the old fashion of the Valois, revived recently, came hurriedly up to the table of Madame de Nailles." - Th. Bentzon (Mme. Blanc) in Jacqueline, vol 2.

1874

Anna Harriette Leonowens Quotation: "That functionary, inspired with lively alarm by so startling a summons, dressed himself with unceremonious celerity, and hurried to the palace, conjecturing on the way all imaginable possibilities of politics and diplomacy, revolution or invasion." - Anna Harriette Leonowens in The English Governess at the Siamese Court (Being Recollections of Six Years in the Royal Palace at Bangkok).

Anna Harriette Leonowens Quotation: "It was during a visit to his favorite residence at Saraburee that the signs of approaching dissolution appeared, and the king's physician, fearing he might die there, took hurried steps to remove him to his palace at Bangkok." - Anna Harriette Leonowens in The English Governess at the Siamese Court (Being Recollections of Six Years in the Royal Palace at Bangkok).

Anna Harriette Leonowens Quotation: "An attendant hurried me to the king, who, reading the heavy tidings in my silence, covered his face with his hands and wept passionately." - Anna Harriette Leonowens in The English Governess at the Siamese Court (Being Recollections of Six Years in the Royal Palace at Bangkok).

Anna Harriette Leonowens Quotation: "Slaves hurried hither and thither in the various bustle of errands." - Anna Harriette Leonowens in The English Governess at the Siamese Court (Being Recollections of Six Years in the Royal Palace at Bangkok).

Anna Harriette Leonowens Quotation: "We must hurry to the palace." - Anna Harriette Leonowens in The English Governess at the Siamese Court (Being Recollections of Six Years in the Royal Palace at Bangkok).

Annie Fields Quotation: "I mean to begin again in September with the dubious and difficult passages; and if you are not in too much of a hurry to publish, there is still a long vista of pleasant evenings stretching out before us. We can pull them out like a spyglass." - Annie Fields in Authors and Friends.

Annie Fields Quotation: "Making her preparations hurriedly, she bade the household farewell, and rushed to the station, only to see the train go out as she arrived." - Annie Fields in Authors and Friends.

Annie Fields Quotation: "It was Celia Thaxter's hurrying footsteps which traced her friend to the spot where, in extreme weakness, he fell in death." - Annie Fields in Authors and Friends.

Annie Fields Quotation: "He saw some of them only at rare intervals, and sustained his relations with them chiefly in his hurried correspondence." - Annie Fields in Authors and Friends.

Edward Jenkins Quotation: "He hurried from the room." - Edward Jenkins in Ginx's Baby, A Satire.

George Gissing Quotation: "Had Buckland made some discovery that irritated him against Peak? She knew he was disposed to catch at anything that seemed to tell against Godwin's claims to respectful treatment, and it surely must be a grave affair to hurry him on so long a journey." - George Gissing in Born In Exile.

George Gissing Quotation: "Then the old woman, whose duty it was to put the pews in order, hurriedly throwing the books into the cupboard as soon as the dead man was removed, perchance pushed the document so far back that it slipped through the gap and down behind the buffets." - George Gissing in Demos.

George Gissing Quotation: "When at length, one sunny afternoon, Mallard turned his steps towards the familiar house, it was his chance to encounter Eleanor and her husband just hastening to catch a train; they told him hurriedly that Miriam had heard from Paris." - George Gissing in The Emancipated.

George Gissing Quotation: "At five minutes to the hour she rose and hurried to the north end of the bridge, and stood there, aside from the traffic, shielding little Jack as much as she could with her umbrella, careless that her own clothing was getting wet through." - George Gissing in Demos.

George Gissing Quotation: "Then he uttered an inarticulate exclamation, and walked with hurried, jerky step across the room; his facial muscles quivered ceaselessly, distorting the features into all manner of grotesque and ugly expressions." - George Gissing in Denzil Quarrier.

George Parsons Lathrop Quotation: "Then with Rob Snow he hurried to the beach, To a rough heap of stones they two had reared In boyhood." - George Parsons Lathrop in Rose and Roof-Tree.

J.W. Powell Quotation: "Stone Shirt sprang high into the air and called to his daughters that they were betrayed and that the enemy was near; and they seized their magical bows and their quivers filled with magical arrows and hurried to his defense." - J.W. Powell in Canyons of the Colorado.

J.W. Powell Quotation: "We carry ten or a dozen of these on board our boats and hurriedly leave, not willing to be caught in the robbery, yet excusing ourselves by pleading our great want." - J.W. Powell in Canyons of the Colorado.

J.W. Powell Quotation: "The next moment the other boats are hurriedly signaled to land on the left." - J.W. Powell in Canyons of the Colorado.

James Fraser (bishop): Bishop Fraser's opponents said of him that, "Omipresence was his "forte", and omniscience his foible", reflecting his restless activity in preaching the gospel, reform and activity in civil society. He was a common sight on the streets of Manchester, hurrying to address workers of all kinds several times a day. He was governor of many educational institutions including the Manchester Grammar School and Owens College. In 1874 he began a career as an arbitrator, working to resolve conflict in a number of strikes. He was an early enthusiast for and advocate of the cooperative movement. [WP]

Kingston, William Henry Giles: Born in 1814 and died in 1880, authored "Hurricane hurry: or, The adventures of a naval officer afloat and on shore." By W. H. G. Kingston... with illustrations by R. Huttula. Publisher: Estes & Lauriat (New York: Potts, Young & Co.; Boston). Published in 1874.

Mary Hartwell Catherwood Quotation: "She had company to dinner and was in a hurry." - Mary Hartwell Catherwood in Old Caravan Days.

Owen Wister Quotation: "Well, suppose you're camping out, and suppose it's a hot night, or you're in a hurry, and you've made camp late, or anyway you haven't got inside any tent, but you have just bedded down in the open. Skunk comes travelling along and walks on your blankets." - Owen Wister in The Virginian, A Horseman Of The Plains.

Owen Wister Quotation: "His bruised hand had stiffened, marring his aim, and he saw Pedro fall over in the water then rise and struggle up the bank on the farther shore, where he now hurried also, to find that he had broken the pony's leg." - Owen Wister in The Virginian, A Horseman Of The Plains.

Owen Wister Quotation: "He entered the room, and his lady saw him come where she sat alone for the moment, and her thoughts grew a little hurried." - Owen Wister in The Virginian, A Horseman Of The Plains.

Owen Wister Quotation: "So they hurried home." - Owen Wister in The Virginian, A Horseman Of The Plains.

Richard Henry Savage Quotation: "Each week brought to Braun customers from adjacent cities, many of whom, disguised or veiled, hurried away with the means of cowardly crime to work the devil's charms at a safe distance." - Richard Henry Savage in The Midnight Passenger (A Novel).

Richard Henry Savage Quotation: "He had not fully deciphered all the documents when he sprang from his chair and, quitting the Trading Company's office, hurriedly drove to Doctor Atwater's headquarters." - Richard Henry Savage in The Midnight Passenger (A Novel).

Richard Henry Savage Quotation: "This was soon settled, and then, with a glance at his watch, the dealer, bowing low, hurried away." - Richard Henry Savage in The Midnight Passenger (A Novel).

Richard Henry Savage Quotation: "There had been but a hurried parting between Hugh Worthington and his idolized daughter." - Richard Henry Savage in The Midnight Passenger (A Novel).

Richard Henry Savage Quotation: "I must hurry up and post her." - Richard Henry Savage in The Midnight Passenger (A Novel).

1875

Andrew Dickson White Quotation: "This address, though the result of much preliminary meditation, was dictated in all the hurry and worry of a Cornell commencement week and given in the Yale chapel the week following." - Andrew Dickson White in Autobiography of Andrew Dickson White, vol 2.

Andrew Dickson White Quotation: "Dismissing my students, I hurried to his house, but was just too late; a few minutes before my arrival his eyes had closed in death." - Andrew Dickson White in Autobiography of Andrew Dickson White, vol 1.

Andrew Dickson White Quotation: "The translation was hurried through, as of little account." - Andrew Dickson White in Autobiography of Andrew Dickson White, vol 1.

August Strindberg Quotation: "The guests hurried out, and saw all the Huns dancing, cutting their faces with knives, and shouting unintelligible words." - August Strindberg in Historical Miniatures.

J.M. Bacon Quotation: "The preparations for the ascent, which was from the Mile End Road, had been hurried, and after finally getting away at a late hour in the evening, it was found that the valve line had got caught in a fold of the silk, and could not be operated." - J.M. Bacon in The Dominion of the Air.

J.M. Bacon Quotation: "Some women, with their quick humane instincts, were the first to perceive my danger, and exhorted the men to hurry to my assistance, they themselves running as fast as they could to tender what little help they might be able to give me." - J.M. Bacon in The Dominion of the Air.

J.M. Bacon Quotation: "Hurrying up, he found the girl insensible, and Mr. Harris already dead, with his breast bone and several ribs broken." - J.M. Bacon in The Dominion of the Air.

Joanna H. Mathews Quotation: "But the first words on which her eyes lighted sent a pang to her heart, and as she heard Hannah's heavy step returning, she thrust the letter hurriedly out of sight." - Joanna H. Mathews in Bessie Bradford's Prize.

Joanna H. Mathews Quotation: "Meanwhile Letitia, hearing Hannah come up from the kitchen, had hurriedly returned to her post of duty." - Joanna H. Mathews in Bessie Bradford's Prize.

Joanna H. Mathews Quotation: "His hurried movements were very mysterious to the young spectator." - Joanna H. Mathews in Bessie Bradford's Prize.

John Breckenridge Ellis Quotation: "Well, what's the hurry?" - John Breckenridge Ellis in Lahoma.

John Habberton Quotation: "I felt the corners of my mouth breaking down, and hurried back to the library, where I spent a quiet quarter of an hour in pondering over the demoralizing influence exerted upon principle by a sense of the ludicrous." - John Habberton in Helen's Babies.

John Habberton Quotation: "I set them upon their feet, brushed them off with my hands, promised them all the candy they could eat for a week, wiped their eyes, and hurried them to the other side of the depot." - John Habberton in Helen's Babies.

John Habberton Quotation: "With many other bits of prophecy and celestial description I was regaled as I completed my toilet, and I hurried out of doors for an opportunity to think without disturbance." - John Habberton in Helen's Babies.

John Habberton Quotation: "Just then he caught my eye, smiled rapturously, hurried to me and laid his rascally soft cheek confidingly against mine, while an audible sensation pervaded the church." - John Habberton in Helen's Babies.

John Habberton Quotation: "At first I looked hurriedly toward the brook as each yell clove the air; but, as I became accustomed to it, my attention was diverted by some exquisite ferns." - John Habberton in Helen's Babies.

John St. Loe Strachey Quotation: "He would not dream of getting up from his chair if he wanted an extra spoon or fork in a hurry, but would either send one of his children to get it for him or else ring the bell for the butler." - John St. Loe Strachey in The Adventure of Living.

John St. Loe Strachey Quotation: "Nobody appeared to be in a hurry, and one was given almost complete freedom as to the way in which to treat one's subject." - John St. Loe Strachey in The Adventure of Living.

Mary Elizabeth Braddon Quotation: "They were taking the overture in what they called orchestral time; though it is doubtful whether even their playing could have kept pace with the hurrying of excited fiddles in a presto passage, or the roll of the big drum, simulating distant thunder." - Mary Elizabeth Braddon in The Golden Calf.

Mary Elizabeth Braddon Quotation: "They hurried down the sandy hill path to the road where they had left the carriage, and Lady Palliser hustled them into it, breathless, with the combined effect of the rapid descent and her indignation." - Mary Elizabeth Braddon in The Golden Calf.

Mary Elizabeth Braddon Quotation: "That is what one's housemaid says, isn't it, when she talks of leaving service and marrying some young man from the baker's or the grocer's? Valentine and I are not in a hurry to be married." - Mary Elizabeth Braddon in Birds of Prey.

Mary Elizabeth Braddon Quotation: "Blanche and Horatio were the chief officiators, and were tremendously busy ministering to the wants of others, while they satisfied their own hunger and thirst hurriedly between whiles." - Mary Elizabeth Braddon in The Golden Calf.

Mary Elizabeth Braddon Quotation: "So, from memory to memory, with a frightful fertility of fancy, his unresting brain hurried on; while his wife could only watch and listen, tortured by an agony greater than his own." - Mary Elizabeth Braddon in The Golden Calf.

1876

F. Hopkinson Smith Quotation: "What could she want with him except to talk over some subject that they had left unfinished? As he hurried on there came into his mind half a dozen matters, any one of which it would have been a delight to revive." - F. Hopkinson Smith in The Tides of Barnegat.

F. Hopkinson Smith Quotation: "It was not until the hurried overhauling of a mass of papers beneath his uncle's hand, and the subsequent finding of a certain stray sheet by Pawson, that the boy was aroused to a sense of the gravity of the situation." - F. Hopkinson Smith in Kennedy Square.

F. Hopkinson Smith Quotation: "Something she said about the dock having been leased to the Fertilizing Company caused Crane to leave his chair in a hurry, and ask his clerk in an angry voice if McGaw had yet been paid the money on his chattel mortgage." - F. Hopkinson Smith in Tom Grogan.

F. Hopkinson Smith Quotation: "Before the sun was an hour high he had dressed hurriedly, stolen downstairs so as to wake no one, and closing the front door softly behind him had taken the long path through the park in the direction of the wharves." - F. Hopkinson Smith in Kennedy Square.

F. Hopkinson Smith Quotation: "Instantly a hush fell upon the noisy room; plates and glasses were pushed back so as to give the men elbow room; pipes were hurriedly lighted, and each guest turned his chair so as to face the Chief, who was now on his feet." - F. Hopkinson Smith in Peter.

John Muir Quotation: "Others seem to grow from mere points, and fly high above the canyon, yet following its course for a long time, noiseless, as if hunting, then suddenly darting lightning at unseen marks, and hurrying on." - John Muir in Steep Trails.

John Muir Quotation: "Most tourists make out to be in a hurry even here; therefore their days or hours would be best spent on the promontories nearest the hotel." - John Muir in Steep Trails.

1877

John Muir Quotation: "Nor among such exuberance of forms are names thought of by the bewildered, hurried tourist." - John Muir in Steep Trails.

William Cowper Brann Quotation: "The rebound from the monstrous doctrine of the divine right of monarchs has hurried us into equal error." - William Cowper Brann in Brann The Iconoclast, vol 12.

William Cowper Brann Quotation: "Life with the American people is one continental hurry, and rush from the cradle to the grave." - William Cowper Brann in Brann The Iconoclast, vol 12.

William Cowper Brann Quotation: "We're born in a hurry, live by electricity and die with scientific expedition." - William Cowper Brann in Brann The Iconoclast, vol 12.

William Cowper Brann Quotation: "I like the climate, and most of the people, and am in no hurry to move." - William Cowper Brann in Brann The Iconoclast, vol 10.

1877

Anthony Trollope Quotation: "Mr. Mollett, therefore, was five hours in the covered car on his return journey; and as he had stopped for lunch at Kanturk, and had not hurried himself at that meal, it was very dark and very cold when he reached the house in South Main Street." - Anthony Trollope in Castle Richmond.

Anthony Trollope Quotation: "He was only there two minutes, for his mind was still outside, among the laurels, with the fox; but as he put his foot again into the stirrup, he said to those around him that they must hurry away, and not disturb Owen Fitzgerald that day." - Anthony Trollope in Castle Richmond.

Anthony Trollope Quotation: "So she pretended to drop the matter, and went and fetched her lord's slippers, the putting on of which constituted his evening toilet; and then, after some little hurrying inquiry in the kitchen, promised him his dinner in fifteen minutes." - Anthony Trollope in Castle Richmond.

Anthony Trollope Quotation: "I knew, from what I read from month to month, that this hurried publication of incompleted work was frequently, I might perhaps say always, adopted by the leading novelists of the day." - Anthony Trollope in Autobiography of Anthony Trollope (no accents).

Anthony Trollope Quotation: "And he was perfectly satisfied with himself in that he had done nothing in a hurry, and could accuse himself of no folly even if he had no great cause for triumph." - Anthony Trollope in The Belton Estate.

Charles Morris (editor) Quotation: "Offices were hurriedly opened on Fillmore Street, which today is the main thoroughfare of San Francisco, and from these headquarters the news of the day as it is gathered is transmitted by means of automobiles and ferry service to the Oakland shore." - Charles Morris (editor) in The San Francisco Calamity.

Charles Morris (editor) Quotation: "The soldiers who had been hurried to the front sought to divert its flow by digging a wide ditch across its course and throwing up a high bank of earth, but they worked in vain." - Charles Morris (editor) in The San Francisco Calamity.

Charles Morris (editor) Quotation: "Suddenly there was whispered alarm up and down the long line of watchers, and they hurried away to drag clothing, cooking utensils and scant provisions through the streets." - Charles Morris (editor) in The San Francisco Calamity.

Charles Morris (editor) Quotation: "The charge had to be placed so swiftly and the fuse lit in such a hurry that the explosion was not quite successful from the trained viewpoint of the gunners." - Charles Morris (editor) in The San Francisco Calamity.

Charles Morris (editor) Quotation: "Having fainted at the moment of the first great shock, she was lifted by her husband, who, bearing her in his arms, hurried with her to the harbor." - Charles Morris (editor) in The San Francisco Calamity.

George Hartmann Quotation: "As the Mexican was frightened now, we took to the road in a hurry and traveled until a late hour that night." - George Hartmann in Tales of Aztlan.

George Hartmann Quotation: "Hurry, Reyes, bring him in here and lay him gently down." - George Hartmann in Tales of Aztlan.

George Hartmann Quotation: "They began by hurrying." - George Hartmann in Tales of Aztlan.

H. Rider Haggard Quotation: "As it was, finding that they were losing too heavily from our fire, they retreated in a hurry, leaving their dead behind them, and even a wounded man who was clinging to a rock." - H. Rider Haggard in Finished.

H. Rider Haggard Quotation: "Then I departed in a hurry." - H. Rider Haggard in Finished.

Harold Frederic Quotation: "There were hurried movements inside the pulpit, and people in the audience had begun to stand up wonderingly, when the Presiding Elder, with uplifted hands, confronted them." - Harold Frederic in The Damnation of Theron Ware.

Harold Frederic Quotation: "Theron sat up, with a look of arrested thought upon his face, then sprang to his feet and moved hurriedly through the parlor to an open front window." - Harold Frederic in The Damnation of Theron Ware.

Harold Frederic Quotation: "He did not hurry to join them, but when Lord Plowden appeared he sauntered slowly over, gun over arm, with as indifferent an air as he could simulate." - Harold Frederic in The Market-Place.

Harold Frederic Quotation: "In the hurry of leaving he had brought with him the church collections for the past two weeks." - Harold Frederic in The Damnation of Theron Ware.

Harold Frederic Quotation: "He realized that it was high time to invent some pretext for his hurried summons of the General." - Harold Frederic in The Market-Place.

Henry B. Wheatley Quotation: "It is scarcely fair to make capital out of the blunders of booksellers' catalogues, which are often printed in a great hurry, and cannot possibly possess the advantage of correction which a book does." - Henry B. Wheatley in Literary Blunders.

Henry B. Wheatley Quotation: "It is perhaps scarcely fair to quote too many blunders from newspapers, which must often be hurriedly compiled, but naturally they furnish the richest crop." - Henry B. Wheatley in Literary Blunders.

Henry B. Wheatley Quotation: "Another source of error in the papers is the hurry with which bits of news are printed before they have been authenticated." - Henry B. Wheatley in Literary Blunders.

Lafcadio Hearn Quotation: "Carefully they wrap up the lad in wadded robes; then he puts his arms about Fusaichi's shoulders like a child; and the strong servant bears him lightly through the wintry street; and the father hurries beside Fusaichi, bearing the lantern." - Lafcadio Hearn in Glimpses of an Unfamiliar Japan, vol 2.

Lafcadio Hearn Quotation: "He gathered hurriedly together the few articles belonging to him, and, descending the stairs, aroused the landlord and told what had passed." - Lafcadio Hearn in Glimpses of an Unfamiliar Japan, vol 2.

Lafcadio Hearn Quotation: "The Governor sends his secretary with a courteous message; the President of the Normal School hurries down for a moment to shake hands." - Lafcadio Hearn in Glimpses of an Unfamiliar Japan, vol 2.

Lafcadio Hearn Quotation: "The men hurried through the streets, making inquiries at every house which Hoichi was accustomed to visit; but nobody could give them any news of him." - Lafcadio Hearn in Kwaidan.

Lafcadio Hearn Quotation: "At once he left his hut, and, taking with him the pieces of the tile, hurried to the neighboring town in search of the tilemaker." - Lafcadio Hearn in In Ghostly Japan.

Oscar Wilde Quotation: "The gypsies had been caught on Brockley meadows, but she was not with them, and they had explained their sudden departure by saying that they had mistaken the date of Chorton Fair, and had gone off in a hurry for fear they might be late." - Oscar Wilde in Lord Arthur Savile's Crime etc.

Oscar Wilde Quotation: "The little white clouds are racing over the sky, And the fields are strewn with the gold of the flower of March, The daffodil breaks under foot, and the tasselled larch Sways and swings as the thrush goes hurrying by." - Oscar Wilde in Selected Poems of Oscar Wilde.

Oscar Wilde Quotation: "So he smote the child till it wept, and when he had done this they went hurriedly out of the city." - Oscar Wilde in A House of Pomegranates.

Oscar Wilde Quotation: "So he took the cup and hid it in the fold of his tunic, and they went hurriedly out of the city." - Oscar Wilde in A House of Pomegranates.

Oscar Wilde Quotation: "He turned on his heel, and hurried on into the night." - Oscar Wilde in Lord Arthur Savile's Crime etc.

Otto Schoenrich Quotation: "Poor Salcedo tried to resist, but was captured, hurried by a friend from one camp to another to keep him from being shot, and at last foully murdered." - Otto Schoenrich in Santo Domingo (A Country With A Future).

Otto Schoenrich Quotation: "Only Guacanagari refused to join them and hurried to Isabela to offer his services to the Spaniards." - Otto Schoenrich in Santo Domingo (A Country With A Future).

1878

Ambrose Bierce Quotation: "Unfortunately the chaparral extended only a short distance up the slope, and as we came into the open ground above we took the fire of a dozen rifles; but Apaches shoot badly when in a hurry, and God so willed it that none of us fell." - Ambrose Bierce in Can Such Things Be?.

Ambrose Bierce Quotation: "A hurried tramping sounded on the deck; the captain, summoned from below, joined the first officer, who stood looking at the barometer." - Ambrose Bierce in Can Such Things Be?.

Ambrose Bierce Quotation: "Moxon heard it at the same moment and, visibly agitated, rose and hurriedly passed into the room whence it came." - Ambrose Bierce in Can Such Things Be?.

Ambrose Bierce Quotation: "He spoke thickly and hurriedly." - Ambrose Bierce in Can Such Things Be?.

Andrew Lang Quotation: "Full of curiosity, Iwanich hurried up to the spot, and saw that a large number of ravens had attacked an eagle, and although the eagle was big and powerful and was making a brave fight, it was overpowered at last by numbers, and had to give in." - Andrew Lang in The Yellow Fairy Book.

Andrew Lang Quotation: "For two days he resisted the temptation to go and look, but on the third he could stand it no longer, and taking a torch in his hand he hurried to the tower, and unfastened one lock after the other of the little iron door until it burst open." - Andrew Lang in The Yellow Fairy Book.

Andrew Lang Quotation: "The poor Princess went sadly up to her room and began to cry, but when she was reminded of her father's commands, she dried her eyes, and made a bundle of her jewels and her best dresses and hurriedly left the castle where she was born." - Andrew Lang in Green Fairy Book.

Andrew Lang Quotation: "So, though it did not please him at all, the Prince took the gazelle in his arms, and mounted upon the back of the snail, which glided along very peaceably, entirely declining to be hurried by frequent blows from the Prince's heels." - Andrew Lang in Green Fairy Book.

Andrew Lang Quotation: "As he had no father or mother to welcome him home, he did not hurry himself, but went quietly along, his knapsack on his back and his sword by his side, when suddenly one evening he was seized with a wish to light his pipe." - Andrew Lang in Green Fairy Book.

Archibald Forbes Quotation: "Pressing south immediately, he worsted the Turkish Grand Vizier in the fierce battle of Kuleutscha and then by diverse routes hurried down into the great Roumelian valley." - Archibald Forbes in Camps, Quarters, and Casual Places.

Archibald Forbes Quotation: "When Wellington in the Peninsula wanted a fortress and being in a hurry could not wait the result of a formal siege or a starvation blockade, he carried it by storm." - Archibald Forbes in Camps, Quarters, and Casual Places.

Archibald Forbes Quotation: "Under cover of a bank of smoke the soldiers hurrying on to feed the fighting line are fairly hidden from aimed hostile fire." - Archibald Forbes in Camps, Quarters, and Casual Places.

Archibald Forbes Quotation: "Hurried announcements are made as to the conditions and prospects of the market." - Archibald Forbes in Camps, Quarters, and Casual Places.

Archibald Forbes Quotation: "He hurried expectant to Ferrieres; there to be summarily disillusioned." - Archibald Forbes in Camps, Quarters, and Casual Places.

Arthur Conan Doyle Quotation: "He hurried before a justice of the peace, accompanied by Stangerson, who had become his private secretary, and represented to him that they were in danger of their lives from the jealousy and hatred of an old rival." - Arthur Conan Doyle in A Study In Scarlet.

Arthur Conan Doyle Quotation: "Whenever a horseman clattered down the road, or a driver shouted at his team, the old farmer hurried to the gate thinking that help had arrived at last." - Arthur Conan Doyle in A Study In Scarlet.

Arthur Conan Doyle Quotation: "The Inspector and the two detectives had a hurried discussion as to the advisability of allowing him to tell his story." - Arthur Conan Doyle in A Study In Scarlet.

Arthur Conan Doyle Quotation: "We must hurry up, for I want to go to Halle's concert to hear Norman Neruda this afternoon." - Arthur Conan Doyle in A Study In Scarlet.

Arthur Conan Doyle Quotation: "With his fears all changed to convictions, he hurried on." - Arthur Conan Doyle in A Study In Scarlet.

Edward S. Ellis Quotation: "The weather was oppressively hot, and on the last day an exasperating but providential invasion of the hall by a swarm of flies hurried the signing of the document." - Edward S. Ellis in Thomas Jefferson.

Ian Maclaren Quotation: "While Donald still lingered on the field of battle to gather the spoils and guard against any sudden return of the enemy, the elders had a hurried consultation in the vestry, and Burnbrae put the position with admirable force." - Ian Maclaren in Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush.

Ian Maclaren Quotation: "Peter hurried up to his cottage in such hot haste that his wife came out in great alarm." - Ian Maclaren in Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush.

Ivan S. Turgenev Quotation: "Thereupon her companions ran into the hall; a few minutes later an old servant in livery would bring in a copper pan with a bunch of mint on a hot brick, and stepping hurriedly upon the narrow strips of carpet, he would sprinkle the mint with vinegar." - Ivan S. Turgenev in The Jew and Other Stories.

Ivan S. Turgenev Quotation: "I recognised Girshel. He stood without moving for a long while in one place, then suddenly ran a little on one side, looked hurriedly and furtively round." - Ivan S. Turgenev in The Jew and Other Stories.

Ivan S. Turgenev Quotation: "Before I had time to answer she had seated herself, taken up some music, hurriedly opened it, and begun to play." - Ivan S. Turgenev in The Jew and Other Stories.

Ivan S. Turgenev Quotation: "He paused a second, hurriedly arranged things, and directly after dinner set off to the Perekatovs." - Ivan S. Turgenev in The Jew and Other Stories.

Ivan S. Turgenev Quotation: "Everything is over between me and Mr. Lutchkov,' Kister added hurriedly." - Ivan S. Turgenev in The Jew and Other Stories.

Joseph E. Badger Jr Quotation: "The aerostat barely landed upon the top of the temple, before Cooper Edgecombe, with a wild scream of ecstatic joy, caught his wife in his arms and hurried her into the car, while Waldo and uncle Phaeton aided Bruno." - Joseph E. Badger Jr in The Lost City.

Joseph E. Badger Jr Quotation: "I nearly tore him limb from limb; I would have done just that, only for those who came hurrying after me from town, knowing that I might need help in bringing my balloon to earth in safety." - Joseph E. Badger Jr in The Lost City.

Joseph E. Badger Jr Quotation: "But this time the young brave was in error, for only a few moments later both fugitives caught sight of a dim light in hurried motion far towards the entrance to these underground crypts." - Joseph E. Badger Jr in The Lost City.

Joseph E. Badger Jr Quotation: "Uncle Phaeton rubbed his hands briskly, shifting his weight hurriedly from one foot to its mate, then back again, the very personification of eager interest and growing conviction." - Joseph E. Badger Jr in The Lost City.

Joseph E. Badger Jr Quotation: "When hurried, his brain and tongue naturally fell back upon his native language." - Joseph E. Badger Jr in The Lost City.

Solomon Tshekisho Plaatje Quotation: "This Native Lands Act was passed very hurriedly." - Solomon Tshekisho Plaatje in Native Life in South Africa, Before and Since the European War and the Boer Rebellion.

William Dean Howells Quotation: "As soon as an emperor was chosen, in the great hall effigied round with the portraits of his predecessors, he hurried out in the balcony, ostensibly to show himself to the people, but really, March contended, to warm up a little in the sun." - William Dean Howells in Their Silver Wedding Journey, by William Dean Howells.

William Dean Howells Quotation: "He shut his desk and hurried out into the early night, not to go anywhere, but to walk up and down, to try to find his way out of the chaos, which now seemed ruin, and now the materials out of which fine actions and a happy life might be shaped." - William Dean Howells in The Rise of Silas Lapham.

William Dean Howells Quotation: "Jeff's mother kissed him in addition to the handshaking, but made him feel her preoccupation with Jackson; she asked him if he had hurried home on Jackson's account, and he promptly lied her out of this anxiety." - William Dean Howells in The Landlord at Lions Head, by William Dean Howells.

William Dean Howells Quotation: "Jeff went home with her; he was impatient of her duties, but he was in no hurry when they stole out of the side door together under the stars, and began to stray sidelong down the hill over the dewless grass." - William Dean Howells in The Landlord at Lions Head, by William Dean Howells.

William Dean Howells Quotation: "At last an indescribable significance expressed itself in the official group at the door; a man in a high hat and dresscoat hurried out; a footman hurried to meet him; they spoke inaudibly together." - William Dean Howells in Their Silver Wedding Journey, by William Dean Howells.

1879

Alexander Kielland Quotation: "But most of the stronger sex hurried along under their umbrellas; only a few had been sensible enough to give up the battle, and had turned up their collars, stuck their umbrellas under their arms, and their hands in their pockets." - Alexander Kielland in Tales of Two Countries.

Alexander Kielland Quotation: "The cafes were crowded to excess; regular customers went round and scolded, and the waiters ran against each other in their hurry." - Alexander Kielland in Tales of Two Countries.

Alexander Kielland Quotation: "Charles had risen and hurried across the room; he now bent down over Alphonse." - Alexander Kielland in Tales of Two Countries.

Alexander Kielland Quotation: "Excuse me; I'm in a hurry." - Alexander Kielland in Tales of Two Countries.

Bram Stoker Quotation: "As Mr. Trelawny did not wish to arrive at Westerton before dark, there was no need to hurry; and arrangements had been made to feed the workmen at certain places on the journey." - Bram Stoker in The Jewel of Seven Stars.

Bram Stoker Quotation: "If it was that the Count carried me here and undressed me, he must have been hurried in his task, for my pockets are intact." - Bram Stoker in Dracula.

Bram Stoker Quotation: "Then, asking me to be sure not to take my eyes off him till she returned, she hurried out." - Bram Stoker in The Jewel of Seven Stars.

Bram Stoker Quotation: "Without a word Mr. Trelawny raised the Jewel, and hurried with it into the next room." - Bram Stoker in The Jewel of Seven Stars.

Bram Stoker Quotation: "So strong was the feeling that I wanted to hurry away from the place." - Bram Stoker in The Jewel of Seven Stars.

HARIVAMSA NIYOGI: Publication of "Tables of Exchange, converting £ in Rs. and Rs. into £, calculated for every sixtieth of a penny, from 1s. @ 2-6d. sic. i.e. from 1s. to 2s. 6d. per Rupee. By Hurry Bans Newgie. Second edition, enlarged, etc." Published in 1879.

1879

Helena Pretrovna Blavatsky Quotation: "We all hurried to examine the stone most minutely, and discovered that, though it imitated as closely as possible the irregularity of the rock, its under surface bore evident traces of workmanship and had a kind of hinge to be easily moved." - Helena Pretrovna Blavatsky in From the Caves and Jungles of Hindostan.

Helena Pretrovna Blavatsky Quotation: "The last rites, begun weeks ago, were hurriedly brought to an end during this last night." - Helena Pretrovna Blavatsky in From the Caves and Jungles of Hindostan.

Helena Pretrovna Blavatsky Quotation: "The mahout hurried to my rescue and then examined the damaged tail of his animal." - Helena Pretrovna Blavatsky in From the Caves and Jungles of Hindostan.

Helena Pretrovna Blavatsky Quotation: "This last dainty is consumed hurriedly." - Helena Pretrovna Blavatsky in From the Caves and Jungles of Hindostan.

Henry James Quotation: "What beset her above all, and as she had almost never known it before, was the desire to bound straight out, to overtake the autumn afternoon before it passed away for ever and hurry off to the Park and perhaps be with him there again on a bench." - Henry James in In the Cage.

Henry James Quotation: "For himself, he was in no hurry to let the daylight in; the little incident at Siena had been, in itself, a charming affair; but Miss Vivian's present attitude gave it a sort of mystic consecration." - Henry James in Confidence.

Henry James Quotation: "It was only a question of hurrying again, for a few preparations, to the house which the attendance at church of so many of the servants would practically have left unoccupied." - Henry James in Turn of the Screw.

Henry James Quotation: "He kissed her white face; for an instant she resisted and for a moment she submitted; then, with force, she disengaged herself and hurried away over the long shining floor." - Henry James in The American.

Henry James Quotation: "She had replied with indulgence that he was in too great a hurry, and had remarked soothingly that if she knew how to be patient surely HE might be." - Henry James in The Ambassadors.

John Burroughs Quotation: "I am not dazzled or astonished; I am in no hurry to look lest it be gone." - John Burroughs in Birds and Poets.

Kirk Munroe Quotation: "He found Mark's horse standing at the stable door in a lather of foam, and still saddled and bridled. Then it flashed across him that something had happened to Mark, and, filled with a sickening dread, he hurried into the house and aroused Mr. Elmer." - Kirk Munroe in Wakulla.

Kirk Munroe Quotation: "Taking their bags and holding each other's hands tight, for fear of being separated in the crowd, the children stepped out on the platform, where they were at once completely bewildered by the throng of hurrying people, the confusion, and the noise." - Kirk Munroe in Wakulla.

Kirk Munroe Quotation: "The first snow of the season was falling in a hesitating sort of a way, as though it hardly knew whether to come or not, and it was still quite dark when Mrs. Wing woke Mark and Ruth, and told them to hurry, for the stage would be along directly." - Kirk Munroe in Wakulla.

Kirk Munroe Quotation: "Frank quickly explained the cause of the alarm, and the men hurried off to get their teams, ploughs, and axes; for Mr. Elmer had been so kind to them that all were anxious to do what they could to help him in this time of trouble." - Kirk Munroe in Wakulla.

Kirk Munroe Quotation: "The poor mother begged to be allowed to go too; but assuring her that this was impossible, and telling Ruth to comfort her mother as well as she could, Mr. Elmer hurried away, mounted Mark's horse, and the party rode off." - Kirk Munroe in Wakulla.

Talbot Mundy Quotation: "We sent a few Syrians in a hurry to warn the Armenians in the desert against those Kurds who had ridden to the south to intercept them, and tipped out two cartsful of corn that we could ill spare, putting our wounded in the empty carts." - Talbot Mundy in Hira Singh.

1880

Talbot Mundy Quotation: "Once or twice a day they brought us a bucket of water from which we were bidden drink in a great hurry while the train waited; yet often the train waited hours on sidings and no water at all was brought us." - Talbot Mundy in Hira Singh.

Talbot Mundy Quotation: "Along the line next ours there came hurrying in the opposite direction train after train of wounded, traveling at great speed, each leaving a smell in its wake that set us all to spitting." - Talbot Mundy in Hira Singh.

Talbot Mundy Quotation: "Ranjoor Singh came wading along the trench, stumbling over men's feet in his hurry and nearly falling just as he reached us, so that for the moment I thought he too had been shot." - Talbot Mundy in Hira Singh.

Talbot Mundy Quotation: "The women said the battle had not begun; and the prisoners bade our Kurds swallow tribal enmity and hurry to do their share! The chief listened to them, saying nothing." - Talbot Mundy in Hira Singh.

William Henry Hudson Quotation: "I had left the trees half a mile behind me, and was walking hurriedly along towards the valley of the Yi, when, passing over a hillock, I suddenly found myself in sight of a bull resting on the grass and quietly chewing his cud." - William Henry Hudson in The Purple Land.

William Henry Hudson Quotation: "However, now was my only chance, and, starting up, I hurried on towards the noise. As I passed the corral the brutes became aware of my approach, and instantly turned their attention on me." - William Henry Hudson in The Purple Land.

William Henry Hudson Quotation: "I sat down and tried to be patient, but the brutes were in no hurry, and went on skirting the wood at a snail's pace." - William Henry Hudson in The Purple Land.

William Henry Hudson Quotation: "I did not hurry, but frequently dismounted to give my horse a sip of clear water and a taste of green herbage." - William Henry Hudson in The Purple Land.

1880

Alice Brown Quotation: "For wherever he might travel, he always made it a point to be home in time to wind the clocks; and however early he might hurry away again, under stress of some antiquarian impulse, they were left alive and pulsing behind him." - Alice Brown in Tiverton Tales.

Alice Brown Quotation: "Yet she only clasped her hands more tightly about her knees and waited, the while her heart hurried its time. The knocker fell twice, with a resonant clang. She did not move." - Alice Brown in Tiverton Tales.

Alice Brown Quotation: "Neighbors had hurried in to bring him the news; he went first to the unfinished grave in the Cemetery, and then strode up the hill, where the men had not yet done." - Alice Brown in Tiverton Tales.

Alice Brown Quotation: "Her hurrying mind anticipated all he might have said, and would not. And because he had too abiding a gentleness to say it, the insanity of her anger rose anew." - Alice Brown in Tiverton Tales.

Alice Brown Quotation: "She had not dreamed there were such lands in all the world; and when she hurried home, it was to hunt out her old geography, and read it until after midnight." - Alice Brown in Tiverton Tales.

Arthur Train Quotation: "The licensed detective who sends out a hurry call for assistants is apt to be able to get only men whom he would otherwise not employ." - Arthur Train in Courts and Criminals.

Arthur Train Quotation: "Presently he appeared, entered the office hurriedly, bowed to the referee, apologized for being tardy, greeted Messrs." - Arthur Train in Courts and Criminals.

Charles M. Skinner Quotation: "Not a sound came from the barge, the halloos of the spectators bringing no response, and some boatmen ventured into the stream, only to pull back in a hurry, for the craft had become so strangely enveloped in shadow that it seemed to melt into air." - Charles M. Skinner in Myths And Legends of Our Own Land, vol 5: The South.

Charles M. Skinner Quotation: "When picking berries at a distance from the village, one morning, the boys were surprised by Indians, who hurried with them into the wilderness before their friends could be apprised." - Charles M. Skinner in Myths And Legends of Our Own Land, vol 5: The South.

Charles M. Skinner Quotation: "On a winter night its people saw a glare in the sky, and hurrying to their doors found a ship burning in the gulf." - Charles M. Skinner in Myths And Legends of Our Own Land, vol 5: The South.

Charles M. Skinner Quotation: "Their women were hurried over; then, like so many Horatii, they formed across this dizzy highway and gave battle." - Charles M. Skinner in Myths And Legends of Our Own Land, vol 5: The South.

Donald Mackenzie Wallace Quotation: "The Minister of Finance need not be in such a desperate, reckless hurry, and it was desirable to create conservative forces which might counteract the revolutionary forces which his impulsive colleague was inadvertently calling into existence." - Donald Mackenzie Wallace in Russia.

Donald Mackenzie Wallace Quotation: "The law had been so hurried through the last stages that the preparations for putting it into execution were by no means complete when the Manifesto was published." - Donald Mackenzie Wallace in Russia.

Donald Mackenzie Wallace Quotation: "The reports of the agitators to the central organisation, written hurriedly during this eventful week, are extremely graphic and interesting." - Donald Mackenzie Wallace in Russia.

Donald Mackenzie Wallace Quotation: "Making hurriedly the sign of the cross, he gathers up his reins, waves his little whip in the air, and, shouting lustily, urges on his team." - Donald Mackenzie Wallace in Russia.

Donald Mackenzie Wallace Quotation: "We turned away therefore hurriedly, and for want of something better to do we watched the preparations for dinner." - Donald Mackenzie Wallace in Russia.

Edna Lyall Quotation: "So the fortnight slipped by, and at length one afternoon we found ourselves once more in Southampton Water; then came the bustle of packing and the hurry of departure, and the merry party dispersed." - Edna Lyall in Derrick Vaughan - Novelist.

Edna Lyall Quotation: "Derrick's wrath was speechless; with one look of loathing and contempt at the drunken man, he strode out of the room, caught up his hat, and hurried from the house." - Edna Lyall in Derrick Vaughan - Novelist.

Edward Hamilton Aitken Quotation: "So, if you are in a hurry, you can employ half a dozen Peelajees, and feel that you are making six families in the world happy instead of only one." - Edward Hamilton Aitken in Behind the Bungalow.

Edward Hamilton Aitken Quotation: "He hurries the day along and scatters its hours, so that ennui cannot find an empty minute to lurk in." - Edward Hamilton Aitken in Behind the Bungalow.

George Gissing Quotation: "When Marian joined him, she was panting from a hurried walk, and this affected Jasper disagreeably; he thought of Amy Reardon's air of repose, and how impossible it would be for that refined person to fall into such disorder." - George Gissing in New Grub Street.

George Gissing Quotation: "In such scenery of course one doesn't hurry on, but I can't help informing you that twenty miles wouldn't alarm me. I think it very likely that I shall follow your itinerary, after my week of bathing and idling." - George Gissing in The Odd Women.

George Gissing Quotation: "On her recovery, which took place in a few moments, she at once started up, and with hurried thanks to those about her, listening to nothing that was said and answering no inquiry, went out on to the platform." - George Gissing in The Odd Women.

George Gissing Quotation: "In the afternoon he again sat by the bedside. Every symptom of the sufferer's condition pointed to an approaching end: a face that had grown cadaverous, livid lips, breath drawn in hurrying gasps." - George Gissing in New Grub Street.

George Gissing Quotation: "Jasper had to look in this morning for a hurried consultation of certain encyclopaedic volumes, and it chanced that Marian was standing before the shelves to which his business led him." - George Gissing in New Grub Street.

Henry Watterson Quotation: "And hurrying to the rescue of my friends, McClure, looking now a bit bored and resentful, landed me somewhere near the ceiling." - Henry Watterson in Marse Henry, vol 1.

James Otis Quotation: "Then, taking the little fellow by the hand, he hurried to the upper deck, not looking around, and hardly daring to breathe until they were in the stateroom, with the door securely fastened and the blind of the window closed." - James Otis in A District Messenger Boy and a Necktie Party.

James Otis Quotation: "And then hurriedly entering the store, Walter explained why he must reach Boston without delay, after which he gave a brief account of his misadventures." - James Otis in Neal, the Miller.

1881

Antonio Fogazzaro Quotation: "His Excellency did not allow himself to be disturbed for so little; he dismissed his wife in a summary manner, and hurried Signora Dessalle, taken by surprise, into the Minister's presence." - Antonio Fogazzaro in The Saint.

Antonio Fogazzaro Quotation: "Benedetto hurriedly replaced the letter, but as no one appeared, and everything around him seemed to be asleep, he took it out again and read on." - Antonio Fogazzaro in The Saint.

Antonio Fogazzaro Quotation: "She signed to Giovanni to go for the priest and Giovanni hurried away." - Antonio Fogazzaro in The Saint.

Antonio Fogazzaro Quotation: "Hurried steps were heard in the direction of Jenne." - Antonio Fogazzaro in The Saint.

Antonio Fogazzaro Quotation: "Jeanne Dessalle entered hurriedly, smiling." - Antonio Fogazzaro in The Saint.

Eugene Wood Quotation: "Aw, hurry up, can't you?" - Eugene Wood in Back Home.

Francis Marion Crawford Quotation: "Her head fell back and her full lips parted in an ecstasy of delight as she felt herself hurried along in his arms, scarcely touching the floor with her feet." - Francis Marion Crawford in The Witch of Prague.

Francis Marion Crawford Quotation: "Onward they sped, and in the vision the way they traversed seemed to sweep past them, so that they remained always in sight though always hurrying on." - Francis Marion Crawford in The Witch of Prague.

Francis Marion Crawford Quotation: "Ere he could reach her, he saw her touch the thick ice which filled the marble basin, cross herself hurriedly and pass out." - Francis Marion Crawford in The Witch of Prague.

Francis Marion Crawford Quotation: "If you hurry the thing, the man feels as though he were being smothered." - Francis Marion Crawford in The Witch of Prague.

Francis Marion Crawford Quotation: "In an instant he had crossed the way and was hurrying through the gloom." - Francis Marion Crawford in The Witch of Prague.

Frank Preston Stearns Quotation: "To judge from appearances it was hurried through the press without being revised either by its author or a competent proofreader; but it is a vigorous, spirited narrative, and the best chronicle of that period in English." - Frank Preston Stearns in Cambridge Sketches.

Frank Preston Stearns Quotation: "All those whose attention Hawthorne attracted out of the rush and hurry of the world were sure to become interested in his welfare." - Frank Preston Stearns in The Life and Genius of Nathaniel Hawthorne.

Hans Gross Quotation: "The coachman in his hurry had forgotten to take bells with him, and in order to avoid violating police regulations he had borrowed at the inn another peal, and my sad state dated from the moment I heard it." - Hans Gross in Criminal Psychology.

Hans Gross Quotation: "Any success is made especially impossible if the judge has been in too much of a hurry and tried to show himself fully informed at the very beginning, but has brought out instead some error." - Hans Gross in Criminal Psychology.

Hans Gross Quotation: "It is wise therefore, in this connection, not to be in too great a hurry, and to seek to understand clearly the nature of the silent person." - Hans Gross in Criminal Psychology.

1881

Hans Gross Quotation: "We know very well that we may not hurry." - Hans Gross in Criminal Psychology.

Jacob A. Riis Quotation: "Well, mother, can she hurry a bit?" - Jacob A. Riis in The Making of an American.

Marietta Holley (Josiah Allen's Wife) Quotation: "And that wuz how it wuz with every man in the meetin' house that wuz able to work any. They wuz all in a hurry with their spring's work, and their buzz saws, and fheir inventions, and their agencys, etc." - Marietta Holley (Josiah Allen's Wife) in Samantha Among the Brethren, entire.

Marietta Holley (Josiah Allen's Wife) Quotation: "And one man, the tenor, who wuz dretful afraid of takin' cold, hurried through his part and got through first, and started on a run for the carriage." - Marietta Holley (Josiah Allen's Wife) in Samantha Among the Brethren, entire.

Marietta Holley (Josiah Allen's Wife) Quotation: "And I must hurry up and get the table cleared off any way, and get to my work agin', for I have got to do a lot of cookin' this afternoon." - Marietta Holley (Josiah Allen's Wife) in Samantha Among the Brethren, entire.

Marietta Holley (Josiah Allen's Wife) Quotation: "But the singin' wuz kinder jerky and curius, and they had got their pay beforehand, so they hurried it through." - Marietta Holley (Josiah Allen's Wife) in Samantha Among the Brethren, entire.

Marietta Holley (Josiah Allen's Wife) Quotation: "They had to hurry off to tell the great news to other places in Jonesville and up as fer as Loontown and Zoar." - Marietta Holley (Josiah Allen's Wife) in Samantha Among the Brethren, entire.

Robert Barr Quotation: "She hurriedly counted the words in the new despatch she had written, and quickly from her purse piled the gold that was necessary to pay for their transmission." - Robert Barr in A Woman Intervenes.

Robert Barr Quotation: "Jennie looked across at the doorway where many hurrying men were entering and leaving." - Robert Barr in A Woman Intervenes.

Robert Barr Quotation: "There is no immediate hurry, for I happen to know they have not done anything yet." - Robert Barr in A Woman Intervenes.

Robert Barr Quotation: "There was a wonderful avoidance of hurry, alike by officers and sailors." - Robert Barr in A Woman Intervenes.

Robert Barr Quotation: "Kenyon hurried to Von Brent's rooms and found him alone." - Robert Barr in A Woman Intervenes.

Rosa Nouchette Carey Quotation: "Neither did she attempt to find out what was amiss. When, the next evening, Malcolm told them hurriedly that he would be obliged to return to town earlier than he thought, she interrupted Amias's clumsy exclamations of regret." - Rosa Nouchette Carey in Herb of Grace.

Rosa Nouchette Carey Quotation: "Elizabeth could not have told why she was in such a hurry to be home, or why the morning seemed so endless to her." - Rosa Nouchette Carey in Herb of Grace.

Rosa Nouchette Carey Quotation: "David said he was in a loafing mood, and would not hear of my hurrying away." - Rosa Nouchette Carey in Herb of Grace.

Rosa Nouchette Carey Quotation: "You must write to him at once, and tell him to hurry Kit down." - Rosa Nouchette Carey in Herb of Grace.

Rosa Nouchette Carey Quotation: "Then she stopped as Dinah came hurriedly into the room." - Rosa Nouchette Carey in Herb of Grace.

Stewart, Robert Prescott, Sir: Publication of "Night hurrying on: two-part song." Written by Wellington Guernsey; music by Sir Robert P. Stewart, Mus. Doc. (Night hurrying sails away across the waters.). Publisher: Stanley Lucas, Weber & Co (London). Published in 1881.

Theresa Gowanlock and Theresa Delaney Quotation: "I have only spoken hurriedly and from a general standpoint of the farmers, and when I say farmers, I mean white people." - Theresa Gowanlock and Theresa Delaney in Two months in the Camp of Big Bear.

1882

Alexander Graham Bell: Bell is also credited with the invention of the metal detector in 1881. The device was hurriedly put together in an attempt to find the bullet in the body of U.S. President James Garfield. The metal detector worked, but didn't find the bullet because the metal bedframe the President was lying on confused the instrument. Bell gave a full account of his experiments in a paper read before the American Association for the Advancement of Science in August 1882. [WP]

Anton Chekhov Quotation: "I hurry for ever from one story to another, and can't help myself." - Anton Chekhov in The Sea-Gull.

Anton Chekhov Quotation: "Don't hurry, madam, you still have five minutes." - Anton Chekhov in The Sea-Gull.

Anton Chekhov Quotation: "Do let us hurry. I must go in half an hour." - Anton Chekhov in The Sea-Gull.

Charlotte Mary Yonge Quotation: "Eustace lingered a few moments longer, before, heaving a deep sigh he returned to the hall, where he found Gaston and Ingram, just come in from attending to the horses, and Ralph hurrying the servants in setting out an ample meal for the travellers." - Charlotte Mary Yonge in The Lances Of Lynwood.

Charlotte Mary Yonge Quotation: "Gaston obeyed, hurrying him to the gate, and giving him more hope of Sir Eustace's recovery than he felt; for he knew that nothing but the prospect of saving him was likely to inspire the yeoman with either speed or pertinacity enough to be of use." - Charlotte Mary Yonge in The Lances Of Lynwood.

Charlotte Mary Yonge Quotation: "Gaston, having given his orders, and quickened the activity of each man in his small garrison, hurried down to bear the tidings to Sir Eustace, and to array himself in his own brightest helmet and gayest surcoat." - Charlotte Mary Yonge in The Lances Of Lynwood.

Charlotte Mary Yonge Quotation: "This was directed to Gaston, and ere the last words were spoken, both Sir Reginald and Eustace were already beginning to hurry down the bank." - Charlotte Mary Yonge in The Lances Of Lynwood.

Ernie Howard Pyle Quotation: "Indeed, had it been daylight, they must at this juncture all have perished, though, as was said, what with the night and the confusion and the hurry, they escaped entire destruction, though more by a miracle than through any policy upon their own part." - Ernie Howard Pyle in Book of Pirates.

Ernie Howard Pyle Quotation: "Now Robin Hood and his band might have slain half of the Sheriff's men had they desired to do so, but they let them push out of the press and get them gone, only sending a bunch of arrows after them to hurry them in their flight." - Ernie Howard Pyle in Twilight Land.

Ernie Howard Pyle Quotation: "Mainwaring hurried aboard the Eliza Cooper, and there in the midst of the open flour barrel he beheld a great quantity of silver coin buried in and partly covered by the white meal." - Ernie Howard Pyle in Book of Pirates.

Ernie Howard Pyle Quotation: "Then Tom Chist told his story, panting, hurrying, tumbling one word over another in his haste, and Parson Jones listened, breaking every now and then into an ejaculation of wonder." - Ernie Howard Pyle in Book of Pirates.

Ernie Howard Pyle Quotation: "He hurried forward with a good deal of curiosity to see who had landed, but it was not until he had come close to them that he could distinguish who and what they were." - Ernie Howard Pyle in Book of Pirates.

George William Foote Quotation: "He then hurriedly left the bench, and we were in custody of the Governor of Newgate." - George William Foote in Prisoner for Blasphemy.

Gustavus Hindman Miller Quotation: "Fortune is hurrying after you." - Gustavus Hindman Miller in 10,000 Dreams Interpreted.

Henry Seton Merriman Quotation: "Although it was evident that he was pressed for time, the colonel did not hurry his horse, but rather relieved it when he could by dismounting, at every sharp ascent, and riding where possible in the deep shade of the chestnut trees." - Henry Seton Merriman in The Isle of Unrest.

Henry Seton Merriman Quotation: "Cornish told her, hurriedly, what had happened twelve hours ago on the bank of the Queen's Canal; and the thought of the misspent, crooked life that had ended in the black waters of that sluggish tideway made them all silent for a while." - Henry Seton Merriman in Roden's Corner.

Henry Seton Merriman Quotation: "Cornish and Mr. Wade proceeded more leisurely on their way; for the banker was not of a build to hurry even to a fire. Before they had gone far they perceived another man coming across the Dunes towards The Hague." - Henry Seton Merriman in Roden's Corner.

Henry Seton Merriman Quotation: "Dorothy and Mrs. Vansittart, like two generals on the eve of a battle, had been exchanging hurried notes all day; and Dorothy had promised to meet Mrs. Vansittart at the station on the arrival of the train." - Henry Seton Merriman in Roden's Corner.

Henry Seton Merriman Quotation: "The rain splashed pitilessly down on these men who had won a great victory, who now hurried hither and thither, afraid of they knew not what, cowering beneath the silence of Heaven." - Henry Seton Merriman in The Isle of Unrest.

Howard Pyle Quotation: "But ere he could put his design into execution his ears were startled by the sound of loud and hurried footsteps which, coming from below, ascended the stairs with a prodigious clatter and bustle of speed." - Howard Pyle in The Ruby of Kishmoor.

James Whitcomb Riley Quotation: "I found the wretched mother in an almost frenzied state, and her increasing violence alarmed me so that I thought it best to summon the physician again; and bidding the servant not to leave her for an instant, I hurried for the help so badly needed." - James Whitcomb Riley in Complete Works of James Whitcomb Riley, vol 10.

Wemyss Reid Quotation: "One of his tenants who had heard of the disaster, and had been told that only one of the baronets had escaped, was hurrying to the scene of the catastrophe, when he met Sir George Wombwell riding home." - Wemyss Reid in Memoirs of Sir Wemyss Reid 1842-1885 (ed Stuart J. Reid).

Wemyss Reid Quotation: "Everywhere Lives of the Prince were hurriedly prepared, and articles written announcing the event which appeared to be imminent." - Wemyss Reid in Memoirs of Sir Wemyss Reid 1842-1885 (ed Stuart J. Reid).

Wemyss Reid Quotation: "For several minutes they continued to kneel and pray, and then, suddenly rising, they hurriedly left the crowd and disappeared." - Wemyss Reid in Memoirs of Sir Wemyss Reid 1842-1885 (ed Stuart J. Reid).

Wemyss Reid Quotation: "Thousands of persons were hurrying down towards the river side; and upon their faces shone the reflection of the glowing sky." - Wemyss Reid in Memoirs of Sir Wemyss Reid 1842-1885 (ed Stuart J. Reid).

Wemyss Reid Quotation: "It was with this peroration still ringing in my ears that I hurried from the meeting to the telegraph office." - Wemyss Reid in Memoirs of Sir Wemyss Reid 1842-1885 (ed Stuart J. Reid).

1883

Anna Howard Shaw Quotation: "When the fish hurried to the surface of the water to investigate the appalling noises they had heard, they were easily snared by our small boy, who was very proud of his ability to contribute in this way to the family table." - Anna Howard Shaw in The Story of a Pioneer.

Arthur Weir Quotation: "Ah! what cheering rent the skies, Mingled with deep English curses, as he shoreward brought his prize! Slowly, slowly, almost sinking, still he struggled to the land, And we hurried down to meet him, as he reached the welcome strand." - Arthur Weir in Fleurs de lys and Other Poems.

Braham, David: Born in 1838 and died in 1905, authored "Hurry little children, or, Ding dong ding-a-ding-a-dong." Written by Edward Hurrigan (sic); composed by Dave Braham; sung by the Mohawk Minstrels; also sung in the principal pantomimes in London and the provinces. Published in 1883.

1883

Charles Felton Pidgin Quotation: "Quincy bethought himself of the message he had to deliver and made a hurried departure, first inviting the Doctor to dine with him the next day." - Charles Felton Pidgin in The Further Adventures of Quincy Adams Sawyer and Mason's Corner Folks.

Charles Felton Pidgin Quotation: "Besides, I could have ridden down here if Quincy hadn't been in such a hurry." - Charles Felton Pidgin in The Further Adventures of Quincy Adams Sawyer and Mason's Corner Folks.

George Bernard Shaw Quotation: "Alice hurried after her; and they had but just got into the room, the door of which was close to the staircase which gave access to the platform, when a coarse din of men's voices showed that a noisy party were ascending the steps." - George Bernard Shaw in Cashel Byron's Profession.

George Bernard Shaw Quotation: "On leaving the house he hurried to the address which his mother had given him: a prodigious building in Westminster, divided into residential flats, to the seventh floor of which he ascended in a lift." - George Bernard Shaw in Cashel Byron's Profession.

George Bernard Shaw Quotation: "Meanwhile Mrs. Byron, not suspecting the importance of the doctor's note, and happening to be in a hurry when it arrived, laid it by unopened, intending to read it at her leisure." - George Bernard Shaw in Cashel Byron's Profession.

George Bernard Shaw Quotation: "Lydia, foreseeing an altercation, and alarmed by the threatening aspect of the man, attempted to hurry away and send a policeman to Cashel's assistance." - George Bernard Shaw in Cashel Byron's Profession.

George Bernard Shaw Quotation: "I'll content myself with walking through that street in Soho occasionally. Now I'm off; I know you're in a hurry to be rid of me." - George Bernard Shaw in Cashel Byron's Profession.

Georges Ohnet Quotation: "An explanation between her and Serge was impossible, and her interference would only hurry him into the abyss." - Georges Ohnet in Serge Panine, vol 4.

Georges Ohnet Quotation: "Madame Desvarennes was excited and paced hurriedly up and down the room." - Georges Ohnet in Serge Panine, vol 1.

Georges Ohnet Quotation: "Events were hurrying on even quicker than she had dreaded." - Georges Ohnet in Serge Panine, vol 4.

Georges Ohnet Quotation: "They heard Cayrol's hurried steps ascending the stairs." - Georges Ohnet in Serge Panine, vol 2.

Georges Ohnet Quotation: "Cayrol came in, hurriedly." - Georges Ohnet in Serge Panine, vol 4.

H. Rider Haggard Quotation: "After this, sir, I do not know what occurred, since while I watched from the bulwarks someone knocked me head over heels into the sea and being fortunately, a good swimmer, I gained the shore and hurried here to advise you." - H. Rider Haggard in Allan and the Holy Flower.

H. Rider Haggard Quotation: "All the other canoes clustered round that in which he lay. Then, after a hurried consultation, they hauled down their sails and paddled back to the wharf." - H. Rider Haggard in Allan and the Holy Flower.

H. Rider Haggard Quotation: "After a hurried conference with Delgado, he came forward and addressed me in Arabic, of which I could not understand a word." - H. Rider Haggard in Allan and the Holy Flower.

H. Rider Haggard Quotation: "Swallowing his coffee in a hurry, he took his place at a little distance from us, and stood there in a statuesque pose." - H. Rider Haggard in Allan and the Holy Flower.

H. Rider Haggard Quotation: "On seeing these they had fled inland in a hurry, leaving me for dead, but killing the wounded before they went." - H. Rider Haggard in Allan and the Holy Flower.

Harriet A. Adams Quotation: "But she would only step inside the hall, and she spoke low and hurriedly, looking fearfully toward the closed doors beyond the stairway." - Harriet A. Adams in Dawn.

Harriet A. Adams Quotation: "Then, when he knew that the kitchen was empty, he slipped out, still cookyless, and hurried upstairs to his own room." - Harriet A. Adams in Dawn.

1884

Harriet A. Adams Quotation: "And without another glance at the boy, and before he could possibly protest, Susan hurried from the room." - Harriet A. Adams in Dawn.

Harriet A. Adams Quotation: "And with a jerk he freed himself from Mazie's grasp and hurried down the road toward home." - Harriet A. Adams in Dawn.

Harriet A. Adams Quotation: "Then, with an inarticulate little cry he dropped the paper and hurried from the room." - Harriet A. Adams in Dawn.

Kien Phuoc: Along with Emperors Duc Duc and Dong Khanh, he had been taken in by Tu Duc who was unable to have children of his own. After the regicide of Emperor Hiep Hoa the court regents acted quickly to install the fifteen-year-old prince as the new Emperor. Kien Phuc was quickly enthroned on December 1, 1883 at five o'clock in the morning. His predecessor, Emperor Hiep Hoa, had been arrested and murdered while the French Superior Resident, Champeaux had left Hue. When he returned he angrily protested the hurried coronation of the new monarch and the fact that France had not been consulted. [WP] Teale, the Younger. Thomas Pridgin: Publication of "Hurry, Worry and Money: the bane of modern education, etc." Published in 1883.

1884

Earle Ashley Walcott Quotation: "In the hurry and excitement of preparation and departure, the orders I had given and received, and the work that filled every moment, I had been conscious of the uneasy burden of a task forgotten." - Earle Ashley Walcott in Blindfolded.

Earle Ashley Walcott Quotation: "I could only wonder who Borton might be, and where his place was, and what connection he might have with the mystery, as Dicky took me by the arm and hurried me out into the darkness." - Earle Ashley Walcott in Blindfolded.

Earle Ashley Walcott Quotation: "The books that had been arranged on the desk and shelves were now scattered about in confusion, as though they had been hurriedly examined and thrown aside in a fruitless search." - Earle Ashley Walcott in Blindfolded.

Earle Ashley Walcott Quotation: "The house through which I had flown shouting was now silent, and if any one on the street had heard me he had hurried on and closed his ears, lest evil befall him." - Earle Ashley Walcott in Blindfolded.

Earle Ashley Walcott Quotation: "Decker, hatless, with hair disheveled, had leaped the rail and was hurrying into the throng that surrounded Doddridge Knapp." - Earle Ashley Walcott in Blindfolded.

Frank Channing Haddock Quotation: "If you have read it correctly, you have learned that magnetic growth cannot be hurried." - Frank Channing Haddock in Mastery of Self.

L.T. Meade Quotation: "For Cecile and Maurice in their hurry had come away in their shabbiest clothes, and Cecile's hat was even a little torn at the brim, and Maurice's toes were peeping out of his worn little boots, and his trousers were patched." - L.T. Meade in The Children's Pilgrimage.

L.T. Meade Quotation: "Hurry, Nora, for Heaven's sake! For the life of me, don't give me a cup of cold water to taste, and then dash it from my lips. If we are not quick, we'll be caught and prevented from going." - L.T. Meade in Light O' The Morning (The Story of an Irish Girl).

L.T. Meade Quotation: "I knew by her cry as she was a very young girl, nearly a child; and, God forgive me! for a moment I thought as I'd hurry on, and not notice her, for I did dread seeing children." - L.T. Meade in The Children's Pilgrimage.

L.T. Meade Quotation: "Mrs. O'Shanaghgan gave one hurried pant of suppressed anguish, and then sat perfectly still, her lips set, her hands tightly locked together." - L.T. Meade in Light O' The Morning (The Story of an Irish Girl).

L.T. Meade Quotation: "I hurry no man's cattle; and my train, she goes when she likes, and I aint going to hurry her, not I." - L.T. Meade in Light O' The Morning (The Story of an Irish Girl).

M. Sidney Quotation: "Don't you remember, I hurried over to Grandma Bascom's with the little Pepper letters, and you said you'd talk it over with me when I got home?" - M. Sidney in Five Little Peppers and their Friends.

M. Sidney Quotation: "Won't you please make Joe hurry up and come?" - M. Sidney in Five Little Peppers and their Friends.

M. Sidney Quotation: "Hurry up! Do you promise?" - M. Sidney in Five Little Peppers and their Friends.

Margaret Sidney Quotation: "Jasper, his hands full of papers, hurried down the long warehouse, through the piles of books, fresh from the bindery, stacked closely to the ceiling. The busy packers who were filling the boxes, looked up as he threaded his way between them." - Margaret Sidney in Five Little Peppers Grown Up.

Margaret Sidney Quotation: "He threw her the brightest of smiles as he moved to make way for a group of friends hurrying up to shower Polly with compliments, and every one had something delightful to add of Charlotte Chatterton's singing." - Margaret Sidney in Five Little Peppers Grown Up.

Margaret Sidney Quotation: "So when Pickering Dodge, with a radiant face at being sent for by Polly's own hand, ran lightly up the steps of the King mansion, about an hour later, Ben hurried off to find Charlotte Chatterton." - Margaret Sidney in Five Little Peppers Grown Up.

Margaret Sidney Quotation: "The end of it all was, that he soon hurried off, being introduced to Tom's mother, to whom he presented his father's compliments, and would she do him the favour to join their party?" - Margaret Sidney in Five Little Peppers Abroad.

Margaret Sidney Quotation: "Jasper tried to get up to Polly's side, as she was hurrying Phronsie to the car, old Mr. King holding fast to Phronsie's other hand, but Livingston Bayley got there first." - Margaret Sidney in Five Little Peppers Grown Up.

Thomas Hardy Quotation: "His father, too, was shocked to see him, so reduced was that figure from its former contours by worry and the bad season that Clare had experienced, in the climate to which he had so rashly hurried in his first aversion to the mockery of events at home." - Thomas Hardy in Tess of the d'Urbervilles.

Thomas Hardy Quotation: "Broken in heart and numbed, he had nothing to hurry for; but he wished to get out of a town which had been the scene of such an experience, and turned to walk to the first station onward, and let the train pick him up there." - Thomas Hardy in Tess of the d'Urbervilles.

Thomas Hardy Quotation: "The two elder of the brothers were plainly not intending to linger more than a moment, but the spectacle of a bevy of girls dancing without male partners seemed to amuse the third, and make him in no hurry to move on." - Thomas Hardy in Tess of the d'Urbervilles.

Thomas Hardy Quotation: "Without heeding the attack of the clouds further than by raising her hand and wiping away the spirts of rain when they went more particularly into her eyes, she sat down and hurriedly began rending the linen into strips." - Thomas Hardy in A Pair of Blue Eyes.

Thomas Hardy Quotation: "So wrapping herself up hurriedly she emerged into the passage, and by the aid of a faint light burning at the entrance to the saloon found the foot of the stairs, and ascended to the deck." - Thomas Hardy in A Pair of Blue Eyes.

1885

Anton Chekhov Quotation: "What are you in such a hurry for?" - Anton Chekhov in Plays, series 2.

Churchill, Frederick: Born in 1843 and died in 1916, authored "High-pressure education: being an exposition of the evil effects upon the rising generation of hurry and worry at school, with suggestions." Publisher: printed by Harrison and Sons (London). Published in 1885.

James Oliver Curwood Quotation: "Then a door opened, and a figure hurried across the open. He stepped back into the gloom of his own cabin and waited." - James Oliver Curwood in Philip Steele of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police.

James Oliver Curwood Quotation: "It must have been very soon after that, and after she had caught a glimpse of the face at the window, that Shan Tung had hurried to the Shack." - James Oliver Curwood in The River's End.

1885

James Oliver Curwood Quotation: "As he hurried to Breed's quarters he wondered if Colonel Becker or Isobel had seen him from their window." - James Oliver Curwood in Philip Steele of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police.

James Oliver Curwood Quotation: "My theory died with them, and as fast as I could travel I hurried to that other place in Central America." - James Oliver Curwood in Philip Steele of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police.

James Oliver Curwood Quotation: "He did not hurry, for now that he was out of his prison, he wanted time in which to feel the first exhilarating thrill of his freedom." - James Oliver Curwood in The River's End.

Michael Fairless Quotation: "Now the porter was stout, short of breath, and of a hasty spirit; and the Prior knew something was amiss by reason of his hurried gait and wrathful countenance." - Michael Fairless in Gathering of Brother Hilarius.

Michael Fairless Quotation: "She blew on the buttercups so that they thought the morning breeze had come to wake them up, and opened their cups in a great hurry." - Michael Fairless in The Gray Brethren.

Mrs Humphry Ward Quotation: "Once or twice through the waning storm Mary heard the deep bell of the little church, tolling the hours; once or twice she went hurriedly downstairs thinking there were steps in the garden, only to meet her mother in the hall, on the same bootless errand." - Mrs Humphry Ward in The Case of Richard Meynell.

Mrs Humphry Ward Quotation: "At last, out of breath, and almost swooning, she sank down under the shelter of a rock, and became in a moment aware that white mists were swirling and hurrying all about her, and that only just behind her, and just above her, was the path clear." - Mrs Humphry Ward in The Case of Richard Meynell.

Mrs Humphry Ward Quotation: "At last she fluttered off, only, however, to come hurrying back with little, short, scudding steps, to implore them all to come to tea with her as soon as possible in the garden that was her special hobby, and in her last new summerhouse." - Mrs Humphry Ward in Robert Elsmere.

Mrs Humphry Ward Quotation: "Two days later the butler, coming in a hurry before breakfast to put out his master's clothes, shook the photograph out of the folds of the shirt, where it had hidden itself, without noticing what he had done." - Mrs Humphry Ward in Sir George Tressady, vol 2.

Mrs Humphry Ward Quotation: "The vicar in front of them turned and waved his hand to them in laughing despair, then hurried after the others, evidently with a view of performing for them the same office Elsmere had just performed for Catherine." - Mrs Humphry Ward in Robert Elsmere.

Paul Bourget Quotation: "As happens in such circumstances, events are hurried, and the pessimistic anticipations of the irritable Marquis were verified almost as soon as he uttered them." - Paul Bourget in Cosmopolis, vol 3.

Paul Bourget Quotation: "If I had not been in such haste to reach Ribalta's in time to save the Montluc, I could have stopped him, but we were both in too great a hurry." - Paul Bourget in Cosmopolis, vol 1.

Stephen Crane Quotation: "She smiled squarely into the face of a boy who was hurrying by with his hands buried in his overcoat, his blonde locks bobbing on his youthful temples, and a cheery smile of unconcern upon his lips." - Stephen Crane in Maggie, Girl of the Steets.

Stephen Crane Quotation: "As she turned her face toward him Pete beckoned to her hurriedly, intent upon returning with speed to a position behind the bar and to the atmosphere of respectability upon which the proprietor insisted." - Stephen Crane in Men, Women, and Boat.

Stephen Crane Quotation: "This forgotten part of the battle ground was owned by the dead men, and he hurried, in the vague apprehension that one of the swollen forms would rise and tell him to begone." - Stephen Crane in The Red Badge of Courage.

Stephen Crane Quotation: "The cannon with their noses poked slantingly at the ground grunted and grumbled like stout men, brave but with objections to hurry." - Stephen Crane in The Red Badge of Courage.

Stephen Crane Quotation: "Hurrying men, bent on catching some boat or train, jostled her elbows, failing to notice her, their thoughts fixed on distant dinners." - Stephen Crane in Men, Women, and Boat.

Stephen Gwynn Quotation: "The end was an attack of typhoid fever, which came on while the book was still in the press; and his father, thinking it important to hurry the publication, took on himself to correct the proofs while his son was ill." - Stephen Gwynn in The Life of the Rt Hon Sir Charles W. Dilke, vol 1.

Stephen Gwynn Quotation: "No one quite knew how to deal with the situation which was now created by Mr. Bradlaugh's hurried advance up the floor of the House, when he administered the oath to himself." - Stephen Gwynn in The Life of the Rt Hon Sir Charles W. Dilke, vol 1.

Stephen Gwynn Quotation: "Sir Charles, hurrying into Mr. Chamberlain's room in the House of Commons, had found him busy and preoccupied, and so followed up his visit with a letter." - Stephen Gwynn in The Life of the Rt Hon Sir Charles W. Dilke, vol 1.

1886

Frances Hodgson Burnett Quotation: "There were no street cars in Fifth Avenue, but there were carriages, waggons, carts, motors, all pantingly hurried, and fretting and struggling when the crowded state of the thoroughfare held them back." - Frances Hodgson Burnett in The Shuttle.

Frances Hodgson Burnett Quotation: "As the man leaning on the rail looked on, he saw messengers bearing baskets and boxes of fruit and flowers with cards and notes attached, hurrying up the gangway to deliver them to waiting stewards." - Frances Hodgson Burnett in The Shuttle.

Frances Hodgson Burnett Quotation: "It pleased her to see that he did not hurry to his feet clumsily, but even stood upright, with a shade of boyish dignity, and did not release her hand before he had bent his head low over it again." - Frances Hodgson Burnett in The Shuttle.

Frances Hodgson Burnett Quotation: "Those whom the pressure outside had crushed against the wall near the window in a passionate hurry, breathed on and rubbed the panes that they might lay their faces to them." - Frances Hodgson Burnett in The Dawn of A To-morrow.

Frances Hodgson Burnett Quotation: "Very soon it made her intensely drowsy, and she went back to her nursery and shut herself in again, frightened by cries she heard in the huts and by the hurrying sound of feet." - Frances Hodgson Burnett in The Secret Garden.

Frank Norris Quotation: "He put a sack over his head and shoulders, persistently declining Magnus's offered umbrella and rubber coat, and hurried away, remarking that he had no foreman on his ranch and had to be up and about at five the next morning to put his men to work." - Frank Norris in The Octopus [A California Story].

Frank Norris Quotation: "Bewildered, beside himself with trepidation, he hurried about the room, jostled by the dancing couples, tripping over the feet of those who were seated; he peered distressfully under the chairs and about the floor, asking anxious questions." - Frank Norris in The Octopus [A California Story].

Frank Norris Quotation: "Annixter marched down the line of cars, his hands encumbered with wicker telescope baskets, satchels, and valises, his tickets in his mouth, his hat on wrong side foremost, Hilma and her parents hurrying on behind him, trying to keep up." - Frank Norris in The Octopus [A California Story].

Frank Norris Quotation: "On the occasion of his first daytime visit with Presley, he had hurried away even before the twilight had set in, not daring for the moment to face the crowding phantoms that in his imagination filled the Mission garden after dark." - Frank Norris in The Octopus [A California Story].

Frank Norris Quotation: "He led her from the harness room to the outer room, where Mrs. Tree and Hilma took charge of her, and then, impatient, refusing to answer the hundreds of anxious questions that assailed him, hurried back to the harness room." - Frank Norris in The Octopus [A California Story].

Frank T. Bullen Quotation: "We lost no time in preparation, since whaling of whatever sort is conducted in these ships on precisely similar lines, but on Monday morning, at daybreak, after a hurried breakfast, lowered all boats and commenced the campaign." - Frank T. Bullen in The Cruise of the Cachalot.

Frank T. Bullen Quotation: "In answer to the skipper's hurried queries from below Mr. Count gave him the general outline of affairs, to which he replied by crowding every stitch of canvas on the vessel that was available." - Frank T. Bullen in The Cruise of the Cachalot.

Frank T. Bullen Quotation: "But as the whale was at least seven miles away, and we had a fair wind for him, there was no hurry to lower, so we all stood at attention by our respective boats, waiting for the signal." - Frank T. Bullen in The Cruise of the Cachalot.

Frank T. Bullen Quotation: "As there was so reason to hurry south, we, took a short cruise on the Vasquez ground, more, I think, for the purpose of training our recruits than anything else." - Frank T. Bullen in The Cruise of the Cachalot.

Frank T. Bullen Quotation: "No sooner did Paddy hear the news of our arrival in such fine trim than he lowered his boat and hurried on board of us, his face beaming with delight." - Frank T. Bullen in The Cruise of the Cachalot.

Goodeve, Henry Hurry: Author of "The management and medical treatment of children in India." Published in 1886.

Horace W.C. Newte Quotation: "It told her that by dawdling till she reached the next bend, she could be out of sight of Perigal, without exciting his suspicions, when it would be the easiest thing in the world to hurry till she came to a track which led from the canal to the town." - Horace W.C. Newte in Sparrows.

Horace W.C. Newte Quotation: "Directly the door was closed, Miss Annie, followed at a distance by Miss Helen, hurried into the schoolroom, where, pulling aside the Venetian blind of the front window, they watched the girl's trim figure walk down the street." - Horace W.C. Newte in Sparrows.

Horace W.C. Newte Quotation: "When she hurried home in the evening, the boy was decidedly worse; there was no gainsaying the seriousness of his symptoms. Every time Mavis tried to make him take nourishment, he would cry out as if it hurt him to swallow." - Horace W.C. Newte in Sparrows.

Horace W.C. Newte Quotation: "Men and girls hurried by to keep appointments with friends or lovers. Buses jogged past her, loaded with people who all had somewhere to go, and probably someone who looked for their coming." - Horace W.C. Newte in Sparrows.

Horace W.C. Newte Quotation: "Most walked in twos and threes, a few singly; some of these latter were hurrying and darting amongst the listless walk of the others in their eagerness to keep appointments with men." - Horace W.C. Newte in Sparrows.

Max Nordau Quotation: "He shot a quick glance at the strange gentleman on whose aim she leaned, but it was more expressive of curiosity than surprise; he then hurried away to carry out the remarkable orders Anne had dryly transmitted to him." - Max Nordau in The Malady of the Century.

Max Nordau Quotation: "Strange, he always hurried over this solution of the difficulty. In his inner consciousness he was apparently not desirous of making the connection a lifelong one, even if sanctioned by lawful formalities." - Max Nordau in The Malady of the Century.

Max Nordau Quotation: "He barely gave himself time to freshen his face with cold water, and to change his thick walking shoes for lighter ones; immediately hurrying out to make acquaintance with the castle." - Max Nordau in The Malady of the Century.

Max Nordau Quotation: "Then he worked himself out on his hands and knees, and to the astonishment of the soldiers in the pit moved away toward the wounded, alone and without hurry or excitement." - Max Nordau in The Malady of the Century.

Max Nordau Quotation: "As they went downstairs she gave a hurried order in the office, and with a beaming and triumphant face, passed through the hall on Wilhelm's arm to the carriage." - Max Nordau in The Malady of the Century.

1886

Mrs Henry Wood Quotation: "About midway down it, what was his astonishment at encountering Hamish! Not hurrying along, dreading to be seen, but flourishing leisurely at his ease, nodding to every one he knew, his sweet smile in full play, and his cane whirling circlets in the air." - Mrs Henry Wood in The Channings: A Story.

Mrs Henry Wood Quotation: "You may remember the evening, though it is long ago. You may also remember Martin Pope's coming hurriedly into the office in Guild Street, telling Hamish some one was starting by the train; when both hastened to the station, leaving Arthur in wonder." - Mrs Henry Wood in The Channings: A Story.

Mrs Henry Wood Quotation: "Judith came bustling up at that moment from the kitchen, a letter in her hand, looking as if in her hurry she might have knocked them over, had they not made way for her to enter." - Mrs Henry Wood in The Channings: A Story.

Mrs Henry Wood Quotation: "He caught sight of Jenkins, and, hurried as he was, much of punishment as he was bargaining for, it had such an effect upon him, that he pulled up short." - Mrs Henry Wood in The Channings: A Story.

Mrs Henry Wood Quotation: "And yet, strange to say, it is, to some, the most hurried, uncomfortable, disagreeable day of all the seven." - Mrs Henry Wood in The Channings: A Story.

O. Henry (William Sidney Porter) Quotation: "Frozen, cruel, implacable, impervious, cut to an identical pattern, they hurried on their ways like statues brought by some miracles to motion, while soul and feeling lay unaroused in the reluctant marble." - O. Henry (William Sidney Porter) in The Trimmed Lamp, et al.

O. Henry (William Sidney Porter) Quotation: "I backed down the steps to the sidewalk and then hurried away frontward, fully understanding how incidents like that must bother the psychical research people and the census takers." - O. Henry (William Sidney Porter) in Rolling Stones.

O. Henry (William Sidney Porter) Quotation: "Uncle Bushrod, aided by his hickory stick, impeded by his rheumatism, hurried down the street toward the railroad station, where the two lines touching Weymouthville met." - O. Henry (William Sidney Porter) in Roads of Destiny.

O. Henry (William Sidney Porter) Quotation: "Maida breathed a millionth part of the thanks in her heart, and hurried away with her dress. As she left the shop a smart dash of rain struck upon her face." - O. Henry (William Sidney Porter) in The Trimmed Lamp, et al.

O. Henry (William Sidney Porter) Quotation: "Elsie hurried away after thanking Miss Ticklebaum for her timely warning and advice. After all, it seemed that she must try to find Mr. Otter." - O. Henry (William Sidney Porter) in The Trimmed Lamp, et al.

Pelham Grenville Wodehouse Quotation: "Do you realise that women wear black evening dresses that have to be hooked up in a hurry when you are late for the theatre, and that, out of sheer wanton malignity, the hooks and eyes on those dresses are also made black?" - Pelham Grenville Wodehouse in Three Men and a Maid.

Pelham Grenville Wodehouse Quotation: "Gessler, who had been fidgeting on his horse for some time, now spoke again, urging Tell to hurry." - Pelham Grenville Wodehouse in William Tell Told Again.

Pelham Grenville Wodehouse Quotation: "I am in a hurry." - Pelham Grenville Wodehouse in William Tell Told Again.

Pierre Loti (Julien Viauld) Quotation: "Suddenly a man's footsteps hurried along the path! At this hour who would pass now?" - Pierre Loti (Julien Viauld) in An Iceland Fisherman.

Robert Neilson Stephens Quotation: "The human crowd was hurrying to dinner." - Robert Neilson Stephens in Mystery of Murray Davenport.

William Wood Quotation: "Sanitation on a large scale, never having been practised in peace, could not be improvised in this hurried, though disastrously slow, preparation for a war." - William Wood in The Winning of Canada: A Chronicle of Wolf.

William Wood Quotation: "The vote would have been a tie if a member of the Opposition had not slipped and broken his leg as he was hurrying down to the House." - William Wood in The Great Fortress (A Chronicle of Louisbourg 1720-1760).

William Wood Quotation: "After a conference with Pepperrell he hurried off to begin the blockade of Louisbourg." - William Wood in The Great Fortress (A Chronicle of Louisbourg 1720-1760).

William Wood Quotation: "By this time preparations were being hurried forward on every hand. Fleets were fitting out." - William Wood in The Winning of Canada: A Chronicle of Wolf.

William Wood Quotation: "And all the people who had been living outside hurried in behind the walls." - William Wood in The Great Fortress (A Chronicle of Louisbourg 1720-1760).

1887

Andrew Lang Quotation: "So speaking, the Stranger, with amazing speed, hurried Blinton back through Holywell Street, along the Strand, and up to Piccadilly, stopping at last at the door of Blinton's famous and very expensive binder." - Andrew Lang in Books and Bookmen.

Andrew Lang Quotation: "Before the astonished binder could ask the most necessary questions, Blinton's tormentor had hurried that amateur out of the room." - Andrew Lang in Books and Bookmen.

Andrew Lang Quotation: "These devoted men rise betimes, and hurry to the stalls before the common tide of passengers goes by." - Andrew Lang in Books and Bookmen.

Annie Hamilton Donnell Quotation: "The Fat Lady was at the further end of the grounds, but there was no hurry; she would remain just as fat a Fat Lady if they pleasantly dallied a little." - Annie Hamilton Donnell in Miss Theodosia's Heartstrings.

Annie Hamilton Donnell Quotation: "Elly Precious' small body rolled and lurched with their hurry and the agitation of Evangeline's soul." - Annie Hamilton Donnell in Miss Theodosia's Heartstrings.

Annie Hamilton Donnell Quotation: "Tears stood in her eyes. She hurried back, bottleless, to Elly Precious, to tell him." - Annie Hamilton Donnell in Miss Theodosia's Heartstrings.

Annie Hamilton Donnell Quotation: "She dropped her foolish bit of linen and hurried to meet that little sag." - Annie Hamilton Donnell in Miss Theodosia's Heartstrings.

Annie Hamilton Donnell Quotation: "She hurried Miss Theodosia aside and talked very fast." - Annie Hamilton Donnell in Miss Theodosia's Heartstrings.

E.J. Banfield Quotation: "Twists purposely made to test its degree of intelligence are artfullystraightened out, and the eagerness and hurry with which water is forced throughout empty parts show that life is both sweet and precious." - E.J. Banfield in The Confessions of a Beachcomber.

E.J. Banfield Quotation: "Tom was so exhausted that she had to drag him up on the sand, and having made him comfortable with her safe but sodden blanket, she hurried into town to report the circumstances to the police." - E.J. Banfield in The Confessions of a Beachcomber.

E.J. Banfield Quotation: "But at five o'clock Tom visited his hut, and hurried back for medicine." - E.J. Banfield in The Confessions of a Beachcomber.

Edward Bellamy Quotation: "Now, hurrying was the regulation gait of the nineteenth century." - Edward Bellamy in Equality.

Hardman, Joseph William: Author of "Parson's perplexity. What to preach about. Being short, suggestive sermons for the hard-working and hurried, including all the Sundays and chief holy-days of the church's year." Published in 1887.

Henry Cabot Lodge and Theodore Roosevelt Quotation: "Once on the field of battle, the rush and hurry of the desperate ride from Winchester came to an end." - Henry Cabot Lodge and Theodore Roosevelt in Hero Tales From American History.

James Lane Allen Quotation: "The turnstile behind him was kept in a whirl by students pushing through and hurrying toward the college a few hundred yards distant; others, who had just left it, came tramping toward him and passing out." - James Lane Allen in The Reign of Law.

James Lane Allen Quotation: "On each gatepost a low Christmas star was set to guide and welcome good neighbors; and between those beacons soon they came hurrying, fathers and mothers and children assembling for the party." - James Lane Allen in The Bride of the Mistletoe.

James Lane Allen Quotation: "She hurried around in front of him, wishing to read the expression of his eyes by the distant gleams from the windows." - James Lane Allen in The Bride of the Mistletoe.

James Lane Allen Quotation: "But such a deeper pang pierced her that she turned away and walked hurriedly down the hill toward the evergreens." - James Lane Allen in The Bride of the Mistletoe.

James Lane Allen Quotation: "The feeding and bedding attended to, with a basket of cobs in his hand for his mother, he hurried away to the woodpile." - James Lane Allen in The Reign of Law.

John McElroy Quotation: "Now we go into line just as we raise the hill, and as my four comes around, I catch a hurried glimpse through a rift in the smoke of a line of butternut and gray clad men a hundred yards or so away." - John McElroy in Andersonville, vol 1.

John McElroy Quotation: "The uproar only ceased when Bradley was hurried out of the prisons but for hours everybody was savage and sullen, and full of threatenings against him, when opportunity served." - John McElroy in Andersonville, vol 3.

John McElroy Quotation: "The reason of our being hurried out of Andersonville under the false pretext of exchange dawned on us before we had been in Savannah long." - John McElroy in Andersonville, vol 3.

John McElroy Quotation: "The guard outside saw him, pulled him out of the hole, and when he recovered sensibility hurried him back into the Stockade." - John McElroy in Andersonville, vol 2.

John McElroy Quotation: "They all seemed to about face' at once, and they lit out of there as if they had been sent for in a hurry." - John McElroy in Andersonville, vol 3.

Joseph A. Munk Quotation: "Instantly he spurred his horse into a run and chased after the cattle at full speed, at the same time looking back and shouting that he saw two mavericks and for us to hurry up and help catch them." - Joseph A. Munk in Arizona Sketches.

Joseph A. Munk Quotation: "Tedrow hurried up as fast as he could while I brought up the rear." - Joseph A. Munk in Arizona Sketches.

L. Frank Baum Quotation: "But the wind, as if satisfied at last with its mischievous pranks, stopped blowing this ocean and hurried away to another part of the world to blow something else; so that the waves, not being joggled any more, began to quiet down and behave themselves." - L. Frank Baum in Ozma of Oz.

L. Frank Baum Quotation: "He was in a tremendous hurry and seeing the stockings all belonged to children he quickly stuffed his toys into them and dashed up the chimney again, appearing on the roof so suddenly that the reindeer were astonished at his agility." - L. Frank Baum in Life/Adventures of Santa Claus.

L. Frank Baum Quotation: "But, you see, he is so busy all the year making toys, and so hurried on that one night when he visits our homes with his packs, that he comes and goes among us like a flash; and it is almost impossible to catch a glimpse of him." - L. Frank Baum in Life/Adventures of Santa Claus.

L. Frank Baum Quotation: "They had no sooner departed than the band before the palace began to play again, announcing more arrivals, and as these were doubtless from foreign parts the High Chamberlain hurried back to receive them in his most official manner." - L. Frank Baum in The Road to Oz.

L. Frank Baum Quotation: "It rained all the way and the walking was very disagreeable, but our friends were confronting an important crisis in their strange adventures, and with possible death at their journey's end, they were in no hurry to arrive there." - L. Frank Baum in Sky Island.

Leo Tolstoy Quotation: "Where's the hurry for him to get married?" - Leo Tolstoy in Redemption and Two Other Plays.

Leo Tolstoy Quotation: "What need has he to hurry?" - Leo Tolstoy in Redemption and Two Other Plays.

Leo Tolstoy Quotation: "Where's the hurry?" - Leo Tolstoy in Redemption and Two Other Plays.

Mina Benson Hubbard Quotation: "I did wish that the men would not chat and laugh in the unconcerned way they were doing, and they paddled as leisurely as if I were not in a hurry at all." - Mina Benson Hubbard in A Woman's Way Through Unknown Labrador.

Mina Benson Hubbard Quotation: "I told him I would be very much in a hurry to go home, and wouldn't wish to stay out here for the winter." - Mina Benson Hubbard in A Woman's Way Through Unknown Labrador.

Mina Benson Hubbard Quotation: "Slipping hurriedly back into the canoes we paddled rapidly and silently to near the edge of the swamp." - Mina Benson Hubbard in A Woman's Way Through Unknown Labrador.

Mina Benson Hubbard Quotation: "When we appeared the mother bird tried vainly to hurry her flock away to a place of safety." - Mina Benson Hubbard in A Woman's Way Through Unknown Labrador.

Mina Benson Hubbard Quotation: "I hurried on trying to keep the disturbing object in sight, but I could not." - Mina Benson Hubbard in A Woman's Way Through Unknown Labrador.

Olive Schreiner Quotation: "But Em was that evening in no hurry to enter, and, instead of going in at the back door, walked with lagging footsteps round the low brick wall that ran before the house." - Olive Schreiner in The Story of an African Farm.

Olive Schreiner Quotation: "He was evidently in no hurry to reach his destination, for the nearer he approached to it the slacker did his bridle hang." - Olive Schreiner in The Story of an African Farm.

Olive Schreiner Quotation: "He had felt in them, but hurriedly, just after the funeral the day before; he would examine them again." - Olive Schreiner in The Story of an African Farm.

Olive Schreiner Quotation: "He was not tired now; his pen hurried quickly and restlessly over the paper, and his eye was bright." - Olive Schreiner in The Story of an African Farm.

Olive Schreiner Quotation: "We hurried out, and they gave me the best seat, and covered me with rugs, because it was drizzling." - Olive Schreiner in The Story of an African Farm.

Spiegelberg, Otto: Born in 1830 and died in 1881, authored "A text book of midwifery." By the late Otto Spiegelberg; translated from the second German edition by J.B. Hurry (Lehrbuch der Geburtshu¨lfe fu¨r Aerzte und Studirende. English). Publisher: The New Sydenham Society (London). Published in 1887-1888.

1888

Alan Seeger Quotation: "Over the terrace flows the thronged cafe; The boulevards are streams of hurrying sound; And through the streets, like veins when they abound, The lust for pleasure throbs itself away." - Alan Seeger in Poems.

Alan Seeger Quotation: "For four or five years I had only seen him a few days at a time, during my hurried visits to the United States." - Alan Seeger in Poems.

Edmund Venables Quotation: "He calmly waited for the time fixed for the brethren to assemble, and then, without hurry or any show of alarm, he opened the meeting in the usual manner, with prayer for God's blessing." - Edmund Venables in The Life of John Bunyan.

Edmund Venables Quotation: "At the same time it was not to be decided in a hurry." - Edmund Venables in The Life of John Bunyan.

Henry Edward Krehbiel Quotation: "When the curtain rises, youths, reclining on the rocky projections, answering the beckonings of the nymphs, hurry down to them; beside the basin of the waterfall the nymphs have begun the dance designed to lure the youths to them." - Henry Edward Krehbiel in A Book Of Operas.

Henry Edward Krehbiel Quotation: "In the third act phases of convict life and customs belonging to the Russian Easter festival are disclosed, and there is a resumption of the dramatic story which now hurries rapidly to its tragic conclusion." - Henry Edward Krehbiel in Chapters of Opera.

Henry Edward Krehbiel Quotation: "He was either too lazy, too much in a hurry, or too indifferent to the principles of art to remodel the completed portion, but finished his book on lines far different from those originally contemplated." - Henry Edward Krehbiel in A Book Of Operas.

Henry Edward Krehbiel Quotation: "He, too, gets behind the chair, while Cherubino, screened by Susanna's skirts, ensconces himself in the seat, and finds cover under one of the Countess's gowns which Susanna hurriedly throws over him." - Henry Edward Krehbiel in A Book Of Operas.

1888

Henry Edward Krehbiel Quotation: "Don Giovanni hurries from the house, concealing his features with his cloak and impeded by Donna Anna, who clings to him, trying to get a look into his face and calling for help." - Henry Edward Krehbiel in A Book Of Operas.

J.J. Astor Quotation: "Seeing the huge, hollow trunk of a fallen tree near, and not wishing to be wet through, Ayrault fired several solid shots from his revolver into the cavity, to drive out any wild animals there might be inside, and then hurriedly crawled in, feet first." - J.J. Astor in A Journey in Other Worlds.

J.J. Astor Quotation: "For about twenty minutes he hurried on through the growing darkness, stopping once on high ground to make sure of his bearings, and he had covered more than half the distance when the rain came on in a flood, accompanied by brilliant lightning." - J.J. Astor in A Journey in Other Worlds.

J.J. Astor Quotation: "For half a mile they hurried along, until, seeing by the quantity of blood on the ground that they were in no danger of losing the game, they determined to save their strength." - J.J. Astor in A Journey in Other Worlds.

Knut Hamsun Quotation: "Why was he in such a hurry? I had not the slightest intention of asking him for a shilling, and, more than that, I intended at the very first opportunity to return him a blanket which I had borrowed from him some weeks before." - Knut Hamsun in Hunger.

Knut Hamsun Quotation: "The doctor is no doubt impatient over the delay this involves; he attempts to hurry her down the stairs, he attempts something in the nature of a push to help her along." - Knut Hamsun in The Road Leads On.

Knut Hamsun Quotation: "August, returning from his baptism and decidedly ill, hurried past in order to get home and to bed." - Knut Hamsun in The Road Leads On.

Knut Hamsun Quotation: "When I reached the pavement I felt as much saved as if I had just escaped a great peril, and I hurried away." - Knut Hamsun in Hunger.

Knut Hamsun Quotation: "I jumped up in all haste, and clad myself hurriedly; my clothes were still wet through from last night." - Knut Hamsun in Hunger.

Matilda Betham-Edwards Quotation: "On nearer inspection they seemed worthy old souls enough, evidently members of the household; but as their amount of French was scant, they hurried indoors again." - Matilda Betham-Edwards in The Roof of France.

Melvin L. Severy Quotation: "His first impulse was to hurriedly retrace his steps, but before he had acted upon it, the thought occurred to him that she intended to poison herself with the drugs he was about to procure." - Melvin L. Severy in The Darrow Enigma.

Melvin L. Severy Quotation: "She hurriedly told him what had transpired and sent him to the nearest police station." - Melvin L. Severy in The Darrow Enigma.

Melvin L. Severy Quotation: "He pocketed it, hurried out, and that is the last I have ever seen or heard of him." - Melvin L. Severy in The Darrow Enigma.

Melvin L. Severy Quotation: "Dazed, filled with a strange mixture of dread and yearning, I hurried to the cave." - Melvin L. Severy in The Darrow Enigma.

Melvin L. Severy Quotation: "If this were the case, there was no great need of hurry." - Melvin L. Severy in The Darrow Enigma.

Spiegelberg, Otto: Author of "Text book of midwifery." By Otto Spiegelberg; translated from the second German edition by J.B. Hurry. Publisher: New Sydenham Society (London). Published in 1888.

Theodore Roosevelt Quotation: "Macdonough and Downie were hurried into action before they had time to prepare themselves thoroughly; but it was a disadvantage common to both, and arose from the nature of the case, which called for immediate action." - Theodore Roosevelt in The Naval War of 1812.

Theodore Roosevelt Quotation: "He at once sent word to have these men hurried up, but when they arrived they were found to have no arms, for which application was made to the military authorities." - Theodore Roosevelt in The Naval War of 1812.

William N. Harben Quotation: "Are you in a big hurry?" - William N. Harben in The Desired Woman.

1889

Andrew Lang Quotation: "The words evoke a memory of a narrow country lane in the summer evening, when light is dying out of the sky, and the fragrance of wild roses by the roadside is mingled with the perfumed breath of cattle that hurry past on their homeward road." - Andrew Lang in Theocritus, Bion and Moschus rendered into English Prose.

Andrew Lang Quotation: "Then hurried by a crowd of priests and priestesses, Maenads, Bacchantes, Bassarids, women crowned with the vine, or with garlands of snakes, and girls bearing the mystic vannus Iacchi." - Andrew Lang in Theocritus, Bion and Moschus rendered into English Prose.

Charles M. Skinner Quotation: "His companion was not far behind, and was hurrying toward the cave, when he was arrested by a rumble and a crash: a block of granite, tons in weight, that had hung poised overhead, slid from its place and completely blocked the entrance." - Charles M. Skinner in Myths And Legends of Our Own Land, vol 3: Delaware.

Charles M. Skinner Quotation: "The marksman had been seen, and a lieutenant was urging his men to hurry on and cut him down. There was a third report, and the lieutenant reeled forward into the road, bleeding and cursing." - Charles M. Skinner in Myths And Legends of Our Own Land, vol 3: Delaware.

Charles M. Skinner Quotation: "The crowd hurries away toward the wood, and does not hear the stifled groan that comes out of the middle of the fire." - Charles M. Skinner in Myths And Legends of Our Own Land, vol 3: Delaware.

Charles M. Skinner Quotation: "The officer peered across the wall, then hurried to his mistress' side, as pale as death." - Charles M. Skinner in Myths And Legends of Our Own Land, vol 3: Delaware.

Cyril G. Hopkins Quotation: "Adelaide hurried to her father who took her in his arms as he saw how she trembled." - Cyril G. Hopkins in The Story of the Soil.

Cyril G. Hopkins Quotation: "Percy read this letter hurriedly to the end, and then slowly reread it." - Cyril G. Hopkins in The Story of the Soil.

Cyril G. Hopkins Quotation: "If I had hurried, you might have been back home by this time." - Cyril G. Hopkins in The Story of the Soil.

David Graham Phillips Quotation: "As Norman slipped back and into the cross corridor to avoid meeting Culver, Dorothy Hallowell hurried from a just descended elevator and, with a quick, frightened glance toward Culver, in profile, almost ran toward Norman." - David Graham Phillips in The Dust.

David Graham Phillips Quotation: "I had one eye on Anita all the time, and I saw her gaze follow Joe as he hurried out; and her expression made my heart ache." - David Graham Phillips in The Deluge.

David Graham Phillips Quotation: "As soon as the engagement was formally concluded, the general hurried on the preparations for the wedding." - David Graham Phillips in The Price She Paid.

David Graham Phillips Quotation: "I must hurry her on and get her married to that fool." - David Graham Phillips in The Fortune Hunter.

David Graham Phillips Quotation: "She went hurriedly up the street." - David Graham Phillips in Susan Lenox, Rise/Fall.

Elmer U. Hoenshel Quotation: "A second time my dragoman prepares food for our journey; and again, on the morning of November first, we hurry to the station." - Elmer U. Hoenshel in My Three Days In Gilead.

Elmer U. Hoenshel Quotation: "Messengers left the besieged city and hurried to the new king of Israel." - Elmer U. Hoenshel in My Three Days In Gilead.

1889

Fenwick, Edwin Hurry: Author of "The electric illumination of the bladder and urethra as a means of diagnosis of obscure verico-urethral diseases." Published in 1889.

G.I. Colbron and A. Groner Quotation: "When they finally came to themselves sufficiently to take some action, the man hurried off to call the magistrate, and Liska ran to the asylum to fetch the old doctor; the pastor's intimate friend." - G.I. Colbron and A. Groner in Pool of Blood in the Pastor's Study.

G.I. Colbron and A. Groner Quotation: "Nov do you think that two people who were very much in a hurry would have gone down the right side of the hedge, to reach a place which they could have gotten to much quicker on the left side?" - G.I. Colbron and A. Groner in The Lamp That Went Out.

G.I. Colbron and A. Groner Quotation: "While the shepherd and the boy walked toward the inn, the old doctor and Liska had hurried onward to the rectory." - G.I. Colbron and A. Groner in Pool of Blood in the Pastor's Study.

G.I. Colbron and A. Groner Quotation: "The hunchback sexton staggered, then recovered himself, and hurried away to fetch the magistrate and the doctor." - G.I. Colbron and A. Groner in Pool of Blood in the Pastor's Study.

G.I. Colbron and A. Groner Quotation: "He left it again in eager haste after having made his purchase, and hurried back to the rectory." - G.I. Colbron and A. Groner in Pool of Blood in the Pastor's Study.

Henrik Ibsen Quotation: "Oh, you can't be in such a hurry." - Henrik Ibsen in Hedda Gabler.

Kate Douglas Wiggin Quotation: "There was hurrying to and fro, I can assure you, for it is quite a difficult matter to serve a Christmas dinner on the third floor of a great city house; but if every dish had had to be carried up a rope ladder the servants would gladly have done so." - Kate Douglas Wiggin in The Birds' Christmas Carol.

Kate Douglas Wiggin Quotation: "Lashed into fury by the stony reefs that impeded its progress, the river looked now sapphire, now gold, now white, now leaden gray; but always it was hurrying, hurrying on its appointed way to the sea." - Kate Douglas Wiggin in Rose O' the River.

Kate Douglas Wiggin Quotation: "He had a feeling that he was being hurried from peak to peak of a mountain range without time to take a good breath in between." - Kate Douglas Wiggin in Rebecca Of Sunnybrook Farm.

Kate Douglas Wiggin Quotation: "One cannot hurry Mother Nature very much, after all, and one who has much to do with her falls into a peaceful habit of mind." - Kate Douglas Wiggin in Penelope's Irish Experiences.

Kate Douglas Wiggin Quotation: "I suppose there is somewhere a golden mean between this complete oblivion of time and our feverish American hurry." - Kate Douglas Wiggin in Penelope's Irish Experiences.

Liguori, Alfonso Maria de', Saint, 1696-1787 Grimm, Eugene: Publication of "The Holy Mass: The sacrifice of Jesus Christ, The ceremonies of the Mass, Preparation and thanksgiving, The Mass and the Office that are hurriedly said." By Alphonsus de Liguori; edited by Eugene Grimm. Publisher: Benziger (New York). Published in 1889.

Marie Corelli Quotation: "Vergniaud had left the house before Angela could overtake him. She came back hurriedly to say so, with a pale face and troubled look." - Marie Corelli in The Master-Christian.

Marie Corelli Quotation: "And she returned to Thelma, who still slept, though her face was now feverishly flushed and her breathing hurried and irregular." - Marie Corelli in Thelma.

Marie Corelli Quotation: "And while I was thus hurriedly trying to think out the problem, he replied to my question." - Marie Corelli in The Life Everlasting.

Marie Corelli Quotation: "Some of the oppression in my soul suddenly gave way, and I spoke hurriedly in a low tone." - Marie Corelli in The Life Everlasting.

Marie Corelli Quotation: "He hurried off at once, realising that she wanted a minute or two to recover herself." - Marie Corelli in Innocent.

Rhyme: Publication of "The Rime of the Ancient Senator, or, Confessions of 'An Old Man in a Hurry' (i.e. W. E. Gladstone), a ballad for the times, (with apologies to S. T. C.) by a Primrose Knight. (A parody of the 'Rime of the Ancient Mariner' by S. T. Coleridge.)." Published in 1889.

Use in literature: "The classifying of the code of rules so as to facilitate the finding of any special rule during the hurry of a contest in progress, was also a desirable improvement." appears in Spalding's Baseball Guide and Official League Book for 1889 (ed Henry Chadwick).

1890

Anna Katharine Green Quotation: "As I hurried past the place where the clock had once stood, I thought of the nurses' story and of the many frightened hearts which had throbbed on the stairway I had just left and between the walls I was fast approaching; but I did not turn back." - Anna Katharine Green in The Mayor's Wife.

Anna Katharine Green Quotation: "On the walk outside she met Miss Weeks hurrying towards her from the corner, stumbling in her excitement and so weakened in body or spirit that she caught at the unresponsive fence for the support which its smooth surface refused to give her." - Anna Katharine Green in Dark Hollow.

Anna Katharine Green Quotation: "But when, in a few minutes later, the carriage stopped and I hurried with her into the house which had been the scene of so much misery, I was hardly prepared for the difference in her own countenance which the hall light revealed." - Anna Katharine Green in The Leavenworth Case.

Anna Katharine Green Quotation: "For in the hurried note I had left behind me, I had bidden them to look for me there, saying that I had been precipitate in marrying one I did not really love, and, overcome by a sense of my mistake, I was resolved on death." - Anna Katharine Green in The Mayor's Wife.

Anna Katharine Green Quotation: "I encouraged his hopes, and possibly shared them; but I changed my mind, as he probably did his, when a few minutes later we met her in the hall hurrying toward us with a newspaper in her hand and a ghastly look on her face." - Anna Katharine Green in The Mayor's Wife.

Clara Louise Burnham Quotation: "Shall I hurry breakfast?" - Clara Louise Burnham in Jewel.

Demetrius Charles Boulger Quotation: "Li Hung Chang entertained the foreign ministers at a great banquet; and the final arrangements were hurried forward for the departure to Europe of the Chinese embassador, whose dispatch had been decided upon in the previous year." - Demetrius Charles Boulger in China.

Demetrius Charles Boulger Quotation: "The Englishmen and the natives were dragged from their horses, cruelly bound, and hurried to the rear, whence they followed at no great distance their companions in misfortune." - Demetrius Charles Boulger in China.

Demetrius Charles Boulger Quotation: "He was obliged to beat a hasty retreat, pursued by an army that the imperial authorities had hurriedly collected." - Demetrius Charles Boulger in China.

Edna Lyall Quotation: "It became perfectly apparent to him that his friend was dying; he knew it as well as if he had seen the burning hectic flush on his hollow cheeks, and heard the panting, hurried breaths, and watched the unnatural brilliancy of his dark eyes." - Edna Lyall in The Autobiography of a Slander.

Elizabeth Cooper Quotation: "And before the chairman of the Committee could say a word he was hurried upstairs and into a small room, where a couple of frightened nurses were looking at a baby whose flushed face and labored breathing showed that he was very ill." - Elizabeth Cooper in Drusilla with a Million.

Elizabeth Cooper Quotation: "And before the astonished lawyer could voice his protest he was being hurried down the hall and up the wide stairs to the big nursery, Drusilla pattering along at his side, talking all the time." - Elizabeth Cooper in Drusilla with a Million.

Elizabeth Cooper Quotation: "She hurried to her rooms and put on a big white apron, then to the linen closet and got a piece of white flannel, and was just starting for the nursery again, when a card was brought her." - Elizabeth Cooper in Drusilla with a Million.

1890

Elizabeth Cooper Quotation: "She's never been in a motor and she's near ninety, so she'd better hurry up or she'll be ridin' in a chariot and after that a motorcar wouldn't be excitin'." - Elizabeth Cooper in Drusilla with a Million.

Elizabeth Cooper Quotation: "She hurried into the pantry and returned with some plates and napkins." - Elizabeth Cooper in Drusilla with a Million.

General Booth Quotation: "It is a wonder that the dreadful, drunken, reckless, dissipated life she lived did not hurry her to an early grave; it did affect her reason, and for three weeks she was locked up in Lancaster Lunatic Asylum, having really gone mad through drink and sin." - General Booth in In Darkest England and The Way Out.

H. Irving Hancock Quotation: "It would be throwing some of your chances away, Dick, for you to strip and prepare hurriedly, and step into the ring all flustered." - H. Irving Hancock in Dick Prescott's First Year at West Point (Two Chums in the Cadet Gray).

H. Irving Hancock Quotation: "Mr. Dodge had reported, with a very crestfallen air, at the guard tent, and from there had been hurried on to Captain Vesey's tent." - H. Irving Hancock in Dick Prescott's First Year at West Point (Two Chums in the Cadet Gray).

H. Irving Hancock Quotation: "In a very short time Prescott's hurrying feet carried him to the door of his room on the top floor." - H. Irving Hancock in Dick Prescott's First Year at West Point (Two Chums in the Cadet Gray).

H. Irving Hancock Quotation: "The manager thereupon hurried to the spot and the mystery was quickly solved." - H. Irving Hancock in Dick Prescott's First Year at West Point (Two Chums in the Cadet Gray).

H. Irving Hancock Quotation: "What's your hurry?" - H. Irving Hancock in Young Engineers in Arizona.

H. Rider Haggard Quotation: "This was the work of that Spanish stranger whom I had met as he hurried from the place of murder, who, because of the wickedness of his heart or for some secret reason, had striven to slay me also when he learned that I was my mother's son." - H. Rider Haggard in Montezuma's Daughter.

H. Rider Haggard Quotation: "Just as the patient had gone and Sir John was descending the stairs a messenger hurried in with a note summoning me instantly to attend upon Lady Colford, the wife of a rich banker and baronet who, I knew, was expecting her first confinement." - H. Rider Haggard in Doctor Therne.

H. Rider Haggard Quotation: "Now Eddo thrust out his head between the curtains of his litter and called to the bearers to hurry, as they had but a little distance of desert left to pass, after which came the grass country where there would be no danger from the sand." - H. Rider Haggard in The Ghost Kings.

H. Rider Haggard Quotation: "Thereon, with the most perfect grace, without hurrying and without undue delay, Saduko crouched himself down upon his knees, with one of his elbows resting on the ground, as only a native knows how to do without looking absurd, and waited." - H. Rider Haggard in Child of Storm.

H. Rider Haggard Quotation: "They laid it in the hall of the palace, whence it was hurried secretly and at night to Chapoltepec, and there hidden away with small ceremony, for it was feared that the people might rend it limb from limb in their rage." - H. Rider Haggard in Montezuma's Daughter.

J.M. Synge Quotation: "The rain and cold seemed to have no influence on their vitality and as they hurried past me with eager laughter and great talking in Gaelic, they left the wet masses of rock more desolate than before." - J.M. Synge in The Aran Islands.

J.M. Synge Quotation: "As the pile of mouldering clay got higher beside the grave a heavy smell began to rise from it, and the men hurried with their work, measuring the hole repeatedly with the two rods of bramble." - J.M. Synge in The Aran Islands.

J.M. Synge Quotation: "If she is itself let you not be idling this day, or minding her at all, and let you hurry with them sticks, for I'll want you in a short while to be blowing in the forge." - J.M. Synge in The Well of the Saints.

J.M. Synge Quotation: "They told me she was the French boat, and as I went back to my cottage I could see many canoes hurrying out to her with their cargoes of lobsters and crabs." - J.M. Synge in In Wicklow And West Kerry.

J.M. Synge Quotation: "While I was dreaming, the old woman came in in a great hurry and made tea for me and the young priest, who followed her a little later drenched with rain and spray." - J.M. Synge in The Aran Islands.

James Huneker Quotation: "Oracular octaves quake the cellarage of the palace, the warriors hurry by, their measured tramp is audible after they vanish, and the triplets obscure their retreat with chromatic vapors." - James Huneker in Chopin: The Man and His Music.

James Huneker Quotation: "It has a clear ring of the scherzo and harks back to Weber in its impersonal, amiable hurry." - James Huneker in Chopin: The Man and His Music.

Joseph A. Altsheler Quotation: "Beauregard and Johnston, the two senior generals, both experienced and calm, were reforming their ranks, seizing new and strong positions, and hurrying up every portion of their force." - Joseph A. Altsheler in The Guns of Shiloh.

Joseph A. Altsheler Quotation: "An entire brigade, hurrying to the battle, was passing the slope, when Warren literally seized upon them by force of command and rushed the men and their cannon to the crest." - Joseph A. Altsheler in The Star of Gettysburg.

Joseph A. Altsheler Quotation: "Hill, pale from an illness, but always full of fire and resolution, was hurrying forward his massive columns, their eagerness growing as the sound of the battle swelled." - Joseph A. Altsheler in The Star of Gettysburg.

Joseph A. Altsheler Quotation: "Johnston himself, after the first rally, hurried back for fresh regiments, while Jackson's men not only held their ground but began to drive the Northern troops before them." - Joseph A. Altsheler in The Guns of Shiloh.

Joseph A. Altsheler Quotation: "Soldiers in blue, sentinels and seekers of wood for the fires, were hurrying into the earthworks, on the crests of which stood men, dressed in the uniforms of officers." - Joseph A. Altsheler in The Guns of Shiloh.

Joseph Conrad Quotation: "His rheumaticky feet, tired with balancing that squat body for many years upon the decks of small coasters, and made sore by miles of tramping upon the flagstones of the dock side, had hurried up in time to avert a ridiculous catastrophe." - Joseph Conrad in The Mirror of the Sea.

Joseph Conrad Quotation: "The shadow of the western forest marched over the clearing, covered the man's scorched shoulders with its cool mantle, and went on hurriedly to mingle with the shadows of other forests on the eastern side." - Joseph Conrad in Almayer's Folly.

Joseph Conrad Quotation: "They broke into a swift little babble of greetings and exclamations both together, very hurried, as if the street were ready to yawn open and swallow all that pleasure before it could be expressed." - Joseph Conrad in Typhoon.

Joseph Conrad Quotation: "They were quaint and sympathetic, those two homely basins, unfurnished and silent, with no aggressive display of cranes, no apparatus of hurry and work on their narrow shores." - Joseph Conrad in The Mirror of the Sea.

Joseph Conrad Quotation: "I saw myself wandering barefooted, bareheaded, the sun beating on my dark poll. I snatched off my floppy hat and tried hurriedly in the dark to ram it on my other self." - Joseph Conrad in The Secret Sharer.

Julian Hawthorne Quotation: "The lawyer and the priest, who was one of the witnesses, were already preparing to take leave of the general, when voices and steps were heard in the corridor; a footman's head appeared through the door, calling the doctor hurriedly forth." - Julian Hawthorne in The Most Interesting Stories of All Nations.

Julian Hawthorne Quotation: "Barnabas, seizing his club, hurried in the direction of the sounds; he met his brother on the stairs, who had likewise heard the cry, and hastened thither with his gun in his hand, accompanied by the widow." - Julian Hawthorne in The Most Interesting Stories of All Nations.

Julian Hawthorne Quotation: "Behind the imposing facade of their physical aspect we detect an uneasy, hurried, shrewdly contriving little creature, quite incommensurate with the material bodily structure built up for his concealment and protection." - Julian Hawthorne in Subterranean Brotherhood.

Julian Hawthorne Quotation: "But the old man was already out of hearing, and hurrying downstairs, he went out of a back door into the court, which the Wallachians had not yet taken possession of." - Julian Hawthorne in The Most Interesting Stories of All Nations.

Julian Hawthorne Quotation: "The guests hurried toward the altar, the lights went out, the music stopped, and the figures floated together like pale white mists." - Julian Hawthorne in The Most Interesting Stories of All Nations.

Randall Parrish Quotation: "Keith must have perceived all these in that first hurried glance, for they were ever after closely associated together in his mind, yet at the moment he possessed no clear thought of anything except her." - Randall Parrish in Keith of the Border.

Randall Parrish Quotation: "As they hurried back to the town, he briefly reviewed these conclusions with Waite and Fairbain, all alike agreeing there was nothing remaining for them to do except to take up the trail." - Randall Parrish in Keith of the Border.

Randall Parrish Quotation: "All the better, as he would now have no opportunity to unfold his tale to the lady, as it would be necessary for them to hurry to the theatre." - Randall Parrish in Keith of the Border.

Randall Parrish Quotation: "As soon as he could leave Hope, Keith hurried down to interview his dusky satellite, who appeared about to burst with restrained information." - Randall Parrish in Keith of the Border.

Randall Parrish Quotation: "I tried to explain, but they hurried me on through the crowd to the hotel, and I became confused, and forgot." - Randall Parrish in Keith of the Border.

Richard Harding Davis Quotation: "They were ready to depart, and Miss Langham had but just seated herself in the carriage when they heard hurrying across the tiled floor a quick, light step and the rustle of silk, and turning they saw Hope standing in the doorway, radiant and smiling." - Richard Harding Davis in Soldiers of Fortune.

Richard Harding Davis Quotation: "The whistles of the engine and the shouts of the sailors had carried far through the silence of the night, and as the men came hurrying across the lawn to the Palms, they saw all of those who had been left behind grouped on the veranda awaiting them." - Richard Harding Davis in Soldiers of Fortune.

Richard Harding Davis Quotation: "The lights of the Embankment flashed and twinkled across it, the tower of the House of Commons rose against the sky, and here, inside, the waiter was hurrying toward him carrying a smoking plate of rich soup with a pungent intoxicating odor." - Richard Harding Davis in Lion and the Unicorn.

Richard Harding Davis Quotation: "His most earnest desire was to learn whether or not the Princess Aline was present, and with that end he clutched the English adjutant as that gentleman was hurrying past him, and asked eagerly if the Princess had recovered from her accident." - Richard Harding Davis in The Princess Aline.

Richard Harding Davis Quotation: "It was accordingly with a feeling of satisfaction that I noticed on a building on the end of the pier the sign of our consulate and the American flag, and that a young man, evidently an American, was hurrying from it toward the ship." - Richard Harding Davis in A Charmed Life.

Robert Tressell Quotation: "It was during this time that a firm of drapers, for whom he had done some showcards, sent him an order for one they wanted in a hurry, it had to be delivered the next morning, so he stayed up by himself till nearly midnight to do it." - Robert Tressell in Ragged Trousered Philanthropists.

Robert Tressell Quotation: "One of the results of all the frenzied hurrying was that every now and then there was an accident: somebody got hurt: and it was strange that accidents were not more frequent, considering the risk, that were taken." - Robert Tressell in Ragged Trousered Philanthropists.

Robert Tressell Quotation: "A hurried meeting of the Liberal Three Hundred was held, and a deputation sent to London to find a candidate but as there was only a week before polling day they were unsuccessful in their mission." - Robert Tressell in Ragged Trousered Philanthropists.

Robert Tressell Quotation: "Easton introduced Slyme by name and they shook hands; and then at Ruth's suggestion Easton took a light to show him the room, and while they were gone Ruth hurriedly tidied her hair and dress." - Robert Tressell in Ragged Trousered Philanthropists.

Robert Tressell Quotation: "He knew that if the man did the room at all there was no likelihood of his scamping it for the sake of getting it done quickly; and for that matter Rushton did not wish him to hurry over it." - Robert Tressell in Ragged Trousered Philanthropists.

Susan Coolidge Quotation: "Of course she hurried upstairs, and tore down the shawls and aprons; and, equally of course, Rose had a lecture and a mark; but, dear me! what good did it do?" - Susan Coolidge in What Katy Did At School.

Susan Coolidge Quotation: "Katy's first act in the morning, as soon as she opened her eyes, was to hurry to the window in hopes of getting a glimpse of Corsica." - Susan Coolidge in What Katy Did Next.

Vera Quotation: "Remembering Hannah's words that he might allow me to talk a little to my father, I jumped from my seat at the sound of this intelligence and hurried after Freddy." - Vera in The Doctor's Daughter.

Vera Quotation: "I assented of course, and we hurried on to where the path was wider that we might be companionable and walk side by side." - Vera in The Doctor's Daughter.

Vera Quotation: "I dreamed that I was hurrying by the spot where she was standing, eager to reach the other side unobserved by her." - Vera in The Doctor's Daughter.

Vera Quotation: "When the eventful night came and the gas was lighted all was hurry and flurry and confusion in our home." - Vera in The Doctor's Daughter.

1891

Alleyne Ireland Quotation: "I was hurriedly summoned to take his place." - Alleyne Ireland in An Adventure With A Genius (Recollections of Joseph Pulitzer).

Andrew Lang Quotation: "They hurry on with the adventures, and do not stop to ask what the moralisings mean." - Andrew Lang in Essays in Little.

Charlotte Mary Yonge Quotation: "John, who was then in Normandy, hurried to her rescue, beat Arthur's army, made him prisoner and carried him off, first to Rouen, and then to the strong castle of Falaise." - Charlotte Mary Yonge in Young Folks' History of England.

Charlotte Mary Yonge Quotation: "Cicely ran about with the rest in the stress of preparation, until Humfrey, hurrying upstairs, met her coming down with a packet of his lace cuffs in her hands." - Charlotte Mary Yonge in Unknown to History.

Charlotte Mary Yonge Quotation: "Captain Talbot had only hurried ashore to bring the infant, and show himself to his wife." - Charlotte Mary Yonge in Unknown to History.

E. Nesbit Quotation: "The arch grew, they spoke the words, and pushed the lady through it into her own time and place, where London is clean and beautiful, and the Thames runs clear and bright, and the green trees grow, and no one is afraid, or anxious, or in a hurry." - E. Nesbit in The Story of the Amulet.

E. Nesbit Quotation: "We found her awfully busy, making pies and jellies, and her two sisters were hurrying about with great hams, and pairs of chickens, and rounds of cold beef and lettuces, and pickled salmon and trays of crockery and glasses." - E. Nesbit in The Wouldbegoods.

E. Nesbit Quotation: "Romeo's servant who knew the secret of the marriage, but not of Juliet's pretended death, heard of her funeral, and hurried to Mantua to tell Romeo how his young wife was dead and lying in the grave." - E. Nesbit in Beautiful Stories from Shakespeare.

E. Nesbit Quotation: "He would gladly have beaten the slave, but contented himself with crossly telling him to hurry to Adriana and bid her send to her arrested husband a purse of money which she would find in his desk." - E. Nesbit in Beautiful Stories from Shakespeare.

E. Nesbit Quotation: "And when the crowded, sunlit day at last Left the field lonely with its trampled flowers, Into the chapel's peace the brothers passed To quell the memory of those hurrying hours." - E. Nesbit in The Rainbow And The Rose.

Emile Zola Quotation: "And as Dario had doubtless gone away and the figs would certainly not be eaten until the following morning, what reason was there for him to hurry?" - Emile Zola in The Three Cities Trilogy, entire.

Emile Zola Quotation: "And you, too, my daughter, you are in a hurry?" - Emile Zola in The Three Cities Trilogy, entire.

Filson Young Quotation: "The Admiral was in a great hurry to get away from the islands and from the track of merchant ships, for he had none too much confidence in the integrity of his crews, which were already murmuring and finding every mishap a warning sign from God." - Filson Young in Christopher Columbus, vol 2.

Filson Young Quotation: "The thing forms itself into nothing more or less than a hurried, gabbling complaint; the people are dissatisfied at being kept here week after week with no hope of relief; they accuse the Admiral of neglecting their interests; and so on." - Filson Young in Christopher Columbus, vol 7.

Filson Young Quotation: "We have seen him patching up matters in Espanola; hurrying to Spain just in time to rescue his damaged reputation and do something to restore it; and now when he had come back it was but a sorry tale that Bartholomew had to tell him." - Filson Young in Christopher Columbus, vol 6.

Filson Young Quotation: "Columbus hurried away from the excited crowds to write a letter to the King of Portugal, asking him for a safe conduct to Spain, and assuring him that he had come from the Indies, and not from any of the forbidden regions of Guinea." - Filson Young in Christopher Columbus, vol 3.

Filson Young Quotation: "A system of slavery is boldly and bluntly sketched; the writer, in the hurry and stress of the moment, giving to its economic advantages rather greater prominence than to its religious glories." - Filson Young in Christopher Columbus, vol 4.

Florence L. Barclay Quotation: "The minute or two gained by hurrying them is lost in the final results." - Florence L. Barclay in The Rosary.

Florence L. Barclay Quotation: "Now they are found, there is no hurry." - Florence L. Barclay in The Rosary.

H.G. Wells Quotation: "Suddenly we heard a yelp and a volley of furious blasphemy from the companion hatchway, and the deformed man with the black face came up hurriedly." - H.G. Wells in The Island of Doctor Moreau.

H.G. Wells Quotation: "Then at three or four points on the edge of the sulphurous area appeared the grotesque forms of the Beast People hurrying towards us." - H.G. Wells in The Island of Doctor Moreau.

H.G. Wells Quotation: "For a time I hurried on hopelessly perplexed, and pursued by that stealthy approach." - H.G. Wells in The Island of Doctor Moreau.

H.G. Wells Quotation: "Then when I turned to hurry on again there was an echo to my footsteps." - H.G. Wells in The Island of Doctor Moreau.

H.G. Wells Quotation: "Thence they had hurried back to me." - H.G. Wells in The Island of Doctor Moreau.

John Fox Jr Quotation: "Impulsively the Blight waved her hand to him and I could not help waving my hat; but he sat like a statue and, like a statue, sat on, simply looking after us as we were hurried along, until horse, broken shaft, and shoulders sank out of sight." - John Fox Jr in A Knight of the Cumberland.

John Fox Jr Quotation: "Moreover, she said nothing, and, being in a hurry, I had to ride on." - John Fox Jr in Hell Fer Sartain and Other Stories.

John Fox Jr Quotation: "What's yo' hurry?" - John Fox Jr in The Heart Of The Hills.

Kesteven, William Henry: Author of "Health and Hurry." Published in 1891.

Lloyd, Arthur: Born in 1840 and died in 1904, authored "Take your time, don't hurry." Written, composed and sung by Arthur Lloyd. Publisher: Hopwood & Crew (London). Published in 1891.

Mary E. Wilkins Quotation: "Then passed us, booted and spurred, for he had gotten his priestly robes off in a hurry, Parson Downs on the fastest horse in those parts, and riding like a jockey in spite of his heavy weight." - Mary E. Wilkins in The Heart's Highway.

Mary Wilkins Freeman Quotation: "The other girls don't take to it so naturally, and they get very tired, and it has seemed often that I was the one who could hurry the work through and not mind." - Mary Wilkins Freeman in Copy-Cat & Other Stories.

Mary Wilkins Freeman Quotation: "The man stood staring after the hurrying figure with its swishing black skirts and its flying points of rich India shawl, and he smiled happily and tenderly." - Mary Wilkins Freeman in The Yates Pride.

Mary Wilkins Freeman Quotation: "When daylight came she crept back to the southwest chamber and hurriedly got some clothes in which to dress herself." - Mary Wilkins Freeman in Stories Of The Supernatural.

Mary Wilkins Freeman Quotation: "He felt a little dizzy and ill, and he felt worse when he ventured a hurried glance at Aunt Janet's face." - Mary Wilkins Freeman in Copy-Cat & Other Stories.

Mary Wilkins Freeman Quotation: "Mr. Townsend came hurrying into the room; he was pale, and looked at once angry and alarmed." - Mary Wilkins Freeman in Stories Of The Supernatural.

Neltje Blanchan Quotation: "My father has given his consent, and the time is fixed for Christmas, by a sort of compromise between the respective advocates for hurry and delay." - Neltje Blanchan in Wild Flowers / Nature's Garden.

Neltje Blanchan Quotation: "Mr. Boarham is in no particular hurry, for he has little doubt of your acceptance; and I want to speak with you." - Neltje Blanchan in Wild Flowers / Nature's Garden.

Neltje Blanchan Quotation: "At the second, I saw him, once or twice, raise his hand, and hurriedly pass it across his face." - Neltje Blanchan in Wild Flowers / Nature's Garden.

Sara Jeannette Duncan Quotation: "It was pleasing, and just a trifle pathetic, the way he hurried her out of the scope of any little dart; he would not have her even within range of amused observation." - Sara Jeannette Duncan in The Pool in the Desert.

Sara Jeannette Duncan Quotation: "That such a contingency was physically impossible made no difference to her nerves, and to the last Brookes was the hurrying victim of unnecessary promptings." - Sara Jeannette Duncan in The Pool in the Desert.

Sara Jeannette Duncan Quotation: "Yet I did not hurry to his relief, I was still possessed by a vague feeling of offense." - Sara Jeannette Duncan in The Pool in the Desert.

Scott-Gatty, Alfred: Born in 1847 and died in 1918, authored "Hurry up, Pompey!: plantation duet." The words and music by Alfred Scott Gatty. Publisher: Boosey & Co (London). Published in 1891.

Stanley Weyman Quotation: "The same groups stood about in the same corners, the same suspicious glances met me in common with all other strangers who showed themselves; the same listless inaction characterised the townsfolk, the same anxious hurry those who came and went with news." - Stanley Weyman in A Gentleman of France.

Stanley Weyman Quotation: "In the hurried scramble which presently landed us on the bank of the stream, men who had ridden for hours in sulky silence found their voices, and from cursing their horses' blunders soon advanced to swearing and singing after the fashion of their kind." - Stanley Weyman in A Gentleman of France.

Stanley Weyman Quotation: "Frost had set in, and a keen wind was blowing, so that we were glad to hurry on at a good pace; and the streets being quite deserted at this late hour, or haunted only by those who had come to dread the town marshal, we met no one and saw no lights." - Stanley Weyman in A Gentleman of France.

Stanley Weyman Quotation: "Stray passers meeting me in the glare of a torch, or seeing me hurry by the great braziers which burned where four streets met, looked askance at me and gave me the wall; while men in authority cried to me to stay and answer their questions." - Stanley Weyman in A Gentleman of France.

Stanley Weyman Quotation: "The leisurely mode of our departure, the absence of hurry or even haste, the men's indifference whether they were seen, or what was thought, all served to sink my spirits and deepen my sense of peril." - Stanley Weyman in Under the Red Robe.

1892

Andrew Barton (Banjo) Paterson Quotation: "Besides, what's the hurry?" - Andrew Barton (Banjo) Paterson in An Outback Marriage (A Story of Australian Life).

Edwin Erle Sparks Quotation: "Not only would the distant parts be bound together, the mail better accommodated, and internal trade assisted, but, as Gallatin pointed out, it would be possible to transport troops hurriedly from place to place, adding to the national defence." - Edwin Erle Sparks in The United States of America, part 1 (1783-1830).

Florence Henrietta Darwin Quotation: "Where's Annet off to in such a hurry?" - Florence Henrietta Darwin in Six Plays.

Hall Caine Quotation: "Israel hurried away to the sea, and there he came upon her." - Hall Caine in The Scapegoat.

Henry Seton Merriman Quotation: "It lies hidden in odd corners and quiet places; and the eager world which, presumably, is seeking it, hurries past and never recognizes it, but continues to mistake for it prosperity and riches, noise and laughter, even fame and mere cheap notoriety." - Henry Seton Merriman in The Vultures.

Henry Seton Merriman Quotation: "They were walking thus when another cab stopped at the closed iron gate, and the banker hurried, as fast as his build would allow, to open the side door and admit a seafaring man, who seemed to know his bearings." - Henry Seton Merriman in The Vultures.

Henry Seton Merriman Quotation: "Petersburg are quieter than the smaller thoroughfares of any other city in the world. A confectioner's boy was alone on the pavement, hurrying along and whistling as he went on his Sunday errand of delivery." - Henry Seton Merriman in The Vultures.

Henry Seton Merriman Quotation: "Out in the Krakowski Faubourg the sun was shining brightly and the world was already astir, while the shops were opening and buyers already hurrying home from the morning markets." - Henry Seton Merriman in The Vultures.

Henry Seton Merriman Quotation: "He passed through a back street and out into wider thoroughfares. He hurried as much as was prudent, and in a few moments was beyond the zone, as it were, of alarm and confusion." - Henry Seton Merriman in The Vultures.

Henry van Dyke Quotation: "The people were hurrying to and fro, for it was the day before the choosing of new Princes of Water; and there was much dispute about them, and strife over the building of new cisterns to hold the stores of rain which might fall in the next year." - Henry van Dyke in The Blue Flower.

Henry Van Dyke Quotation: "But the civil war broke out, with all its terrible excitement and confusion of hurrying hosts: the club existed but for two years, and the little house in the wilderness was abandoned." - Henry Van Dyke in The Lost Word.

Henry Van Dyke Quotation: "You see the set of the tide far out in the lake, sliding, driving, crowding, hurrying in with smooth currents and swirling eddies, toward the corner of escape." - Henry Van Dyke in The Lost Word.

Henry van Dyke Quotation: "He paced to and fro, now hurrying to the boy's bed as if he could not bear to be away from it, now turning back as if he could not endure to be near it." - Henry van Dyke in The Blue Flower.

Henry Van Dyke Quotation: "We were in a hurry to be off for an afternoon's fishing, three or four miles down the river, at the Ile Maligne." - Henry Van Dyke in The Lost Word.

Hermann Sudermann Quotation: "He added up all that he could get together in a hurry from outstanding debts, but the sum was not sufficient by half to cover the expenses of the funeral." - Hermann Sudermann in Dame Care (tr Bertha Overbeck).

Hermann Sudermann Quotation: "The aunts, wringing their hands, hurried to old Douglas, who was walking up and down before the stables awaiting a conveyance." - Hermann Sudermann in Dame Care (tr Bertha Overbeck).

Hermann Sudermann Quotation: "He hurried to the back door of the house, where the servants were eagerly carrying out the furniture." - Hermann Sudermann in Dame Care (tr Bertha Overbeck).

Hermann Sudermann Quotation: "He vowed it with uplifted arms, and hurried out onto the heath." - Hermann Sudermann in Dame Care (tr Bertha Overbeck).

Hermann Sudermann Quotation: "Three or four men hurried to the stables." - Hermann Sudermann in Dame Care (tr Bertha Overbeck).

John Bach McMaster Quotation: "They acted as if the country had been delivered from impending evil, and hurried by thousands to Washington to see the hero inaugurated and the era of promised reform opened." - John Bach McMaster in Brief History of the United States.

John Bach McMaster Quotation: "Laying aside his plan for an attack on New York, he hurried southward, marched his army to the head of Chesapeake Bay, and then took it by ships to Yorktown." - John Bach McMaster in Brief History of the United States.

John Bach McMaster Quotation: "A picked force of men, with Washington and his Virginians in the lead, then hurried forward, and reached the fort to find it abandoned." - John Bach McMaster in Brief History of the United States.

John Bach McMaster Quotation: "McClellan then hurried up the peninsula after the retreating enemy, and on the way fought and won a battle at Williamsburg." - John Bach McMaster in Brief History of the United States.

John Bach McMaster Quotation: "More settlers with a great herd of cattle were now hurried to Salem, which thus became the largest colony in New England." - John Bach McMaster in Brief History of the United States.

Lord Frederic Hamilton Quotation: "Lave it to me to get His Excellency out of this, and then hurry the drunk waiters away!' And I spoke a word to the boys in the pantry." - Lord Frederic Hamilton in The Days Before Yesterday.

Lord Frederic Hamilton Quotation: "After a frantically hurried packing, we were bustled into the carriage, the mysterious stranger taking his seat on the box." - Lord Frederic Hamilton in The Days Before Yesterday.

Marvin Dana Quotation: "Dick stared for a moment at the space of window left uncovered by the draperies now, since the man had hurried past them, without pausing to draw them after him." - Marvin Dana in Within the Law.

Marvin Dana Quotation: "There was exceeding rage in his voice, as he spoke from his kneeling posture beside the body, to which he had hurried after the summons to his aides." - Marvin Dana in Within the Law.

Marvin Dana Quotation: "He welcomed the advent of Cassidy, who came hurrying in with a grin of satisfaction on his stolid face." - Marvin Dana in Within the Law.

Marvin Dana Quotation: "With this satisfactory conclusion of her wonderment, the secretary hurried on her way, quite content." - Marvin Dana in Within the Law.

Marvin Dana Quotation: "Even now, Burke did not look up, and his pen continued to hurry over the paper." - Marvin Dana in Within the Law.

Mary Hallock Foote Quotation: "Suddenly her household duties recurred to her, and, refusing the help of Kirkwood's hand, she sprang up the bank and hurried back to the house." - Mary Hallock Foote in In Exile and Other Stories.

Mary Hallock Foote Quotation: "Go downstairs and fetch in the clothes, and don't hurry; stay out till thee gets more composed." - Mary Hallock Foote in In Exile and Other Stories.

Mary Hallock Foote Quotation: "She ain't in any such a hurry as all that comes to." - Mary Hallock Foote in In Exile and Other Stories.

Maurice Hewlett Quotation: "Mariota hurried to her task." - Maurice Hewlett in Earthwork out of Tuscany.

1893

Mrs Everard Cotes Quotation: "There need be no hurry, Tooni thought, as Sonny Sahib played with the big silver hoops in her ears, and tried to kick himself over her shoulder." - Mrs Everard Cotes in The Story Of Sonny Sahib.

Myrtle Reed Quotation: "He awoke from an uneasy sleep with the feeling that Ruth needed him, and was not surprised to see the light from her candle streaming out into the darkness. He dressed hurriedly, glancing at his watch by the light of a match." - Myrtle Reed in Lavender and Old Lace.

Myrtle Reed Quotation: "She went in sech a hurry that she didn't have time to send you word and get an answer, but she's left a letter here for you, for she trusted to your comin'." - Myrtle Reed in Lavender and Old Lace.

Myrtle Reed Quotation: "He spoke easily, though hurriedly, and appeared to be somewhat cynical, but she rightly attributed it to restlessness like her own." - Myrtle Reed in Lavender and Old Lace.

Myrtle Reed Quotation: "Winfield was presented to the bridal couple, but there was no time for conversation, since Aunt Jane was in a hurry." - Myrtle Reed in Lavender and Old Lace.

Myrtle Reed Quotation: "Ruth was trembling and she hurried away, swallowing the lump in her throat and trying to keep back the tears." - Myrtle Reed in Lavender and Old Lace.

Robert Barr Quotation: "Life, she realized now, was made up of tragedy and comedy, and he who sees but the smiling face, sees but the half of life. The girl hurried on to the bridge, sobbing quietly to herself, and looked down at the grey river water." - Robert Barr in The Face and the Mask.

Robert Barr Quotation: "The tent and its belongings were speedily placed on the hay rack, and then Bartlett drove up to the tavern and waited, saying nothing, although he had been in such a hurry a few moments before." - Robert Barr in In the Midst of Alarms.

Robert Barr Quotation: "The police had come in so quietly that no one, apparently, had noticed their entrance, except that good man Mellish, who hurried forward to welcome the intruders." - Robert Barr in The Face and the Mask.

Robert Barr Quotation: "As he stood there, a comely young woman, equipped for traveling, approached the stall, and ran her eye hurriedly up and down the tempting array of literature." - Robert Barr in One Day's Courtship.

Robert Barr Quotation: "Perhaps you would not be in such a hurry if you knew that I am going into the thick the fight, and intend to use you as a shield from the bullets." - Robert Barr in In the Midst of Alarms.

Samuel Butler (1835-1902) Quotation: "As soon as he said he would talk it over with her Majesty, I knew the whole thing would end in smoke, as indeed to all outward appearance it shortly did; for Dr. Downie advised him not to be in too great a hurry, and whatever he did to do it gradually." - Samuel Butler (1835-1902) in Erewhon Revisited.

Samuel Butler (1835-1902) Quotation: "In the window there were advertisements which showed that the practice of medicine was now legal, but my father could not stay to copy a single one of the fantastic announcements that a hurried glance revealed to him." - Samuel Butler (1835-1902) in Erewhon Revisited.

Samuel Butler (1835-1902) Quotation: "Here the Professors talked hurriedly to one another in a tongue which my father could not understand, but which he felt sure was the hypothetical language of which he has spoken in his book." - Samuel Butler (1835-1902) in Erewhon Revisited.

Samuel Butler (1835-1902) Quotation: "On this the Ranger took him away at once, and for the man's own protection hurried him off to prison." - Samuel Butler (1835-1902) in Erewhon Revisited.

Samuel Butler (1835-1902) Quotation: "On this she smiled, and turned somewhat hurriedly away." - Samuel Butler (1835-1902) in Erewhon Revisited.

1893

Alfred Henry Lewis Quotation: "Which I might, in the hurry of my dooties, have passed by them childish bluffs onchallenged an' with nothin' more than pityin' thoughts of the ignorance of this yere maverick, but gents, this party overplays his hand." - Alfred Henry Lewis in Wolfville Days.

1893

Alfred Henry Lewis Quotation: "Then Jim looks at me keen an' steady a whole lot, an' the Mexicans, bein' rather pleased with the situation, ain't goadin' of us to hurry up none." - Alfred Henry Lewis in Wolfville.

E.W. Hornung Quotation: "I just hurried up to Blackfriars and booked for High Street, Kensington, at the top of my voice; and as the train was leaving Sloane Square out I hopped, and up all those stairs like a lamplighter, and round to the studio by the back streets." - E.W. Hornung in The Amateur Cracksman.

E.W. Hornung Quotation: "Meanwhile, I was in no hurry to show my power, but stole on tiptoe to the locker, and took my seat by inches." - E.W. Hornung in Mr. Justice Raffles.

E.W. Hornung Quotation: "There was a young fellow named Ready, packed out for his health, and hurrying home to die among friends." - E.W. Hornung in Dead Men Tell No Tales.

E.W. Hornung Quotation: "His smile was a little wry with the remnant of his bygone shame; he hurried on before I could find a word." - E.W. Hornung in Mr. Justice Raffles.

E.W. Hornung Quotation: "I had the satisfaction of a row royal with the Lord High Humbug to account for my hurried departure." - E.W. Hornung in Mr. Justice Raffles.

Frank Frankfort Moore Quotation: "But then, why had he so suddenly hurried away from that pleasant life beside the still waters?" - Frank Frankfort Moore in Phyllis of Philistia.

Frank Gee Patchin Quotation: "What's your hurry, sir?" - Frank Gee Patchin in The Pony Rider Boys in the Rockies.

Frank Gee Patchin Quotation: "And hurry, won't you?" - Frank Gee Patchin in The Pony Rider Boys in the Ozarks.

Frank Harris Quotation: "He falls into a soliloquy on his way to Juliet in Capulet's orchard, when his heart must have been beating so loudly that it would have prevented him from hearing himself talk, and into another when hurrying to the apothecary." - Frank Harris in The Man Shakespeare.

Frank Harris Quotation: "Mrs. Hooper had begun with a shade of nervousness in the hurried words; but the emotion disappeared as she took up a comfortable pose in the corner of the small sofa." - Frank Harris in Elder Conklin and Other Stories.

Frank Harris Quotation: "I hurried up the room, but as I approached the crowd my steps grew slower, and I became half ashamed of my eager, obtrusive curiosity and excitement." - Frank Harris in Elder Conklin and Other Stories.

Frank Harris Quotation: "As soon as her father left her, Miss Ida hurried to her own room, in order to recover from her agitation, and to remove all traces of it." - Frank Harris in Elder Conklin and Other Stories.

Frank Harris Quotation: "Yet great works take time to form, and fine creations are often disfigured by the stains of hurried parturition." - Frank Harris in Oscar Wilde, His Life & Confessions, vol 1.

Frenwick, Edwin Hurry: Born in 1856, authored "The cardinal symptoms of urinary disease, their diagnostic significance and treatment, by E. Hurry Fenwick." Published in 1893.

Gene Stratton Porter Quotation: "She thought ye'd done yourself proud and sent it for her, and she put it on, and a becoming and a proper thing it was too! I advanced her the money myself and sent her to get some shoes to match it since she had her car fixed and could go in a hurry." - Gene Stratton Porter in Her Father's Daughter.

Gene Stratton Porter Quotation: "She hurried across the bottom, with wavering knees she climbed the embankment, then skirting the fields, she half walked, half ran to the village, and selecting back streets and alleys, tumbled, half distracted, into the home of her sister." - Gene Stratton Porter in At the Foot of the Rainbow.

Gene Stratton Porter Quotation: "Now that everything was cleared up so, Shelley seemed a little more like herself every day, although it was bad enough yet; I thought I might as well hurry up the end a little, and stop the trouble completely, so I began watching for a chance to ask her." - Gene Stratton Porter in Laddie.

Gene Stratton Porter Quotation: "He was having a royal, good time, and he was thankful for the work he had set his assistants that kept them out of the room. They seemed in no hurry, and from scuffling, laughing, and a steady stream of talk, they were entertained at least." - Gene Stratton Porter in The Harvester.

Gene Stratton Porter Quotation: "Then she hurried to one of the big drygoods stores and bought the two waists and an inexpensive straw hat that would harmonize with the suit; a hat small enough to stick, in the wind, with brim enough to shade her eyes." - Gene Stratton Porter in Her Father's Daughter.

Gene Stratton-Porter Quotation: "Instead of going to the other girls and frankly confessing that she could not afford the prices they were paying, she watched her chance, picked up her telescope and hurried down the street, walking swiftly until she was out of sight of the house." - Gene Stratton-Porter in A Daughter Of The Land.

Gene Stratton-Porter Quotation: "This took so much time that her father came into the store before she had finished, demanding that she hurry, so in feverish haste she bought what was wanted and followed to the buggy." - Gene Stratton-Porter in A Daughter Of The Land.

Gene Stratton-Porter Quotation: "Mrs. Bates and Polly attempted supper; Kate and Adam went to the barn; but they worked very hurriedly, for Kate could see how feeble her mother had grown." - Gene Stratton-Porter in A Daughter Of The Land.

Gene Stratton-Porter Quotation: "Then he waited outside while Kate hurried in, and ripping open the letter, found a contract ready for her to sign for the Walden school." - Gene Stratton-Porter in A Daughter Of The Land.

Gene Stratton-Porter Quotation: "Oh Mickey, hurry! I'm so eager to hear the ones in the book Douglas tells me you are making! Won't you please read them to us?" - Gene Stratton-Porter in Michael O'Halloran.

Henry Blake Fuller Quotation: "In his neighborhood, too, people owned their homes and were unlikely to hurry you out on a month's notice." - Henry Blake Fuller in Bertram Cope's Year.

Henry Blake Fuller Quotation: "Cope sat dumb. And next morning he hurried away before breakfast." - Henry Blake Fuller in Bertram Cope's Year.

Henry Blake Fuller Quotation: "Don't be in such a damned hurry to use it." - Henry Blake Fuller in Bertram Cope's Year.

Henry Blake Fuller Quotation: "Hurry it through." - Henry Blake Fuller in Bertram Cope's Year.

Jerome K. Jerome Quotation: "This is followed by a sound as of linen sheets being ripped up, and the passengers and crew hurry downstairs into the cabin, evidently with the idea of getting out of the way of the sea, which has climbed up and is now level with the deck." - Jerome K. Jerome in Stage-Land.

Jerome K. Jerome Quotation: "These men and women that pass me in the street, this one hurrying to his office, this one to his club, another to his love, they are the mothers of the world to come." - Jerome K. Jerome in Second Thoughts of An Idle Fellow.

Jerome K. Jerome Quotation: "In the former case, upon learning the good news the stage lawyer at once leaves his business and hurries off to the other end of the kingdom to bear the glad tidings." - Jerome K. Jerome in Stage-Land.

Jerome K. Jerome Quotation: "Maybe they are very uninteresting scenes, as well as sad ones, and they make us yawn; but we have no desire to see them hurried through." - Jerome K. Jerome in Stage-Land.

Jerome K. Jerome Quotation: "Some say that it was set here that the passing monks and friars, as they hurried by upon the roadway, might stop and say their prayers here." - Jerome K. Jerome in Dreams.

John Philip Sousa Quotation: "When father and daughter were seated in their carriage and were hurriedly driving home, he said: ``Mildred, I prefer that you have as little to say to that man as possible." - John Philip Sousa in The Fifth String.

Lauth, Franz Joseph: Author of "Dynasties of ancient Egypt: taken almost wholly from Prof. Dr. Lauth's work entitled Aus Aegyptens Vorzeit, Berlin, 1881: and hurriedly prepared for the use of the pupils of the Khediviah School at Cairo." By Edward A. van Dyck. Publisher: Kleinmayr (Laibach). Published in 1893.

Louis Joseph Vance Quotation: "In sudden panic

he darted across the avenue and hurried north, determined to tantalize himself no longer with sights and sounds so provocative and so disturbing." - Louis Joseph Vance in The Lone Wolf (A Melodrama).

Louis Joseph Vance Quotation: "When he had finished, he hurried away like a haunted man." - Louis Joseph Vance in The Lone Wolf (A Melodrama).

Ottilie A. Liljencrantz Quotation: "But Alwin forgot to notice it, he was hurrying so eagerly to where Helga, Gilli's daughter, walked between her strips of bleaching linen, sprinkling them with water from a bronze pan with a little broom of twigs." - Ottilie A. Liljencrantz in The Thrall of Leif the Lucky.

Ottilie A. Liljencrantz Quotation: "It is probable that Alwin would not have hurried to obey the summons, but with a nod and a smile Helga turned away, and there was nothing for him but to go forward to meet the steersman." - Ottilie A. Liljencrantz in The Thrall of Leif the Lucky.

Ottilie A. Liljencrantz Quotation: "Like votaries hurrying to worship at them, the hungry men went and threw themselves on the grass in a circle; with dice and stories and jests they whiled away the time pleasantly enough." - Ottilie A. Liljencrantz in The Thrall of Leif the Lucky.

Ottilie A. Liljencrantz Quotation: "On one side, the river hurried along in surging rapids; on the other, one could see the broad elbow of the fiord glittering in the sun." - Ottilie A. Liljencrantz in The Thrall of Leif the Lucky.

Ottilie A. Liljencrantz Quotation: "Once I saw Kark looking after us with a grin which I would have knocked off his face if I had not been in a hurry." - Ottilie A. Liljencrantz in The Thrall of Leif the Lucky.

Percy James Brebner Quotation: "Outside the window was a flower bed, and I pointed out to Quarles that if any one had left the house in a hurry, as they would do at the sound of firearms, they would inevitably have left marks upon the flower bed." - Percy James Brebner in The Master Detective (Being Some Further Investigations of Christopher Quarles).

Percy James Brebner Quotation: "Suddenly Mr. Thompson learns that some one else knows the secret, and hurries to England to warn Sir Grenville." - Percy James Brebner in The Master Detective (Being Some Further Investigations of Christopher Quarles).

Percy James Brebner Quotation: "It did not seem to me the kind of back that would make a man hurry to overtake to see what the face was like." - Percy James Brebner in The Master Detective (Being Some Further Investigations of Christopher Quarles).

Percy James Brebner Quotation: "During a hurried visit to town the professor had seen my letter to Zena, and this had given him a clue." - Percy James Brebner in The Master Detective (Being Some Further Investigations of Christopher Quarles).

Percy James Brebner Quotation: "He was a long time changing, and I told him he would have to hurry to catch his train." - Percy James Brebner in The Master Detective (Being Some Further Investigations of Christopher Quarles).

Robert Neilson Stephens Quotation: "One day Whiskers, with many apologies and much embarrassment, asked the exchange editor to lend him a quarter, which request having been complied with, he put on his much rubbed high hat and hurried from the room." - Robert Neilson Stephens in Tales from Bohemia.

Robert Neilson Stephens Quotation: "Some of the other members of the company wondered at the angry, flushed look on his face when he hurried through the corridor to the stage door." - Robert Neilson Stephens in Tales from Bohemia.

Robert Neilson Stephens Quotation: "Clasping her in his arms, he set his teeth and fixed his eyes on the lights of the town ahead and hurried forward." - Robert Neilson Stephens in Tales from Bohemia.

Robert Neilson Stephens Quotation: "Billy said never a word, but plunged into his overcoat, threw on his hat, and hurried on into the cold night." - Robert Neilson Stephens in Tales from Bohemia.

Robert Neilson Stephens Quotation: "Presently, without a word, he turned quickly about and hurried away, closing the gate after him." - Robert Neilson Stephens in Tales from Bohemia.

1894

Rosa Praed Quotation: "McKeith pushed aside the man's finger, and taking up the paper carried it to the window, where he stood with his back to Harris, spelling out Lady Bridget's hurriedly written sentences." - Rosa Praed in Lady Bridget in the Never-Never Land.

Rosa Praed Quotation: "She cam now along the veranda from the Old Humpey with the light, rather hurried tread he remembered, talking rapidly when she joined him." - Rosa Praed in Lady Bridget in the Never-Never Land.

Rosa Praed Quotation: "Everything was rush and hurry during the few weeks between the engagement and the marriage." - Rosa Praed in Lady Bridget in the Never-Never Land.

Rosa Praed Quotation: "Lady Bridget hurried them over the crossing and up the hill." - Rosa Praed in Lady Bridget in the Never-Never Land.

Saki (H.H. Munro) Quotation: "A mob of poultry surged expectantly towards him; shaking off their interested attentions he hurried along under cover of cowstall, piggery, and hayricks till he reached the lane at the back of the farm." - Saki (H.H. Munro) in The Chronicles of Clovis.

Saki (H.H. Munro) Quotation: "Mrs. Peter kept guard outside, while her husband first made a hurried and successful search for the keys, and then plunged at the portmanteau with the air of a disagreeably conscientious Customs official." - Saki (H.H. Munro) in The Toys of Peace.

Saki (H.H. Munro) Quotation: "Crefton hurriedly disclaimed any immediate change of plans; he observed, however, to himself that the earlier heartiness of manner had in a large measure deserted the household." - Saki (H.H. Munro) in The Chronicles of Clovis.

Saki (H.H. Munro) Quotation: "She had been introduced to unexplored pleasures, and found them greatly to her liking, and she was in no hurry to forgo the fruits of her newly acquired knowledge." - Saki (H.H. Munro) in The Chronicles of Clovis.

Saki (H.H. Munro) Quotation: "In the house itself there was a coming and going of scuttering footsteps, a rushing and dying away of hurried voices, and long, uneasy stillnesses." - Saki (H.H. Munro) in The Chronicles of Clovis.

1894

Alexander Whyte Quotation: "Let your own election to the kingdom of heaven be always before you, and walk worthy of it; and amid all the hurry of things seen and temporal, believe steadfastly concerning the things that are eternal, and walk worthy of them." - Alexander Whyte in Bunyan Characters (1st series).

Alexander Whyte Quotation: "Now, if all my people, and all this day's communicants, were only contrite enough, I would leave them to the hurry of the approaching election with much more comfort." - Alexander Whyte in Bunyan Characters (1st series).

Arthur Conan Doyle Quotation: "The preparation of this magnum opus entailed many hurried visits to the magnificent Egyptian collections of the Louvre, upon the last of which, no longer ago than the middle of last October, he became involved in a most strange and noteworthy adventure." - Arthur Conan Doyle in The Captain of the Polestar.

Arthur Conan Doyle Quotation: "Too stricken to cry out, too stricken to weep, he could only hurry away homewards wildly and aimlessly; hurry as fast as his aged limbs would carry him, as if, poor soul! there were some chance yet of catching up the fifty years which had gone by." - Arthur Conan Doyle in The Captain of the Polestar.

Arthur Conan Doyle Quotation: "My actual board therefore comes well under sixpence a day, but I am a patron of literature to the extent of a halfpenny a day, which I expend upon an evening paper; for with events hurrying on like this in Alexandria, I cannot bear to be without the news." - Arthur Conan Doyle in A Study In Scarlet.

Arthur Conan Doyle Quotation: "The assistant had left the front shop for an instant when he heard a crash, and hurrying in he found a plaster bust of Napoleon, which stood with several other works of art upon the counter, lying shivered into fragments." - Arthur Conan Doyle in The Return of Sherlock Holmes [Magazine Edition].

1894

Arthur Conan Doyle Quotation: "My joy, however, was considerably lessened when on reaching the land I found that the figures consisted of a vast concourse of animals of various sorts who were standing about in groups, and who hurried down to the water's edge to meet me." - Arthur Conan Doyle in The Captain of the Polestar.

Charles Whibley Quotation: "Up and down London, up and down England, hurried the Patterer or Flying Stationer." - Charles Whibley in A Book of Scoundrels.

Devizes Museum: Publication of "Catalogue of the printed books, pamphlets, MSS., and maps in the library of the Wiltshire Archaeological and Natural History Society's Museum at Devizes." Compiled by W. Heward Bell and E.H. Goddard. Publisher: Hurry & Pearson, Machine Printers (Devizes). Published in 1894.

Eleanor Hodgman Porter Quotation: "The boys, with a growing fear in their eyes, as at sight of something inexplicable and uncanny, were sidling away; and in a moment they were hurrying down the hill, not, however, without a backward glance or two, of something very like terror." - Eleanor Hodgman Porter in Just David.

Eleanor Hodgman Porter Quotation: "It was after five o'clock when Billy got home, and so hurried were the dressing and the dinner that Aunt Hannah forgot to mention Bertram's telephone call till just as Billy was ready to start for the Greggorys'." - Eleanor Hodgman Porter in Miss Billie's Decision.

Eleanor Hodgman Porter Quotation: "At least he was not in the barn, the shed, the kitchen bedroom, nor anywhere else that Larson looked; and the man was just coming back with a crestfallen, perplexed frown, when Mrs. Holly hurried out on to the porch." - Eleanor Hodgman Porter in Just David.

Eleanor Hodgman Porter Quotation: "So the nurses have got into the habit of picking up the first disturber of the peace, and hurrying him to quarters remote; and Cyril's den being the most remote of all, they usually fetch up there." - Eleanor Hodgman Porter in Miss Billie Married.

Eleanor Hodgman Porter Quotation: "With vigorous jerks and pulls he unsnarled the writhing mass, boy by boy, each one of whom, upon catching sight of his face, slunk hurriedly away, as if glad to escape so lightly." - Eleanor Hodgman Porter in Just David.

Fenwick, Edwin Hurry: Born in 1856 and died in 1944, authored "Epitomes of modern surgical progress, for students and practitioners: urinary surgery." Published in 1894.

H.B. Irving Quotation: "He seemed to be always in a hurry; so impetuous was he that, if his horse did not travel fast enough to please him, he would get off its back, and, leaving the steed in the middle of the street, hasten on his way on foot." - H.B. Irving in A Book of Remarkable Criminals.

H.B. Irving Quotation: "They immediately hurried back along the line, and there, near a place called Kineton Park, they found their prisoner lying in the footway, apparently unconscious and bleeding from a severe wound in the scalp." - H.B. Irving in A Book of Remarkable Criminals.

H.B. Irving Quotation: "Unfortunately a suspicion of theft on Butler's part cut short the fulfilment of this really splendid programme, and Butler left Cromwell hurriedly for the ampler field of Dunedin." - H.B. Irving in A Book of Remarkable Criminals.

H.B. Irving Quotation: "But soon after, afraid to risk another such experience, the guilty couple turned out the parcels into a ditch, covered them with stones and sand, and hurried home." - H.B. Irving in A Book of Remarkable Criminals.

H.B. Irving Quotation: "Bertin was a short, hustling, credulous, breathless gentleman, always in a hurry, with a great belief in the abilities of M. Derues." - H.B. Irving in A Book of Remarkable Criminals.

H.G. Wells Quotation: "So far as one can ascertain from the conflicting accounts that have been put forth, the majority of them remained busied with preparations in the Horsell pit until nine that night, hurrying on some operation that disengaged huge volumes of green smoke." - H.G. Wells in The War of the Worlds.

H.G. Wells Quotation: "Through the reek I could see the people who had been with me in the river scrambling out of the water through the reeds, like little frogs hurrying through grass from the advance of a man, or running to and fro in utter dismay on the towing path." - H.G. Wells in The War of the Worlds.

H.G. Wells Quotation: "We talked in this manner through the early morning time, and later crept out of the bushes, and, after scanning the sky for Martians, hurried precipitately to the house on Putney Hill where he had made his lair." - H.G. Wells in The War of the Worlds.

H.G. Wells Quotation: "They have become practically mere brains, wearing different bodies according to their needs just as men wear suits of clothes and take a bicycle in a hurry or an umbrella in the wet." - H.G. Wells in The War of the Worlds.

H.G. Wells Quotation: "They saw the flashes and the men falling and an invisible hand, as it were, lit the bushes as it hurried towards them through the twilight." - H.G. Wells in The War of the Worlds.

Henry Lawson Quotation: "Dave and Pinter were feeling tired, and were just deciding to knock off work for that day when they heard a scuffling in the direction of the different shafts, and both Jim and Kullers dropped down and bundled in in a great hurry." - Henry Lawson in Joe Wilson and His Mates.

Henry Lawson Quotation: "When Mitchell came back, he leant on the rail for a while by my side, as if it was a boundary fence out back, and there was no hurry to break up camp and make a start." - Henry Lawson in Over the Sliprails.

Henry Lawson Quotation: "I got away from the window in as much of a hurry as if Jack had cut his leg with a chisel and fainted, and I was running with whisky for him." - Henry Lawson in Joe Wilson and His Mates.

Henry Lawson Quotation: "She jumped, and her face went flaming red; she laid hold of the stool and carried it, tub and all, away from that fence in a hurry." - Henry Lawson in On the Track.

Henry Lawson Quotation: "I remember I hurried home that afternoon because I thought the buggy might get there before me." - Henry Lawson in Joe Wilson and His Mates.

Isabella L. Bird (Mrs Bishop) Quotation: "What's the use of being in a hurry?" - Isabella L. Bird (Mrs Bishop) in The Hawaiian Archipelago.

John Murray and Mills Miller Quotation: "Polly had ridden at once to the house to tell the joyful news of Slim's return to Echo, who hurried at once to the boys about the wagon." - John Murray and Mills Miller in The Round-Up.

John Murray and Mills Miller Quotation: "This trust in him was getting too much for Jack to bear, so the voice of Polly crying to him to hurry up was music to his ears." - John Murray and Mills Miller in The Round-Up.

John Murray and Mills Miller Quotation: "Hearing and seeing nothing, he slipped his revolver into his holster and hurried to Dick's side." - John Murray and Mills Miller in The Round-Up.

John Murray and Mills Miller Quotation: "Jack's absence had aroused Jim Allen, who hurried out on the porch, storming." - John Murray and Mills Miller in The Round-Up.

John Murray and Mills Miller Quotation: "Slim hurried to Dick's side, seeing he was the worst hurt." - John Murray and Mills Miller in The Round-Up.

Marie L. Shedlock Quotation: "Then, again, why are we in such a hurry to find out what effects have been produced by our stories?" - Marie L. Shedlock in The Art of the Story-Teller.

Montague Rhodes James Quotation: "The youth hurried off with agitated thanks, and the Colonel and Parkins went round to the front of the Globe and reconnoitred." - Montague Rhodes James in Ghost Stories of an Antiquary.

Montague Rhodes James Quotation: "The sacristan began for the first time to show signs of hurry and impatience." - Montague Rhodes James in Ghost Stories of an Antiquary.

Mrs O.F. Walton Quotation: "Rosalie and her mother jumped hastily up, and, thrusting the Testament into the box, they hurried down the caravan steps and went into the theatre." - Mrs O.F. Walton in A Peep Behind the Scenes.

Mrs O.F. Walton Quotation: "Rosalie bent over her and cave her one long, long kiss, and then hurried back into the theatre just as her father had missed her." - Mrs O.F. Walton in A Peep Behind the Scenes.

1895

Mrs O.F. Walton Quotation: "It was about six o'clock when Rosalie started, the men were going to their work, and were hurrying quickly past her." - Mrs O.F. Walton in A Peep Behind the Scenes.

Mrs O.F. Walton Quotation: "He hurried to the other caravan, opened the door, and entered." - Mrs O.F. Walton in A Peep Behind the Scenes.

Robert W. Chambers Quotation: "He saw Yvonne stop and hastily thrust something into the Jew's hand, then, ignoring his obsequious salute, leave him and hurry down the Rue de Medicis." - Robert W. Chambers in In the Quarter.

Robert W. Chambers Quotation: "Yvonne was trembling as Rex lifted her to the ground, and he hurried her into the house, up the black stairway and into their cold room." - Robert W. Chambers in In the Quarter.

Robert W. Chambers Quotation: "The narrow corridor was now filled with hurrying, excited figures in gauze and tinsel, sham armor, and painted faces." - Robert W. Chambers in In the Quarter.

Robert W. Chambers Quotation: "Gethryn hurried along the familiar streets with his heart in his boots sometimes, and sometimes in his mouth." - Robert W. Chambers in In the Quarter.

Robert W. Chambers Quotation: "Hearing Gethryn's key in the door, she hurriedly slipped on her little white mask and confronted him." - Robert W. Chambers in In the Quarter.

Thomas Nelson Page Quotation: "Sometimes I would see him hurrying along with one of these as if they had a piece of the most important business in the world." - Thomas Nelson Page in The Burial of the Guns.

Thomas Nelson Page Quotation: "But she did not appear in a hurry to avail herself of the freedom offered, she simply looked at him." - Thomas Nelson Page in The Burial of the Guns.

Thomas Nelson Page Quotation: "It leaves about this time, and if you hurry you may be able to catch it." - Thomas Nelson Page in The Burial of the Guns.

Thomas Nelson Page Quotation: "Darby hurried along after them." - Thomas Nelson Page in The Burial of the Guns.

Winston Churchill Quotation: "I could afford to smile at the weather, at the obsidian sky, at the rain still falling persistently; and yet, as I ate my breakfast, I felt a certain impatience to verify what I knew was a certainty, and hurried to the telephone booth." - Winston Churchill in A Far Country, vol 3.

Winston Churchill Quotation: "I tried to account for the absence of this note by reflecting that the letters were of necessity brief, hurriedly scratched off at odd moments; and a natural delicacy would prevent her from referring to our future at such a time." - Winston Churchill in A Far Country, vol 3.

Winston Churchill Quotation: "Not neglecting to let it be known that Jethro had sent for him, Jake hurried off through the summer twilight to the tannery house, bowed ceremoniously to Cynthia under the butternut tree, and discovered Jethro behind the shed." - Winston Churchill in Coniston, vol 4.

Winston Churchill Quotation: "He was not a man, as we know, to take the important steps of life in a hurry, although; like the truly great, he was capable of making up his mind in a very brief period when it was necessary to strike." - Winston Churchill in Mr. Crewe's Career, vol 3.

Winston Churchill Quotation: "Arriving at the station, amidst a hurry and bustle of legislators and politicians coming and going, many of whom nodded to him, he stood for a minute in the whirling snow reflecting." - Winston Churchill in Mr. Crewe's Career, vol 2.

1895

August Strindberg Quotation: "Have you to go in such a hurry?" - August Strindberg in There are Crimes and Crimes.

Charles W. Chesnutt Quotation: "Hurry back to the parlor and talk to him." - Charles W. Chesnutt in The House Behind The Cedars.

Fenwick, Edwin Hurry: Born in 1856, authored "Urinary surgery." Published in 1895.

George Moore Quotation: "I experienced remorse when I hurried past him, too selfish to unbutton my coat, for every time I happened to pass him it was raining or blowing very hard, and every time I hurried away trying to find reasons why he bore his miserable life." - George Moore in The Untilled Field.

George Moore Quotation: "But nothing fell out to blot her hopes, everything seemed to be happening just as she had foreseen it, and trembling with pleasurable excitement the twain hurried through the town inquiring out the way to the Wesleyan Church." - George Moore in A Mummer's Wife.

George Moore Quotation: "He was due at the meeting in about twenty minutes; the notes of his speech still lay on the table, and he gathered them up and put them in his pocket, and drawing a sheet of paper towards him, he began a hurried letter." - George Moore in The Untilled Field.

George Moore Quotation: "Dick overflowed with mellifluous excuses which did not seem to allay Kate's anger, and as he hurried down the street it occurred to him that he might have thought of a better reason than Fredegonde for bringing her home." - George Moore in A Mummer's Wife.

George Moore Quotation: "Their hurry and animation were remarkable, and Esther noticed how laggard was William's walk by comparison, how his clothes hung loose about him, and that the sharp air was at work on his lungs, making him cough." - George Moore in Esther Waters.

Gilbert Parker Quotation: "She hesitated, then went on hurriedly." - Gilbert Parker in The Judgment House.

Gordon Home Quotation: "I found that I was within a few yards of the hotel; but on hurrying forward, I found to my astonishment, that the whole building was completely shut up and no light appeared even within the courtyard." - Gordon Home in Normandy, entire.

Henrik Ibsen Quotation: "Are you in a hurry, doctor?" - Henrik Ibsen in The Master Builder.

Henry C. Tinsley Quotation: "He often mistakes the single street he can see for the Universe and crows out his discovery until he is picked out of the coop and hurried off to lose his head, an operation which teaches him that in fact he has discovered nothing." - Henry C. Tinsley in Observations of a Retired Veteran.

Henry C. Tinsley Quotation: "By the time quiet was restored, the dogs would come to see if they had left any in their hurry, and the forgiving little one would start in to play with them as if nothing had happened." - Henry C. Tinsley in Observations of a Retired Veteran.

Henry C. Tinsley Quotation: "It sends hundreds of hustling people along its walks hurrying home." - Henry C. Tinsley in Observations of a Retired Veteran.

John Kendrick Bangs Quotation: "In the hurry of leaving home, and the worry of looking after three children and four times as many trunks, I neglected to include the cigars in my impedimenta, leaving them in the opened box upon my library table." - John Kendrick Bangs in Ghosts I have Met and Some Others.

John Kendrick Bangs Quotation: "He hadn't time to write more, because he comes up for examination on Tuesday morning, and as our presence is essential to his case he was necessarily hurried." - John Kendrick Bangs in Ghosts I have Met and Some Others.

Kate Douglas Wiggin Quotation: "Presently another log was dashed against it, but rolled off and hurried down the stream; then another, and still another; but no force seemed enough to drive the giant from its intrenched position." - Kate Douglas Wiggin in The Village Watch-Tower.

Kate Douglas Wiggin Quotation: "The neighbors were hurrying to and fro." - Kate Douglas Wiggin in The Village Watch-Tower.

Kate Douglas Wiggin Quotation: "Could it tell whither it was hurrying?" - Kate Douglas Wiggin in The Village Watch-Tower.

Kenneth Grahame Quotation: "Him I sometimes saw, breaking with haggard eyes out of yonder copse, and calling to the pilgrims as they hurried along on their desperate march to the Holy City, where peace and pardon were awaiting them." - Kenneth Grahame in The Golden Age.

Kenneth Grahame Quotation: "Very faint and shrill it was, and far behind him, when first he heard it; but somehow it made him hurry forward." - Kenneth Grahame in The Wind in the Willows.

Kenneth Grahame Quotation: "We needn't decide anything in a hurry." - Kenneth Grahame in The Wind in the Willows.

1895

Kenneth Grahame Quotation: "Hurry up and have done." - Kenneth Grahame in The Golden Age.

Kenneth Grahame Quotation: "Hurry up, can't you?" - Kenneth Grahame in The Golden Age.

Knut Hamsun Quotation: "But the Captain must have had some inkling as to the two brown horses Nils had been in such a hurry to get in; he goes round patting the animals in turn, to see which of them are warm." - Knut Hamsun in Wanderers.

Knut Hamsun Quotation: "Now and again when she asked us to do her a favour, some little service or other, we would both hurry to do it; at last we got to bringing in water and firewood of our own accord." - Knut Hamsun in Wanderers.

Knut Hamsun Quotation: "So bravely cheerful he was, I could not help feeling the same, and wanted to begin at once; I hurried back with the horses, almost at a run." - Knut Hamsun in Wanderers.

Knut Hamsun Quotation: "And now the sticks went dancing down through channel and rapids, like huge, pale serpents hurrying, hurrying on, now head, now tail in air." - Knut Hamsun in Wanderers.

Knut Hamsun Quotation: "A moment later I heard some one hurrying up the stairs in the house, and looked down involuntarily to see if it was the Captain." - Knut Hamsun in Wanderers.

Leo Tolstoy Quotation: "He hurried along the corridor after her, regardless of the attention he was arousing, caught her up, passed her, and stopped. She had ceased crying and only sobbed, wiping her red, discoloured face with the end of the kerchief on her head." - Leo Tolstoy in Resurrection.

Leo Tolstoy Quotation: "Even the gendarme whom she passed on her way to her seat looked at her fixedly till she sat down, and then, as if feeling guilty, hurriedly turned away, shook himself, and began staring at the window in front of him." - Leo Tolstoy in Resurrection.

Leo Tolstoy Quotation: "There's the corner at the crossroads, where the cabman, Zakhar, has his stand, and there's Zakhar himself and still the same horse! And here's the little shop where we used to buy gingerbread! Can't you hurry up?" - Leo Tolstoy in War and Peace.

Leo Tolstoy Quotation: "In the corridor the secretary met Breve, who, with up lifted shoulders, a portfolio under one arm, the other swinging with the palm turned to the front, was hurrying along the corridor, clattering with his heels." - Leo Tolstoy in Resurrection.

Leo Tolstoy Quotation: "It was the answer to Katusha's petition. What would that answer be? Nekhludoff glanced hurriedly through the letter, written in an illegibly small, hard, and cramped hand, and breathed a sigh of relief." - Leo Tolstoy in Resurrection.

Leonid Andreyev Quotation: "Now all Time belongs to him, and he walks without hurry; now all the World belongs to him, and he steps firmly, like a ruler, like a king, like one who is infinitely and joyfully alone in the world." - Leonid Andreyev in The Crushed Flower and Other Stories.

Leonid Andreyev Quotation: "To my regret our conversation lasted too long, and, notwithstanding the entreaties of the young man, who would not part with me, I hurried away to my cell." - Leonid Andreyev in The Crushed Flower and Other Stories.

Leonid Andreyev Quotation: "Judas did not want to hear him out; but turned right about, and hurried down the street in the wake of the retreating crowd." - Leonid Andreyev in The Crushed Flower and Other Stories.

Leonid Andreyev Quotation: "But He tarried, for some inexplicable reason, and the disciples, ready to start, were hurrying Him." - Leonid Andreyev in The Crushed Flower and Other Stories.

Leonid Andreyev Quotation: "I hid myself hurriedly when I could hide myself; I crawled away hastily." - Leonid Andreyev in The Crushed Flower and Other Stories.

Lewis Tracy Quotation: "As the weather was bad, you probably hurried in when your cab stopped?" - Lewis Tracy in Number Seventeen.

Louis Tracy Quotation: "When she tore herself from Dick's arms, she hurried back to the oasis, it is true, but only to draw a chair out into the open, and sit there under the stars, dreaming the dreams of a girl to whom the heaven of love has just thrown wide its portals." - Louis Tracy in The Wheel O' Fortune.

Louis Tracy Quotation: "Fenshawe's friendly letter was found among his papers, so he had hurried from his camp on the Suleiman's Well route with the deliberate intention of wiping out of existence the man who was his sworn enemy." - Louis Tracy in The Wheel O' Fortune.

Louis Tracy Quotation: "Mr. Fenshawe and Irene must be cognizant of the open risks, and it was idle to suppose that they did not appreciate the unobtrusive way in which the yacht was being hurried to her destination." - Louis Tracy in The Wheel O' Fortune.

Louis Tracy Quotation: "There was another more pressing matter to be dealt with, but, Allah be praised, that might wait till a less occupied hour, for the Frank was in no hurry, and he paid like a Kaliph." - Louis Tracy in The Wheel O' Fortune.

Louis Tracy Quotation: "Even before they met, Royson saw two Arabs race back towards the camp, and Stump, after the first hearty congratulations, explained the hurry of those messengers." - Louis Tracy in The Wheel O' Fortune.

Murphy, C. W.: Born in 1875 and died in 1913, authored "Oh! Joe, hurry up, Joe!." Written and composed by C.W. Murphy; sung by John O'Brien. (There's a pretty little girl around the corner). Publisher: Francis, Day & Hunter (London). Published in 1895.

USS Vesuvius (1888): Decommissioned on 25 April 1895 for major repairs, "Vesuvius" re-entered service on 12 January 1897 with Lieutenant Commander John E. Pillsbury in command. The ship got underway from Philadelphia Navy Yard, bound for Florida, and operated off the east coast through the spring of the following year, 1898. By this time, American relations with Spain were worsening. The American Fleet gathered in Florida waters, and "Vesuvius" hurried south from Newport, Rhode Island, and arrived at Key West, Florida, on 13 May. She remained there until 28 May, when she headed for blockade duty in Cuban coastal waters. "Vesuvius" performed special duties at the discretion of the Fleet Commander in Chief and served as a dispatch vessel between Cuba and Florida into July of 1898. [WP]

William Le Queux Quotation: "They held hurried consultation." - William Le Queux in Mademoiselle of Monte Carlo.

1896

Andrew Lang Quotation: "They therefore delayed no longer than to hang the spy from a sufficient bough of a tree, this Michael doing what was needful, and so were hurrying to horse, when, lo! the English were upon them." - Andrew Lang in A Monk of Fife.

Andrew Lang Quotation: "Pardon my tardiness, my poor brother, but this demands deep thought, and holy offices must not be hurried unseemly." - Andrew Lang in A Monk of Fife.

Annie Payson Call Quotation: "Even now there is joy in the Christmas time, in spite of the rush and hurry and selfishness, and the spirit of those who keep the joy alive by remembering whose birthday it is, serves as leaven all over the world." - Annie Payson Call in The Freedom of Life.

Annie Payson Call Quotation: "There are many women who work for a living, and women who do not work for a living, who feel hurried from morning until they go to bed at night, and they must, perforce, hurry to sleep and hurry awake." - Annie Payson Call in Nerves and Common Sense.

Annie Payson Call Quotation: "This tells especially in hurrying for a train, where the nervous anxiety in the fear of losing it wakes all possible unnecessary tension and often impedes the motion instead of assisting it." - Annie Payson Call in Power Through Repose.

Annie Payson Call Quotation: "The man is in a great hurry to speak to some one at the other end of the telephone, and yet he takes every means to prevent the operator from knowing what he wants by rattling his hook." - Annie Payson Call in Nerves and Common Sense.

Annie Payson Call Quotation: "The strain of hurry makes contractions in brain and body with which it is impossible to work freely and easily or to accomplish as much as might be done without such contractions." - Annie Payson Call in Nerves and Common Sense.

1896

Arthur M. Winfield (Edward Stratemeyer) Quotation: "Who would have thought it when we left Cedarville in such a hurry?" - Arthur M. Winfield (Edward Stratemeyer) in The Rover Roys on the Ocean.

Arthur M. Winfield (Edward Stratemeyer) Quotation: "Why in such a hurry, Dick?" - Arthur M. Winfield (Edward Stratemeyer) in The Rover Boys in New York (Saving their Father's Honor).

E.J. Banfield Quotation: "Not long before he passed away he told of one of his adventures in a few hurried words, after the manner of one who loves not to dwell on personal reminiscences, save as a text for the rectification of popular error in respect of sensational happenings." - E.J. Banfield in Tropic Days.

E.J. Banfield Quotation: "But why hurry? Every minor crevice was embossed with spongy moss, from which sprang modest little flowers, a flower of mountaintops alone, lacking a familiar name, but which in its dainty form and rich mauve is none the less precious." - E.J. Banfield in Tropic Days.

E.J. Banfield Quotation: "Willingly hurrying to the place of execution, the murdered men had saved the calculating blacks the trouble of carrying their carcasses." - E.J. Banfield in Tropic Days.

E.J. Banfield Quotation: "Tom never hurries, fusses, or falters, be the weather never so boisterous afloat or the domestic tribulations never so wild ashore." - E.J. Banfield in My Tropic Isle.

E.J. Banfield Quotation: "Nothing disturbs her placidity, incites her to hurry, or bewilders her." - E.J. Banfield in Tropic Days.

Edwin L. Arnold Quotation: "And was Heru going to marry black Hath in such a hurry?" - Edwin L. Arnold in Gulliver of Mars.

Ethel Pedley Quotation: "Then Dot and the Kangaroo hurried on their way again, the little girl sometimes running and walking to rest the kind animal, and sometimes being carried in that soft cosy pouch that had been her cradle and carriage for all those days." - Ethel Pedley in Dot And The Kangaroo.

Ethel Pedley Quotation: "Hundreds of ants, of all kinds and sizes, were hurrying to their nests; a few lizards were scuttling about amongst the dry twigs and sparse grasses; there were some grasshoppers, and in the trees birds fluttered to and fro." - Ethel Pedley in Dot And The Kangaroo.

Ethel Pedley Quotation: "The blacks were trying to hurry on, so as to cut off the Kangaroo's retreat at a spur of the hill, where, to get away, she would have to leave the rocks and descend towards them." - Ethel Pedley in Dot And The Kangaroo.

Ethel Pedley Quotation: "Like the bush creatures, Dot also was frightened, and running to the water, hurriedly drank, and fled back to the shelter of the bush, where the Kangaroo was waiting for her." - Ethel Pedley in Dot And The Kangaroo.

Ethel Pedley Quotation: "Then, one evening, Dot's father came home alone, and both her mother and the little boy's mother went away in a great hurry." - Ethel Pedley in Dot And The Kangaroo.

Frances Hodgson Burnett Quotation: "The night Clorinda laid her commands upon Mistress Wimpole concerning the coming of Sir John Oxon, that matron, after receiving them, hurried to her other charges, flurried and full of talk, and poured forth her wonder and admiration at length." - Frances Hodgson Burnett in A Lady of Quality.

Frances Hodgson Burnett Quotation: "There was no hurry in her movement or in her air, but by sheer, slow strength she forced her head backward so that the terrified woman was staring in her face." - Frances Hodgson Burnett in A Lady of Quality.

Frances Hodgson Burnett Quotation: "She held her head with the old dauntless carriage, and there was that in her voice before which her women quaked, and her lacqueys hurried to do her bidding." - Frances Hodgson Burnett in A Lady of Quality.

Frances Hodgson Burnett Quotation: "The soundlessness of the night was broken by one of the strange sudden gusts of wind which tossed the trees, and tore at the clouds as they hurried." - Frances Hodgson Burnett in A Lady of Quality.

Frances Hodgson Burnett Quotation: "Anne rose from her chair and hurried to her sister's side, sinking upon her knees there to kiss her hand." - Frances Hodgson Burnett in A Lady of Quality.

1896

George Randolph Chester Quotation: "Constance, whose faculties were not so concentrated as his, heard a rustle on the stairs and glancing out through the portieres into the hall, saw Polly, without her hat, hurrying to the front door." - George Randolph Chester in Five Thousand an Hour.

George Randolph Chester Quotation: "Beauty barked and capered when she was let out, and expressed her entire approval of Johnny in fluent dog language, looking after him reproachfully when he hurried away." - George Randolph Chester in Five Thousand an Hour.

George Randolph Chester Quotation: "As soon as Johnny entered the door the young man gave a direction to the driver, and the taxi hurried away." - George Randolph Chester in Five Thousand an Hour.

George Randolph Chester Quotation: "Mr. Chase, holding to his chair, jumped up, hurried over to Johnny and once more jerked the chair close up." - George Randolph Chester in Five Thousand an Hour.

George Randolph Chester Quotation: "Hurry, now! Report to me, won't you, as soon as you find out whether you can secure the property?" - George Randolph Chester in Five Thousand an Hour.

Jack London Quotation: "As they hurriedly drew in closer, they made out the man's inert body, and a live thing that clung to it, and shook and worried, and gave to it the swaying motion." - Jack London in The Faith of Men.

Jack London Quotation: "In the early afternoon, when he finished paying off his crew, he hurried to the private office where he had been told his wife was waiting." - Jack London in The Strength of the Strong etc.

Jack London Quotation: "His eyes were for her first, though the temptation was great to have more than a hurried glimpse of the child in the chair beside her." - Jack London in The Strength of the Strong etc.

Jack London Quotation: "The clock marked a quarter before twelve when he climbed up out of the lazarette, replaced the trapdoor, and hurried to set the table." - Jack London in Michael, Brother of Jerry.

Jack London Quotation: "Jerry's ears had given him warning, and, the precise instant that he backed hurriedly up and out of the hole, Michael collided with him." - Jack London in Jerry of the Islands.

Jean Webster Quotation: "I tried to turn it off lightly and hurry him to his train." - Jean Webster in Dear Enemy.

Kendall, of Sale. John.: Publication of "American memories. Recollections of a hurried run through the United States during the late Spring of 1896. (Dedication signed: John Kendall)." Published in 1896.

Laura E. Richards Quotation: "Each man of all the hurrying thousands is shut up in himself, carrying his little world, which is all the world there is, about with him, seeing the other hurrying mites only ‘as trees walking,’ with no thought or note of them." - Laura E. Richards in Melody.

Laura E. Richards Quotation: "The sunbeams flickered through the leaves; the pine needles, tossed into heaps by the hurrying feet, gave out their delicious fragrance; overhead the wind murmured low in the branches." - Laura E. Richards in Hildegarde's Neighbors.

Laura E. Richards Quotation: "Adam walked to the window and looked out; but the other three broke out into a sudden, hurried clamor, strangely at variance with their usual staid demeanor." - Laura E. Richards in The Green Satin Gown.

Laura E. Richards Quotation: "I had not far to go, only to the grove, about a mile beyond the campus; but it was growing dark, so I hurried as much as I could." - Laura E. Richards in Hildegarde's Neighbors.

Laura E. Richards Quotation: "Among all these hurrying motes in the broad, fierce stream of sunshine, one figure moves slowly, without haste." - Laura E. Richards in Melody.

Louis Hemon Quotation: "Yet they toiled from dawn to nightfall without loss of a second, hurrying their meals, feeling nothing but gratitude and happiness that the weather stood fair." - Louis Hemon in Maria Chapdelaine.

Louis Hemon Quotation: "Half an hour went by; after casting his eyes toward the window Chapdelaine arose hurriedly, saying." - Louis Hemon in Maria Chapdelaine.

Marcel Proust Quotation: "Biche some more sole, can't you see his has got cold? We're not in any hurry; you're dashing round as if the house was on fire." - Marcel Proust in Swann's Way (vol 1 of Remembrance of Things Past).

Mariano Azuela Quotation: "The recruits turned back hurriedly, retreating in shameful flight, searching for a way out of the canyon." - Mariano Azuela in The Underdogs [Mexican Revolt].

Mariano Azuela Quotation: "Camilla, frightened, hurried back to Demetrio's side." - Mariano Azuela in The Underdogs [Mexican Revolt].

Sabine Baring-Gould Quotation: "In the meantime, the unhappy wife of Gilles de Retz, who had been separated from him for some while, and who loathed his crimes, though she still felt for him as her husband, hurried to the duke with her daughter to entreat pardon for the wretched man." - Sabine Baring-Gould in The Book of Were-Wolves.

Sabine Baring-Gould Quotation: "The marshal was staggered by this unexpected citation, and he did not think of appealing against it to the president; he merely signed his readiness to follow, and he was at once conducted into the ecclesiastical court assembled hurriedly to try him." - Sabine Baring-Gould in The Book of Were-Wolves.

Sabine Baring-Gould Quotation: "As he threw open the door, he saw the mendicant hurriedly shuffle something under his feet, and conceal it beneath his long clothes." - Sabine Baring-Gould in The Book of Were-Wolves.

Sabine Baring-Gould Quotation: "Notwithstanding the avowal of Pontou and Henriet, the adjourned trial was not hurried on." - Sabine Baring-Gould in The Book of Were-Wolves.

William J. Locke Quotation: "And as Paul walked home through the hurrying streets, he thought regretfully of twenty speeches which would have more adequately signified his indignant retirement from the profession." - William J. Locke in The Fortunate Youth.

William J. Locke Quotation: "He fumbled hurriedly for the latch of the van door, found it, and leaped out into the waste under the stars, just as the owner of the van rose with a clatter of coins." - William J. Locke in The Fortunate Youth.

William J. Locke Quotation: "That was important, because theatrical engagements are not picked up in a hurry." - William J. Locke in The Fortunate Youth.

William J. Locke Quotation: "The butler snatched him in hurriedly. He asked to see the Winwoods." - William J. Locke in The Fortunate Youth.

William J. Locke Quotation: "Hurriedly, I drew a providential handful of coppers from my pocket." - William J. Locke in Simon the Jester.

William Morris Quotation: "Hurrying on to the Courts of the Sun?" - William Morris in The Roots of the Mountains.

William Morris Quotation: "O hurrying turbid stream, what hast thou done?" - William Morris in Poems by the Way.

1897

Alice Meynell Quotation: "Even so, we now consider, jolted the changes of the past, with the same hurry." - Alice Meynell in The Colour of Life.

Andy Adams Quotation: "Flood was in a hurry, and riding a short distance with him, I asked that he pass or send word to the county seat, informing the inspector of hides and animals that a trail herd would leave Los Lobos within a week." - Andy Adams in The Outlet.

Andy Adams Quotation: "Soldiers of fortune, with Southern accents, who were assisting in the conquest of a new empire, intermingled with the hurrying throng, and two men whose home was in Medina County, Texas, looked on and approved." - Andy Adams in The Outlet.

Andy Adams Quotation: "The mixed herd under the Mexican corporal, by moving early and late, could keep the lead of our beeves, and with the abundance of time at my disposal we were in no hurry." - Andy Adams in The Outlet.

Andy Adams Quotation: "I was riding in the swing at the time, the herd being strung out fully a mile, and on catching first sight of the pursuers, turned and hurried to the rear." - Andy Adams in The Outlet.

Andy Adams Quotation: "Hence Quince and myself were in no hurry, nor did we intrude ourselves on David the pathfinder, but sought out a crossing up the river and on our course." - Andy Adams in The Outlet.

Anstey, F.: Born in 1856 and died in 1934, authored "Baboo Hurry Bungsho Jabberjee, B.A." By F Anstey (i.e. T.A. Guthrie). --. Publisher: D. Appleton (New York). Published in 1897.

Fenwick, Edwin Hurry: Author of "Tumours of the Bladder. Their pathology, diagnosis and treatment. Being the Jacksonian prize essay of 1887, rewritten, with 200 additional cases." Published in 1897.

Gaston Leroux Quotation: "Perhaps you can tell me why, when Mother Giry came down to the foyer just now, Mercier took her by the hand and hurried her away with him?" - Gaston Leroux in The Phantom of the Opera.

George Barr McCutcheon Quotation: "As the ship rolled back, he moved forward to assist her, but she sprang lightly to her feet and hurried on ahead of him, disappearing around a corner." - George Barr McCutcheon in West Wind Drift.

George Barr McCutcheon Quotation: "Another thing, did she say anything to you about hurrying the thing along a bit, so as to have it over with before her mother gets wind of it?" - George Barr McCutcheon in Her Weight in Gold.

George Barr McCutcheon Quotation: "The first drops of rain began to fall and Mrs. Delancy hurriedly crawled beneath the tarpaulin, urging him to follow at once." - George Barr McCutcheon in The Day of the Dog.

George Barr McCutcheon Quotation: "He made no allusion to the thing uppermost in his mind as he spoke hurriedly, emphatically to the tense throng." - George Barr McCutcheon in West Wind Drift.

George Barr McCutcheon Quotation: "Assuming that your story is true, why are you in such a tremendous hurry to reach the United States?" - George Barr McCutcheon in West Wind Drift.

George Meredith Quotation: "She hurried in flight from the remark to confidences imparted by other ladies, showing strange veins in an earthy world; after which, her mind was bent to rebuke Mrs. Pagnell for the silly soul's perpetual allusions to Lord Ormont's age." - George Meredith in Lord Ormont and his Aminta, vol 3.

George Meredith Quotation: "A second look showed the house completely isolated; and as the party led by Van Diemen circled hurriedly toward the town, they discerned heavy cataracts of foam pouring down the wrecked mound of shingle on either side of the house." - George Meredith in The House on the Beach.

George Meredith Quotation: "The last I saw of my friend was a smiting of his hand upon his head in a vain effort to catch at one of the fleeting ideas sowed in him by the quick passage of objects before his vision, and shaken out of him by abnormal hurry." - George Meredith in The Gentleman of Fifty.

George Meredith Quotation: "She gave them plenty of promises, and hurried on till she met Evan, and, almost out of breath, told him the shameful injustice that had been done to her friend." - George Meredith in Evan Harrington, vol 6.

George Meredith Quotation: "The four long notes, and the short fifth which leads off to that hurried gush of music, gurgling rich with passion, came thick and constant from under the tremulous leaves." - George Meredith in Farina.

Gertrude Page Quotation: "Why is he in such a hurry?" - Gertrude Page in Winding Paths.

Gilbert Parker Quotation: "It roused her, however, from the half wakefulness which had been excoriated by burning memories, and, hurriedly rising, she opened wide the window and looked out into the night." - Gilbert Parker in The Judgment House.

Gilbert Parker Quotation: "Presently, as Al'mah stood still in the hush which was infinitely more grateful to her than any applause, she saw Krool advancing hurriedly up the centre aisle." - Gilbert Parker in The Judgment House.

Gilbert Parker Quotation: "Her movements had been agitated, and, as she hurried on, she thrust her head down into her muff as a woman would who faced a blinding rain." - Gilbert Parker in The Judgment House.

Gilbert Parker Quotation: "The woman glanced along the empty street swiftly, and then hurried to the doorway which opened to Adrian Fellowes' chambers." - Gilbert Parker in The Judgment House.

Gilbert Parker Quotation: "In a far dark corner he had waited till he saw Lablanche enter her mistress' room hurriedly, without observing the letter." - Gilbert Parker in The Judgment House.

Hurry, Jamieson Boyd: Author of "District nursing on a provident basis." Published in 1897.

James George Frazer Quotation: "The reapers hurry with their work, each being anxious not to have to chase out the Hare; for the man who does so, that is, who cuts the last corn, is much laughed at." - James George Frazer in The Golden Bough.

James George Frazer Quotation: "Meanwhile the clown hurried to the alehouse and proceeded to bolt thirty rolls of bread and to swig four quart bottles of brandy with the utmost possible despatch." - James George Frazer in The Golden Bough.

James George Frazer Quotation: "Then he hurried to the warlock's castle, but only to learn from the princess that the warlock was still alive." - James George Frazer in The Golden Bough.

Lida Brown McMurry Quotation: "His mother hurried into the room to find out what was the matter with him." - Lida Brown McMurry in Fifty Famous Fables.

Lida Brown McMurry Quotation: "Now let us have them off in a hurry before supper." - Lida Brown McMurry in Fifty Famous Fables.

Lida Brown McMurry Quotation: "He was coming, leaping along in a great hurry." - Lida Brown McMurry in Fifty Famous Fables.

Scott, Bennett: Born in 1875 and died in 1930, authored "She just walks on." Written by A. J. Mills; composed by Bennett Scott; sung by Miss Louie Freear in A day in Paris. (I've left my situation in a hurry) (She just walks on and she just walks off) (A day in Paris.). Publisher: Francis, Day & Hunter (London). Published in 1897.

Thomas Wright Quotation: "Old Mrs. Baker, hearing the news, and accounting prevention better than cure, at once hurried across the channel; nor did she breathe freely until she had plugged every nose at Beausejour with the best Borneo camphor." - Thomas Wright in The Life of Sir Richard Burton.

Thomas Wright Quotation: "Elated at the prospect of taking part in a great military feat, he hurried to Constantinople, obtained an interview with the British Ambassador, Lord Stratford, and submitted a plan for approval." - Thomas Wright in The Life of Sir Richard Burton.

Thomas Wright Quotation: "She and her sister, Mrs. FitzGerald, had hired a cab at Charing Cross Station and were in a great hurry to get home." - Thomas Wright in The Life of Sir Richard Burton.

Thomas Wright Quotation: "As I hurried to his assistance he said something to the Turks which I could not catch, and pointed to me." - Thomas Wright in The Life of Sir Richard Burton.

Thomas Wright Quotation: "Every page bears evidences of hurry." - Thomas Wright in The Life of Sir Richard Burton.

Vicente Blasco Ibanez Quotation: "They would march toward him in a straight line, as though they did not see him, and he would have to hurry out of their way to avoid being thrown down by their mechanical and rigid advance." - Vicente Blasco Ibanez in The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse.

Vicente Blasco Ibanez Quotation: "The soldiers from the South were hurrying to their posts, and at brief intervals another detachment of men was dragged along the rails toward Paris." - Vicente Blasco Ibanez in The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse.

Vicente Blasco Ibanez Quotation: "They could not find a vehicle that would stop for them; all were hurrying in the opposite direction toward the stations." - Vicente Blasco Ibanez in The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse.

Vicente Blasco Ibanez Quotation: "The Frederic August hurried to get away as soon as possible, and transacted business with dizzying celerity." - Vicente Blasco Ibanez in The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse.

Vicente Blasco Ibanez Quotation: "The French hurried to the spot, killing the corporal." - Vicente Blasco Ibanez in The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse.

1898

Anna (Bonus) Kingsford Quotation: "The two women were still hurrying onward, but the distance between them was considerably lessened." - Anna (Bonus) Kingsford in Dreams and Dream Stories.

Anthony Hope Quotation: "Why hurry Rudolf's resolve? Every moment shut him closer in the trap of an inevitable choice. With every hour that he was called the king, it became more impossible for him to bear any other name all his days." - Anthony Hope in Rupert of Hentzau.

Anthony Hope Quotation: "Rudolf gave me a little brandy mixed in a great deal of water, and then I made shift to tell him. Though faint, I was not confused, and I gave my story in brief, hurried, yet sufficient words." - Anthony Hope in Rupert of Hentzau.

Anthony Hope Quotation: "Rischenheim made no answer, but hurried in great agitation to the house in the Konigstrasse, where the old woman Holf confirmed the tidings." - Anthony Hope in Rupert of Hentzau.

Anthony Hope Quotation: "At this moment I saw James approaching hurriedly. He was looking up the street, no doubt seeking my carriage and chafing at its delay." - Anthony Hope in Rupert of Hentzau.

Anthony Hope Quotation: "The head waiter hurried up to her; his face was covered with smiles, and he gave me a confidential nod en passant." - Anthony Hope in Frivolous Cupid.

Charles A. Eastman Quotation: "If she is in a hurry or does not care to stop, she goes around him; but if she is willing to stop and listen she puts down on the ground the vessel of water she is carrying." - Charles A. Eastman in Indian Boyhood.

Charles A. Eastman Quotation: "I picked my way through the woods, dipped my pail in the water and hurried back, always careful to make as little noise as a cat." - Charles A. Eastman in Indian Boyhood.

Charles A. Eastman Quotation: "There was a hurried exchange of shots; the Crows fled back to Crook's camp, pursued by the Sioux." - Charles A. Eastman in Indian Heroes and Great Chieftains.

Charles A. Eastman Quotation: "As fast as they came in, the warriors hurried away upon their best horses, singing and yelling." - Charles A. Eastman in Old Indian Days.

Charles A. Eastman Quotation: "Our young men presently received their sign, and for a few days all was hurry and excitement." - Charles A. Eastman in Indian Boyhood.

Charlotte Mary Yonge Quotation: "Ethel, greatly astonished, but as much bewildered as touched, was infinitely relieved that this same day had brought a hurried note from Paris, announcing Tom's intention of coming to attend the funeral." - Charlotte Mary Yonge in The Trial.

Charlotte Mary Yonge Quotation: "She slipped out and hurried down a narrow path towards the scene of action, presently becoming aware of four figures before her, which her glass resolved into Harry and Tom, a lady in black, and a child." - Charlotte Mary Yonge in The Trial.

Charlotte Mary Yonge Quotation: "Hastily springing out, shuffling the tickets into the porter's hand, and grappling Leonard's arm as if he feared an escape, Dr. May hurried him into the empty streets, and strode on in silence." - Charlotte Mary Yonge in The Trial.

Charlotte Mary Yonge Quotation: "Henry himself was in the camp, before Vicksburg, with his hands too full of piteous cases of wounds and fever to attempt the most hurried visit." - Charlotte Mary Yonge in The Trial.

Charlotte Mary Yonge Quotation: "To hurry from old scenes, and sever former connections, was his sole thought, as if he could thus break the tie of brotherhood." - Charlotte Mary Yonge in The Trial.

Elia W. Peattie Quotation: "Some gentlemen came hurrying out of the office; and as they beat the dog back to its retreat, Kate summoned words from her parched throat to thank her benefactor." - Elia W. Peattie in A Mountain Woman.

Elia W. Peattie Quotation: "How the logs hurried and jostled! crushing, whirling, ducking, with the merry lads leaping about them with shouts and laughter." - Elia W. Peattie in A Mountain Woman.

Elia W. Peattie Quotation: "Men with a hurried, nervous air were everywhere." - Elia W. Peattie in A Mountain Woman.

Emma Wolf Quotation: "Ruth from her chair could see that her cheeks were unnaturally flushed and that her breathing was hurried; but any degree of oblivion was better than the impatient outlook for menacing tidings." - Emma Wolf in Other Things Being Equal.

Emma Wolf Quotation: "Nothing was left but for him to comply with her wishes; and as she walked out, he quickly got himself into his proper vestments, seized a vial from his office, and hurried after her." - Emma Wolf in Other Things Being Equal.

Emma Wolf Quotation: "Below me surged a black mass of crowding, jostling, hurrying beings, so far removed they seemed like little dots, each as large and no larger than his fellows." - Emma Wolf in Other Things Being Equal.

Emma Wolf Quotation: "As she hurried down the walk, she recognized the doctor's carriage, containing the doctor himself with Bob in state beside him." - Emma Wolf in Other Things Being Equal.

Emma Wolf Quotation: "At the moment when he slammed the gate behind him, a stout woman hurrying along the sidewalk accosted him breathlessly." - Emma Wolf in Other Things Being Equal.

Fenwick, Edwin Hurry: Author of "Golden rules of surgical practice: by E. Hurry Fenwick." Publisher: Simpkin, Marshall, Hamilton, Kent & Co (Bristol: John Wright & Co. London). Published in 1898.

Henry James Quotation: "She spoke as if it were something she had thrust bodily into his hands and wished to hurry away from." - Henry James in The Awkward Age.

Henry James Quotation: "What do you call a hurry when I've waited nearly a year?" - Henry James in The Awkward Age.

Henry Lawson Quotation: "When they reached the Lower Sliprails Jim said he'd go on and that Harry needn't hurry: he stooped over his horse's neck, kissed his sister, promised to keep away from the drink, not to touch a card, and to leave off fighting, and rode on." - Henry Lawson in Children of the Bush.

Henry Lawson Quotation: "He got down an' went into the kitchen, an' then come backin' out agen in a hurry with her in front of him." - Henry Lawson in Children of the Bush.

Henry Lawson Quotation: "As soon as I heerd of it I give young Tommy a lambastin' he won't forgot in a hurry." - Henry Lawson in Children of the Bush.

Henry Lawson Quotation: "You were in a great hurry to put on the breeches, weren't you, Mary?" - Henry Lawson in Children of the Bush.

Henry Lawson Quotation: "Tom Hall and one or two others went out hurriedly to have a drink." - Henry Lawson in Children of the Bush.

James M. Barrie Quotation: "He went in a hurry in the end because he had dreamt that his mother was crying, and he knew what was the great thing she cried for, and that a hug from her splendid Peter would quickly make her to smile." - James M. Barrie in Peter Pan in Kensington Gardens.

James M. Barrie Quotation: "I had done it with a heavy foot, and by this time was in a rage with both him and myself, but I always was a bungler, and, having adopted this means in a hurry, I could at the time see no other easy way out." - James M. Barrie in The Little White Bird.

James M. Barrie Quotation: "He addresses me as father when he is in a hurry only, and never have I dared ask him to use the name." - James M. Barrie in The Little White Bird.

James M. Barrie Quotation: "She leapt into his arms, so that it was a sort of fairy wedding, and then she hurried away." - James M. Barrie in The Little White Bird.

Josephine Preston Peabody Quotation: "He therefore planned the death of Orestes, and even won the consent of the queen, who was no gentle mother! But the princess Electra, suspecting their plot, secretly hurried her brother away to the court of King Strophius in Phocis, and so saved his life." - Josephine Preston Peabody in Old Greek Folk Stories Told Anew.

Josephine Preston Peabody Quotation: "So Pan thought, and he hurried after to tell her." - Josephine Preston Peabody in Old Greek Folk Stories Told Anew.

Katie Langloh Parker Quotation: "Quite sure, when they heard their spear shots followed by neither conversation nor laughter, that they had killed the Weeoombeens at last, the black fellows hurried away to bring back the strength and cunning of the camp, to remove the stone." - Katie Langloh Parker in Australian Legendary Tales.

Katie Langloh Parker Quotation: "Then he was frightened, and climbed quickly down the gunnyanny tree; taking her body to the ground with him, he laid it beside her sister's, and quickly he hurried from the spot, taking no further thought of the honey." - Katie Langloh Parker in Australian Legendary Tales.

Katie Langloh Parker Quotation: "Hurrying along with them, a dog of Byamee's, which would fain have lain by the roadside rather than have travelled so swiftly, but Byamee would not leave her and hurried her on." - Katie Langloh Parker in Australian Legendary Tales.

Katie Langloh Parker Quotation: "When they had eaten, she hurried them off to her real home, built in a hollow tree, a little distance away from where she had been cooking her durrie." - Katie Langloh Parker in Australian Legendary Tales.

Katie Langloh Parker Quotation: "As he was wondering how the water could have disappeared so quickly, he saw a big storm coming up; he hurried to get into the thick bush for shelter." - Katie Langloh Parker in Australian Legendary Tales.

Princess Der Ling Quotation: "I took a piece of candy and had just put it into my mouth when I heard Her Majesty calling my name. I hurried in and found her sitting at her table ready to take her lunch." - Princess Der Ling in Two Years in the Forbidden City.

Princess Der Ling Quotation: "When morning came we hurried over everything, even the usual morning audience, so that we could be ready when Miss Carl arrived." - Princess Der Ling in Two Years in the Forbidden City.

Princess Der Ling Quotation: "Everything was hurry and bustle. To add to this, it snowed very heavily during the few days previous to the tenth." - Princess Der Ling in Two Years in the Forbidden City.

Princess Der Ling Quotation: "Just then one of my eunuchs came and said that Her Majesty was awake, so I had to hurry off to her room." - Princess Der Ling in Two Years in the Forbidden City.

Princess Der Ling Quotation: "We dressed in a great hurry, as Her Majesty had sent eunuchs to see if we were ready." - Princess Der Ling in Two Years in the Forbidden City.

Quesada, Gonzalo de: Born in 1868 and died in 1915, authored "Cuba's great struggle for freedom: containing a complete record of Spanish tyranny and oppression, scenes of violence and bloodshed, daring deeds of Cuban heroes and patriots, thrilling incidents of the conflict, American aid for the cause of Cuba, secret expeditions, inside facts of the war, etc., etc., great resources, products and scenery of the 'Queen of the Antilles,' manners and customs of the people, etc., etc., to which is added a full account of the destruction of the battleship 'Maine' and the report of the Naval Board, hurried preparations for war with Spain, etc., etc." By Gonzalo de Quesada and Henry Davenport Northrop. Publisher: J.R. Jones (United States). Published in 1898.

Ralph Connor Quotation: "After the first effusive kiss, which Mrs. Fairbanks hurried to bestow and which Mrs. Macgregor suffered with calm surprise, it became difficult to go on with the programme of tearful consolation which had been prepared." - Ralph Connor in The Prospector.

Ralph Connor Quotation: "The doctor hurried out, and found Crawley in the neighbourhood of the tent gathering some sticks for the fire." - Ralph Connor in The Prospector.

Ralph Connor Quotation: "As the congregation broke up the young ladies hurried to greet Mrs. Macgregor." - Ralph Connor in The Prospector.

Ralph Connor Quotation: "Won't you hurry?" - Ralph Connor in To Him That Hath: A Tale of the West of Today.

Sara Cone Bryant Quotation: "The Field Mouse hurried as fast as he could down the last stairs, and pushed through just as the door was closing." - Sara Cone Bryant in Stories To Tell To Children.

Sara Cone Bryant Quotation: "The industrious man hurried back to his friend, and told him what the fairy had said." - Sara Cone Bryant in Stories To Tell To Children.

Sara Cone Bryant Quotation: "He drove his heels into the snail's sides, to make him hurry." - Sara Cone Bryant in Stories To Tell To Children.

Sara Cone Bryant Quotation: "Never hurry." - Sara Cone Bryant in Stories To Tell To Children.

Young, James Rankin: Author of "War with Spain including battles on sea and land containing a complete account of the destruction of the Battleship 'Maine;' hurried preparations for war; outbreak of hostilities; capture of Spanish vessels; progress of the war, etc., etc. to which is added a ful account of the conquests of Spain in America; loss of her colonies; naval battles of the United States, etc., etc." By James Rankin Young in collaboration with J. Hampton Moore. Published in 1898.

1899

Alexander Maclaren Quotation: "So the host broke up in wild disorder, and hurried in fragments towards the Jordan fords, trampling each other down as they raced through the darkness, and each man, as he ran, dreading to feel the enemy's sword in his back next moment." - Alexander Maclaren in Expositions of Holy Scripture (Deuteronomy, Joshua, Judges, Ruth, Samuel I and II, Kings I, and Kings II chapters 1 to 7).

Alexander Maclaren Quotation: "We must therefore suppose that she had with the others come to it, seen that the sacred corpse was gone and their spices useless, exchanged hurried words of alarm and bewilderment, and then had hastened away before the appearance of the angels." - Alexander Maclaren in Expositions of Holy Scripture: St. John Chapters 15 to 21.

Alexander Maclaren Quotation: "Wilfully blind, and hurried on by lust, passion, or other impulse, like bulls which shut their eyes when they charge, we rush at our mark, and often dash ourselves to pieces on it." - Alexander Maclaren in Expositions of Holy Scripture (Deuteronomy, Joshua, Judges, Ruth, Samuel I and II, Kings I, and Kings II chapters 1 to 7).

Alexander Maclaren Quotation: "Apparently his bold strategy led to the abandonment of the attack on Medeba, and to the hurried march of its besiegers to relieve Rabbath." - Alexander Maclaren in Expositions of Holy Scripture (Deuteronomy, Joshua, Judges, Ruth, Samuel I and II, Kings I, and Kings II chapters 1 to 7).

Alexander Maclaren Quotation: "Before the seven days during which it lasted were over the riot broke out, and he was saved from death only by the military tribune hurrying down to the Temple and dragging him from the mob." - Alexander Maclaren in Expositions of Holy Scripture: The Acts.

Alice Meynell Quotation: "Having amused himself ingeniously throughout the story with their nameless vulgarities, he finally hurries them into so much sentiment as may excuse the convention of heroes in love." - Alice Meynell in The Spirit of Place and Other Essays.

Amy Lowell Quotation: "People hurry by, for these are only shoes, and in a window, farther down, is a big lotus bud of cardboard whose petals open every few minutes and reveal a wax doll, with staring bead eyes and flaxen hair, lolling awkwardly in its flower chair." - Amy Lowell in Men, Women and Ghosts.

Amy Lowell Quotation: "Elmer fixed th' telephone in about two minits, An' he didn't seem in no hurry to go, An' I don't know as I wanted him to go either, I was awful mad at your not takin' me with yer, An' I was tired o' wishin' and wishin' An' gittin' no comfort." - Amy Lowell in Men, Women and Ghosts.

Amy Lowell Quotation: "Then hurrying, in spite Of cake and wine the old man pressed upon Him ere he went, he took his leave and shut the door." - Amy Lowell in Sword Blades and Poppy Seed.

Amy Lowell Quotation: "There's nothing to hurry about, the plain Is hours long, and the mud's a strain." - Amy Lowell in Sword Blades and Poppy Seed.

Amy Lowell Quotation: "But he had gone, hurriedly at the end, For she had kept him talking." - Amy Lowell in Men, Women and Ghosts.

Arthur Conan Doyle Quotation: "Upon the high bluff of Megara there stood a great concourse of the people of Carthage who had hurried forth from the city upon the news that the galleys were in sight." - Arthur Conan Doyle in The Lost World.

Arthur Conan Doyle Quotation: "Only with many crossings and genuflections did the pious abbot succeed in passing the revered shrine of his religion, and hurried on to his difficult task." - Arthur Conan Doyle in The Lost World.

Arthur Conan Doyle Quotation: "I lit the candle, and, with a terrified backward glance into the obscure depths of the cavern, I hurried in the direction of the Roman passage." - Arthur Conan Doyle in The Lost World.

Arthur Conan Doyle Quotation: "Hurrying into the chamber where the visitors were waiting, he gave a sinister signal, only too well known in those iron days." - Arthur Conan Doyle in The Lost World.

Arthur Conan Doyle Quotation: "In a field to the right a gamekeeper, his gun in his hand, was hurrying towards the whistling." - Arthur Conan Doyle in The Lost World.

Calvin Thomas Quotation: "After the death of Gustav Adolf the focus of interest is Wallenstein, and when Wallenstein is disposed of the history soon becomes a lean and hurried summary, the perfunctory character of which Is quite obvious to the reader." - Calvin Thomas in The Life and Works of Friedrich Schiller.

Calvin Thomas Quotation: "Before Schwan had read many pages it came over him that here was a prize for the stage, and he hurried with it to Baron Dalberg, intendant of the Mannheim theater." - Calvin Thomas in The Life and Works of Friedrich Schiller.

Devizes Museum: Publication of "Additions to the library of the Wiltshire Archaeological and Natural History Society's Museum at Devizes." Publisher: Hurry & Pearson, Machine Printers (Devizes). Published in 1899.

Edith Wharton Quotation: "Though her own apprenticeship to family life had been so short, she had already acquired the knack of rapid mental readjustment, and as she hurried up to the nursery her private cares were dispelled by a dozen problems of temperature, diet and medicine." - Edith Wharton in The Glimpses of the Moon.

Edith Wharton Quotation: "As complete darkness fell on the square the lingering occupants of the benches rose and dispersed; but now and then a stray figure, hurrying homeward, struck across the path where Lily sat, looming black for a moment in the white circle of electric light." - Edith Wharton in House of Mirth.

Edith Wharton Quotation: "We smiled afterward to think how often, when Mrs. Grancy was in the room, her presence reflecting itself in our talk like a gleam of sky in a hurrying current, Claydon, averted from the real woman, would sit as it were listening to the picture." - Edith Wharton in Crucial Instances.

Edith Wharton Quotation: "This occupation gave him a fresh lease of patience, and he now lived only to watch for the visitors' days, and scan the faces that swept by him like stars seen and lost in the rifts of a hurrying sky." - Edith Wharton in The Early Short Fiction of Edith Wharton Part One.

Edith Wharton Quotation: "Gardens peopled with statues descended from the portico of the villa to the marble platform on the water's edge, where a throng of boatmen in the Procuratore's livery hurried forward to receive the Marquess and his companions." - Edith Wharton in The Valley Of Decision.

Eliot Gregory Quotation: "So, to fill the void in their hearts, they hurry out into the crowd as a refuge from their own thoughts." - Eliot Gregory in Worldly Ways and Byways.

Eliot Gregory Quotation: "I could have done them all with hurry and fatigue." - Eliot Gregory in Worldly Ways and Byways.

1899

Ernest Scott Quotation: "The Archduke John believed Moreau to be in full retreat, and hurried his army forward from Haag, east of Hohenlinden, amid falling snow." - Ernest Scott in Life of Captain Matthew Flinders.

Ernest Scott Quotation: "The natives got the better of the bargain, for, when they had received their price, they hurried off without delivering their own goods." - Ernest Scott in Laperouse.

Gen. Antonio Luna: On June 2, 1899, he received a telegram from Gen. Aguinaldo, ordering him to proceed to Cabanatuan, Nueva Ecija for a conference the next day. When he arrived at the Cabanatuan Catholic Church convent, the designated venue, Aguinaldo was not there. As he was about to depart, he was shot, then stabbed dead by Aguinaldo's men at the stairs of the convent. He was hurriedly buried in the churchyard, after which Aguinaldo relieved Luna's officers and men from the field. [WP]

Ilya Tolstoy Quotation: "She interviews Nikolai, the cook, and orders dinner; she sends us out for walks, makes our shirts, is always nursing some baby at the breast; all day long she is bustling about the house with hurried steps." - Ilya Tolstoy in Reminiscences of Tolstoy.

J. Hartley Manners Quotation: "Kingsnorth hurried out on to the path and saw a number of men and women walking slowly down the drive, in the centre of which the soldiers were carrying a body on some branches." - J. Hartley Manners in Peg O' My Heart.

J. Hartley Manners Quotation: "When he would hurry back at the close of some long, disappointing day his heart would be hammering dully with fear for his loved one." - J. Hartley Manners in Peg O' My Heart.

J. Hartley Manners Quotation: "The men hurriedly placed the women and children so that they were protected from the first onslaught of the soldiery." - J. Hartley Manners in Peg O' My Heart.

J. Hartley Manners Quotation: "Whilst these thoughts were passing rapidly through her mind, Alaric hurried in through the windows from the garden." - J. Hartley Manners in Peg O' My Heart.

J. Hartley Manners Quotation: "The door of the room opened and Angela came in hurriedly and went straight to where the two men stood." - J. Hartley Manners in Peg O' My Heart.

Lillian Elizabeth Roy Quotation: "Could any one forget such a nice girl in a hurry?" - Lillian Elizabeth Roy in Polly of Pebbly Pit.

Margaret Hill McCarter Quotation: "He just grinned and drawled lazily, `I can save a little on shoe leather, that some fellows wear out hurrying so, and I don't burst up so many hats with a swelled head as some do." - Margaret Hill McCarter in A Master's Degree.

Margaret Hill McCarter Quotation: "He insisted on not giving this in any hurry, and as my coming home has brought me a mass of things to consider, I have not been prompt about it." - Margaret Hill McCarter in A Master's Degree.

Margaret Hill McCarter Quotation: "He shook hands and hurried away, but to the girl who was earning her college education there was something in his handclasp, denied before." - Margaret Hill McCarter in A Master's Degree.

Margaret Hill McCarter Quotation: "As they hurried along, the Sunrise light suddenly disappeared and they found themselves descending a rough downward way." - Margaret Hill McCarter in A Master's Degree.

Margaret Hill McCarter Quotation: "The tiger light was in the yellow eyes as never before and the stern jaw was set, as Victor Burleigh hurried away." - Margaret Hill McCarter in A Master's Degree.

Owen Wister Quotation: "I postponed the Fannings, hurried by the door where they waited for me, and, coming to the end of Court Street, turned to the right and sought among the wharves the nearest vista that could give me a view of the harbor." - Owen Wister in Lady Baltimore.

Owen Wister Quotation: "He was at it in an instant, wrenching its rusty pin, that did not give, but stuck motionless in the wood. Cursing, he turned and hurried out of the door and round the cabin." - Owen Wister in The Jimmyjohn Boss and Other Stories.

Owen Wister Quotation: "Evidently he held me hypnotized, for he now hurried me unresisting through a back door into a dark little where he turned up the gas, and I saw shelves as in a museum, to one of which he led me." - Owen Wister in Lady Baltimore.

Owen Wister Quotation: "Eliza La Heu summoned one of the onlookers, an old negro; at some word she said to him he hurried back and returned, leading his horse and empty cart, and General was lifted into this." - Owen Wister in Lady Baltimore.

Owen Wister Quotation: "He found it, and hurried to the little window at a second shot he heard inside." - Owen Wister in The Jimmyjohn Boss and Other Stories.

Robert Alexander Wason Quotation: "We hurried along, an' purty soon we saw a man lyin' across the trail." - Robert Alexander Wason in Happy Hawkins.

Robert Alexander Wason Quotation: "But come, jump down behind me an' we'll hurry on." - Robert Alexander Wason in Happy Hawkins.

1900

Alfred Ollivant Quotation: "The huge fellow, in too great a hurry to wait, floundered out, clutched her by the stern, and scrambled in." - Alfred Ollivant in The Gentleman.

Alfred Ollivant Quotation: "Moreover he was in no hurry to get to Lewes to be called a liar." - Alfred Ollivant in The Gentleman.

Alfred Ollivant Quotation: "After all there was no hurry." - Alfred Ollivant in The Gentleman.

Alfred Ollivant Quotation: "You seemed in rather a hurry." - Alfred Ollivant in The Gentleman.

Brisbane Quotation: "The thing for us to do is to remember that great progress and a great future are ahead of us, and do all we can to prepare for the future and hurry it along." - Brisbane in Editorials from the Hearst Newspapers.

Brisbane Quotation: "They fail to realize their present chances in their hurried reaching out for something better." - Brisbane in Editorials from the Hearst Newspapers.

Brisbane Quotation: "If you have the wrong kind, hurry and get the other as fast as possible." - Brisbane in Editorials from the Hearst Newspapers.

Donan, Peter: Born in 1839 and died in 1902, authored "The Columbia River empire: some hurried glimpses of a region where all glories of scene, all charms of climate and all riches of resource meet and shake hands." Publisher: Passenger Dept. of the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company (Portland, Or.). Published in 1900.

Eliot Gregory Quotation: "Nervous diseases are distressingly prevalent; still we hurry! hurry!! hurry!!! until, as a diplomatist recently remarked to me, the whole nation seemed to him to be but five minutes ahead of an apoplectic fit." - Eliot Gregory in The Ways of Men.

Eliot Gregory Quotation: "What pleasure can an early April day afford the man who has slept in an overheated flat and is hurrying to an office where eighty degrees is the average all the year round?" - Eliot Gregory in The Ways of Men.

Fenwick, Edwin Hurry: Author of "Ulceration of the Bladder: simple, tuberculous and malignant." Published in 1900.

Hardie, James Keir: Born in 1856 and died in 1915, authored "Young men in a hurry: why they are in a hurry, and what they are in a hurry about." Published in 1900.

Holman Day Quotation: "He hurried in to the bar, gulped down a drink, and then went to the office desk and examined the hotel register. Anger and zest for revenge were stimulating in him a lively interest in that meeting which Farr seemed to be promoting." - Holman Day in The Landloper.

Holman Day Quotation: "Then two men came hurrying past without paying any attention to the denizens of the neighborhood who were sitting in the gloom on the stoop. The street light revealed the faces of the men as it had shown to them the girl's features." - Holman Day in The Landloper.

Holman Day Quotation: "When Mrs. Harnden came into the room a half hour later she looked promptly relieved to find Mr. Britt in such a calm mood; when she had hurried out he was acting as if he were intending to kick the furniture about the place." - Holman Day in When Egypt Went Broke.

Holman Day Quotation: "At last he came into a section of the city where vast mills, one succeeding another in rows which vanished in the distance, clacked their everlasting staccato of hurrying looms, venting clamor from the thousands of open windows." - Holman Day in The Landloper.

Holman Day Quotation: "They hurried away together, rushed out into the alley and around to the front of the hall, the detective pouring certain information into Dodd's ear as they made their way to the big door and into the main corridor." - Holman Day in The Landloper.

Hurry, Family of.: Publication of "Additions to 'Memorials of the Family of Hurry of Great Yarmouth, Norfolk, and of New York, United States (compiled by C. J. Palmer and E. A. Hurry).' By a member of the New York family." Published in 1900.

John Galsworthy Quotation: "I've had my holiday; I shan't get another in a hurry." - John Galsworthy in The Complete Plays.

John Galsworthy Quotation: "There's sure to be an editor in a hurry." - John Galsworthy in The Complete Plays.

John Galsworthy Quotation: "The gracious Sir is in a hurry." - John Galsworthy in The Complete Plays.

Melville Davisson Post Quotation: "Suppose we had gone on, in a different form of hurry, ignorant of these facts?" - Melville Davisson Post in The Sleuth of St. James Street.

Ralph Parlette Quotation: "If there is anybody who does not have a good time, if there is anybody who gets shortchanged regularly, it is a child. I am so sorry for a child. Hurry up and go on south." - Ralph Parlette in The University of Hard Knocks.

Ralph Parlette Quotation: "But all this lecture has been discussing this, so I hurry on to the last glimpse of the book in the running brook." - Ralph Parlette in The University of Hard Knocks.

Richard Burton Quotation: "On either side were ribbed precipices, dark, angry, and towering above, till their summits mingled with the glooms of night; and between them formidable looked the chasm, down which our host hurried with shouts and discharges of matchlocks." - Richard Burton in Personal Narrative of a Pilgrimage to Al-Madinah and Meccah, vol 2.

Richard Burton Quotation: "In the shortest possible time all made ready; and, hurriedly crossing the sandy flat, we found ourselves in company with three or four Caravans, forming one large body for better defence against the dreaded Hawamid." - Richard Burton in Personal Narrative of a Pilgrimage to Al-Madinah and Meccah, vol 1.

Richard Burton Quotation: "Through the streets parties of Badawin, sword and matchlock in hand, or merely carrying quarterstaves on their shoulders, might be seen hurrying along, frantic at the chance of missing the fray." - Richard Burton in Personal Narrative of a Pilgrimage to Al-Madinah and Meccah, vol 2.

Richard Burton Quotation: "It was impossible to start alone, and when in despair I had recourse to Shaykh Hamid, he seemed to think me mad for wishing to wend Northwards when all the world was hurrying towards the South." - Richard Burton in Personal Narrative of a Pilgrimage to Al-Madinah and Meccah, vol 2.

Richard Burton Quotation: "Held tightly by the sleeves, skirts, and collar of your wide outer garment, you were hurried away on a plane of about nine inches above the ground, your feet mostly treading the air." - Richard Burton in Personal Narrative of a Pilgrimage to Al-Madinah and Meccah, vol 1.

Roald Amundsen Quotation: "She never returned to the hospital voluntarily, but it was not a rare thing to see Johansen, who was guardian to the family, hauling off the lady and as many of her little ones as he could get hold of in a hurry." - Roald Amundsen in The South Pole, vols 1 and 2.

Roald Amundsen Quotation: "Even the most projecting point of the wall on the west side of the bay, Cape Man's Head, stood serenely in its old place, and it looked as if it was in no particular hurry to remove itself." - Roald Amundsen in The South Pole, vols 1 and 2.

Roald Amundsen Quotation: "Having made good the damage and put everything fairly in order, we hurried away to our peaks, to secure some photographs while the light was favourable." -

1901

Roald Amundsen in The South Pole, vols 1 and 2.

Roald Amundsen Quotation: "On the steep slopes leading up to the plateau on which the tent stood the pace was a good deal slower, though we made every possible effort to hurry." - Roald Amundsen in The South Pole, vols 1 and 2.

Roald Amundsen Quotation: "The peninsula that separated us from Storm Bay still lay there firm and immovable, and the gale went on as if it was in no hurry to let us get round." - Roald Amundsen in The South Pole, vols 1 and 2.

Rudyard Kipling Quotation: "From a little hill called Hutchinson's Hill, you could look over three and a half miles of ground covered with fighting seals; and the surf was dotted all over with the heads of seals hurrying to land and begin their share of the fighting." - Rudyard Kipling in The Jungle Book.

Rudyard Kipling Quotation: "Each beast growled, snapped, choked once over his portion, and hurried back to the protection of the passage, while the boy stood upon the snow under the blazing Northern Lights and dealt out justice." - Rudyard Kipling in The Second Jungle Book.

Rudyard Kipling Quotation: "He began to think of the seal he had left behind him, but though he was in a hurry to go back to Novastoshnah, he thoroughly explored the new country, so that he would be able to answer all questions." - Rudyard Kipling in The Jungle Book.

Rudyard Kipling Quotation: "He merely forgot where this most unofficial cover was to be delivered, and so asked the first Englishman he met, who happened to be a man riding down to Annandale in a great hurry." - Rudyard Kipling in Plain Tales from the Hills.

Rudyard Kipling Quotation: "The other herd children, watching with the cattle half a mile away, hurried to the village as fast as their legs could carry them, crying that the buffaloes had gone mad and run away." - Rudyard Kipling in The Jungle Book.

Thomas Guthrie Marquis Quotation: "The fathers had abundant food for themselves and their assistants; but the Hurons, in their hurried flight, had made no provision for the winter." - Thomas Guthrie Marquis in The Jesuit Missions.

Thomas Guthrie Marquis Quotation: "Daulac hurriedly placed several of his best marksmen in ambush at a spot where the Iroquois were likely to land." - Thomas Guthrie Marquis in The Jesuit Missions.

Thomas Guthrie Marquis Quotation: "His first thought for his flock, he hurried back into the chapel, beseeching them to save themselves." - Thomas Guthrie Marquis in The Jesuit Missions.

Thomas Guthrie Marquis Quotation: "Thither he hurried, only to find the village in ruins." - Thomas Guthrie Marquis in The Jesuit Missions.

W.H. Norton Quotation: "Especially in times of flood one may note the muddy water, its silt being kept from settling by the rolling, eddying currents; and often by placing his ear close to the bottom of a boat one may hear the clatter of pebbles as they are hurried along." - W.H. Norton in The Elements of Geology.

1901

Alfred Lichtenstein Quotation: "Then he ran around the corner of the next group of houses, stopped, dried his eyes with a handkerchief, and hurried off, still weeping." - Alfred Lichtenstein in The Prose of Alfred Lichtenstein.

Alfred Lichtenstein Quotation: "Without giving myself time to put my clothes in order, I hurried to Mechenmal, to beat him for his brutal behavior." - Alfred Lichtenstein in The Prose of Alfred Lichtenstein.

Alfred Lichtenstein Quotation: "Mechenmal, however, somewhat sleepy and weary, but in a good mood, hurried off to his kiosk." - Alfred Lichtenstein in The Prose of Alfred Lichtenstein.

Alfred Lichtenstein Quotation: "Only occasionally does a solid citizen hurry along them." - Alfred Lichtenstein in The Verse of Alfred Lichtenstein.

Alfred Lichtenstein Quotation: "I leaped up, hurried out." - Alfred Lichtenstein in The Prose of Alfred Lichtenstein.

Charles M. Sheldon Quotation: "The great rooms downstairs were empty, but overhead were hurried footsteps and confused noises. One of the servants ran down the grand staircase with a look of horror on her face just as the Bishop and Dr. Bruce were starting to go up." - Charles M. Sheldon in In His Steps.

Charles M. Sheldon Quotation: "The carriage rolled on past two blocks of magnificent private residences and turned into a wide driveway under a covered passage, and the sisters hurried into the house." - Charles M. Sheldon in In His Steps.

Charles M. Sheldon Quotation: "Out of the buried past he had, during his hurried passage from his friend's to this house of death, irresistibly drawn the one tender romance of his young manhood." - Charles M. Sheldon in In His Steps.

Charles M. Sheldon Quotation: "The awful current of human life was flowing in a great stream past the Settlement House, and those who had work were hurrying to it in a vast throng." - Charles M. Sheldon in In His Steps.

Charles M. Sheldon Quotation: "Rachel went on home and hurried into her room, disturbed in many ways by the event which had so unexpectedly thrust itself into her experience." - Charles M. Sheldon in In His Steps.

Fenwick, Edwin Hurry: Author of "Operative and in-operative Tumours of the Urinary Bladder. A clinical and operative study based on five hundred cases." Published in 1901.

Harold MacGrath Quotation: "How still and beautiful this day seems to us who have hurried hither and thither for six long days, sometimes in anger, sometimes in exultation, failure or success! It breathes a peace and quiet that is tonic." - Harold MacGrath in Half a Rogue.

Harold MacGrath Quotation: "Bennington jumped down from his impromptu platform and closed the ponderous doors. Then he hurried to the main office, where he notified the clerks what had happened." - Harold MacGrath in Half a Rogue.

Harold MacGrath Quotation: "He jumped from the car when it reached his corner, and walked hurriedly down the street to his house, a big pile of red granite and an architectural nightmare." - Harold MacGrath in Half a Rogue.

Harold MacGrath Quotation: "Once or twice he had seen Patty in the gallery at mass meetings; but, hurry as he might, he never could get around to the entrance in time to speak to her." - Harold MacGrath in Half a Rogue.

Harold MacGrath Quotation: "He had been in no great hurry to get rich. He went leisurely about it, tantalizing fortune, it might be said." - Harold MacGrath in Half a Rogue.

Hugh Walpole Quotation: "They brought instantly back to her her father's voice, the strange snuffling hurry with which he hastened to the end, his voice hesitating a little as his wandering eye caught the misbehaviour of some small boy in the choir." - Hugh Walpole in The Captives.

Hugh Walpole Quotation: "In a panic at these thoughts, and feeling as though some one was trying to push her down into a coffin whilst she was still alive, she began hurriedly to speak, although she did not know whether her aunt were asleep or no." - Hugh Walpole in The Captives.

Hugh Walpole Quotation: "Early in the afternoon was one time, and she would see them eagerly, excitedly hurrying to the sea, fathers and mothers and babies, lovers and noisy young men and shrieking girls." - Hugh Walpole in The Captives.

Hugh Walpole Quotation: "He finished his tea hurriedly, but before he left the room, looking at Maggie rather wistfully, suddenly he bent down and kissed her." - Hugh Walpole in The Captives.

Hugh Walpole Quotation: "He left her as he heard the bolt turn in the door, hurrying away as though he did not want to be seen." - Hugh Walpole in The Captives.

Hurry, Jamieson Boyd: Born in 1857 and died in 1930, authored "Reading abbey." By Jamieson B. Hurry. Illustrated by plans, views and facsimiles. Publisher: E. Stock (London). Published in 1901.

Isabel Ecclestone Mackay Quotation: "Without a word of it being written, it had grown with his growth. His notes for it comprised all that he had filched from life. He had not hurried." - Isabel Ecclestone Mackay in The Window-Gazer.

Isabel Ecclestone Mackay Quotation: "With the quiet speed of one who knows that hurry defeats haste, he set about materializing the plans which he had made upon the train." - Isabel Ecclestone Mackay in The Window-Gazer.

Isabel Ecclestone Mackay Quotation: "But as I sat there by the window there came upon me, for the second time that day, a mounting hurry to be gone." - Isabel Ecclestone Mackay in The Window-Gazer.

Isabel Ecclestone Mackay Quotation: "The sense of breathless hurry was on me again. I did not pause to argue that the child was perfectly safe." - Isabel Ecclestone Mackay in The Window-Gazer.

Isabel Ecclestone Mackay Quotation: "For today I am sitting up. I'm sure I could walk a little, if I were to try. But I am not in a hurry." - Isabel Ecclestone Mackay in The Window-Gazer.

Lucy Fitch Perkins Quotation: "They could hear him scuttling down the secret stair as fast as his legs would carry him, and when he emerged below, they watched him hurry away through the forest, casting fearful glances over his shoulder as he ran." - Lucy Fitch Perkins in The Scotch Twins.

Lucy Fitch Perkins Quotation: "They left their luncheon in the cave and hurried on at Alan's command to the little mountain tarn where Angus had killed the stag, and there the Clan gathered about him to hear his plan." - Lucy Fitch Perkins in The Scotch Twins.

Lucy Fitch Perkins Quotation: "Sandy waited until he was out of sight, and then hurried back to the bridge, where he met Alan by appointment, and the two walked briskly on to the little gray house together." - Lucy Fitch Perkins in The Scotch Twins.

Lucy Fitch Perkins Quotation: "And the two children and the dog hurried through the gate and up the first street they came to, their bundle bumping along behind them as they ran." - Lucy Fitch Perkins in The Dutch Twins.

Lucy Fitch Perkins Quotation: "Mother De Smet picked herself up and ran to see what was the matter with the baby, while Father De Smet seized a long pole and hurried forward." - Lucy Fitch Perkins in The Dutch Twins.

Margaret Vandercook Quotation: "Then after a few words of explanation to their guardian the Camp Fire girls slept quietly until daylight, but even after they had eaten a hurried breakfast together the wanderer had not returned." - Margaret Vandercook in The Camp Fire Girls at Sunrise Hill.

Margaret Vandercook Quotation: "Betty apologized for the interruption in leaning over to whisper to Esther, but half guessed at Polly's irritation as they hurried off together." - Margaret Vandercook in The Camp Fire Girls at Sunrise Hill.

Margaret Vandercook Quotation: "With a cry of what sounded like delight, Betty rose hurriedly to her feet, letting the blue cloak slip away from her for the second time." - Margaret Vandercook in The Camp Fire Girls at Sunrise Hill.

Margaret Vandercook Quotation: "Her name was on the outside, apparently hurriedly addressed in Polly's handwriting." - Margaret Vandercook in The Camp Fire Girls at Sunrise Hill.

Mary Austin Quotation: "From Kearsarge, say, you look over Inyo and find pink soft cloud masses asleep on the level desert air; south of you hurries a white troop late to some gathering of their kind at the back of Oppapago; nosing the foot of Waban, a woolly mist creeps south." - Mary Austin in The Land of Little Rain.

Mary Austin Quotation: "The drone of bees, the chatter of jays, the hurry and stir of squirrels, is incessant; the air is odorous and hot." - Mary Austin in The Land of Little Rain.

Nathaniel W. Stephenson Quotation: "The Congressmen, at least, were in no good humor, for they had driven through a regiment of three months men whose time expired that day and who despite the cannon in the distance were hurrying home." - Nathaniel W. Stephenson in Lincoln's Personal Life.

Nathaniel W. Stephenson Quotation: "He hurried off to Washington." - Nathaniel W. Stephenson in Lincoln's Personal Life.

T.B. Ray Quotation: "This man spent a month in the missionary's house studying the Bible, but was enticed back by the priests and hurried away to New York in order that he might escape the influence of Piani." - T.B. Ray in Brazilian Sketches.

T.B. Ray Quotation: "Our time was growing short now. Maddox changed his clothes in a hurry." - T.B. Ray in Brazilian Sketches.

1902

Andrew Barton (Banjo) Paterson Quotation: "But the pipers gaily played, Chanting their fierce delight, And the armoured carriages rocked and swayed, Laden with men of the Scotch Brigade, Hurrying up to the fight, And the grim, grey Highland engineer, Driving them into the night." - Andrew Barton (Banjo) Paterson in Rio Grande's Last Race, Etc.

Andrew Barton (Banjo) Paterson Quotation: "De Wet beats a hurried retreat, apparently at full speed, with the dog exactly one foot behind him in frantic pursuit." - Andrew Barton (Banjo) Paterson in Three Elephant Power Etc.

Andrew Barton (Banjo) Paterson Quotation: "On through the choking dark, Never a lamp nor a light, Never an engine spark, Showing her hurried flight." - Andrew Barton (Banjo) Paterson in Rio Grande's Last Race, Etc.

Andrew Barton (Banjo) Paterson Quotation: "The Genius and his mate returned to town hurriedly, and lay low, expecting to be indicted for murder." - Andrew Barton (Banjo) Paterson in Three Elephant Power Etc.

Andrew Barton (Banjo) Paterson Quotation: "His education had been somewhat hurried, but there was no doubt as to his mechanical ability." - Andrew Barton (Banjo) Paterson in Three Elephant Power Etc.

Arthur Scott Bailey Quotation: "And plunging into the water he swam quickly to the bottom and hurried up his winding hall into his bedroom, where he crouched trembling upon his bed, wondering whether he had been shot." - Arthur Scott Bailey in Tale of Brownie Beaver.

Arthur Scott Bailey Quotation: "And he could hardly wait for three day to pass, he was in such a hurry for Mr. Frog to finish his new suit." - Arthur Scott Bailey in Tale of Brownie Beaver.

Arthur Scott Bailey Quotation: "At that Brownie Beaver stopped working and hurried off to find old Grandaddy Beaver." - Arthur Scott Bailey in Tale of Brownie Beaver.

Arthur Scott Bailey Quotation: "But he was in no hurry to tell him." - Arthur Scott Bailey in Tale of Brownie Beaver.

Arthur Scott Bailey Quotation: "Why did he hurry away?" - Arthur Scott Bailey in Tale of Brownie Beaver.

Edgar Jepson and Maurice Leblanc Quotation: "There was a clatter of footsteps, and Henri and the locksmith, a burly, bearded man, his bag of tools slung over his shoulder, came hurrying up. He was not long getting to work, but it was net an easy job." - Edgar Jepson and Maurice Leblanc in Arsene Lupin.

Edgar Jepson and Maurice Leblanc Quotation: "He bawled through the door to the visitors not to be in such a hurry at that hour in the morning; and they bawled furiously at him to be quick, and knocked and rang again and again." - Edgar Jepson and Maurice Leblanc in Arsene Lupin.

Edgar Jepson and Maurice Leblanc Quotation: "Victoire and Charolais hurried out of the room, through the anteroom, on to the landing. Victoire ran upstairs, Charolais went slowly down." - Edgar Jepson and Maurice Leblanc in Arsene Lupin.

Edgar Jepson and Maurice Leblanc Quotation: "Formery and the inspector came hurrying down the stairs behind him, and watched his emotion with astonished and wondering eyes." - Edgar Jepson and Maurice Leblanc in Arsene Lupin.

Edgar Jepson and Maurice Leblanc Quotation: "The inspector hurried to the top of the staircase and called to the policeman in charge of the front door." - Edgar Jepson and Maurice Leblanc in Arsene Lupin.

Fenwick, Edwin Hurry: Born in 1856 and died in 1944, authored "Obscure diseases of the urethra." By E. Hurry Fenwick; with special chapters on urethral carcinoma and calculus; by J. W. Thompson Walker. Publisher: J. & A. Churchill (London). Published in 1902.

Gertrude Atherton Quotation: "Roldan, Adan, and some forty of the quicker Indians rapidly manipulated the straw, and in little more than ten minutes had cast a hundred round compact bundles into the hurrying tide." - Gertrude Atherton in The Valiant Runaways.

Gertrude Atherton Quotation: "James brought a pair of field glasses, and Mrs. Groome discovered that the hurrying throngs were laden with household goods, many pushing them in baby carriages and wheelbarrows." - Gertrude Atherton in The Sisters-In-Law.

Gertrude Atherton Quotation: "The truce was accepted without explanations, and Roldan was hurried into the presence of Alvarado." - Gertrude Atherton in The Valiant Runaways.

Gertrude Atherton Quotation: "Alexina gratefully handed her a coin and hurried on." - Gertrude Atherton in Sleeping Fires: A Novel.

Gertrude Atherton Quotation: "They seemed in a hurry to vamos these parts." - Gertrude Atherton in The Valiant Runaways.

James Oliver Curwood Quotation: "O'Grady and his Indian were already shoving their canoe out into the stream, and even as he looked there came a break in the line of excited spectators, and through it hurried the agent toward the recorder's cabin." - James Oliver Curwood in Back to God's Country and Other Stories.

James Oliver Curwood Quotation: "And then he heard a voice, Jean's voice, crying fierce commands to the men about the fire; he heard excited replies, the hurry of feet, the barking of dogs. Something warm and comforting touched his lips." - James Oliver Curwood in God's Country--And The Woman.

James Oliver Curwood Quotation: "He turned back softly, leaving the lovers as he had found them; but he had scarce taken half a dozen steps when he heard other steps, and saw that the girl had left her companion and was hurrying toward him." - James Oliver Curwood in Flower of the North.

James Oliver Curwood Quotation: "He felt that there was something almost boyish in what he was doing; and yet, as he hurried over the ridge and down into Churchill again, he was thrilled as no other adventure had ever thrilled him before." - James Oliver Curwood in Flower of the North.

James Oliver Curwood Quotation: "That the eavesdropper had seen them in the hall and had possibly overheard a part of their conversation he was quite certain from the fact that the window had been left open in a hurried flight." - James Oliver Curwood in God's Country--And The Woman.

Joyce Kilmer Quotation: "He hurries yawning through the car And steps out where the houses are." - Joyce Kilmer in Trees and Other Poems.

Joyce Kilmer Quotation: "The trains that travel in the day They hurry folks to work or play." - Joyce Kilmer in Trees and Other Poems.

Kate Douglas Wiggin Quotation: "He calls the hens about him when I throw corn from the basket, but many a time I have seen him swallow hurriedly, and in private, some dainty titbit he has found unexpectedly." - Kate Douglas Wiggin in The Diary of a Goose Girl.

Leroy Scott Quotation: "You saw Maggie that night you hurried away from here?" - Leroy Scott in Children of the Whirlwind.

Maurice LeBlanc Quotation: "It had a permanent headline devoted to it. Never had public opinion been excited to that extent, thanks to the extraordinary series of hurried events, of unexpected and disconcerting surprises." - Maurice LeBlanc in The Hollow Needle.

Maurice LeBlanc Quotation: "People wept at the thought of Beautrelet nursed by his old father, who had been hurriedly summoned by telegram, and they also admired the devotion of Mlle." - Maurice LeBlanc in The Hollow Needle.

Maurice LeBlanc Quotation: "Passing his head through cautiously, he saw the two men and Sebastiani's wife hurrying toward the ruins of the keep." - Maurice LeBlanc in The Crystal Stopper.

Maurice LeBlanc Quotation: "It seemed as though he were in a hurry to give the answer himself and to avoid all comment." - Maurice LeBlanc in The Hollow Needle.

Maurice LeBlanc Quotation: "Each hurrying the other, they clattered down the treads, taking two or three at a bound." - Maurice LeBlanc in The Hollow Needle.

Maxim Gorky Quotation: "Life grew ever more hurried and feverish; there was a constant rushing from house to house, a passing from one book to another, like the flirting of bees from flower to flower." - Maxim Gorky in Mother.

Maxim Gorky Quotation: "We did this not loudly, not hurriedly, seeing that she could not get away, that she was hemmed in by us, and we could deride her to our hearts' content." - Maxim Gorky in Creatures That Once Were Men.

Maxim Gorky Quotation: "Why don't you, mother, explain to the foolish girls what it is to be married, so that they shouldn't be in such a hurry to get their bones broken?" - Maxim Gorky in Mother.

Maxim Gorky Quotation: "The mother trembled, pushed her valise farther under the bench, and throwing her shawl over her head, hurried to the door." - Maxim Gorky in Mother.

Maxim Gorky Quotation: "The soldier did so without hurrying himself, and began to question us about the master." - Maxim Gorky in Creatures That Once Were Men.

Mursell, Arthur: Author of "Hush and hurry: or thoughts for the home and for the City." Publisher: Arthur H. Stockwell (London). Published in 1902.

Publication: Publication of "Du Hurry (collection): a burlesque." Published in 1902.

Thomas Chapais Quotation: "Colbert did not say no; neither did he seem in a hurry to grant the request." - Thomas Chapais in The Great Intendant (A Chronicle of Jean Talon in Canada 1665-1672).

1903

Anstey, F.: Born in 1856 and died in 1934, authored "A Bayard from Bengal." Being some account of the magnificent and spanking career of Chunder Bindabun Bhosh, Esq., B.A., Cambridge, by Hurry Bungsho Jabberjee to which is appended the parables and proverbs of Piljosh, freely translated from the original Styptic by another hand, with introduction, notes, and appendix by the above Hurry Bungsho Jabberjee, B.A.; The whole edited and revised by F. Anstey (pseud.); with eight illustrations by Bernard Partridge. Publisher: B. Tauchnitz (Leipzig). Published in 1903.

Arthur Christopher Benson Quotation: "Yet we are very grateful to those who can teach us to turn our eyes to the charm which surrounds us, and a life which is lived without such perception is apt to be a rough and hurrying thing, even though it may also be both high and austere." - Arthur Christopher Benson in Escape and Other Essays.

Arthur Christopher Benson Quotation: "Unfortunately my eldest brother, a very clever and imaginative child, was seized with a panic so insupportable at the sight of the face, that his present had to be given him hurriedly, and he was led away, blanched and shuddering, to the nursery." - Arthur Christopher Benson in Where No Fear Was.

Arthur Christopher Benson Quotation: "There is an old and strange Eastern allegory of a man wandering in the desert; he draws near to a grove of trees, when he suddenly becomes aware that there is a lion on his track, hurrying and bounding along on the scent of his steps." - Arthur Christopher Benson in Escape and Other Essays.

Arthur Christopher Benson Quotation: "These are the more coherent kind of dreams; but there is another kind of a vaguely anxious character, which consist of endless attempts to catch trains, or to fulfil social engagements, and are full of hurry and dismay." - Arthur Christopher Benson in Escape and Other Essays.

Arthur Christopher Benson Quotation: "It is true that great poets have often written hurriedly and swiftly; but probably there is an intense selectiveness at work in the background all the time, produced by instinctive taste as well as by careful practice." - Arthur Christopher Benson in Escape and Other Essays.

Ellis Parker Butler Quotation: "When the time came for me to hasten to him in my automobile, which was then to hurry us to a waiting minister, my automobile was not here. Unfortunately I did not know my lover's address, for I had left it in the card pocket in this automobile." - Ellis Parker Butler in The Water Goats and Other Troubles.

Ellis Parker Butler Quotation: "With this he hurried out of the room, and a few moments later his wife saw him running for his train." - Ellis Parker Butler in The Water Goats and Other Troubles.

Ernest Thompson Seton Quotation: "There was a flash, a hurried rush, a clutch, a faint squeak, and one of the mice was borne away in the claws of its feathered foe." - Ernest Thompson Seton in Rolf In The Woods.

Eugene C. Jacobs Quotation: "They accepted the escape route; in a big hurry, they were roaring down the road." - Eugene C. Jacobs in Blood Brothers (A Medic's Sketch Book) (ed Sam Rohlfing).

Fenwick, Edwin Hurry: Author of "The Value of Ureteric Meatoscopy in obscure diseases of the kidney, etc." Published in 1903.

Frank B. Linderman Quotation: "As soon as the Squirrel was caught, they would bury him in the ashes near the fire until he cried; then they would dig him out in a hurry." - Frank B. Linderman in Indian Why Stories.

George Bernard Shaw Quotation: "An unpunctual man is always in a hurry; but it does not follow that hurry is the cause of unpunctuality: on the contrary, what is the matter with the patient is sloth." - George Bernard Shaw in The Doctor's Dilemma: Preface.

George Bernard Shaw Quotation: "The first thing she sees there is her husband, hurrying here through the rain. She gives a little gasp of relief, not very far removed from a sob, and turns to the door." - George Bernard Shaw in The Devil's Disciple.

George Bernard Shaw Quotation: "Crofts, unable to recover his presence of mind, hurries out of the cottage." - George Bernard Shaw in Mrs Warren's Profession.

George Bernard Shaw Quotation: "May I send up word from you to Miss Edith to hurry a bit with her dressing?" - George Bernard Shaw in Getting Married.

George Bernard Shaw Quotation: "It is opened in her face by Essie, who hurries in, full of anxiety." - George Bernard Shaw in The Devil's Disciple.

George Gissing Quotation: "In days gone by, I could but gulp down the refreshment, hurried, often harassed, by the thought of the work I had before me; often I was quite insensible of the aroma, the flavour, of what I drank." - George Gissing in The Private Papers of Henry Ryecroft.

George Gissing Quotation: "His life was hurrying to its end; hour by hour he felt the fever wasting what little strength remained to him; and when he was gone who would protect her against the enmities to which religion and avarice would expose her?" - George Gissing in Veranilda.

George Gissing Quotation: "Having made sure that she was not likely to visit Mrs. Clover forthwith, Greenacre took his leave, blending a decent melancholy with the air of importance and hurry proper to a man involved in so much business." - George Gissing in The Town Traveller.

George Gissing Quotation: "But this mood had passed long before the end of her journey. Alighting at Queen's Road, she walked hurriedly to Porchester Terrace, and from the opposite side of the way had a view of Mrs. Strangeways' house." - George Gissing in The Whirlpool.

George Gissing Quotation: "Paul hurried down the stairs, followed by his wife, whom Theresa in vain tried to hold back He knew the way to the door which led into the garden, and opening this, sprang into the darkness." - George Gissing in The Unclassed.

Helen Reimensnyder Martin Quotation: "She looked up with a start at Tillie's hurried entrance, and her kindly face showed distress as she saw who it was; for, faithful to the Rules, she would not speak to this backslider and excommunicant from the faith." - Helen Reimensnyder Martin in Tillie: A Mennonite Maid.

Helen Reimensnyder Martin Quotation: "After a few minutes' hurried walking, they were able to slacken their pace and stroll leisurely through the bleak winter forest." - Helen Reimensnyder Martin in Tillie: A Mennonite Maid.

Helen Reimensnyder Martin Quotation: "Out of breath from her hurried walk, she reached the back door of the hotel several minutes before the teacher's arrival." - Helen Reimensnyder Martin in Tillie: A Mennonite Maid.

Helen Reimensnyder Martin Quotation: "Hurry up, Em; I'm in a hurry, and you're takin' wonderful long to count out them two dollars." - Helen Reimensnyder Martin in Tillie: A Mennonite Maid.

Helen Reimensnyder Martin Quotation: "Tillie, you go on up and pack your clo'es in a walise or whatever, and hurry down here back." - Helen Reimensnyder Martin in Tillie: A Mennonite Maid.

Henry Smith Williams Quotation: "No efforts were spared in hurrying on the good work, and no one was exempt from performing labor on the building if he chanced to pass one of the adjoining streets." - Henry Smith Williams in A History of Science, vol 2.

Hurry, Alfred: Author of "Settling day." By Alfred Hurry, author of 'In the city'. Publisher: Chapman and Hall (London). Published in 1903.

John Frederick Schroeder Quotation: "The progress of the German troops, at first tolerably prosperous, was soon impeded by the state of the roads and the weather, and as soon as Stark heard of their approach he hurried off expresses to Warner to join him, who began his march in the night." - John Frederick Schroeder in Life and Times of Washington, vol 2 (Revised, Enlarged, and Enriched).

John Frederick Schroeder Quotation: "At Fort Edward General Burgoyne again found it necessary to pause in his career, for his carriages, which in the hurry had been made of unseasoned wood, were much broken down and needed to be repaired." - John Frederick Schroeder in Life and Times of Washington, vol 2 (Revised, Enlarged, and Enriched).

John Frederick Schroeder Quotation: "As Breyman and his corps approached they heard the firing and hurried forward to the aid of their countrymen." - John Frederick Schroeder in Life and Times of Washington, vol 2 (Revised, Enlarged, and Enriched).

RL & Fanny VDG Stevenson Quotation: "He saw her coming, a miracle of grace; her ankle, as she hurried, flashing from her dress; her movements eloquent of speed and youth; and though he still entertained some thoughts of flight, they grew miserably fainter as the distance lessened." - RL & Fanny VDG Stevenson in The Dynamiter.

RL & Fanny VDG Stevenson Quotation: "My father still murmuring of haste with weary and feverish pertinacity, I hurried at once to take my place at table; but I had no sooner left his arm than he paused and thrust forth both his hands with a strange gesture of groping." - RL & Fanny VDG Stevenson in The Dynamiter.

RL & Fanny VDG Stevenson Quotation: "True to his usual courtesy, he thanked the speaker and complimented him upon his taste in greatcoats; and leaving the man somewhat abashed by these remarks and the manner of their delivery, he hurried forth into the lamplit city." - RL & Fanny VDG Stevenson in The Dynamiter.

RL & Fanny VDG Stevenson Quotation: "We went hurriedly, for he kept murmuring that he had been gone too long, and that the servants might suspect; passed through the airy stretch of the verandah; and came at length into the grateful twilight of the shuttered house." - RL & Fanny VDG Stevenson in The Dynamiter.

RL & Fanny VDG Stevenson Quotation: "So saying, he led the way hurriedly to the top flat of the mansion, and thence, by ladder and trap, to a certain leaded platform, sheltered at one end by a great stalk of chimneys and occupying the actual summit of the roof." - RL & Fanny VDG Stevenson in The Dynamiter.

Robert Herrick (1868-1938) Quotation: "They hurried to their mobilization posts, donned uniforms and equipment, and were shipped away in regiments to the front." - Robert Herrick (1868-1938) in The World Decision.

Robert Herrick (1868-1938) Quotation: "Officers hurried toward the station in cabs with their boxes piled before them." - Robert Herrick (1868-1938) in The World Decision.

Van Tassel Sutphen Quotation: "Call it the effect of the arc light, if you like; he was hurrying, certainly, and it struck me that it was because he was anxious to get away." - Van Tassel Sutphen in The Gates of Chance.

Van Tassel Sutphen Quotation: "But I caught one glimpse of his face as he hurried away, and it looked gray under the electrics." - Van Tassel Sutphen in The Gates of Chance.

Van Tassel Sutphen Quotation: "He was hurrying into the station." - Van Tassel Sutphen in The Gates of Chance.

1904

Anne Douglas Sedgwick Quotation: "She spoke with her deliberate volubility, neither hesitating nor hurrying, her meaning, for all its grandiloquence of setting, very definite, and Jack looked a little dazed, as though from the superabundance of meaning." - Anne Douglas Sedgwick in A Fountain Sealed.

1904

Anne Douglas Sedgwick Quotation: "She seemed, indeed, to pass him on, in all she said, to Imogen, and Jack, once more, found his situation between them a little difficult, for if Mrs. Upton passed him on, Imogen was in no hurry to receive him." - Anne Douglas Sedgwick in A Fountain Sealed.

Anne Douglas Sedgwick Quotation: "The two travelers had disappeared and the decks were filled with the jostling hurry of final departure." - Anne Douglas Sedgwick in A Fountain Sealed.

Anne Douglas Sedgwick Quotation: "The many negro countenances in the hurrying crowds showed blue tints in the bitter air." - Anne Douglas Sedgwick in A Fountain Sealed.

Beatrix Potter Quotation: "Once when Goody emptied an extra big bagful, there was a decided squeak; and next time Goody brought another bagful, a little striped Chipmunk scrambled out in a hurry." - Beatrix Potter in A Collection of Beatrix Potter Stories.

Beatrix Potter Quotation: "Ribby settled Duchess in an armchair before the fire, and went out and hurried to the village to look for the doctor." - Beatrix Potter in A Collection of Beatrix Potter Stories.

Beatrix Potter Quotation: "For the next twenty minutes Mr. Tod kept creeping cautiously into the house, and retreating hurriedly out again." - Beatrix Potter in A Collection of Beatrix Potter Stories.

Beatrix Potter Quotation: "Then he turned and came out of the house in a hurry." - Beatrix Potter in A Collection of Beatrix Potter Stories.

Beatrix Potter Quotation: "Tommy Brock shut his eyes in a hurry." - Beatrix Potter in A Collection of Beatrix Potter Stories.

Cooper, Chas: Author of "Hurry a little: march and two-step / Chas. Cooper. Kamona: intermezzo." Publisher: Sparks (Toronto). Published in 1904.

Fenwick, Edwin Hurry: Author of "A Handbook of Clinical Electric-Light Cystoscopy." Published in 1904.

Frances Parkinson Keyes Quotation: "It was a small party, got up rather in a hurry by Lady Narborough, who was a very clever woman with what Lord Henry used to describe as the remains of really remarkable ugliness." - Frances Parkinson Keyes in The Old Gray Homestead.

Frances Parkinson Keyes Quotation: "He winced and, taking up from the table an oval glass framed in ivory Cupids, one of Lord Henry's many presents to him, glanced hurriedly into its polished depths." - Frances Parkinson Keyes in The Old Gray Homestead.

Frances Parkinson Keyes Quotation: "He turned and hurried out, just conscious that the dead man had been thrust back into the chair and that Campbell was gazing into a glistening yellow face." - Frances Parkinson Keyes in The Old Gray Homestead.

Frances Parkinson Keyes Quotation: "Something seemed to tell him that the body was there, and he hurried to the door and put his hand upon the latch." - Frances Parkinson Keyes in The Old Gray Homestead.

Frances Parkinson Keyes Quotation: "He hurried on towards the left, glancing back now and then to see if he was being followed." - Frances Parkinson Keyes in The Old Gray Homestead.

Gurlitt, Cornelius: Born in 1820 and died in 1901, authored "Hurry scurry = Sturm und Drang: op. 140, no. 20." Cornelius Gurlitt; revision, phrasing & fingering by Hans T. Seifert. Publisher: carl Fischer (New York). Published in 1904.

Helen Bannerman Quotation: "So he started to chase Little Black Mingo and the Mongoose, and he swam across the river as fast as ever he could, and when he was half way across he saw them landing, and as he landed they hurried over the first ridge." - Helen Bannerman in The Story of Little Black Sambo / The Story of Little Black Mingo.

Henri Barbusse Quotation: "When he has taken off his greatcoat and appears in his jacket, you are conscious that he feels awkward about showing his legs. We see that it hurries discreetly, this silhouette of a bearded hippopotamus." - Henri Barbusse in Under Fire.

Henri Barbusse Quotation: "On the ground floor of the building that arises in the middle of the station like a town ball, the hurried bell of telegraph and telephone was at work, punctuated by vocal noises." - Henri Barbusse in Under Fire.

Henri Barbusse Quotation: "But Fouillade pretends not to understand the requirements of the gentleman who dallies in front of him with an engaging smile, and he hurriedly empties his glass." - Henri Barbusse in Under Fire.

Henri Barbusse Quotation: "They make haste into the shadows of security where the others go, where the dawn of lighted rooms awaits them; they hurry towards the night of rest and caresses." - Henri Barbusse in Under Fire.

Henri Barbusse Quotation: "Our jaws are set and we swallow our thoughts, hurrying, bustling, colliding, and grumbling without words." - Henri Barbusse in Under Fire.

Jeannette Marks Quotation: "She often preached against hurry, but she found that there was really so much worth while doing in life and that life was so short, she had to hurry once in a while to get it all done." - Jeannette Marks in The Cheerful Cricket and Others.

Jeannette Marks Quotation: "It made him sick to see any one in such a hurry. Then the Honest Ant went scurrying past and very kindly gave him the same message." - Jeannette Marks in The Cheerful Cricket and Others.

Jeannette Marks Quotation: "He found the cobweb covered with the gold dust of the buttercup, and taking it up hastily he hurried back." - Jeannette Marks in The Cheerful Cricket and Others.

Jeannette Marks Quotation: "If you hadn't been in such a hurry you might have seen something interesting." - Jeannette Marks in The Cheerful Cricket and Others.

Jeannette Marks Quotation: "He wished they would all be quiet and stop hurrying around." - Jeannette Marks in The Cheerful Cricket and Others.

Niblo, George: Author of "What's your hurry?." Publisher: Street & Smith (New York). Published in 1904.

Sherwood Anderson Quotation: "In the son's presence she was timid and reserved, but sometimes while he hurried about town intent upon his duties as a reporter, she went into his room and closing the door knelt by a little desk, made of a kitchen table, that sat near a window." - Sherwood Anderson in Winesburg, Ohio.

Sherwood Anderson Quotation: "The feeble blaze of life that remained in her body was blown into a flame by her anxiety and she crept out of bed, dressed and hurried along the hallway toward her son's room, shaking with exaggerated fears." - Sherwood Anderson in Winesburg, Ohio.

Sherwood Anderson Quotation: "The old man with his absurdly boyish mind had a dozen long boards on the wheelbarrow, and, as he hurried along the road, balanced the load with extreme nicety." - Sherwood Anderson in Winesburg, Ohio.

Sherwood Anderson Quotation: "Without looking back, the old man had hurried down the hillside and across a meadow, leaving George Willard perplexed and frightened upon the grassy slope." - Sherwood Anderson in Winesburg, Ohio.

Sherwood Anderson Quotation: "She was made happy by the sight, and when George Willard came to the door she greeted him effusively and hurriedly put on her hat." - Sherwood Anderson in Winesburg, Ohio.

Trumbull White Quotation: "News of what was going on reached Jamaica, and the British gunboat Niobe, Captain Sir Lambton Lorraine, left for the scene of massacre, sailing in such a hurry that he left some of the crew ashore." - Trumbull White in Our War With Spain For Cuba's Freedom.

Trumbull White Quotation: "In two months war had been declared, the reorganized North Atlantic squadron had blockaded Cuban ports, and the regular army was moving hurriedly to rendezvous in the South." - Trumbull White in Our War With Spain For Cuba's Freedom.

Trumbull White Quotation: "According to one narrative, Gomez was in the midst of the battle from the beginning, and while hurrying to recover the corpse of Marti, he was slightly wounded." - Trumbull White in Our War With Spain For Cuba's Freedom.

Trumbull White Quotation: "In the hurry the grave where these two innocent men were buried was not dug deep enough, and part of the rope with which they were choked remained outside." -

Trumbull White in Our War With Spain For Cuba's Freedom.

Trumbull White Quotation: "From all parts of the United States the troops of the regular army were hurried by special trains southeastward to camps at Chickamauga and Tampa." - Trumbull White in Our War With Spain For Cuba's Freedom.

1905

Abraham Cahan Quotation: "Wait a moment! What's your hurry?" - Abraham Cahan in The Rise of David Levinsky.

Abraham Cahan Quotation: "What's your hurry?" - Abraham Cahan in The Rise of David Levinsky.

Arthur Machen Quotation: "On one particular evening, an ugly December night, black with fog, and raw with frost, Clarke hurried over his dinner, and scarcely deigned to observe his customary ritual of taking up the paper and laying it down again." - Arthur Machen in The Great God Pan.

B.M. Bower (B.M. Sinclair) Quotation: "The Tomahawk outfit worked from dawn until dark, and combed the foothills of the Snowies hurriedly, riding into the most frequented, grassy basins and wide canyons where the grass was lush and sweet and the mountain streams rushed noisily over rocks." - B.M. Bower (B.M. Sinclair) in Cow-Country.

B.M. Bower (B.M. Sinclair) Quotation: "Bud reined Smoky around so that he faced them, reached laboriously into that mysterious pocket of a cowpuncher's trousers which is always held closed by the belt of his chaps, and which invariably holds in its depths the things he wants in a hurry." - B.M. Bower (B.M. Sinclair) in Cow-Country.

B.M. Bower (B.M. Sinclair) Quotation: "First he stooped and drank thirstily, his hat pushed back, while his lips met full the hurrying water, clear and cold, yet with the chill it had brought from the mountain springs which fed it, and as he lifted his head he looked full at her." - B.M. Bower (B.M. Sinclair) in Good Indian.

B.M. Bower (B.M. Sinclair) Quotation: "They were red as to their faces, and embarrassed as to manner, and Good Indian went away hurriedly after the horses, without meeting the quizzical glances of the boys, or replying t to certain pointed remarks which they fired after him." - B.M. Bower (B.M. Sinclair) in Good Indian.

B.M. Bower (B.M. Sinclair) Quotation: "His ankle, however, simply could not be hurried or bluffed into premature soundness, and the Little Doctor was at her wits' end to keep Chip from fretting himself back into fever, once he was safely pulled out of it." - B.M. Bower (B.M. Sinclair) in Chip, of the Flying U.

Dyer and Martin Quotation: "They utterly despised the artfully slow British workman, who did as little for his wages as he possibly could; never hurried himself; and had a deep reverence for one whose pocket could be tapped by respectful behavior." - Dyer and Martin in Edison, His Life and Inventions.

Dyer and Martin Quotation: "But Edison, though deaf, could not make too hurried a retreat from Newark to Menlo Park, where, as if to justify his change of base, vital inventions soon came thick and fast, year after year." - Dyer and Martin in Edison, His Life and Inventions.

Dyer and Martin Quotation: "He had several cots placed in the adjoining building, and he and a few of his most strenuous assistants worked day and night, leaving the work only for hurried meals and a snatch of sleep." - Dyer and Martin in Edison, His Life and Inventions.

Dyer and Martin Quotation: "Nor is the spirit of the laboratory work represented in the following dialogue overheard between two alleged carpenters picked up at random to help on a hurry job." - Dyer and Martin in Edison, His Life and Inventions.

Dyer and Martin Quotation: "I hurriedly copied it, and he sent it, requesting the agents to display it on the blackboards used for stating the arrival and departure of trains." - Dyer and Martin in Edison, His Life and Inventions.

Ernest Bramah Quotation: "Deeply impressed by the exact manner in which all these circumstances fitted together, one into another, Ling rewarded the person before him greatly beyond his expectation, and hurried without delay to his own chamber." - Ernest Bramah in The Wallet of Kai Lung.

Ernest Bramah Quotation: "As he reached it a single chair was hurried by, its carriers striving by increased exertion to regain their fellows." - Ernest Bramah in Kai Lung's Golden Hours.

Frederick Lawton Quotation: "The whole party, hosts and impromptu guests, hurried through the narrow courtyard, entered the house without further hindrance, and were met by a strange spectacle." - Frederick Lawton in Balzac.

Frederick Lawton Quotation: "Excited by the perspective this plan offered if all its possibilities were realized, he hurried to his sister's house in the Faubourg Poissonniere." - Frederick Lawton in Balzac.

Frederick Lawton Quotation: "A lead coffin was hastily brought to cover up the ghastly spectacle of nature in a hurry." - Frederick Lawton in Balzac.

Frederick Lawton Quotation: "Having uttered these few brusk words, he turned and hurried away." - Frederick Lawton in Balzac.

Frederick Lawton Quotation: "One of the younger ladies hurried to the kitchen for refreshment." - Frederick Lawton in Balzac.

G.K. Chesterton Quotation: "The authorities, hurrying in the direction of the cry, found the corpse of the warder who patrols the top of the north wall of the prison, the steepest and most difficult exit, for which one man has always been found sufficient." - G.K. Chesterton in The Wisdom of Father Brown.

G.K. Chesterton Quotation: "Realizing that he was taking his flock far out of their depth, he ended somewhat hurriedly, and was soon receiving that generous applause which is a part of the profound ceremonialism of the working classes." - G.K. Chesterton in Alarms and Discursions.

G.K. Chesterton Quotation: "As he made his way to the door three people stopped him, and he answered them heartily enough, but with an air of hurry which he would not have dreamed of showing to people of his own class." - G.K. Chesterton in Alarms and Discursions.

G.K. Chesterton Quotation: "He then gives it you, and you hurriedly leave, reflecting how the republics of the Continent reel anarchically to and fro for lack of a little solid English directness and simplicity." - G.K. Chesterton in Alarms and Discursions.

G.K. Chesterton Quotation: "They were sitting in a sort of litter on the hillside; all the things they had hurriedly collected, in various places, for their flight, were strewn indiscriminately round them." - G.K. Chesterton in The Ball and The Cross.

Gilbert Parker Quotation: "He hurried over, and heard Roudin declaring that he, Carnac, was secretly married to a woman whom he repudiated, and was that the kind of man to have as member of Parliament?" - Gilbert Parker in The PG Works of Gilbert Parker.

Gilbert Parker Quotation: "And these millions of lives hurrying along?" - Gilbert Parker in The PG Works of Gilbert Parker.

Harold Bindloss Quotation: "Then, as the days got longer, he had gradually grown careless, contenting himself with changing his jacket and half an hour's talk, until at length he sat down to the meal in dusty overalls and hurried off afterwards." - Harold Bindloss in The Girl From Keller's.

Harold Bindloss Quotation: "As he hurried away three or four men came down the hill with the sledge and stretcher, and one rigged and lighted a powerful lamp." - Harold Bindloss in The Girl From Keller's.

Harold Bindloss Quotation: "He blew a whistle and then striking a match lighted the fuse and hurried away." - Harold Bindloss in The Girl From Keller's.

Harold Bindloss Quotation: "Festing felt that he need not hurry, and wanted to think." - Harold Bindloss in The Girl From Keller's.

Harry Steele Morrison Quotation: "Every one had read of him, and was glad to shake his hand, and poor Bill was quite bewildered by so much attention. They didn't linger long at the station, however, but hurried down to the Enterprise office, where Mr. Van Bunting was awaiting them." - Harry Steele Morrison in The Adventures of a Boy Reporter.

Harry Steele Morrison Quotation: "Officers hurried here and there shouting orders to their men, and the cavalrymen rushed about in a frenzy of haste, trying to devise means to save their horses, most of which were stabled upon the deck." - Harry Steele Morrison in The Adventures of a Boy Reporter.

Harry Steele Morrison Quotation: "Archie hurried aboard to find the steward, who immediately took him into the galley and introduced him to the cook, a large, fat Frenchman, with small, blue eyes set far back in his head." - Harry Steele Morrison in The Adventures of a Boy Reporter.

Harry Steele Morrison Quotation: "So Archie was obliged to eat his baked beans and brown bread and drink his milk without knowing what was in store for him, and he hurried as fast as he could, so that he could learn." - Harry Steele Morrison in The Adventures of a Boy Reporter.

Harry Steele Morrison Quotation: "Selecting some canned beef and some native bread and cheese, Archie managed to make a very good meal for himself, though he ate hurriedly for fear some of the rebels might return." - Harry Steele Morrison in The Adventures of a Boy Reporter.

Jennette Lee Quotation: "All day the rain dripped on the roof and ran down the waterspouts, hurrying to the ground. In her own room the mistress of the house sat watching the rain and the heavy sky and drenched earth." - Jennette Lee in Mr. Achilles.

Jennette Lee Quotation: "Not all of them together, it seemed, could buy the skill that was being given freely for a Greek waif, or hurry by a hair's breadth the tiny globule of grey matter that held his life." - Jennette Lee in Mr. Achilles.

Jennette Lee Quotation: "And Miss Stone, watching her, had a feeling of quick relief. She had known for a day or two that the child was not well, and they had hurried to get away to the fields." - Jennette Lee in Mr. Achilles.

Jennette Lee Quotation: "Uncle William hurried down the face of the cliff, a telescope in his hand. Now and then he paused on the zigzag path and swept the bay with it." - Jennette Lee in Uncle William.

Jennette Lee Quotation: "There was not a man, hurrying about his own affairs, who would not gladly stop to gather up the child that was lost." - Jennette Lee in Mr. Achilles.

John Dewey Quotation: "Why be in a hurry about getting ready for it? The temptation to postpone is much increased because the present offers so many wonderful opportunities and proffers such invitations to adventure." - John Dewey in Democracy and Education.

John Dewey Quotation: "Blind and capricious impulses hurry us on heedlessly from one thing to another." - John Dewey in Democracy and Education.

Katherine Mansfield Quotation: "It was marvellous how quickly the mist thinned, sped away, dissolved from the shallow plain, rolled up from the bush and was gone as if in a hurry to escape; big twists and curls jostled and shouldered each other as the silvery beams broadened." - Katherine Mansfield in The Garden Party.

Katherine Mansfield Quotation: "Never would sound that loud, strange bellow when father thought they were not hurrying enough." - Katherine Mansfield in The Garden Party.

Katherine Mansfield Quotation: "Fenella wished her grandma would go on, but the old woman was not to be hurried." - Katherine Mansfield in The Garden Party.

Katherine Mansfield Quotation: "Women in shawls and men's tweed caps hurried by." - Katherine Mansfield in The Garden Party.

Katherine Mansfield Quotation: "Laura bent her head and hurried on." - Katherine Mansfield in The Garden Party.

Lucien Young: Following his duty in Cuba, Young became lighthouse inspector in the 9th Naval District and served in that capacity into 1904. In March 1904, he was given command of "Bennington" (Gunboat No. 4) and was in command of that ship at the time of her boiler explosion in the summer of the following year. At San Diego on 21 July 1905, "Bennington" was preparing to get underway for sea; Commander Young and the ship's surgeon, F. E. Peck, were returning to the ship in a boat and were not far from the anchorage when the explosion occurred at 10:30. Young hurried back to the ship, took command, ordered her watertight compartments closed and her magazines flooded, and then secured the services of an Army tugboat nearby. [WP]

Lucille Van Slyke Quotation: "Her irritable voice was still raised to telephone pitch as she hurried toward her new seamstress. It wasn't until she had ushered Felicia into the draughty angle of the upper hall where she was to sew that Mrs. Alden discovered Babiche." - Lucille Van Slyke in Little Miss By-The-Day.

Lucille Van Slyke Quotation: "As they passed its closed door she could hear the wrangle of many voices, a baby's fretful cry and the hurrying whir of other sewing machines. The frowsy woman opened the door at the head of the stairs." - Lucille Van Slyke in Little Miss By-The-Day.

Lucille Van Slyke Quotation: "Her eyes sparkled, she caught up the ugly bonnet, she could hardly hurry fast enough to find The Woman's Exchange and Employment Agency." - Lucille Van Slyke in Little Miss By-The-Day.

Lucille Van Slyke Quotation: "Her short words drawl ever so long and her long ones hurry so's to let her make up for the stolen time." - Lucille Van Slyke in Little Miss By-The-Day.

Lucille Van Slyke Quotation: "Sure wid a couple o' hundred papers alyin' there they couldn't get through in no hurry now, could they?" - Lucille Van Slyke in Little Miss By-The-Day.

Marx Brothers: They got their start in vaudeville where their uncle Al Shean was already performing, as half of Gallagher and Shean. Groucho's debut was in 1905, mostly as a singer. By 1907 he and Gummo were singing together as two-thirds of "The Three Nightingales", with Mabel O'Donnell. The next year Harpo became the fourth Nightingale. By 1910 the group was expanded to include their mother and their Aunt Hannah, and renamed "The Six Mascots". One evening, a performance at the Opera House in Nacogdoches, Texas was interrupted by shouts from outside about a runaway mule. The audience hurried outside to see what was happening, and when they returned, Groucho, infuriated by the interruption, announced "Nacogdoches is full of roaches," and "The jackass is the flower of Tex-ass." Instead of becoming angry in return, the audience laughed, and afterward the family began to consider the possibility that they had potential as a comic troupe. [WP]

Thomas Dixon Quotation: "Not a wheel was turning in all that long line of shining vehicles that didn't carry a woman or was hurrying to do a woman's bidding." - Thomas Dixon in The Foolish Virgin.

Thomas Dixon Quotation: "The lovers sat on the couch beside the window, holding each other's hands and watching in silence the hurrying crowds pass below." - Thomas Dixon in The Foolish Virgin.

Thomas Dixon Quotation: "Nance hurried into the kitchen humming an old song in a faltering voice that sent the cold chills down the girl's spine." - Thomas Dixon in The Foolish Virgin.

Thomas Dixon Quotation: "The doctor turned to the window and signaled to someone on the lawn, as Mary hurried down the stairs." - Thomas Dixon in The Foolish Virgin.

Thomas Dixon Quotation: "She tried to hurry to the rescue and her knees turned to water." - Thomas Dixon in The Foolish Virgin.

Vachel Lindsay Quotation: "You hurried down the river To Zidon by the sea." - Vachel Lindsay in Chinese Nightingale, et al.

Zane Grey Quotation: "He had been cunning enough to make his pursuer think such was his intention. The hunter hurried to the eastern end of the ridge for no other reason than apparently that course was the one the savage had the least reason to take." - Zane Grey in A Romance of the Early Settlers in the Ohio Valley.

Zane Grey Quotation: "Her decision to visit her brother had been too hurriedly made and acted upon for her to write him about it, and so she had telegraphed him from New York, and also, a day later, from Chicago, where her traveling friends had been delayed by illness." - Zane Grey in The Light of Western Stars.

Zane Grey Quotation: "Her drifting faculties refused clearly to record what transpired during the next few moments; presently, however, as her mind steadied somewhat, she heard, though as in a dream, the voice of the padre hurrying over strange words." - Zane Grey in The Light of Western Stars.

1906

Zane Grey Quotation: "But the road began to wind up; it turned and twisted in tantalizing lazy curves; it was in no hurry to surmount a hill that began to assume proportions of a mountain; it was leisurely, as were all things in Mexico except strife." - Zane Grey in The Light of Western Stars.

Zane Grey Quotation: "Manifestly he was surprised to hear her call, and, dropping his sack and implement, he hurried across the tilled ground, sending up puffs of dust. He vaulted the rude fence of poles, and upon sight of her called out lustily." - Zane Grey in The Call of the Canyon.

1906

A.E.W. Mason Quotation: "She hurries through the empty salon, opens the glass doors, and is gone, leaving the doors open. And the thief, an accomplice of Adele, finds the doors open and hides himself in the salon until Mme." - A.E.W. Mason in At the Villa Rose.

A.E.W. Mason Quotation: "The fear of vitriol had made her supple as a glove. Jeanne hurried her down the stairs into the little parlour at the back of the house, where supper was laid, and pushed her into a chair." - A.E.W. Mason in At the Villa Rose.

A.E.W. Mason Quotation: "Dauvray nor Helene Vauquier could have worn these shoes. They were lying, one here, one there, upon the floor of Celie Harland's room, as though she had kicked them off in a hurry." - A.E.W. Mason in At the Villa Rose.

A.E.W. Mason Quotation: "The moment I heard the news I knew we must hurry. The garden of the house ran down to the lake. A means of disposing of Mlle." - A.E.W. Mason in At the Villa Rose.

A.E.W. Mason Quotation: "She was neatly but shabbily dressed in black; her gloves were darned, and she was obviously in a hurry." - A.E.W. Mason in At the Villa Rose.

Alice C. Hegan Quotation: "The gentleman made a hurried calculation." - Alice C. Hegan in Mrs Wiggs Of The Cabbage Patch.

E. Phillips Oppenheim Quotation: "De Grost himself seemed in no hurry to depart, nor did his companion show any signs of impatience. It was not until the two people whose entrance had had such a remarkable effect upon Bernadine, rose to leave, that the mask was, for a moment, lifted." - E. Phillips Oppenheim in Peter Ruff and the Double Four.

E. Phillips Oppenheim Quotation: "There was not a soul anywhere near him, but by the occasional flashes of light Thomson could see soldiers and hurrying people in the Admiralty Square, and along the Strand he could hear the patter of footsteps upon the pavement." - E. Phillips Oppenheim in The Kingdom of the Blind.

E. Phillips Oppenheim Quotation: "Peter hurried away, pausing for a moment in the promenade, to scribble a line or two at the back of one of his own cards. Presently he knocked at the door of the box adjoining Guillot's and was instantly admitted." - E. Phillips Oppenheim in Peter Ruff and the Double Four.

E. Phillips Oppenheim Quotation: "Every one of Lady Tresham's guests had accepted the hurried invitation, every one seemed in good spirits, and delighted at the opportunity of unrestrained conversation after several hours at the theatre." - E. Phillips Oppenheim in A Millionaire of Yesterday.

E. Phillips Oppenheim Quotation: "I saw the old gentleman spring to his feet and hurry after them; and I saw, too, at the end of the line of stalls, Mr. Cullen and a companion standing, waiting." - E. Phillips Oppenheim in An Amiable Charlatan.

Grace Livingston Hill Quotation: "He was only in a hurry to begin lest they would not give him time to tell all he knew! All he knew! Could it ever be told?" - Grace Livingston Hill in Lo, Michael!.

Grace Livingston Hill Quotation: "I wanta stop a man who's in a hurry, see?" - Grace Livingston Hill in The City of Fire.

H.G. Wells Quotation: "Suddenly came a strange sound, a rush of sounds, words jumbled and hurrying, confused and shapeless, borne along upon a note of throaty distress that at last submerged the words altogether and ended in a wail." - H.G. Wells in In the Days of the Comet.

H.G. Wells Quotation: "They hurried for a time through the colossal metallic tracery of its supports, and came at last above a place of moving platforms like the place into which Graham had looked from the balcony." - H.G. Wells in When the Sleeper Wakes.

1906

H.G. Wells Quotation: "The man with the flaxen beard came back towards them, turned suddenly, listened for a moment, lifted his eyebrows at the older man, and hurried off through the archway towards the balcony." - H.G. Wells in When the Sleeper Wakes.

H.G. Wells Quotation: "But I had scarce entered this when my light was blown out and in the blackness I could hear the Morlocks rustling like wind among leaves, and pattering like the rain, as they hurried after me." - H.G. Wells in The Time Machine.

H.G. Wells Quotation: "I saw him hurrying off to Lympne to write a play, and accosting Cavor, and in his shirt sleeves working at the sphere, and walking out to Canterbury because he was afraid to come! Me?" - H.G. Wells in The First Men In The Moon.

Hurry, Jamieson Boyd: Born in 1857 and died in 1930, authored "Rise and fall of reading abbey." Published in 1906.

Jack London Quotation: "He lay there a long while, thinking, and when he got up and began to move about, it was in a cool, collected manner, without noise and without hurry." - Jack London in Tales of the Klondyke.

Jack London Quotation: "Hitchcock, hurrying to overtake her, collided against him as he swayed with pain in the middle of the trail." - Jack London in Tales of the Klondyke.

Jack London Quotation: "Men hurried among the dogs, rousing them to their feet, untangling their traces, straightening them out." - Jack London in Tales of the Klondyke.

Jack London Quotation: "The sun hurried round to the north, sinking closer to the horizon." - Jack London in Tales of the Klondyke.

James B. Stetson Quotation: "The trip across the city seemed endless, even though we strained every effort to hurry." - James B. Stetson in San Francisco During the Eventful Days of April, 1906.

Lytton Strachey Quotation: "Prince Leopold hurried down, and himself conducted his sister and her family, by slow and bitter stages, to Kensington. The widowed lady, in her voluminous blacks, needed all her equanimity to support her." - Lytton Strachey in Queen Victoria.

Lytton Strachey Quotation: "Her active, eager little body hurrying with quick steps after the long strides of Albert down the corridors and avenues of Windsor, seemed the very expression of her spirit." - Lytton Strachey in Queen Victoria.

Lytton Strachey Quotation: "It was exceedingly vexatious; but Palmerston was in a hurry, and could not wait; the Prince, if he would insist upon interfering, must be brushed on one side." - Lytton Strachey in Queen Victoria.

Lytton Strachey Quotation: "For to him it was intolerable to think in a hurry, to jump to slapdash decisions, to act on instincts that could not be explained." - Lytton Strachey in Queen Victoria.

Lytton Strachey Quotation: "She wrote a letter to her uncle Leopold, and a hurried note to her sister Feodora." - Lytton Strachey in Queen Victoria.

Mirriam Michelson Quotation: "But it was anything but a doleful Nance he found and hurried down the snowy steps out to a hansom and off to rehearsal." - Mirriam Michelson in In the Bishop's Carriage.

Mirriam Michelson Quotation: "He looked out at his horses shivering in front of the house, and the sight hurried him." - Mirriam Michelson in In the Bishop's Carriage.

Mirriam Michelson Quotation: "The matron offered me a glass of milk, too, but I was in a hurry to be gone." - Mirriam Michelson in In the Bishop's Carriage.

Mirriam Michelson Quotation: "If you hurry you'll get there just in time for that act." - Mirriam Michelson in In the Bishop's Carriage.

Mirriam Michelson Quotation: "If he hurried, she fumed." - Mirriam Michelson in In the Bishop's Carriage.

Movie Release: The movie "Mr. Hurry-up" is released.

Richard le Gallienne Quotation: "Had some one spun the top with him, it would have vanished; and presently, no doubt at the bidding of an oath I could not hear, he hurriedly thrust the top into his pocket, and once more joined the straining group of men." - Richard le Gallienne in Quest of the Golden Girl.

Riches, T. Hurry: Author of "Railway-motor-car traffic." By Mr.T. Hurry Riches, Vice-President, and Mr. Sidney B. Haslam, Associate Member. Publisher: The Institution of Mechanical Engineers (Westminster). Published in 1906.

Stephen Leacock Quotation: "And on us, as on the other families of that lonely countryside, there sometimes fell the sudden alarm of illness, and the hurrying drive through the snow at night to fetch the doctor from the village, seven miles away." - Stephen Leacock in The Hohenzollerns in America.

Stephen Leacock Quotation: "Hurry, dear, and get something dry to wrap him in! Goodness, what a fright! Quick, darling, give me something to rub him with." - Stephen Leacock in Frenzied Fiction.

Stephen Leacock Quotation: "Pick up that tennis racket and let us hurry to the court and dig ourselves in." - Stephen Leacock in The Hohenzollerns in America.

Stephen Leacock Quotation: "I met him one day in a great hurry, with a valise in his hand." - Stephen Leacock in Frenzied Fiction.

1907

Albert Payson Terhune Quotation: "The tramp of their hurrying feet made the guards outside the open windows of the music room fling wide the closed shutters." - Albert Payson Terhune in Black Caesar's Clan.

Albert Payson Terhune Quotation: "Yet, despite this eccentricity of aspect, something about the obsequiously hurrying man struck Brice as familiar." - Albert Payson Terhune in Black Caesar's Clan.

Albert Payson Terhune Quotation: "The sun had gone beyond the meridian mark during his ramble southward, and the afternoon was hurrying by." - Albert Payson Terhune in Black Caesar's Clan.

Albert Payson Terhune Quotation: "He was carrying something loosely in one hand, and he did not seem in any hurry." - Albert Payson Terhune in Black Caesar's Clan.

Albert Payson Terhune Quotation: "Almost running, he hurried to the spot where the dog had vanished." - Albert Payson Terhune in Black Caesar's Clan.

Angela Brazil Quotation: "Arriving back on the wharf the girls, after subscribing a shilling amongst them to reward their rescuer, hurried up to the churchyard, where, of course, there was no sign of their party, then started as fast as they could to walk along the high road." - Angela Brazil in Monitress Merle.

Angela Brazil Quotation: "It was decided quite in a hurry because there happened to be a vacancy for her. It's a very fashionable school where they take the girls out to theatres and concerts and all sorts of places." - Angela Brazil in Monitress Merle.

Angela Brazil Quotation: "She sat up over it long after Mavis and Aunt Nellie had gone to bed, and, indeed, finished it hurriedly under the eyes of Jessop, who was waiting to turn out the gas." - Angela Brazil in Monitress Merle.

Angela Brazil Quotation: "Merle hurried away and lost no time in collecting the junior boarders, who came to her meeting out of sheer curiosity to see what she could possibly want with them." - Angela Brazil in Monitress Merle.

Angela Brazil Quotation: "By this time both monitresses and mistresses had caught glimpses from the window and came hurrying out to see what was happening." - Angela Brazil in Monitress Merle.

Booth Tarkington Quotation: "I always understood the first house was built by an old party of the name of Vertrees who couldn't get along with Dan'l Boone, and hurried away to these parts because Dan'l wanted him to give back a gun he'd lent him." - Booth Tarkington in The Turmoil, A Novel.

Booth Tarkington Quotation: "It was four blocks to the nearest pharmacy; he made what haste he could in the great heat, but to himself he seemed double his usual weight; and the more he tried to hurry, the less speed appeared obtainable from his heavy legs." - Booth Tarkington in The Flirt.

Booth Tarkington Quotation: "Other couples, everywhere, joined one another, forming vivacious clusters, but none of these groups adopted the brother and sister, nor did any one appear to be hurrying in Alice's direction to ask her for the next dance." - Booth Tarkington in Alice Adams.

Booth Tarkington Quotation: "He laughed at that; but without looking at him she suddenly offered him her hand, and, as he took it, he felt a hurried, violent pressure upon his fingers, as if she meant to thank him almost passionately for being kind." - Booth Tarkington in Alice Adams.

Booth Tarkington Quotation: "He directed the workmen in every detail, hurrying them by example and exhortations, and receiving, in consequence, several declarations of independence, as well as one resignation, which took effect immediately." - Booth Tarkington in Alice Adams.

Cosmo Hamilton Quotation: "He walked without his usual affectation of never permitting anything to hurry him. All about him there was still a sort of exaltation." - Cosmo Hamilton in Who Cares?.

Cosmo Hamilton Quotation: "And when Harry hurried, as he did then, though with a curious misgiving, there were immediate results." - Cosmo Hamilton in Who Cares?.

Cosmo Hamilton Quotation: "I shall open the door of every known Blue Room, hurrying out if there are ugly things inside." - Cosmo Hamilton in Who Cares?.

Cosmo Hamilton Quotation: "But he needed exercise, and golf's such a good game, isn't it? I sha'n't hurry him back." - Cosmo Hamilton in Who Cares?.

Cosmo Hamilton Quotation: "Let's talk if you're not in a hurry to get back." - Cosmo Hamilton in Who Cares?.

D.H. Lawrence Quotation: "As she crossed the open ground in front of the Moon and Stars she heard men shouting, and smelled the beer, and hurried a little, thinking her husband was probably in the bar." - D.H. Lawrence in Sons and Lovers.

D.H. Lawrence Quotation: "Hurriedly, with a burrowing motion, he covered his head under the thick volume of Thucydides, and the blow came down, almost breaking his neck, and shattering his heart." - D.H. Lawrence in Women in Love.

D.H. Lawrence Quotation: "Large sunflowers stared over the old red wall of the garden opposite, looking in their jolly way down on the women who were hurrying with something for dinner." - D.H. Lawrence in Sons and Lovers.

D.H. Lawrence Quotation: "The porter opened obsequiously for her, and, at her nod, hurried to the edge of the pavement and whistled for a taxi." - D.H. Lawrence in Women in Love.

D.H. Lawrence Quotation: "Her quietened heart beginning to beat quickly again, she hurried down the side garden to the back of the house." - D.H. Lawrence in Sons and Lovers.

Don Marquis Quotation: "In the hurry of this crowded age one must find time to get along with one's self, must one not?" - Don Marquis in Hermione's Group of Thinkers.

Don Marquis Quotation: "In our hurried modern life we are not punctilious enough about these things." - Don Marquis in The Cruise of the Jasper B.

Don Marquis Quotation: "I had glanced through them hurriedly, and laid them on the table." - Don Marquis in Danny's Own Story.

Glenn D. Bradley Quotation: "Perhaps the most common route for sending mail from the East to the Pacific Coast was by steamship from New York to Panama where it was unloaded, hurried across the Isthmus, and again shipped by water to San Francisco." - Glenn D. Bradley in The Story of the Pony Express.

Glenn D. Bradley Quotation: "Without a moment's delay, he removed his letter pouch and hurried the mail in on foot, where a fresh horse was at once provided and the schedule resumed." - Glenn D. Bradley in The Story of the Pony Express.

Glenn D. Bradley Quotation: "After a hurried stop to deliver local mail, the pouch was rushed aboard the fast sailing steamer Antelope, and the trip down the stream begun." - Glenn D. Bradley in The Story of the Pony Express.

Glenn D. Bradley Quotation: "So after resting an hour and a half, he resumed the saddle and hurried back along his old trail, over the Sierras to Friday's Station." - Glenn D. Bradley in The Story of the Pony Express.

Glenn D. Bradley Quotation: "He at once hurried West, and at Fort Leavenworth met his partners, Messrs." - Glenn D. Bradley in The Story of the Pony Express.

Hurry, Jamieson Boyd: Born in 1857 and died in 1930, authored "Vicious circles." Publisher: printed at the office of the British Medical Association (London). Published in 1907.

J. Storer Clousten Quotation: "The Baroness broke of somewhat hurriedly to make this comment, almost indeed as though she felt it to be necessary." - J. Storer Clousten in Count Bunker.

J. Storer Clousten Quotation: "They pulled aside one corner of the heavy curtain, and then let it fall again and hurried back." - J. Storer Clousten in Count Bunker.

John Buchan Quotation: "Besides, every step that brought us nearer to the valley now increased my eagerness to hurry, and wandering in that maze of clotted ice was like the nightmare when you stand on the rails with the express coming and are too weak to climb on the platform." - John Buchan in Mr. Standfast.

John Buchan Quotation: "Atta was hurried forward through the lines of the Greeks to the narrow throat of the pass, where behind a rough rampart of stones lay the Lacedaemonian headquarters." - John Buchan in Moon Endureth [Tales/Fancies].

John Buchan Quotation: "The hamlet was awakened, and before we reached the corner of the highroad sleepy British soldiers were hurrying towards the scene, and the Town Major was mustering the fire brigade." - John Buchan in Mr. Standfast.

John Buchan Quotation: "It took me about an hour to figure the thing out, and I did not hurry, for, unless the murderer came back, I had till about six o'clock in the morning for my cogitations." - John Buchan in The Thirty-Nine Steps.

John Buchan Quotation: "I talked to a general last week about the coming offensive, and he said he was praying for it to hurry up, for he reckoned Fritz would get the fright of his life." - John Buchan in Mr. Standfast.

Joseph Crosby Lincoln Quotation: "She hurried to the back door, and there was Ase, setting on the ground in the shade, his eyes shut and his back against the chopping block, and one poor lonesome slab in front of him with a couple of splinters knocked off it." - Joseph Crosby Lincoln in Cape Cod Stories.

Joseph Crosby Lincoln Quotation: "It was Serena, sure enough, breathless from hurrying, her hat a bit on one side, one glove off and the other on, but full of energy and impatience." - Joseph Crosby Lincoln in Cap'n Dan's Daughter.

Joseph Crosby Lincoln Quotation: "Gertrude hurriedly sprang from her chair, wiped her eyes with her handkerchief and was on her way to the hall when the door opened." - Joseph Crosby Lincoln in Cap'n Dan's Daughter.

Joseph Crosby Lincoln Quotation: "The last sentence was added in a great hurry, for her husband showed signs of preparing to remove the headgear with his own hands." - Joseph Crosby Lincoln in Cap'n Dan's Daughter.

Joseph Crosby Lincoln Quotation: "Daniel hurried after him, a difficult progress, for the slippers and bathrobe made hurrying decidedly clumsy." - Joseph Crosby Lincoln in Cap'n Dan's Daughter.

Louis Joseph Vance Quotation: "He got out and gave her his hand, then paid the driver, picked up the two bags, and hurried with Dorothy into the station, to find in waiting a string of cars into which people were moving at leisurely rate." - Louis Joseph Vance in The Black Bag.

Louis Joseph Vance Quotation: "From the rear wing of the mansion the sounds of hurrying feet were distinctly audible, as, presently, were the heavy, excited voices of men and the more shrill and frightened cries of women." - Louis Joseph Vance in The Brass Bowl.

Louis Joseph Vance Quotation: "With a smothered exclamation, Maitland hurried away, still incredulous and impressed with a belief, firmer with every minute, that the wounded man had been wrongly identified." - Louis Joseph Vance in The Brass Bowl.

Louis Joseph Vance Quotation: "On the contrary, having made all things ready for a hurried flight upon the first alarm, the intruder turned back, as was clearly indicated by the motion of the light within." - Louis Joseph Vance in The Brass Bowl.

Louis Joseph Vance Quotation: "You hurry to the Terminus and lock yourself in your room. Have the management book both passages; don't run the risk of going to the pier yourself." - Louis Joseph Vance in The Black Bag.

Mark Rutherford (William Hale White) Quotation: "It had begun to rain, and Madge, stepping out of the carriage in a hurry, threw a shawl over her head, forgetting the wreath." - Mark Rutherford (William Hale White) in Clara Hopgood.

Mark Rutherford (William Hale White) Quotation: "Just at that moment Barnes appeared, hot with hurrying." - Mark Rutherford (William Hale White) in Clara Hopgood.

Mark Twain (Samuel Clemens) Quotation: "While he was hurrying off on his honest errand, what was she doing? Lamenting because the papers hadn't been destroyed and the money kept." - Mark Twain (Samuel Clemens) in Man That Corrupted Hadleyburg.

P.E. Muskett Quotation: "It is the exact parallel to a man hurrying through many fields and parks and gardens for the purpose of enjoying, from some high eminence, the scene through which he has passed." - P.E. Muskett in The Art of Living in Australia.

Riches, Tom Hurry: Author of "The Institution of Mechanical Engineers. Spring Meeting, 1907. Address by the President, T. H. Riches. 25th April." Published in 1907.

Robert Hichens Quotation: "She understood the look in his face when she had told him of her father's sudden death, the change in his demeanour to her since he had known the fact, the desire to hurry things on, to sweep her off her feet." - Robert Hichens in December Love.

Robert Hichens Quotation: "It was an emissary of the desert, propelled with irresistible force from the farthest recess of the dunes, and the desert itself seemed to be hurrying behind it as if to spy upon the doing of its deeds." - Robert Hichens in The Garden Of Allah.

Robert Hichens Quotation: "He turned sharply away like a driven man, and hurried off along the cliff edge in a striding walk, quickening his steps each moment till his departure became a flight." - Robert Hichens in The Garden Of Allah.

Robert Hichens Quotation: "If in a hurry, driven by her demon, she were to say the words she had in her mind there would be no going back. She would never dare to unsay them." - Robert Hichens in December Love.

Robert Hichens Quotation: "Once Domini saw two women, in thin, floating white dresses and spangled veils, hurrying by like ghosts in the dark." - Robert Hichens in The Garden Of Allah.

W.R. Inge Quotation: "The servitor groaned deeply and beat his breast, and hurried to the door, and as he did not find the woman there, was much distressed." - W.R. Inge in Light, Life, and Love.

Zitkala-Sa Quotation: "At once he hurried forth from his teepee and, with his blanket over one shoulder, drew nigh to a huge rock on a hillside." - Zitkala-Sa in Old Indian Legends.

Zitkala-Sa Quotation: "Upon leaving his friend, Manstin hurried away toward the North country whither he was bound for a long hunt." - Zitkala-Sa in Old Indian Legends.

Zitkala-Sa Quotation: "Drawing the blanket tight over his shoulders, he descended the hill with hurrying feet." - Zitkala-Sa in Old Indian Legends.

Zitkala-Sa Quotation: "Then Manstin took the little brown baby and hurried away from the ravine." - Zitkala-Sa in Old Indian Legends.

Zitkala-Sa Quotation: "Out they hurried, all the bears, and disappeared into the woods." - Zitkala-Sa in Old Indian Legends.

1908

Arthur B. Reeve Quotation: "She did not withdraw it, but her averted eyes and quick breath told that a thousand thoughts were hurrying through her mind, divided between the man in the cab beside her and the man in the cab following perhaps half a block behind." - Arthur B. Reeve in Constance Dunlap.

Arthur B. Reeve Quotation: "As they caught sight of the two ladies, there was a smile of recognition, an exchange of remarks between each pair, and the men hurried in the direction of the corner." - Arthur B. Reeve in Constance Dunlap.

Arthur B. Reeve Quotation: "One night as they were hurrying back to Graeme's after a walk, they had to pass a crowd on Broadway. Constance saw a familiar face hurrying by. It gave her a start." - Arthur B. Reeve in Constance Dunlap.

Arthur B. Reeve Quotation: "As she hurried unexpectedly out of the Junta she fancied she caught a glimpse of a familiar figure. It must have been Drummond." - Arthur B. Reeve in Constance Dunlap.

Arthur B. Reeve Quotation: "Scarcely had Drummond gone, than she, too, was hurrying down the street on her way to see Mackenzie's pursuers face to face." - Arthur B. Reeve in Constance Dunlap.

Austin Hall and Homer Eon Flint Quotation: "When day came we had our breakfast and hurried down to the pier. It was hard to have him go." - Austin Hall and Homer Eon Flint in The Blind Spot.

Austin Hall and Homer Eon Flint Quotation: "At the same time she blinked hurriedly, as though to shut off a sight that staggered her." - Austin Hall and Homer Eon Flint in The Blind Spot.

Austin Hall and Homer Eon Flint Quotation: "He was great, strong, healthy, and it seemed to me in a terrible hurry." - Austin Hall and Homer Eon Flint in The Blind Spot.

Austin Hall and Homer Eon Flint Quotation: "However, I had barely time to get to the city if I hurried." - Austin Hall and Homer Eon Flint in The Blind Spot.

Austin Hall and Homer Eon Flint Quotation: "After that I packed a suitcase and hurried to the station." - Austin Hall and Homer Eon Flint in The Blind Spot.

Dean S. Fansler Quotation: "But Zaragoza was shrewd; and, fearing the consequences of the discovery of Luis's corpse, he cut off the dead man's head and hurried home with it, leaving the body behind." - Dean S. Fansler in Filipino Popular Tales.

Dean S. Fansler Quotation: "At first he was frightened; but his fear was only momentary, and he was eager to hurry up the agreement with Satan, so that he might receive the child." - Dean S. Fansler in Filipino Popular Tales.

Dean S. Fansler Quotation: "He at once hurried home, told his parents to abandon their home and town, and he himself started on a journey for another kingdom." - Dean S. Fansler in Filipino Popular Tales.

Dean S. Fansler Quotation: "He hurried home to his mother, and said that he wanted to marry the beautiful princess and to be king of their country." - Dean S. Fansler in Filipino Popular Tales.

Dean S. Fansler Quotation: "As soon as his mother had passed by from the market, Suan hurried home ahead of her." - Dean S. Fansler in Filipino Popular Tales.

Earl Derr Biggers Quotation: "I was puzzled for a second then I reentered my room and hurried to my balcony." - Earl Derr Biggers in The Agony Column.

Earl Derr Biggers Quotation: "As the waiter hurried past, West hailed him." - Earl Derr Biggers in The Agony Column.

H.G. Wells Quotation: "Round they swooped once again over the Canadian Fall, over the waste of waters eastward, until they were distant and small, and then round and back, hurrying, bounding, swooping towards the one gaping spectator." - H.G. Wells in The War in the Air.

H.G. Wells Quotation: "Then far, away over the blue he caught sight of three long, dark shapes like hurrying fish that drove one after the other, as porpoises follow one another in the water." - H.G. Wells in The War in the Air.

H.G. Wells Quotation: "Fate had seen fit to direct him to other destinies, had hurried him from point to point, and dropped him at last upon this little wedge of rock between the cataracts." - H.G. Wells in The War in the Air.

H.G. Wells Quotation: "Throb, throb, throb, throb, went the engines, and the long, undulating wedge of airships hurried after the flagship like a flight of swans after their leader." - H.G. Wells in The War in the Air.

H.G. Wells Quotation: "Everybody had hurried out again astonishingly." - H.G. Wells in The War in the Air.

Harold Bell Wright Quotation: "Uncle Ike left the group in front of the cabin, and, hurriedly entering the office, seated himself upon his throne." - Harold Bell Wright in The Shepherd of the Hills.

1908

Harold Bell Wright Quotation: "He hurried away to the barn for his team, while the women with Sammy's assistance made their simple preparation." - Harold Bell Wright in The Shepherd of the Hills.

Harold Bell Wright Quotation: "At this Ollie forced a loud laugh, and remarked that he was in something of a hurry that day." - Harold Bell Wright in The Shepherd of the Hills.

Harold Bell Wright Quotation: "Very soon two figures left the house, and hurried toward a bunch of saddle horses near by." - Harold Bell Wright in The Shepherd of the Hills.

Harold Bell Wright Quotation: "He mounted hurriedly and rode away at a brisk gallop." - Harold Bell Wright in The Shepherd of the Hills.

Henry Handel Richardson Quotation: "For days she stole mousily in and out, avoiding the hours when Evelyn was there, getting up earlier in the morning, hurrying into bed at night and feeling very sore indeed at the sufferance on which she supposed herself to be." - Henry Handel Richardson in The Getting of Wisdom.

Henry Handel Richardson Quotation: "But when the story leaked out, as it soon did, in an exaggerated and distorted form, he straightway ceased his visits. Thus he was wholly unprepared for the family's hurried departure, the news of which was broken to him by Maurice." - Henry Handel Richardson in Maurice Guest.

Henry Handel Richardson Quotation: "His stern face wore an almost genial expression; he smiled, and talked loudly, and, when the performance was over, hurried to and fro, full of importance, shaking hands and accepting congratulations, with a fine shade of reserve." - Henry Handel Richardson in Maurice Guest.

Henry Handel Richardson Quotation: "But the streets were by this time black with people, most of whom came hurrying towards him, brisk and bustling, and gay, in spite of the prevailing dullness, at the prospect of the warm, familiar evening." - Henry Handel Richardson in Maurice Guest.

Henry Handel Richardson Quotation: "He bewitched Laura; she forgot her sums in the delight of watching him; and this made her learning seem a little scantier than it actually was; for she had to wind up in a great hurry." - Henry Handel Richardson in The Getting of Wisdom.

History of Bosnia and Herzegovina: Following the revolution of the Young Turks in 1908, Austria hurried to formally annex Bosnia and Herzegovina. This sent shock waves through the nearby nations, and the people of Montenegro and Serbia loudly protested, some even calling for war, as the prevailing opinion was that Bosnia was Serbian. Russian diplomatic intervention stopped the belligerent politicians, but not for long. The 1914 assassination in Sarajevo of Franz Ferdinand, Archduke of Austria, heir to the throne of Austria-Hungary, triggered the World War First World War. The Yugoslav nationalist organization "Young Mlada Bosna" organized the attack, and student conspirator Gavrilo Princip fired the fatal shot. [WP]

Hurry, Jamieson Boyd: Born in 1857 and died in 1930, authored "Vicious circles associated with disorders of the heart." Publisher: printed at the office of the British Medical Association (London). Published in 1908.

Lucy Maud Montgomery Quotation: "Those walks to church, through the golden completeness of the summer evenings, were always very pleasant to us, and we never hurried, though, on the other hand, we were very careful not to be late." - Lucy Maud Montgomery in The Golden Road.

Lucy Maud Montgomery Quotation: "It was dark when supper was ready, and still no sign of Anne, coming hurriedly over the log bridge or up Lover's Lane, breathless and repentant with a sense of neglected duties." - Lucy Maud Montgomery in Anne of Green Gables.

Lucy Maud Montgomery Quotation: "The two little girls hastened out hand in hand and hurried through Lover's Lane and across the crusted field beyond, for the snow was too deep to go by the shorter wood way." - Lucy Maud Montgomery in Anne of Green Gables.

Lucy Maud Montgomery Quotation: "And when poor tortured Gertrude, unable to endure it any longer, hurried out of the room, Cousin Sophia asked mother if the blow hadn't affected Miss Oliver's mind." - Lucy Maud Montgomery in Rilla of Ingleside.

Lucy Maud Montgomery Quotation: "While there she incidentally contrived to hurry Ludovic Speed in his leisurely courting of Theodora Dix, as related duly in another chronicle of her history." - Lucy Maud Montgomery in Anne of the Island.

Sherwood Anderson Quotation: "He went away to his own room and sat for a long time in the darkness. That night when he left the house for his evening's walk he did not stay long but hurried home and went to his own room." - Sherwood Anderson in Windy McPherson's Son.

Sherwood Anderson Quotation: "For a time he hurried along looking back as though afraid of being followed, but when he got out into a broad flat meadow he went more slowly." - Sherwood Anderson in Windy McPherson's Son.

Sherwood Anderson Quotation: "For a moment he seemed about to wait and speak to Hugh, and then was overcome with confusion and hurried away." - Sherwood Anderson in Windy McPherson's Son.

Sherwood Anderson Quotation: "All the hours of her visit to her mother and to her home town had been spent in an effort to hurry away." - Sherwood Anderson in Windy McPherson's Son.

Sherwood Anderson Quotation: "She saw him as she hurried past and shivered slightly." - Sherwood Anderson in Windy McPherson's Son.

Theodore Dreiser Quotation: "Since by this ruse he secured a picture for himself, he promptly had it framed and hung in his Chicago rooms, where sometimes of an afternoon when he was hurrying to change his clothes he stopped to look at it." - Theodore Dreiser in The Titan.

Theodore Dreiser Quotation: "That he had anything to do with the concern, she could not tell, but because he happened to be looking in her direction her weakening heart misgave her and she hurried by, too overcome with shame to enter." - Theodore Dreiser in Sister Carrie.

Theodore Dreiser Quotation: "During his summer visit at Narragansett Cowperwood had not been long disturbed by the presence of Braxmar, for, having received special orders, the latter was compelled to hurry away to Hampton Roads." - Theodore Dreiser in The Titan.

Theodore Dreiser Quotation: "He went out, pausing at the door to grab playfully at his sister's waist, and saying that he'd be back about midnight, hurried to Marjorie's house, because he had promised to take her to a show." - Theodore Dreiser in The Financier.

Theodore Dreiser Quotation: "She shoved her plate away with such force that she upset a glass in which was champagne, the wine making a frayed, yellowish splotch on the white linen, and, rising, hurried toward the door." - Theodore Dreiser in The Titan.

1909

Alexandra Kuprin Quotation: "More than anything else, now, I dislike the little boys. He comes, the little varmint; he's cowardly, he hurries, he trembles, but having done the business, he doesn't know what to do with his eyes for shame." - Alexandra Kuprin in Yama (The Pit).

Alexandra Kuprin Quotation: "She already knew now on what days the notary kept in his fireproof iron safe especially large sums. However, she did not hurry, fearing to spoil the business through clumsiness or prematurity." - Alexandra Kuprin in Yama (The Pit).

Alexandra Kuprin Quotation: "He, silently and without looking around at Jennka, began to dress hurriedly, missing his clothes when he tried to put his legs through." - Alexandra Kuprin in Yama (The Pit).

Alexandra Kuprin Quotation: "And when one of the young ladies dropped a handkerchief on the floor, she hurriedly made a dash to pick it up." - Alexandra Kuprin in Yama (The Pit).

Alexandra Kuprin Quotation: "Now play at cards, now drinking, now I had to hurry to the university." - Alexandra Kuprin in Yama (The Pit).

Alic.: Publication of "Alic's Book of 'Hurry Burry Yarns.'." Published in 1909.

Andreas Latzko Quotation: "He heard him scold his orderly and bellow at him to hurry up, in between digging up fresh details, hideous episodes, from the combats of the past few days, which Weixler devoured in breathless attention." - Andreas Latzko in Men in War.

Andreas Latzko Quotation: "But the others are free! From my window I can look over the garden wall into the street, and see them hurrying along, raising their hats, shaking hands, and crowding in front of the latest bulletin." - Andreas Latzko in Men in War.

Arthur Judson Brown Quotation: "John Fowler, joked me a little about my hurry to start, laughingly remarking that this was Asia and not New York, and that I must not expect things to be done on the touch of a button as at home." - Arthur Judson Brown in New Forces in Old China.

Arthur Judson Brown Quotation: "It looks smart to take insufficient sleep, snatch a hurried meal out of a tin can, drink unboiled water and walk or ride in the sun without a pith hat or an umbrella." - Arthur Judson Brown in New Forces in Old China.

Arthur Judson Brown Quotation: "Leaving our shendzas at an inn, we mounted the cavalry horses of our escort and hurried to the celebrated temple which stands on the site of Confucius' house." - Arthur Judson Brown in New Forces in Old China.

Arthur Judson Brown Quotation: "Scoundrels were hurrying in from distant villages to join in the riot of plunder and lust." - Arthur Judson Brown in New Forces in Old China.

Arthur Judson Brown Quotation: "He was safe where he was, but he hurried back to die with his flock." - Arthur Judson Brown in New Forces in Old China.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox Quotation: "I cannot join you until very late, So hurry home, nor let the dinner wait." - Ella Wheeler Wilcox in The Kingdom of Love.

Ellen Glasgow Quotation: "At last he caught the outlines of a gigantic figure relieved on a hillock against the pale green west, and, with a shout, he hurried through the swarm of fugitives, and overtook Pinetop, who had stooped to tie his shoe on with a leather strap." - Ellen Glasgow in The Battle Ground.

Ellen Glasgow Quotation: "Jack Hicks started from his seat, and throwing his pipe aside, came hurriedly to the wheels, but before he laid his hand upon the door, Betty opened it and sprang lightly to the ground, her face radiant in the shadow of her bonnet." - Ellen Glasgow in The Battle Ground.

Ellen Glasgow Quotation: "The hurrying footsteps in the street outside kept up ceaselessly until the dark again; mingled with the cries of the wounded and the prayers of the frightened he heard always that eager, tireless passing of many feet." - Ellen Glasgow in The Battle Ground.

Ellen Glasgow Quotation: "Betty threw her armful of robes into the coach, and ran hurriedly up to the old lady's room, coming down, in a moment, with the spectacles in one hand and the little white shawl in the other." - Ellen Glasgow in The Battle Ground.

Ellen Glasgow Quotation: "He had reached New York some days before, but instead of hurrying on with Champe, he had sent a careless apology to his expectant grandparents while he waited over to look up a missing trunk." - Ellen Glasgow in The Battle Ground.

Fenwick, Edwin Hurry: Author of "The value of radiography in the diagnosis and treatment of urinary stone. A study in clinical and operative surgery." Published in 1909.

Frank L. Packard Quotation: "On his hands and knees, protected from the possibility of another bullet by the height of the sill, Jimmie Dale, quick in every movement now, dragged the inert form toward the table away from the window, and bent hurriedly over the other." - Frank L. Packard in The Adventures of Jimmie Dale.

Frank L. Packard Quotation: "The third was making a fitful effort at life, as another man emerged hastily from the cafe's side door, hurried to the corner, joined the man who was still loitering there, and both together disappeared at a rapid pace down the street." - Frank L. Packard in The Adventures of Jimmie Dale.

Frank L. Packard Quotation: "He shrugged his shoulders, as, back along the Bowery, he retraced his steps, but now, with the hurried shuffle of Larry the Bat where before had been the brisk, athletic stride of Jimmie Dale." - Frank L. Packard in The Adventures of Jimmie Dale.

Frank L. Packard Quotation: "He crossed over, and, still with the shuffling tread that dozens around him knew as the characteristic gait of Larry the Bat, but covering the ground with amazing celerity, he hurried along." - Frank L. Packard in The Adventures of Jimmie Dale.

Frank L. Packard Quotation: "Followed almost immediately the sound of some one, Spider Jack presumably, moving hurriedly about overhead; and then, a moment later, steps coming down the staircase in the adjoining room." - Frank L. Packard in The Adventures of Jimmie Dale.

G. Harvey Ralphson Quotation: "After the aeroplane had disappeared from sight Jackson and Jimmie hurried on through the dark tunnel, which, as has been said, was merely the dry channel of a stream which had cut its way out of the valley years before." - G. Harvey Ralphson in Boy Scouts in an Airship.

Hurry, Jamieson Boyd: Author of "A History of the Reading Pathological Society. With illustrations." Published in 1909.

James W. Gerard Quotation: "This business assumed great proportions, and after the Americans who were in a hurry to go home had disappeared, the ones remaining were kept in funds by their friends and relatives through this sort of bank under our management." - James W. Gerard in My Four Years in Germany.

James W. Gerard Quotation: "Artillery was to be seen on the roads and automobiles were hurrying to and fro." - James W. Gerard in My Four Years in Germany.

Publication: Publication of "Friendship outstays the hurrying flight of time." Publisher: published in New York by Dodge Publishing Company (New York). Published in 1909.

Robert W. Service Quotation: "Straight to his anvil he hurried; started his furnace aglow; Heated his iron and shaped it with savage and masterful blow." - Robert W. Service in Ballads of a Cheechako.

Samuel Lowe Quotation: "While about him there was great boisterousness and loud guffaws. A yeoman who had listened eagerly to the account hurried without and himself recounted to the men there what had happened at the court of King Mark." - Samuel Lowe in In the Court of King Arthur.

Samuel Lowe Quotation: "Yet even as his foe succumbed, the victor slowly crumbled to the ground, spent and so weak that for a few seconds Allan, Breunor le Noire and the two ladies who had hurried to him, thought he was dead." - Samuel Lowe in In the Court of King Arthur.

Samuel Lowe Quotation: "The same thought being in the mind of the other two, they begged the Lady Linet to await them and hurried forward to this, their first adventure." - Samuel Lowe in In the Court of King Arthur.

Samuel Lowe Quotation: "So loud was this that the kings and the knights at the dining table heard it and wondering greatly, hurried out to find the cause for it." - Samuel Lowe in In the Court of King Arthur.

Samuel Lowe Quotation: "So now the herald slipped to the door to cast again a hurried glance for perchance that they might be within vision." - Samuel Lowe in In the Court of King Arthur.

Stewart Edward White Quotation: "It is a very good river with some riffles that can be waded down to the edges of black pools or white chutes of water; with appropriate big trees fallen slantwise into it to form deep holes; and with hurrying smooth stretches of some breadth." - Stewart Edward White in The Mountains.

Stewart Edward White Quotation: "Then, with considerable doubt, I descended from my ant hill and hurried down the slope, stumbling over grass hummocks, colliding with bushes, tangling with vines, but progressing in a gratifyingly rhinoless condition." - Stewart Edward White in The Land of Footprints.

Stewart Edward White Quotation: "The wash advanced and drew back with a soft hissing sound; the wind blew flat and low, so that even on the wet parts a fine, white, dried mist of sand was always scurrying and hurrying along close to the ground." - Stewart Edward White in The Gray Dawn.

Stewart Edward White Quotation: "About the middle of the afternoon Mrs. Sherwood came up the front walk and rang the bell. Nan, sitting behind lace curtains, was impressed by her air of controlled excitement. Mrs. Sherwood hurried." - Stewart Edward White in The Gray Dawn.

Stewart Edward White Quotation: "Did you ever try to get on a somewhat demoralized horse in a frantic hurry, when all your friends were getting farther away every minute, and so lessening your chances of being in the fun?" - Stewart Edward White in The Land of Footprints.

Sun Tzu Quotation: "On contentious ground, I would hurry up my rear." - Sun Tzu in The Art of War (no footnotes).

William J. Long Quotation: "Something was telling me to hurry, hurry; that the big buck I had so often hunted was in my power at last, and that, if I would square accounts, I must beat the dogs, though they were nearer to him now than I." - William J. Long in Secret of the Woods.

William J. Long Quotation: "Hurrying back to camp, I loaded a cartridge lightly with a pinch of dust shot, spread some crumbs near the big log behind my tent, squeaked the call a few times, and sat down to wait." - William J. Long in Secret of the Woods.

William J. Long Quotation: "Meeko covered his store hurriedly, ran along a limb and leaped to the next tree, where he hid in a knot hole, just his eyes visible, watching his garner keenly out of the darkness." - William J. Long in Secret of the Woods.

William J. Long Quotation: "There she would stuff both cheeks hurriedly, till they bulged as if she had toothache, and steal away by the same path, disappearing at last under the shred of gray bark." - William J. Long in Secret of the Woods.

William J. Long Quotation: "I hurried to the brook, a hundred memories thronging over me of happy days and rare sights when the wood folk revealed their little secrets." - William J. Long in Secret of the Woods.

Winston Churchill Quotation: "A quarter of an hour later Austen went down the narrow wooden flight of stairs into the street, and as he emerged from the entry almost bumped into the figure of a young man that was hurrying by." - Winston Churchill in Mr. Crewe's Career, vol 2.

Winston Churchill Quotation: "How many of the throng hurrying by would not flee, if they could, back to the peaceful homes they had left?" - Winston Churchill in Coniston, vol 1.

Winston Churchill Quotation: "Why hurry back to Hampton?" - Winston Churchill in Complete PG Edition of Winston Churchill.

Winston Churchill Quotation: "What's your hurry?" - Winston Churchill in Complete PG Edition of Winston Churchill.

1910

Algernon Blackwood Quotation: "Life, it seemed, in a frantic hurry, had been cheapened, not improved; there was no real progress, but only more unrest." - Algernon Blackwood in The Garden of Survival.

Charles Egbert Craddock Quotation: "Pete and Joe were hurrying out of the house toward the group." - Charles Egbert Craddock in Down the Ravine.

David Cory Quotation: "So the horse jumped down and the willow tree stopped weeping right away, for it was so glad that the poor old milk horse was never again to be hurried on his way." - David Cory in Billy Bunny and Uncle Bull Frog.

David Cory Quotation: "So they all hurried away and pretty soon they came to Lily Pond, and there was Dr. Duck swimming around among the pond lilies and the frogs, having a lovely time." - David Cory in Billy Bunny and Uncle Bull Frog.

David Lindsay Quotation: "Then the tears started to her eyes and, snatching up Spadevil's hand, she bent over and kissed it hurriedly many times." - David Lindsay in A Voyage to Arcturus.

David Lindsay Quotation: "Maskull kept stumbling over the uneven ground, but she kept tight hold of him, and hurried him along." - David Lindsay in A Voyage to Arcturus.

David Lindsay Quotation: "It's always waltzing, and always in a hurry, but it never seems to get anywhere." - David Lindsay in A Voyage to Arcturus.

David Lindsay Quotation: "I hurried away, and did not pause again that day." - David Lindsay in A Voyage to Arcturus.

1910

David Lindsay Quotation: "Haunte rose abruptly and hurried after him." - David Lindsay in A Voyage to Arcturus.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox Quotation: "No one dreamed The cause of my strange hurry, but all seemed To think good fortune had quite turned my brain." - Ella Wheeler Wilcox in Maurine and Other Poems.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox Quotation: "The weary shore slumbers, stretched out in the sand, While the waves hurry off at mid ocean's command." - Ella Wheeler Wilcox in Yesterdays.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox Quotation: "Come! read your note and hurry in, Maurine, And make yourself fit object to be seen." - Ella Wheeler Wilcox in Maurine and Other Poems.

Fenwick, Edwin Hurry: Author of "Golden Rules of Surgical Practice. Tenth edition. Revised." Published in 1910.

H.A. Cody Quotation: "It seems that Si Farrington's hired man, Pete Davis, was takin' away the Stickles' only cow, when your father appeared on the scene, cut the rope, set the cow free, and sent Joe off in a hurry." - H.A. Cody in The Fourth Watch.

H.A. Cody Quotation: "Would he ever come out of that stupor? they asked each other time and time again as they sat and watched him. Often he talked, calling aloud for help, and pleading for someone to hurry." - H.A. Cody in The Fourth Watch.

H.A. Cody Quotation: "An accident had happened! And what of her father? Forgetting the horse she turned back into the house, seized a cloak, threw it over her shoulders, and hurried out into the storm." - H.A. Cody in The Fourth Watch.

H.A. Cody Quotation: "Dan's heart thrilled with pride and delight as he sat by Parson John's side and watched Midnight swinging along at her usual steady jog when there was no special hurry." - H.A. Cody in The Fourth Watch.

H.A. Cody Quotation: "She reached the door, doffed the snowshoes, entered the house, hurried to her own room, and throwing herself upon her bed, wept as if her heart would break." - H.A. Cody in The Fourth Watch.

Helen Nicolay Quotation: "Hundreds of clerks employed in the Government Departments left their desks and hurried South, crippling the service just at the time when the sudden increase of work made their presence doubly needed." - Helen Nicolay in The Boys' Life of Abraham Lincoln.

Helen Nicolay Quotation: "He had met Sherman when that commander hurried up fresh from his victorious march from Atlanta; and after Grant had started on his final pursuit of Lee the President still lingered." - Helen Nicolay in The Boys' Life of Abraham Lincoln.

Helen Nicolay Quotation: "When the Indian's shot laid the pioneer farmer low, his second son, Josiah, ran to a neighboring fort for help, and Mordecai, the eldest, hurried to the cabin for his rifle." - Helen Nicolay in The Boys' Life of Abraham Lincoln.

Helen Nicolay Quotation: "On the third day, however, it was certain that balloting would begin, and crowds hurried to the Wigwam in a fever of curiosity." - Helen Nicolay in The Boys' Life of Abraham Lincoln.

Herbert N. Casson Quotation: "They are in a hurry, or they would not be at the telephone; and each second is a minute long." - Herbert N. Casson in The History of the Telephone.

John Finley Quotation: "The Niagara river near this place is only the eighth of a league wide, but it is very deep in places, and so rapid above the great fall that it hurries down all the animals which try to cross it, without a single one being able to withstand its current." - John Finley in The French in the Heart of America.

John Finley Quotation: "The living owners, when they go to their graves, leave their little patches of earth as rich as they found them. There is no hurrying." - John Finley in The French in the Heart of America.

John Finley Quotation: "Everybody is in too much of a hurry to travel by water." - John Finley in The French in the Heart of America.

Natalie Sumner Lincoln Quotation: "There was a vacant chair next to his, and after a few hurried words with the coroner, Foster beckoned Miller to join him." - Natalie Sumner Lincoln in I Spy.

Natalie Sumner Lincoln Quotation: "Mitchell had not lunched, and a hurried breakfast had been consumed before six o'clock." - Natalie Sumner Lincoln in I Spy.

Norman Douglas Quotation: "He is in no hurry; it is a ceremony rather than a task. Slowly he separates the coarser from the finer grains, his fingers moving with loving deliberation over the smooth board." - Norman Douglas in Fountains in the Sand (Rambles Among the Oases of Tunisia).

Norman Douglas Quotation: "He hasn't the the brains to earn anything more than three and a half per cent. That's why he is always in such a hurry to finish his first little deal and get on with the next one." - Norman Douglas in South Wind.

Norman Douglas Quotation: "And even if, in the hurry and scurry of departure, he does overlook such elegant trifles, he never forgets to take his money; least of all a man like Muhlen." - Norman Douglas in South Wind.

Norman Douglas Quotation: "He held a hurried council with his family and, half an hour later, a second one with the more influential members of the priesthood." - Norman Douglas in South Wind.

Pelham Grenville Wodehouse Quotation: "He did quite an unprecedented amount of thinking as he hurried into his evening clothes; but the thought occurring most frequently was that, whatever happened, all was well in one way, at any rate." - Pelham Grenville Wodehouse in The Intrusion of Jimmy.

Pelham Grenville Wodehouse Quotation: "He walked with pensive jerkiness, not as one hurrying to a welcome tryst. As Jimmy looked, he vanished behind the great clump of laurels that stood on the lowest terrace." - Pelham Grenville Wodehouse in The Intrusion of Jimmy.

Pelham Grenville Wodehouse Quotation: "Another man, in similar circumstances, might have hurried over his toilet; but Archie, faced by a difficult choice of ties, rather strung the thing out." - Pelham Grenville Wodehouse in Indiscretions of Archie.

Pelham Grenville Wodehouse Quotation: "He had been reaching out his hand for a slice of Health Bread, but now he withdrew it rather hurriedly and sat back breathing hard." - Pelham Grenville Wodehouse in Indiscretions of Archie.

Pelham Grenville Wodehouse Quotation: "The next moment, the car having stopped to pick up more passengers, she jumped off and started to hurry across the street." - Pelham Grenville Wodehouse in Indiscretions of Archie.

Victoria Cross Quotation: "There had been times when I had hurried to this girl with words eager to be spoken on my lips, and at the first sight of her they had died unuttered on my tongue, just as words die into silence in the presence of a somnambulist." - Victoria Cross in To-morrow?.

Victoria Cross Quotation: "It bore a delicate, weak, feminine superscription, hurried and careless; the writing unformed, but graceful and distinguished; and on the other side of the letter, stamped in grey, stood a crest, and the motto subscrolled." - Victoria Cross in To-morrow?.

Victoria Cross Quotation: "He had to pass close before me to do so, and I watched his nervous, hurried approach to the table, and the trembling of his hand as he gathered up the papers, with contemptuous eyes." - Victoria Cross in To-morrow?.

Victoria Cross Quotation: "There are some arrangements to be made with the nurse, and then, when I am leaving the ward, or at least intend to, my brain hurries the doctor up the ward to me." - Victoria Cross in To-morrow?.

Victoria Cross Quotation: "She was absorbed in the drawing, and I in my own thoughts, as I stared through the upper pane, as directed, at the grey, drifting, hurrying November clouds." - Victoria Cross in To-morrow?.

Willa Cather Quotation: "The snow had somewhat abated; carriages and tradesmen's wagons were hurrying soundlessly to and fro in the winter twilight; boys in woolen mufflers were shoveling off the doorsteps; the avenue stages made fine spots of color against the white street." - Willa Cather in The Troll Garden, et al.

Willa Cather Quotation: "At last the Doxology was sung, but the old people lingered about the stove to greet each other, and Thea took her mother's arm and hurried out to the frozen sidewalk, before her father could get away." - Willa Cather in Song of the Lark.

Willa Cather Quotation: "He kissed her quickly several times, hurried out of the front door into the rain, and waved to her from the carriage window as the driver was starting his melancholy, dripping black horses." - Willa Cather in Alexander's Bridge.

Willa Cather Quotation: "The crowd began to cough and murmur, and the saloon keeper rushed off for the marshal, who arrested the wretch for giving a show without a license and hurried him away to the calaboose." - Willa Cather in Song of the Lark.

Willa Cather Quotation: "Everett's bags were piled on the truck, and his step was hurried and his eyes were full of impatience, as he gazed again and again up the track, watching for the train." - Willa Cather in The Troll Garden, et al.

1911

Bram Stoker Quotation: "As they went, there was a sudden rise in the ground; but the horses, breathing heavily, dashed up it at racing speed, not slackening their pace when the hill fell away again, leaving them to hurry along the downgrade." - Bram Stoker in Lair of the White Worm.

Bram Stoker Quotation: "The way she kept turning her head to look around her, the quick coming and going of the colour of her face, her hurried breathing, alternating with periods of suspicious calm, were evidences of mental perturbation." - Bram Stoker in Lair of the White Worm.

Bram Stoker Quotation: "Down the turret stair she ran quickly, letting the wire run from the wheel which she carried carefully, and, passing out of the hall door, hurried down the avenue with all her speed." - Bram Stoker in Lair of the White Worm.

Bram Stoker Quotation: "Her knees collapsed, and she was actually sinking on the floor, when to her surprise and joy Mimi came into the room, running hurriedly and breathing heavily." - Bram Stoker in Lair of the White Worm.

Bram Stoker Quotation: "As he was distrait and wanted to talk to somebody, he sent for Simon Chester, who came at once, breathless with hurrying and upset by the unexpected summons." - Bram Stoker in Lair of the White Worm.

Eden Phillpotts Quotation: "He hurries to the recess, kneels on the cushion, and throws open the window." - Eden Phillpotts in The Grey Room.

Fenwick, Edwin Hurry: Author of "The indications for widely resecting the bladder walls in vesical growth." Publisher: Adlard and Sons, Bartholomew Press (London). Published in 1911.

Florence L. Barclay Quotation: "But she thought she had to go, quite in a hurry." - Florence L. Barclay in The Rosary.

Greig, Teresa Billington: Author of "The Militant Suffrage Movement. Emancipation in a hurry." Published in 1911.

Hilaire Belloc Quotation: "This it was which rendered unfamiliar to me the shapes of the rocks and the turnings of the gorge as I hurried, behind my companion." - Hilaire Belloc in On Something.

Hurry, Jamieson Boyd: Author of "In honour of Hugh de Boves and Hugh Cook Faringdon, first and last Abbots of Reading. (Published in connection with the unveiling of the memorials in the Chapter House of Reading Abbey. July 10th, 1911.)." Published in 1911.

Jack London Quotation: "She hurried out of the room in the direction of the kitchen, tripped at the door in a pair of sandals several sizes too large for her feet, and disappeared in rosy confusion." - Jack London in Adventure.

Jack London Quotation: "The only way he could get recruits was by hurrying to the spot whenever a murder or series of murders occurred." - Jack London in Adventure.

Jack London Quotation: "They hurried on, but when they reached the spot they were in doubt." - Jack London in Adventure.

Jack London Quotation: "But I read about the crash in a newspaper, and hurried home." - Jack London in Adventure.

Jack London Quotation: "Sheldon scanned it hurriedly." - Jack London in Adventure.

James Joyce Quotation: "He hurried down the steps of the theatre so as to be as far away from the vision as he could be and, peering closely at his father's initials, hid his flushed face." - James Joyce in A Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man.

1911

James Joyce Quotation: "He bumped his elbow against the door at the end and, hurrying down the staircase, walked quickly through the two corridors and out into the air." - James Joyce in A Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man.

James Joyce Quotation: "He dropped his load promptly on the floor and hurried to her side to see." - James Joyce in A Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man.

James Joyce Quotation: "Faster and faster he hurried on through the gloom excitedly." - James Joyce in A Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man.

James Joyce Quotation: "He hurried onwards as if to overtake it." - James Joyce in A Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man.

L. Frank Baum Quotation: "It did not take them long to make this into bundles, which they slung upon their backs and carried off, and it was probably because they were in a great hurry that they did not stop to put the house in order again." - L. Frank Baum in American Fairy Tales.

L. Frank Baum Quotation: "The senator was not at all sure he would not go crazy himself, presently; so he slipped away from the turmoil, and, catching up his had and coat in the hall, hurried from the house." - L. Frank Baum in American Fairy Tales.

L. Frank Baum Quotation: "There was something very unpleasant in this scene, and a cold shiver began to run up and down Jim's back; so he hurried out again." - L. Frank Baum in American Fairy Tales.

L. Frank Baum Quotation: "The wax lady also raised her hat, thinking it the proper thing to do, and the man hurried away with a horrified face." - L. Frank Baum in American Fairy Tales.

L. Frank Baum Quotation: "It was yet early in the day, and the few people she met were hurrying along the streets." - L. Frank Baum in American Fairy Tales.

Lewis Carroll (C.L. Dodgson) Quotation: "Hurriedly he packed his boxes: Hurriedly the porter trundled On a barrow all his boxes: Hurriedly he took his ticket: Hurriedly the train received him: Thus departed Hiawatha." - Lewis Carroll (C.L. Dodgson) in Phantasmagoria and Other Poems.

Lewis Carroll (C.L. Dodgson) Quotation: "Through towering nothingness descry The grisly phantom hurry by?" - Lewis Carroll (C.L. Dodgson) in Phantasmagoria and Other Poems.

Louis Stone Quotation: "And as the cars stopped, the human cargo emptied itself into the roadway and hurried to the turnstiles, harassed by the thought of missing the next boat." - Louis Stone in Jonah.

Louis Stone Quotation: "Then they walked up the Road, shrieking with laughter, bumping against the passengers, who hurried past with scared looks." - Louis Stone in Jonah.

Louis Stone Quotation: "Ray had promised to hurry home with the medicine for his mother, but, as usual, the shop windows were irresistible." - Louis Stone in Jonah.

Louis Stone Quotation: "Mother Jenkins whispered that things would go cheap because the auctioneer was in a hurry to get to his lunch." - Louis Stone in Jonah.

Louis Stone Quotation: "Then Mrs Jones, who had been watching her through the window, dropped her mending and hurried out." - Louis Stone in Jonah.

Publication: Publication of "Vicious circles in disease by Jamieson B. Hurry." Published in 1911.

Virginia Woolf Quotation: "Normally, Katharine would have hurried her mother downstairs, and seen that no excuse for distraction came her way. Her attitude towards the poet's life, however, had changed with other changes; and she was content to forget all about her scheme of hours." - Virginia Woolf in Night and Day.

Virginia Woolf Quotation: "The casual and rather hurried way in which she spoke, together with the fact that she was saying the exact opposite of what he expected her to say, baffled him so much that he instinctively loosened his clasp upon her arm and she withdrew it quietly." - Virginia Woolf in Night and Day.

Virginia Woolf Quotation: "The words seemed to fill the room with an emotion which Katharine connected with the sound of distant wheels, the footsteps hurrying along the pavement, the cries of sirens hooting down the river, the darkness and the wind." - Virginia Woolf in Night and Day.

Virginia Woolf Quotation: "Arrived at the shop, she bought a large scale map of Norfolk, and thus provided, hurried into Lincoln's Inn Fields, and assured herself of the position of Messrs. Hoper and Grateley's office." - Virginia Woolf in Night and Day.

Virginia Woolf Quotation: "The wind rushed into the room, together with the sound of distant wheels, footsteps hurrying along the pavement, and the cries of sirens hooting down the river." - Virginia Woolf in Night and Day.

William Dean Howells Quotation: "The young girl hurried to meet her, lifted her arms for what promised an embrace, and with firm hands set the elder lady's bonnet straight with her forehead." - William Dean Howells in A Foregone Conclusion.

1912

Amy Lowell Quotation: "We alone stay While years hurry on, The flower fared forth, though its fragrance still stays." - Amy Lowell in Dome of Many-Coloured Glass.

Andrew Lang Quotation: "In writing of friends and teachers at Oxford, I have not ventured to express gratitude to those who still live, still teach, still are the wisest and kindest friends of the hurrying generations." - Andrew Lang in Adventures among Books.

Andrew Lang Quotation: "Arriving at the place where Utterson the lawyer, and the butler wait outside the Doctor's room, I threw down the manuscript and fled in a hurry." - Andrew Lang in Adventures among Books.

Carter, Nicholas: Author of "Nick Carter's new assistant, or, Jack Wise's hurry call." Publisher: Street & Smith Publications (New York). Published in 1912.

D.H. Lawrence Quotation: "So he hurried into the night, down the garden, climbed the fence into the field, and went away across the field in the rain, towards the highroad." - D.H. Lawrence in Aaron's Rod.

D.H. Lawrence Quotation: "They hurried across the Charing Cross Road, where great buses rolled and rocked, crammed with people." - D.H. Lawrence in Aaron's Rod.

D.H. Lawrence Quotation: "As he went along one of the dark, rather narrow streets, he heard a hurrying of feet behind him." - D.H. Lawrence in Aaron's Rod.

D.H. Lawrence Quotation: "The party hurried through the rainy narrow streets down to the Embankment station." - D.H. Lawrence in Aaron's Rod.

D.H. Lawrence Quotation: "She folded her wrap round her, and hurried forward with short, sharp steps." - D.H. Lawrence in Aaron's Rod.

Edgar Rice Burroughs Quotation: "The panglima Ninaka of the Signana Dyaks who manned Muda Saffir's war prahu saw his chief disappear beneath the swift waters of the river, but the word of command that would have sent the boat hurriedly back to pick up the swimmer was not given." - Edgar Rice Burroughs in The Monster Men.

Edgar Rice Burroughs Quotation: "As soon as it was light enough to see their surroundings Lieutenant Charpentier sent men in groups of three in several directions to locate the trail, and in ten minutes it was found and the expedition was hurrying back toward the beach." - Edgar Rice Burroughs in Tarzan of the Apes.

Edgar Rice Burroughs Quotation: "Esmeralda had removed her red apron and was waving it frantically above her head; but Clayton, still fearing that even this might not be seen, hurried off toward the northern point where lay his signal pyre ready for the match." - Edgar Rice Burroughs in Tarzan of the Apes.

Edgar Rice Burroughs Quotation: "Close in she came, for the sea was calm and the water deep, and when Billy was sure that those on board saw him and his frantic waving, he hurried, stumbling and falling, down the steep face of the cliff to the tiny beach at its foot." - Edgar Rice Burroughs in The Mucker.

Edgar Rice Burroughs Quotation: "For half an hour the weird dance went on, until, at a sign from Kerchak, the noise of the drums ceased, the female drummers scampering hurriedly through the line of dancers toward the outer rim of squatting spectators." - Edgar Rice Burroughs in Tarzan of the Apes.

Edison: Publisher of "Hurry up those wedding bells (sound recording)." Publisher: Edison (Orange, N.J.). Published in 1912.

Eliza Lee Follen Quotation: "The unhappy father hurried down the mountain to his little boy; but, from fright and from the utter darkness, lost the way." - Eliza Lee Follen in True Stories About Dogs and Cats.

Eliza Lee Follen Quotation: "She hurried on her father." - Eliza Lee Follen in Two Festivals.

Fenwick, Edwin Hurry: Author of "Obscure diseases of the urethra, with special chapters on urethral carcinoma and calculus by J.W.T. Walker." Published in 1912.

Fergus Hume Quotation: "He arrived a few minutes before it started, so, getting into the smoking carriage at the near end of the platform, he lit a cigarette, and, leaning back in his seat, watched the late comers hurrying into the station." - Fergus Hume in The Mystery of a Hansom Cab.

Fergus Hume Quotation: "As the gentleman at the door, who was none other than Mr. Gorby, did not hear her, he of course did not reply, so she hurried down the stairs, crackling with anger at the rough usage her bell had received." - Fergus Hume in The Mystery of a Hansom Cab.

Fergus Hume Quotation: "The rest sat waiting his return, and chatted about the curious end of the hansom cab mystery, when, in about ten minutes, Calton rushed in hurriedly and closed the door after him quickly." - Fergus Hume in The Mystery of a Hansom Cab.

Fergus Hume Quotation: "But they, already attracted by Madge's wild cry, came hurrying in, to find Mark Frettlby, the millionaire, lying dead, and his daughter in a faint beside her father's corpse." - Fergus Hume in The Mystery of a Hansom Cab.

Fergus Hume Quotation: "However, after she had purchased a dozen or more articles she did not want, Madge remembered that Brian was waiting for her, and hurried to the door." - Fergus Hume in The Mystery of a Hansom Cab.

George Barr McCutcheon Quotation: "I say, waiter, can't you hurry the fish along?" - George Barr McCutcheon in The Prince of Graustark.

George Barr McCutcheon Quotation: "What's taking you off in such a hurry?" - George Barr McCutcheon in The Prince of Graustark.

Geraldus Cambrensis Quotation: "Gerald hurried to see him, but John point blank refused publicly to ratify his consent to the nomination which he had already given in private." - Geraldus Cambrensis in The Itinerary of Archibishop Baldwin through Wales.

Grace S. Richmond Quotation: "What's your everlasting hurry, Red?" - Grace S. Richmond in Red Pepper Burns.

Hugh Walpole Quotation: "The door was very softly and slowly opened, and a little woman came hurrying in. She had white hair, and glasses were dangling on the end of her nose, and she wore a very old and shabby black silk dress." - Hugh Walpole in Fortitude.

Hugh Walpole Quotation: "There had been hurried holidays that had been spent in recovering from and preparing for the term and the House had scarcely, and only very quietly, raised its head to disturb him." - Hugh Walpole in Fortitude.

Hugh Walpole Quotation: "He appeared suddenly at the most surprising moments, smiling and cheerful as ever and with no sign of hurry about him." - Hugh Walpole in Fortitude.

Hugh Walpole Quotation: "Poor Peter was moved by so many things that he could only gulp the tears back and hurry home." - Hugh Walpole in Fortitude.

Hugh Walpole Quotation: "Peter, furiously excited, hurried through the grimy deserts of Bloomsbury, to Brockett's." - Hugh Walpole in Fortitude.

Jack London Quotation: "I tried to cheer him up, but he ignored my effort and suddenly began talking very hurriedly, in a low voice, as we passed through the station." - Jack London in The Iron Heel.

Jack London Quotation: "In the intervals we could hear the soldiers talking and swearing as they rummaged among the carcasses, urged on by their officers to hurry up." - Jack London in The Iron Heel.

Jack London Quotation: "But the haunting familiarity of those shoulders and that silver hair!

Again I hurried on." - Jack London in The Iron Heel.

Jack London Quotation: "Instead of crossing the street, I hurried after the man." - Jack London in The Iron Heel.

Jack London Quotation: "There is hurrying and skurrying." - Jack London in War of the Classes.

Jean Henri Fabre Quotation: "Next, the Epeira, no matter which, young or old, hurriedly flings herself upon the little central cushion, pulls it out and rolls it into a ball which I expected to see thrown away." - Jean Henri Fabre in The Life of the Spider.

Jean Henri Fabre Quotation: "The latter, on her side, either does not budge from her day shelter in the foliage, or else rushes back to it, after taking a hurried glance at the stranger." - Jean Henri Fabre in The Life of the Spider.

Jean Henri Fabre Quotation: "Impetuously she scales the wire trellis of the cage where she was born; hurriedly she clambers to the top of the tall mast which I have prepared for her." - Jean Henri Fabre in The Life of the Spider.

Jean Henri Fabre Quotation: "Now that the breach is made, any one can go out who pleases, in his own good time, without hurrying." - Jean Henri Fabre in The Life of the Spider.

Jean Henri Fabre Quotation: "The other lifts a limb and the scared visitor hurries down again." - Jean Henri Fabre in The Life of the Spider.

Jean Webster Quotation: "The Trustees and the visiting committee had made their rounds, and read their reports, and drunk their tea, and now were hurrying home to their own cheerful firesides, to forget their bothersome little charges for another month." - Jean Webster in Daddy-Long-Legs.

Jean Webster Quotation: "She had been on her feet since five that morning, doing everybody's bidding, scolded and hurried by a nervous matron." - Jean Webster in Daddy-Long-Legs.

Jeffrey Farnol Quotation: "When I again looked up, the three figures had vanished where the path took a sharp bend round a clump of pollard oaks, and, determined not to lose them, I hurried my steps; but when I, in turn, rounded the corner, not a soul was in sight." - Jeffrey Farnol in The Broad Highway.

Jeffrey Farnol Quotation: "Sir Richard sprang forward, and, catching me in a powerful hand, half led, half dragged me behind a tall leather screen beside the hearth, and thrusting me into a chair, turned and hurried to meet the intruders." - Jeffrey Farnol in The Broad Highway.

Jeffrey Farnol Quotation: "Heedless of my direction, I hurried away, yet, ever when I had left it far behind, I glanced back more than once ere its towering branches were lost to my view." - Jeffrey Farnol in The Broad Highway.

Jeffrey Farnol Quotation: "Then, glancing hurriedly down, I saw that the locket had slipped forward through the bosom of my shirt, and hung in plain view." - Jeffrey Farnol in The Broad Highway.

Jeffrey Farnol Quotation: "Wherefore I hurried towards him, all unnoticed, for his eyes were raised to a certain latticed casement of the inn." - Jeffrey Farnol in The Broad Highway.

Lola Ridge Quotation: "I hurriedly sweep aside The cities that clutter our path." - Lola Ridge in The Ghetto and Other Poems.

Lola Ridge Quotation: "Centipedes do not hurry." - Lola Ridge in Sun-Up and Other Poems.

Montgomery, Lucy Maud: Born in 1874 and died in 1942, authored "Chronicles of Avonlea; in which Anne Shirley of Green Gables and Avonlea plays some part, and which have to do with other personalities and events, including The hurrying of Ludovic, Old Lady Lloyd, The training of Felix, Little Joscelyn, The winning of Lucinda, Old Man Shaw's girl, Aunt Olivia's beau, The quarantine of Alexander Abraham's, Pa Sloane's purchase, The courting of Prissy Strong, The miracle at Carmody, and finally The end of a quarrel." All related by L. M. Montgomery; with frontispiece and cover in colour by George Gibbs. Publisher: L. C. Page (Boston). Published in 1912.

Movie Release: The movie "Wanted a Wife in a Hurry" is released.

Nellie L. McClung Quotation: "Camilla came out of the pantry and gazed at Danny with sparkling eyes, while Pearlie, on the verge of tears, vainly tried to awaken in him some sense of the shame he was bringing on her. Camilla hurried to the pantry again, and brought another cookie." - Nellie L. McClung in Sowing Seeds in Danny.

Nellie L. McClung Quotation: "I'll tell you what Mary, hurry up wid that sock o' Ted's and we'll draw them on him over Bugsey's boots and purtind they're overstockin's, and I'll carry him all the way so's not to dirty them." - Nellie L. McClung in Sowing Seeds in Danny.

Nellie L. McClung Quotation: "I put yours outside to air. It had a queer smell on it I thought, and now hurry, Tom. Bring Dr. Barner. I think he's the best for a serious case." - Nellie L. McClung in Sowing Seeds in Danny.

Nellie L. McClung Quotation: "She took out the first letter slowly, then hurriedly put it back again in the envelope and looked guiltily around the room." - Nellie L. McClung in Sowing Seeds in Danny.

Nellie L. McClung Quotation: "She hurried past them, fearing that she would be seen, but looking back the little poppy was still nodding and pleading." - Nellie L. McClung in Sowing Seeds in Danny.

Rafael Sabatini Quotation: "At first there had been a desperately hurried attempt to get up the anchor; but this was abandoned as being already too late; and conceiving themselves on the point of being boarded, the Spaniards stood to arms to ward off the onslaught." - Rafael Sabatini in Captain Blood.

Rafael Sabatini Quotation: "The precincts of that house of commerce were jealously kept by a line of ushers armed with staves, a guard as hurriedly assembled by the merchants as it was evidently necessary." - Rafael Sabatini in Scaramouche.

Rafael Sabatini Quotation: "She saw the faint raising of his dark eyebrows, the faintly regretful smile that scarcely did more than tinge his fine lips, and she hurried on." - Rafael Sabatini in Scaramouche.

Rafael Sabatini Quotation: "Thither in his wake the members of that chamber came hurrying, summoned by the messages that Le Chapelier had issued during their progress." - Rafael Sabatini in Scaramouche.

Rafael Sabatini Quotation: "In his cabin on the starboard side Lord Julian, disturbed by the same sounds, was already astir and hurriedly dressing." - Rafael Sabatini in Captain Blood.

Victor MacClure Quotation: "It was already known that she had refused the autopsy suggested by the two doctors, and it was stated that she had hurried on the burial." - Victor MacClure in She Stands Accused.

Victor MacClure Quotation: "Jean herself was in no mind to be hurried to the scaffold as early as her relatives would have had her conveyed." - Victor MacClure in She Stands Accused.

Walter Dill Scott Quotation: "No man can do his best when he is hurried and fearful, when he is expending energy in a manner as useless as a tug blowing off steam." - Walter Dill Scott in Increasing Efficiency In Business.

Walter Dill Scott Quotation: "Great speed of thought and action must not be confused with hurried thought and action." - Walter Dill Scott in Increasing Efficiency In Business.

Walter Dill Scott Quotation: "Speed which is habitual is never hurried." - Walter Dill Scott in Increasing Efficiency In Business.

William MacLeod Raine Quotation: "Meanwhile, he was horrified to learn that Dave Henderson, following hard on his trail, had been found bending over the spot where the dead soldier lay, had been arrested by a body of Rurales, tried hurriedly, and convicted to life imprisonment." - William MacLeod Raine in Bucky O'Connor.

William MacLeod Raine Quotation: "If his steely blue eyes had released for one moment the wolfish ones of the villain, if he had hesitated or hurried, he would have been shot through the head." - William MacLeod Raine in Bucky O'Connor.

William MacLeod Raine Quotation: "Chaves cast a hurried eye down the car, and at the end of it beheld the huge Irishman, O'Halloran, dominating the situation with a pair of revolvers." - William MacLeod Raine in Bucky O'Connor.

William MacLeod Raine Quotation: "The strange thing about the story is that my false friend, in the hurry of his flight, forgot to take his section of the map with him." - William MacLeod Raine in Bucky O'Connor.

William MacLeod Raine Quotation: "His desire marched with that of Chaves so far, and the latter could not hurry him there too fast to suit him." - William MacLeod Raine in Bucky O'Connor.

Yates, Katherine M.: Author of "Along the trail: in which Marjorie finds that everyone does not hurry past the rough places on the trail, and why." By Katherine M. Yates author of At the door, What the pine tree heard, On the way there, Chet, etc. Publisher: Harmony Shop (Boston). Published in 1912.

1913

A. Merritt Quotation: "Hardly had I reached it before Rador came hurrying up, in his manner a curious exultance mingled with what in anyone else I would have called a decided nervousness." - A. Merritt in The Moon Pool.

A. Merritt Quotation: "The green dwarf hurried us up a flight of broad steps flanked by great carved serpents, winged and scaled." - A. Merritt in The Moon Pool.

A. Merritt Quotation: "Doubt and disbelief were plain in the seaman's eyes but I hurried on." - A. Merritt in The Moon Pool.

A. Merritt Quotation: "She turned, half hurriedly, as though to escape his gaze." - A. Merritt in The Moon Pool.

A. Merritt Quotation: "I hurried to their side." - A. Merritt in The Moon Pool.

Anderson Galleries, Inc: Publication of "New York Views, property of Renwick C. Hurry & John S. Pierson, etc. 1913/2/20-21." Published in 1913.

Burgess, Gelett: Born in 1866 and died in 1951, authored "Love in a hurry." By Gelett Burgess illustrated by R. M. Brinkerhoff. Publisher: The Bobbs-Merrill Company, (Indianapolis). Published in 1913.

Carl Lumholtz Quotation: "Why do you hurry so?" - Carl Lumholtz in Through Central Borneo.

Francis Lynde Quotation: "Two men, one smoking a short pipe and the other snapping the ash from a scented cigarette, stood aloof from the hurrying throngs on the platform, looking on with the measured interest of those who are in a melee but not of it." - Francis Lynde in A Fool For Love.

Francis Lynde Quotation: "There had been another, addressed to Mr. Somerville Darrah; and when he had opened it there had been a volcanic explosion and a hurried dash for the telegraph office, as recorded." - Francis Lynde in A Fool For Love.

Goodeve, Henry Hurry: Author of "Birch's management and medical treatment of children in India. (Hints on the management of children in India. 1913)." Published in 1913.

H.G. Wells Quotation: "For provision on the walk, for he did not want to hurry, he carried with him a pocketful of bread and cheese." - H.G. Wells in The World Set Free.

Hurry, Jamieson Boyd: Born in 1857 and died in 1930, authored "The ideals and organization of a medical society." By Jamieson B. Hurry. (organization of a medical society) (The organization of a medical society.). Publisher: J. & A. Churchill (London). Published in 1913.

Jack London Quotation: "The women at the boards near to her scrambled, first, to the hot iron to save the cloth, and then to her, while the forewoman hurried belligerently down the aisle." - Jack London in The Valley of the Moon.

Jack London Quotation: "Martin Eden's head was in a state of addlement when he went away after several hours, and he hurried to the library to look up the definitions of a dozen unusual words." - Jack London in Martin Eden.

Jack London Quotation: "They ate hurriedly and gloomily, with but little conversation, and as Martin ate and listened he realized how far he had travelled from their status." - Jack London in Martin Eden.

Jack London Quotation: "We're not in a hurry, and we don't care whether school keeps or not." - Jack London in The Valley of the Moon.

Jack London Quotation: "Maria hurried into the room from the kitchen." - Jack London in Martin Eden.

John Galsworthy Quotation: "When she was once more in the garden, she hurried away; but instead of crossing the fields again, turned past the side of the cottage into the coppice behind." - John Galsworthy in Beyond.

John Galsworthy Quotation: "I did not hurry away, but lingered in the courts, fascinated by the notion that the fate of each prisoner had first passed through my hands." - John Galsworthy in The Complete Essays.

John Galsworthy Quotation: "Whichever of these courses we pursue, the hurry with which we pursue it undoes us." - John Galsworthy in The Complete Essays.

John Galsworthy Quotation: "Hurrying across the room he had the absurd feeling that she was standing at bay." - John Galsworthy in Beyond.

John Galsworthy Quotation: "No answer! And he hurried away out of the coppice, past the pond, up the hill." - John Galsworthy in To Let.

Kingsley, Florence Morse: Author of "Hurrying Fate and Geraldine." Published in 1913.

Louis Ginzberg Quotation: "One day he appeared at break of dawn at the house of Dathan, roused him from his sleep, and ordered him to hurry his detachment of men to their work." - Louis Ginzberg in The Legends of the Jews, vol 2.

Movie Release: The movie "Hawkeye Has to Hurry" is released.

Rex Beach Quotation: "And they were sad, these two, for their love was deeper than comes to other people, and they knew this was farewell; so they remained thus side by side, two dumb, sorrowful men, until they were addressed by a person who hurried from the town." - Rex Beach in The Barrier.

Rex Beach Quotation: "He was hurrying a bit, apparently to be rid of the mosquitoes that swarmed about him; and she marked that, in addition to whipping himself with a handful of blueberry bushes, he wore Runnion's coat to protect his shoulders." - Rex Beach in The Barrier.

Rex Beach Quotation: "Taking the package to the table, she hurriedly untied the knots while he stood watching her, his teeth showing white against his dark face, and his eyes half shut as if dazzled by the sight of her." - Rex Beach in The Barrier.

Rex Beach Quotation: "During the afternoon and evening other financiers, summoned hurriedly from New England shores and Adirondack camps, were busied in preparations for the struggle they expected on the morrow." - Rex Beach in The Auction Block.

Rex Beach Quotation: "A morbid desire was upon her to track down this intangible racial distinction, but she saw Runnion, whom she could not bear, coming towards them, so thanked Stark hurriedly and went on her way." - Rex Beach in The Barrier.

Saki (H.H. Munro) Quotation: "When once you've seen your features hurriedly reproduced in the Matin, for instance, you feel you would like to be a veiled Turkish woman for the rest of your life." - Saki (H.H. Munro) in The Unbearable Bassington.

Saki (H.H. Munro) Quotation: "She had met him in the hall at eleven o'clock, and he had hurried past her, merely imparting the information that he would not be in till dinner that evening." - Saki (H.H. Munro) in The Unbearable Bassington.

Saki (H.H. Munro) Quotation: "Hurriedly she crushed the piece of paper out of sight; he would have to be told, of course, but just yet her pain seemed too dreadful to be laid bare." - Saki (H.H. Munro) in The Unbearable Bassington.

Saki (H.H. Munro) Quotation: "Then Molly spoke again, with the swift nervous tone of a general who is hurriedly altering the disposition of his forces for a strategic retreat." - Saki (H.H. Munro) in The Unbearable Bassington.

Saki (H.H. Munro) Quotation: "Elaine de Frey and her fortune might have been the making of Comus, but he had hurried in as usual to effect his own undoing." - Saki (H.H. Munro) in The Unbearable Bassington.

Vachel Lindsay Quotation: "Hurried is their harvest, They make soft peace with men." - Vachel Lindsay in General Booth, Other Poems.

1914

Albert Keim and Louis Lumet Quotation: "Victor Hugo was notified and hurried to his bedside." - Albert Keim and Louis Lumet in Honore de Balzac.

Alice Meynell Quotation: "I have known some grim bells, with not a single joyous note in the whole peal, so forced to hurry for a human festival, with their harshness made light of, as though the Bishop of Hereford had again been forced to dance in his boots by a merry highwayman." - Alice Meynell in Essays.

Alice Meynell Quotation: "The masters of fine manners, moreover, seem to be always aware of the beauty that comes of pausing slightly upon the smaller and slighter actions, such as meaner men are apt to hurry out of the way." - Alice Meynell in Essays.

Alice Meynell Quotation: "There is no innocent sleep so innocent as sleep shared between a woman and a child, the little breath hurrying beside the longer, as a child's foot runs." - Alice Meynell in Essays.

Alice Meynell Quotation: "See, moreover, how the fashion of hurrying childhood prevailed in literature, and how it abolished little girls." - Alice Meynell in Essays.

E.R. Punshon Quotation: "But concerning Ella's position doubt would insist on intruding, till at last he decided that the very moment the Brook Bourne Spring business was satisfactorily finished with he would hurry at his best speed to Bittermeads and make sure of her safety." - E.R. Punshon in The Bittermeads Mystery.

E.R. Punshon Quotation: "The boy, having told his story, hurried off to spread the news elsewhere to more appreciative ears, for, he thought disgustedly, it might have been just nothing at all for all the interest the gardener at Bittermeads had shown." - E.R. Punshon in The Bittermeads Mystery.

E.R. Punshon Quotation: "The picture was one of gentleness and peace and an innocence that thought no wrong, and yet with his own eyes he had seen her not an hour ago fleeing with hurried steps and fearful looks from the spot where lay a murdered man." - E.R. Punshon in The Bittermeads Mystery.

E.R. Punshon Quotation: "Hurriedly he freed her from her bonds and from the handkerchief that was tied over her mouth and holding her in his arms like a child, pressing her close to his heart, he carried her lightly out of that dreadful room." - E.R. Punshon in The Bittermeads Mystery.

E.R. Punshon Quotation: "Physically, he was greatly exhausted and his gait was not so steady nor his progress so silent and skillful as it had been before, as now he hurried away from the scene of the combat." - E.R. Punshon in The Bittermeads Mystery.

Edgar Lee Masters Quotation: "And afterward laughing and talking Hurried to Van Dreezer's restaurant For breakfast." - Edgar Lee Masters in Toward the Gulf.

H.E. Butler Quotation: "Parthenopaeus, however, is a pathetic figure; he is an Arcadian, the son of Atalanta, a mere boy whom a romantic ambition has hurried into war ere his years were ripe for it." - H.E. Butler in Post-Augustan Poetry (From Seneca to Juvenal).

HURRY, Jamieson Boyd: Author of "The Marriage of John of Gaunt and Blanche of Lancaster at Reading Abbey. With frontispiece." Publisher: E. Poynder & Son (Reading). Published in 1914.

Jack London Quotation: "Slack water had come, and, as the ebb was commencing, there was need for hurry if we cared to escape waiting half a day for the next tide." - Jack London in Tales of the Fish Patrol.

Jack London Quotation: "But it was only a feint, cleverly executed, and he held back to his course while I hurried to make up lost ground." - Jack London in Tales of the Fish Patrol.

Jack London Quotation: "It was Saturday, and Charley had need to hurry." - Jack London in Tales of the Fish Patrol.

Jack London Quotation: "But I was in no hurry." - Jack London in Tales of the Fish Patrol.

John Buchan Quotation: "Now hurry in a job of this kind was abhorrent to Peter's soul, for, like all Boers, his tastes were for slowness and sureness, though he could hustle fast enough when haste was needed." - John Buchan in Greenmantle.

John Buchan Quotation: "Dickson's ears were alert for the noise of shots or the dull crash of bombs; hearing nothing, he feared the worst, and hurried Mrs. Morran at a pace which endangered her life." - John Buchan in Huntingtower.

John Buchan Quotation: "He seemed to be in a greater hurry than ever as he locked the garden door behind him and hobbled along the west front of the House till he was lost to sight." - John Buchan in Huntingtower.

1914

John Buchan Quotation: "He was pretty certain you'd get here, but he was also certain that you'd arrive in a hurry with a good many inquirers behind you." - John Buchan in Greenmantle.

John Buchan Quotation: "That wasn't the direction I wanted, so I bore off at right angles, and presently struck another road which I crossed in a hurry." - John Buchan in Greenmantle.

Joseph Conrad Quotation: "I expressed no regret at missing Captain Anthony and we proceeded in silence till, on approaching the holiday cottage, Fyne suddenly and unexpectedly broke it by the hurried declaration that he would go on with me a little farther." - Joseph Conrad in Chance - A Tale in Two Parts.

Joseph Conrad Quotation: "The intelligent girl, without staying to ask questions, walked away from me quietly down one street while I hurried on to meet Fyne coming up the other at his efficient pedestrian gait." - Joseph Conrad in Chance - A Tale in Two Parts.

Joseph Conrad Quotation: "She didn't look at anything; and she seemed to be in such a hurry to get ashore that she made for the gangway and started down the ladder without waiting for the captain." - Joseph Conrad in Chance - A Tale in Two Parts.

Joseph Conrad Quotation: "He walked away rapidly like a man hurrying to catch a train, glancing from side to side as though he were carrying something off." - Joseph Conrad in Chance - A Tale in Two Parts.

Joseph Conrad Quotation: "Captain Anthony, walking with a springy hurried gait on the other side of the poop from end to end, gazed straight before him." - Joseph Conrad in Chance - A Tale in Two Parts.

Kingston, William Henry Giles: Publication of "Hurricane Hurry. New edition, etc." Published in 1914.

Lee, Gerald Stanley: Born in 1862 and died in 1944, authored "Crowds jr.; a little introductory run through "Crowds," by Gerald Stanley Lee. Mostly little things for men in a hurry, selected from the larger book and arranged by the author." Publisher: Doubleday, Page & Co (Garden City, N.Y.). Published in 1914.

Lorensen, Charles: Author of "Courtships in the air, or, The strange adventures of Hurry Harry: being a romance in two parts." Written by himself and now set forth by Charles Lorensen. Publisher: Broadway Pub. Co (New York). Published in 1914.

Max Beerbohm Quotation: "The forces of reaction against the forces of progress! Very well! The councillors hurriedly decided that the best available site, on the whole, was that strip of waste ground where the fishermen sat pottering." - Max Beerbohm in And Even Now.

Royal fusiliers 18/21st batt: Publication of "The Pow-wow. Ed., C. Hurry. (Pow-wow)." Published in 1914.

Rupert Hughes Quotation: "I suppose I've got to take it furnished, being in such a hurry; or could you get a gang of decorators in and do a rush job?" - Rupert Hughes in We Can't Have Everything.

Rupert Hughes Quotation: "To the clandestine all things are clandestine! What if he were hurrying away to meet Charity?" - Rupert Hughes in We Can't Have Everything.

Samuel Hopkins Adams Quotation: "Does that signal mean hurry up?" - Samuel Hopkins Adams in The Unspeakable Perk.

Tingfang Quotation: "Everyone is urged on by this spirit of haste, and you frequently hear of sudden deaths which doctors attribute to heart failure, or some other malady, but which I suspect are caused by the continual restless hurry and worry." - Tingfang in America as Seen by an Oriental Diplomat.

Tingfang Quotation: "Because of their eagerness to become rich as soon as possible they are all in a constant hurry." - Tingfang in America as Seen by an Oriental Diplomat.

Valentine Williams Quotation: "What sent you away in such a hurry this afternoon?" - Valentine Williams in Okewood of the Secret Service.

Victor LeFebure Quotation: "These latter were hurriedly improvised after the first Ypres attack." - Victor LeFebure in The Riddle of the Rhine: Chemical Strategy in Peace and War.

1915

Allen, Andrew: Died in 1950, authored "Hurry along down in dear old Dixie!." Written and composed by Andrew Allen; sung by J.H. Wakefield. (I have struck the big surprise of my life) (Hurry along down to dear old Dixie). Publisher: Francis, Day & Hunter (London). Published in 1915.

Charles Goddard Quotation: "You'll hurry, won't you, Curt?" - Charles Goddard in The Perils of Pauline.

De La F, E. J.: Publication of "Five Songs. Words & music by E. J. de la F. 1. The Hurrying feet. 2. A Spring song. 3. A Scamp without grace. 4. The Lady of Joy. 5. A Cradle song." Publisher: Weekes & Co (London). Published in 1915.

Ethel Turner Quotation: "Bunty sped across the paddock on winged feet; the sight of his father near the stables gave him a momentary shock, and brought his own trouble to mind, but he shook it off again and hurried on." - Ethel Turner in Seven Little Australians.

Ethel Turner Quotation: "In terror at what he had done, he slipped the cricket ball into the front of his sailor jacket, and, falling hurriedly upon his knees, began playing an absorbing game of marbles." - Ethel Turner in Seven Little Australians.

Ethel Turner Quotation: "But that brought, half a dozen great heavy drop hurrying down from beneath the closed lashes, and the girl turned over and lay face downwards to hide them." - Ethel Turner in Seven Little Australians.

Ethel Turner Quotation: "Meg, white as death, picked her up and hurriedly began telling her the story of the three bears for comfort." - Ethel Turner in Seven Little Australians.

Ethel Turner Quotation: "Presently Judy stood still in a hurry; there was a tick working its slow way into her wrist." - Ethel Turner in Seven Little Australians.

H. Stanley Redgrove Quotation: "He may feel that I have lingered too long in some byways and hurried too rapidly through others, taking, as it were, but a general view of the road in the latter case, whilst examining everything that could be seen in the former with, perhaps, undue care." - H. Stanley Redgrove in Bygone Beliefs.

Hurry, Jamieson Boyd: Born in 1857 and died in 1930, authored "The vicious circles of neurasthenia and their treatment, by Jamieson B. Hurry with illustrations." Published in 1915.

Jack London Quotation: "Laban was for trying a long shot at him, but father stopped him, saying that it was evident the whites had not made up their minds what they were going to do with us, and that a shot at Lee might hurry them into making up their minds the wrong way." - Jack London in The Jacket (Star-Rover).

Jack London Quotation: "He said Major Higbee had sent him to tell us to hurry up, because the Indians might attack at any moment." - Jack London in The Jacket (Star-Rover).

Jack London Quotation: "When they commanded him to go, he went away hurriedly." - Jack London in White Fang.

Langey, Otto: Born in 1851 and died in 1922, authored "Hurry (music): no. 1: for general use." Publisher: Schirmer (New York). Published in 1915.

Publication: Publication of the image "Village constable (to the vicar, who has been hurrying to fetch fire engine). 'So your 'ouse is afire, is it?… 'Ow 'm I to know you bain't signallin' to Germany?'." Published in 1915.

Susan Glaspell Quotation: "She dressed hurriedly, humming a little song they had heard often in Paris." - Susan Glaspell in The Glory of the Conquered (The Story of a Great Love).

Susan Glaspell Quotation: "The postman was at the door now, and she hurried to meet him." - Susan Glaspell in The Glory of the Conquered (The Story of a Great Love).

Susan Glaspell Quotation: "If only the train would hurry! There was smoke off there." - Susan Glaspell in The Glory of the Conquered (The Story of a Great Love).

Susan Glaspell Quotation: "Would he hurry very fast?" - Susan Glaspell in The Glory of the Conquered (The Story of a Great Love).

Susan Glaspell Quotation: "I'll hurry." - Susan

Glaspell in The Glory of the Conquered (The Story of a Great Love).

W.E.B. Du Bois Quotation: "The notion suddenly seized him to see where the world was going; since many of the richer and brighter seemed hurrying all one way." - W.E.B. Du Bois in The Souls of Black Folk.

W.E.B. Du Bois Quotation: "Just then his eye caught a tall, willowy figure hurrying toward him on the narrow path." - W.E.B. Du Bois in The Souls of Black Folk.

W.E.B. Du Bois Quotation: "Hark! was it music, or the hurry and shouting of men?" - W.E.B. Du Bois in The Souls of Black Folk.

William Henry Hudson Quotation: "I started up and began hurriedly walking homewards, thinking of Rima, and was consumed with impatience to see her; and as I drew near to the house, walking along a narrow path which I knew, I suddenly met her face to face." - William Henry Hudson in Green Mansions, A Romance of the Tropical Forest.

William Henry Hudson Quotation: "I did not approach the house on the side of the door, yet by some means those within became aware of my presence, for out they came in a great hurry, Rima leading the way, Nuflo behind her, waving his arms and shouting." - William Henry Hudson in Green Mansions, A Romance of the Tropical Forest.

1916

B.L. Putnam Weale Quotation: "Thus in this particular case, instead of at once hurrying to Chengchiatun some of the many foreign advisers who sit kicking their heels in Peking from one end of the year to the other and who number competent jurisconsults, China did next to nothing." - B.L. Putnam Weale in The Fight For The Republic In China.

B.L. Putnam Weale Quotation: "The laying of a great foundation is, however, a thing of paramount importance and it must not be done in a hurry." - B.L. Putnam Weale in The Fight For The Republic In China.

Godmunder Kamban Quotation: "I thought you understood, and your hurried glance reached me only after the fear of seeing the answer in it." - Godmunder Kamban in Hadda Pada.

Henry James Quotation: "There was no hurry, Corvick said the future was before them and the fascination could only grow; they would take him page by page, as they would take one of the classics, inhale him in slow draughts and let him sink all the way in." - Henry James in The Figure in the Carpet.

Henry James Quotation: "He had thrown up his commission, he had thrown up his book, he had thrown up everything but the instant need to hurry to Rapallo, on the Genoese shore, where Vereker was making a stay." - Henry James in The Figure in the Carpet.

Henry James Quotation: "He doesn't quite know, naturally, what has happened, but guesses, with his beautiful cleverness, that something has, and isn't in a hurry to be confronted with it." - Henry James in The Golden Bowl, vol 2.

Henry James Quotation: "Her strength had failed, and as soon as I reached London I hurried down to Folkestone, arriving just at the moment to offer a welcome to some slight symptom of a rally." - Henry James in Glasses.

Hugh Lofting Quotation: "In a few hurried words and signs the Doctor told the bulls what he was going to do and gave them careful instructions for their part of the show." - Hugh Lofting in The Voyages of Doctor Dolittle.

Hugh Lofting Quotation: "She said that she must hurry back at once to a warmer climate; and that she would visit the Doctor in Puddleby next August as usual." - Hugh Lofting in The Voyages of Doctor Dolittle.

Hugh Lofting Quotation: "He nearly fell down a precipice on to the rocks below in his wild hurry, but that didn't bother him in the least." - Hugh Lofting in The Voyages of Doctor Dolittle.

Hugh Lofting Quotation: "Polynesia plucked at my stocking and, in an impatient whisper, bade me hurry before our flight be discovered." - Hugh Lofting in The Voyages of Doctor Dolittle.

Hugh Lofting Quotation: "There were two reasons why we stayed there so long when we were really in such a hurry to get away." - Hugh Lofting in The Voyages of Doctor Dolittle.

James Stephens Quotation: "When they topped a slight incline they saw a light shining some distance away, and toward this the Thin Woman hurried." - James Stephens in The Crock of Gold.

Jerome, Louis: Author of "My little Surrey home." Written by George Arthurs; composed by Louis Jerome. (I've got a little home) (I want to go in a hurry to somewhere in Surrey). Publisher: Francis, Day & Hunter (London). Published in 1916.

Margaret Mayo Quotation: "For the want of adequate words to express his further feelings, Jimmy was beginning to jibber, when the outer door was heard to close, and he turned to behold Aggie entering hurriedly with something partly concealed by her long cape." - Margaret Mayo in Baby Mine.

Margaret Mayo Quotation: "But it was not the responsibility of this business decision that was knotting Alfred's brow, as he walked hurriedly toward the hotel, where he had told his office boy to leave the last mail." - Margaret Mayo in Baby Mine.

Margaret Mayo Quotation: "Turning away from Aggie with an impatient exclamation, Zoie suddenly beheld what seemed to her a large pink monster with protruding claws wriggling its way hurriedly toward the inner room." - Margaret Mayo in Baby Mine.

Margaret Mayo Quotation: "Stopping suddenly in the middle of a letter to a competing firm, he began pacing hurriedly up and down the room." - Margaret Mayo in Baby Mine.

Margaret Mayo Quotation: "Hurry back, won't you, Jim?" - Margaret Mayo in Polly of the Circus.

Movie Release: The movie "A Wife in a Hurry" is released.

Robert M. Yerkes Quotation: "At any point in its progress through a labyrinth, the dancer may suddenly stop to wash its face, look about or otherwise examine its surroundings; if a shock be given to hurry it along it may be surprised into an error." - Robert M. Yerkes in The Dancing Mouse.

Sanderson, Wilfred: Author of "Don't hurry: song (music)." The words by Ada Leonora Harris; the music by Wilfrid Sanderson. Publisher: Boosey & Co (London). Published in 1916.

1917

Arnold, Morris LeRoy: Author of "Hurry, hurry, hurry; a comedy in three acts." Published in 1917.

Boris Pilniak (Boris Andreievich Vogau) Quotation: "Agrenev walked along, carrying a lantern, by the light of which he mechanically picked his steps; close to his heels, Nina hurried through the darkness and puddles." - Boris Pilniak (Boris Andreievich Vogau) in Tales of the Wilderness.

Boris Pilniak (Boris Andreievich Vogau) Quotation: "New people congregated there, some shouting, others hurrying to and fro with sacks." - Boris Pilniak (Boris Andreievich Vogau) in Tales of the Wilderness.

Edmund Lester Pearson Quotation: "An hour or two later it was President Taft who drove back to the White House, while Mr. Roosevelt, once more a private citizen, was hurrying to his home in Oyster Bay, to get ready for his hunting trip to Africa." - Edmund Lester Pearson in Theodore Roosevelt.

Edmund Lester Pearson Quotation: "He hurried away, but returned in about a day and a half, still out of breath." - Edmund Lester Pearson in Theodore Roosevelt.

Erskine Childers Quotation: "Is there the ghost of a doubt that if war broke out there'd be wild appeals for volunteers, aimless cadging, hurry, confusion, waste?" - Erskine Childers in Riddle of the Sands.

Frances J. Olcott Quotation: "Drawing his sword the lad hurried to Shippeitaro's side, and what with Shippeitaro's teeth and the lad's hard blows, in an instant the great Tomcat was torn and cut into pieces." - Frances J. Olcott in Good Stories for Holidays.

Frances J. Olcott Quotation: "They imagined they were approaching the cataracts of the ocean, and that they were being hurried toward the abysses into which the deluge had poured its world of waters." - Frances J. Olcott in Good Stories for Holidays.

Frances J. Olcott Quotation: "Taking Shippeitaro with him, he hurried to the peasant's cottage, and, when evening was come, he placed the dog in the cage which was to have carried the maiden." - Frances J. Olcott in Good Stories for Holidays.

Frances J. Olcott Quotation: "As the Confederates were retreating they met Nathan Cunningham, his canteens full of water, hurrying to relieve the thirst of the wounded men in the trenches." - Frances J. Olcott in Good Stories for Holidays.

Frances J. Olcott Quotation: "In the middle of the night the admiral had sent to the British soldiers this message, ``I can do nothing more," and they hurried on board the vessels." - Frances J. Olcott in Good Stories for Holidays.

H.R. Garis Quotation: "So Jan and Ted looked all around the spring, and at last Ted found a place where it seemed as if some one had run through in a hurry, for twigs were broken off the bushes, and, by looking down at the ground, he saw the marks of shoes in the dirt." - H.R. Garis in The Curlytops on Star Island.

H.R. Garis Quotation: "Janet did not answer but hurried away. Of course she did not do just right, for she knew her mother would not want her to go to the cave, nor would Mrs. Martin have let Ted and Hal go had she known it." - H.R. Garis in The Curlytops on Star Island.

H.R. Garis Quotation: "The sun was shining over Clover Lake when Nora rang the breakfast bell, and Ted and Jan hurried with their dressing, for they were eager to be at their play." - H.R. Garis in The Curlytops on Star Island.

H.R. Garis Quotation: "Perhaps he knew he was going home to his stable where he would have some sweet hay and oats to eat, and that was what made him so glad to hurry along." - H.R. Garis in The Curlytops on Star Island.

H.R. Garis Quotation: "The Curlytops, looking back, had a last glimpse of the flickering blue light as they hurried toward Cherry Farm, and they were a little frightened." - H.R. Garis in The Curlytops on Star Island.

Harold Bell Wright Quotation: "So in the brightness of the afternoon the pastor of Memorial Church went along the street that, in the gray chill of the early morning, had echoed the hurried steps of the doctor's horse." - Harold Bell Wright in The Calling of Dan Matthews.

Harold Bell Wright Quotation: "That was Harry, he was never in a hurry, never seemed to move fast, but people never ceased to wonder at his quickness." - Harold Bell Wright in The Calling of Dan Matthews.

Harold Bell Wright Quotation: "She hurried away, and Dan looked at his host with his mother's questioning eyes. The Doctor knew what it was." - Harold Bell Wright in The Calling of Dan Matthews.

Harold Bell Wright Quotation: "Why were you in such a hurry to see me?" - Harold Bell Wright in Helen of the Old House.

Howard R. Garis Quotation: "Flop and Pinky saw a little boy and girl pig whom they knew, and they began playing, but Curly walked about, thinking maybe he might find a penny, when all of a sudden he saw his mamma hurrying out of the kitchen." - Howard R. Garis in Curly and Floppy Twistytail.

Howard R. Garis Quotation: "The Curlytops, looking out of the window again, saw more men hurrying here and there with flaring torches which flickered and smoked." - Howard R. Garis in Curlytops at Uncle Frank's Ranch.

Howard R. Garis Quotation: "Pretty soon the dinner horn blew and, with good appetites from their morning's fun, the children hurried in to get something to eat." - Howard R. Garis in Curlytops at Uncle Frank's Ranch.

Howard R. Garis Quotation: "All Teddy and Janet thought of was hurrying along as fast as they could go, in order to catch up to the Indian hunters." - Howard R. Garis in Curlytops at Uncle Frank's Ranch.

Howard R. Garis Quotation: "He had a small automobile, and in this he and the children were soon hurrying along the road toward Ring Rosy Ranch." - Howard R. Garis in Curlytops at Uncle Frank's Ranch.

Hurry, Jamieson Boyd: Born in 1857 and died in 1930, authored "King Henry Beauclerc and Reading abbey, by Jamieson B. Hurry." Publisher: E. Stock (London). Published in 1917.

Joseph Hergesheimer Quotation: "But, as always, nothing so romantic occurred; the dog was discovered, and the Mohammedans, with a hurried politeness, made their salaams. Instead, a man with a quizzical scrutiny through glasses that made him resemble an owl, stopped before her." - Joseph Hergesheimer in Linda Condon.

Joseph Hergesheimer Quotation: "Have you noticed the men hurrying away apologetically in the evening, Lee? The places on Sol and Gloria Streets! And, just as you meant, if they knew who, what, we were, they'd want to have us arrested." - Joseph Hergesheimer in Cytherea.

Joseph Hergesheimer Quotation: "The audience, for one thing, was so depressingly wrong in the placing of its merriment: it laughed delightedly at a gaunt feminine vindictiveness hurrying through the snow on an errand of destruction." - Joseph Hergesheimer in Cytherea.

Joseph Hergesheimer Quotation: "That was the way to cheat the sardonic gathered fates: to be deaf and blind to whatever, falsely, they seemed to offer; to get into bed heavy with weariness and rise hurried and absorbed." - Joseph Hergesheimer in Cytherea.

Joseph Hergesheimer Quotation: "She had an air of responsibility, sometimes expressed in a troubled frown, and again by the way she hurried sedately through drifting figures toward a definite purpose and end." - Joseph Hergesheimer in Linda Condon.

Mary Roberts Rinehart Quotation: "Round them, shutting them off together from the world of shops with lighted windows, rumbling busses and hurrying humanity, lay the old lodge with its dingy gardens, its whitewashed halls, its dark and twisting staircases." - Mary Roberts Rinehart in The Street of Seven Stars.

Mary Roberts Rinehart Quotation: "But my morale, as we say since the war, had been shaken, and I recklessly lighted a second candle and placed it on the table in the hall at the foot of the staircase, to facilitate my exit in case I desired to make a hurried one." - Mary Roberts Rinehart in Sight Unseen.

Mary Roberts Rinehart Quotation: "He remembered London at this hour, already dark and quiet, its few motors making their cautious way in the dusk, its throngs of clerks, nearly all women now, hurrying home to whatever dread the night might hold." - Mary Roberts Rinehart in Dangerous Days.

Mary Roberts Rinehart Quotation: "There was certainly something going on down below; doors were slamming, people were hurrying through the halls, and certain high notes of excited voices penetrated to me shrilly." - Mary Roberts Rinehart in The Circular Staircase.

Mary Roberts Rinehart Quotation: "Just so months ago had he turned in that direction, but with this difference, that then he went with a sort of hurried expectancy, and that now he loitered on the way." - Mary Roberts Rinehart in The Breaking Point.

Movie Release: The movie "Sally in a Hurry" is released.

Rabindranath Tagore Quotation: "What woman lay in the shadow of the wall at his feet, struck with the black pestilence, her body spotted with sores, hurriedly driven away from the town?" - Rabindranath Tagore in Fruit-Gathering.

Rabindranath Tagore Quotation: "I had just cleared my throat with a little cough, when a servant hurried in to say that the Police Inspector had brought Panchu up to the palace." - Rabindranath Tagore in Home and the World.

Rabindranath Tagore Quotation: "If he can get back soon enough he goes out again, after a hurried meal, to the sweetmeat seller's, where he assists in beating sugar for wafers." - Rabindranath Tagore in Home and the World.

Rabindranath Tagore Quotation: "I repeated my obeisance and left her hurriedly, but she called me back." - Rabindranath Tagore in Home and the World.

Rabindranath Tagore Quotation: "Forget him not in your hurry, let him come to your heart and bless him." - Rabindranath Tagore in The Crescent Moon.

Scott Joplin: In mid-January 1917 Joplin was hospitalized at Manhattan State Hospital in New York City, and friends recounted that he would have bursts of lucidity in which he would jot down lines of music hurriedly before relapsing. Joplin died there on April 1, 1917. His death did not make the headlines for two reasons: ragtime was quickly losing ground to jazz and the United States would enter World War I within days. He was buried in St. Michael's Cemetery in the Astoria section of Queens. [WP]

Steele Rudd Quotation: "If Maloney, or old Anderson, or anybody, wished to borrow a horse, or a dray, or anything about the place, Casey would let them have it with pleasure, and tell them not to be in a hurry about returning it." - Steele Rudd in On Our Selection.

Steele Rudd Quotation: "Nothing but bustle and hurry." - Steele Rudd in On Our Selection.

1918

Alice Meynell Quotation: "But Dickens, being simple and dramatic and capable of one thing at a time, and that thing whole, tells us what happened with a perfect speed which has neither hurry nor delays." - Alice Meynell in Hearts of Controversy.

Arnold Bennett Quotation: "Felix said he would lunch hurriedly in order to transact certain business at the garage before taking them on to Bursley." - Arnold Bennett in The Grim Smile of the Five Towns.

Arnold Bennett Quotation: "And he began to hurry towards the Works." - Arnold Bennett in The Grim Smile of the Five Towns.

Arnold Bennett Quotation: "Stephen hurried in, with a worried air." - Arnold Bennett in The Grim Smile of the Five Towns.

Barrett, Maxwell: Died in 1937, authored "Keep on following on behind." Words by Percy Edgar; music by Medley Barrett; sung by Little Emmie in Mdlle. Pauline River's (sic) production ... Hurry along to Pleasureland. (In summertime we long for just a breath of seaside air) (Hurry along to Pleasureland.). Publisher: E. Osborne & Co (London). Published in 1918.

Freeman Wills Croft Quotation: "He rapidly rang up the man's employers, asking them to stop the cab directly they came in touch with it, then hurrying out of the hotel, he hailed a taxi and drove to the rank on which the man was stationed." - Freeman Wills Croft in The Pit Prop Syndicate.

Freeman Wills Croft Quotation: "Then he hid the telephone and wire in a cupboard, stealthily left the house, and after a rapid glance round hurried along the lane towards Ferriby." - Freeman Wills Croft in The Pit Prop Syndicate.

Freeman Wills Croft Quotation: "He remained motionless for a few seconds, puzzling over the problem, and was just about to remark on it when the girl broke in hurriedly." - Freeman Wills Croft in The Pit Prop Syndicate.

Freeman Wills Croft Quotation: "Merriman hurriedly completed his dressing and went on deck, stopping in spite of himself to look around before attending to the ropes." - Freeman Wills Croft in The Pit Prop Syndicate.

Freeman Wills Croft Quotation: "Willis whispered to the sergeant, who, beckoning to two of his men, crept hurriedly down the port ladder to the lower deck." - Freeman Wills Croft in The Pit Prop Syndicate.

Harry Seidel Canby Quotation: "Their obstinacy is unfortunate; for, if they praised at all, they would not, like many hurried reviewers, praise the worst best." - Harry Seidel Canby in Definitions: Essays in Contemporary Criticism.

Henry Lindlahr Quotation: "In some mysterious way they seem to sense the exact location of the danger point and hurry toward it in large numbers like soldiers summoned to meet an invading army." - Henry Lindlahr in Nature Cure.

Hurry, Jamieson Boyd: Author of "A guide to Reading Abbey." Published in 1918.

James Branch Cabell Quotation: "She and Raoul were quite apart from these matters, quite alone, despite the men of Arnaye, hurrying toward the courtyard, who stared at them curiously, but said nothing." - James Branch Cabell in The Line of Love.

James Branch Cabell Quotation: "And leisurely Jurgen advanced: there was no hurry, with weeks wherein to accomplish everything: meanwhile this routine work had a familiar pleasantness." - James Branch Cabell in Jurgen (A Comedy of Justice).

Marian Keith Quotation: "I then hurried away to a mandarin and asked him to send men to protect the ship." - Marian Keith in The Black-Bearded Barbarian.

1918

Marion Polk Angellotti Quotation: "I was speeding toward France; but where was the girl of the /Re d'Italia/? To what dubious rendezvous, what haunt of spies, had she hurried, once ashore? The thought of her stung my vanity almost beyond endurance." - Marion Polk Angellotti in The Firefly Of France.

Marion Polk Angellotti Quotation: "Shabby treatment on my parents' part I've always thought it; if they had hurried home before the event I might have been President and declared war here instead of hunting one across the seas." - Marion Polk Angellotti in The Firefly Of France.

Marion Polk Angellotti Quotation: "The figure in the chair started up and hurried toward me, and then Dunny's hands were holding my hands, his eyes looking into mine." - Marion Polk Angellotti in The Firefly Of France.

Marion Polk Angellotti Quotation: "Leaning moodily forward, I looked again from the window and wished I might hurry the creaking, grinding revolution of the wheels." - Marion Polk Angellotti in The Firefly Of France.

Marion Polk Angellotti Quotation: "Yes; there they were, chatting with Dunny, who had hurried to meet them." - Marion Polk Angellotti in The Firefly Of France.

Mary Grant Bruce Quotation: "Almost as it stopped a door was flung open violently, and a very tall boy with the Grammar School colours on his hat jumped out, cast a hurried glance around, and then seized the small person in blue linen in an unashamed bear's hug." - Mary Grant Bruce in Mates at Billabong.

Mary Grant Bruce Quotation: "In the street they had to sober down, to outward seeming; but there was still something about them, as they hurried off to find a teashop to discuss final details, that made people turn to look at them." - Mary Grant Bruce in Back To Billabong.

Mary Grant Bruce Quotation: "Her few necessary purchases had been made on one of her hurried excursions with Bob; she had not dared to have the things sent home, and they had been consigned in a tin uniform case to Bob's care." - Mary Grant Bruce in Back To Billabong.

Mary Grant Bruce Quotation: "But his dark, mysterious eyes scanned the crowd as he turned from weighing in, and only grew satisfied when he saw the Billabong party hurrying to greet him." - Mary Grant Bruce in Back To Billabong.

Mary Grant Bruce Quotation: "In and out, in and out, men and women hurried, and just beyond the kaleidoscope of the platforms moved and changed restlessly under the glaring arc lights." - Mary Grant Bruce in Back To Billabong.

Max Brand Quotation: "Marne switched her tail impatiently and canted back a long ear to listen, but she did not increase her pace; for Marne had only one gait, and if Vic occasionally thumped her, it was rather by way of conversation than in any hope of hurrying their journey." - Max Brand in The Seventh Man.

Max Brand Quotation: "He hurried down to witness the ceremony, and as he reached the waist, he saw Henshaw take up his position with folded arms in the very center of the hatch." - Max Brand in Harrigan.

Max Brand Quotation: "They slipped out onto the deck and hurried aft, keeping close to the side of the cabin, for the starlight would show their figures to any watchful eyes." - Max Brand in Harrigan.

Max Brand Quotation: "The Irishman hurried through his breakfast and took his bucket and scrubbing brush toward the bridge, for he had many questions to ask McTee." - Max Brand in Harrigan.

Max Brand Quotation: "I did it so hurriedly that I must have lost close to twenty per cent on the forced sales." - Max Brand in Harrigan.

Movie Release: The movie "Hobbs in a Hurry" is released.

Natalie Sumner Lincoln Quotation: "He had purchased a copy when walking through Union Station on his arrival, but had left it in the cafeteria where he had snatched a cup of coffee and hot rolls before hurrying to his office." - Natalie Sumner Lincoln in The Red Seal.

Natalie Sumner Lincoln Quotation: "Some ten minutes later Kent rose, placed the papers he had been examining in the inside pocket of his coat and, using the private entrance from his office into the corridor, he hurried away." - Natalie Sumner Lincoln in The Red Seal.

Natalie Sumner Lincoln Quotation: "As the limousine drew up at the curb in front of his office, a man darting down the steps of the building, caught sight of Kent and hurried to the car window." - Natalie Sumner Lincoln in The Red Seal.

Natalie Sumner Lincoln Quotation: "She stood alone, except for several elaborately dressed women and their companions some yards away who were indulging in noisy talk as they hurried along." - Natalie Sumner Lincoln in The Red Seal.

Natalie Sumner Lincoln Quotation: "Replacing the stand he wrapped the box containing the pills in his handkerchief and hurried from the house." - Natalie Sumner Lincoln in The Red Seal.

Peter B. Kyne Quotation: "The sea, at night particularly, is productive of much introspection and speculation on the various aspects of life, and in order to make Joey forget this vampire in a hurry all that is necessary is to have a real woman round him for a while." - Peter B. Kyne in Cappy Ricks Retires.

Peter B. Kyne Quotation: "Florry exhibited not the slightest interest in her father's plans, but he noticed that immediately after dinner she hurried up to her room, and that upon her return she declined a game of pool with her father on the score of not feeling very well." - Peter B. Kyne in Cappy Ricks.

Peter B. Kyne Quotation: "And when you row toward that submarine, row like the devil, because that's the way the bombing party would row in their hurry to board the submarine and steam clear of the explosion." - Peter B. Kyne in Cappy Ricks Retires.

Peter B. Kyne Quotation: "Mr. Schultz was so completely deceived that he hurried round to his own quarters and pawed over his own mattress and bedding in a vain search for bedbugs." - Peter B. Kyne in Cappy Ricks Retires.

Peter B. Kyne Quotation: "He thanked the consul and sent the latter home in the cab, while he hurried for the harbor front and the nearest boat landing." - Peter B. Kyne in Cappy Ricks Retires.

Sinclair Lewis Quotation: "Thinking of them she did not think of the ugliness of Main Street as she hurried along it to the chatter of the Jolly Seventeen." - Sinclair Lewis in Main Street.

Sinclair Lewis Quotation: "She hurried out to apprize Mrs. Leonard Warren, as president of the Thanatopsis, of the miracle which had been worked." - Sinclair Lewis in Main Street.

Sinclair Lewis Quotation: "Babbitt sputtered with anxiety, tried to conceal it, and hurried down to the door." - Sinclair Lewis in Babbitt.

Sinclair Lewis Quotation: "She hurried into Kennicott's room, sat on the edge of his bed." - Sinclair Lewis in Main Street.

Sinclair Lewis Quotation: "She hurried to the window." - Sinclair Lewis in Main Street.

Stephen Vincent Benet Quotation: "Gazing straight at the sun, half his pilgrimage is done, And he staggers for a moment, hurries on, reels backward, swerves In a rain of scattered feathers as he falls in broken curves." - Stephen Vincent Benet in Young Adventure.

Stephen Vincent Benet Quotation: "Nor does Nancy notice how hurriedly her mother's next question comes." - Stephen Vincent Benet in Young People's Pride.

William Lyon Phelps Quotation: "God be praised! But haven't you hurried it too much?" - William Lyon Phelps in Essays on Russian Novelists.

1919

Clarence E. Mulford Quotation: "Hopalong told in a graphic, terse manner all that was necessary, while Buck and Cowan hurriedly bandaged his wounds." - Clarence E. Mulford in Bar-20 Days.

Clarence E. Mulford Quotation: "While he was hurrying around giving his instructions, the CG puncher returned to the hotel and reported." - Clarence E. Mulford in Bar-20 Days.

Clarence E. Mulford Quotation: "They were at Jackson's store now, and hurriedly dismounted and ran in to see Johnny." - Clarence E. Mulford in Bar-20 Days.

Clarence E. Mulford Quotation: "Oh, what's the hurry?" - Clarence E. Mulford in Hopalong Cassidy's Rustler Round-Up (BAR-20).

1919

Franklin, Ronald, composer: Publication of "Here comes the booby-boo: song." Words by James Wilson; music by Ronald Franklin; introduced by Mdlle. Pauline Rivers in ... Hurry along to Pleasureland. (Ever so long ago, fairy books say) (Hush he's coming don't you make a noise) (Hurry along to Pleasureland.). Publisher: H. Sharples & Son (Blackpool) Ltd (London). Published in 1919.

H. Barber Quotation: "Then to the Observer, ``Hurry up, old fellow, and try to find some rope, wire, or anything with which to picket the machine." - H. Barber in The Aeroplane Speaks.

H. Barber Quotation: "I'll take your word for it," hurriedly replies the Observer, whose soul isn't tuned to a technical key." - H. Barber in The Aeroplane Speaks.

H. Barber Quotation: "We'd better hurry up." - H. Barber in The Aeroplane Speaks.

Hurry, Jamieson Boyd: Born in 1857 and died in 1930, authored "Vicious circles in disease. (Vicious circles in disease. 3d ed.)." Publisher: Churchill (London). Published in 1919.

Max Beerbohm Quotation: "I did but clutch my hat from beneath the seat and hurry distraught down the aisle, out through the porch, into the open air." - Max Beerbohm in Seven Men.

Max Beerbohm Quotation: "Daily newspapers are printed in a hurry." - Max Beerbohm in Seven Men.

Movie Release: The movie "Love in a Hurry" is released.

North Russia Campaign: The Bolsheviks had an advantage in artillery in 1919 and renewed their offensive while the Vaga River was hurriedly evacuated. The River Force Monitor Monitors made a final successfull engagement with the Bolshevik gunboats in September 1919. The Allies then withdrew to prevent the Bolsheviks from carrying out the same tactics on the retreating Allied Forces. [WP]

Robert Stead Quotation: "What's your hurry?" - Robert Stead in Dennison Grant: A Novel of To-day.

S.O. Susag Quotation: "Aren't you in a hurry?" - S.O. Susag in Personal Experiences of S.O. Susag.

Thornton W. Burgess Quotation: "So back and forth from the ground to the old nest in the tree Whitefoot hurried, and presently there was quite a pile of weed stalks and soft grass and strips of bark in the old nest." - Thornton W. Burgess in Whitefoot the Wood Mouse.

Thornton W. Burgess Quotation: "When old Granny Fox finally got out of the bramble bush, she didn't stop to say anything more to Jimmy Skunk, but hurried away, muttering and grumbling and grinding her teeth." - Thornton W. Burgess in Adventures of Reddy Fox.

Thornton W. Burgess Quotation: "Of course, all the little people of the Green Forest hurried to pay their respects to Mrs. Lightfoot and to tell Lightfoot how glad they felt for him." - Thornton W. Burgess in Lightfoot the Deer.

Thornton W. Burgess Quotation: "Now that the great fight was over, and he knew that the big stranger was hurrying back to the Great Mountain, all Lightfoot's anger melted away." - Thornton W. Burgess in Lightfoot the Deer.

Thornton W. Burgess Quotation: "Once more Whitefoot hurried in the direction of it, and once more he was disappointed when the next reply came from a different place." - Thornton W. Burgess in Whitefoot the Wood Mouse.

W. Somerset Maugham Quotation: "He telegraphed to his uncle that he was coming to Blackstable, and, hurrying to pack, took the first train he could. He wanted to get away from the sordid rooms in which he had endured so much suffering. He wanted to breathe clean air." - W. Somerset Maugham in Of Human Bondage.

W. Somerset Maugham Quotation: "Without thinking, but with a beating heart, he hurried till he came alongside, and then, when the woman turned, he saw it was someone unknown to him. It was the face of a much older person, with a lined, yellow skin." - W. Somerset Maugham in Of Human Bondage.

W. Somerset Maugham Quotation: "Jones, Dickens, Thackeray, they were hurried into the flames; Mr. Gladstone, John Bright, and Cobden; there was a moment's discussion about George Meredith, but Matthew Arnold and Emerson were given up cheerfully." - W. Somerset Maugham in Of Human Bondage.

W. Somerset Maugham Quotation: "It was not one of the days on which she got off early and therefore she would have no time to go home and change; but she meant to bring a frock up with her in the morning and hurry into her clothes at the shop." - W. Somerset Maugham in Of Human Bondage.

W. Somerset Maugham Quotation: "Philip knew that on the days Foinet came to the studio he lunched at a little restaurant in the Rue d'Odessa, and he hurried his own meal so that he could go and wait outside till the painter came out." - W. Somerset Maugham in Of Human Bondage.

Winston S. Churchill Quotation: "After he had made good his escape from the battlefield of Omdurman, Abdullah had hurried in the direction of El Obeid, moving by the wells of Shat and Zeregia, which at that season of the year were full of water after the rains." - Winston S. Churchill in The River War [An Account of the Reconquest of the Sudan].

Winston S. Churchill Quotation: "Across the open space between the village and the hill hundreds of Dervishes on horse and on foot were hurrying to man their defences, and others scrambled up the rocks to see for themselves the numbers of the enemy." - Winston S. Churchill in The River War [An Account of the Reconquest of the Sudan].

Winston S. Churchill Quotation: "All ranks wearied, and the men would frequently, during the night marches, sink down upon the ground in profound slumber, only to be sternly aroused and hurried on. But the pace of the advance continued to be swift." - Winston S. Churchill in The River War [An Account of the Reconquest of the Sudan].

Winston S. Churchill Quotation: "The two gunboats which could have guarded them from the river were down stream, helping the cavalry; MacDonald with the rear brigade was out in the plain; Collinson was hurrying along the bank with his transport." - Winston S. Churchill in The River War [An Account of the Reconquest of the Sudan].

Winston S. Churchill Quotation: "While some of the medical officers were thus busied, Colonel Sloggett galloped off, and, running the gauntlet of the Baggara horsemen, hurried to claim protection for the hospitals and their helpless occupants." - Winston S. Churchill in The River War [An Account of the Reconquest of the Sudan].

1920

Auxiliary Division: Recruitment began in July 1920 and by November 1921 the division was 1,900 strong. The Auxies were nominally part of the RIC, but actually operated more or less independently in rural areas. Divided into companies (eventually fifteen of them), each about one hundred strong, heavily armed and highly mobile, they operated in ten counties, mostly in the south and west, where IRA activity was greatest. Hurriedly recruited, poorly trained and with an ill-defined role, they soon gained a reputation for drunkenness and brutality worse than that of the Black and Tans. They wore either RIC uniforms or their old army uniforms with appropriate police badges. On 11 December, 1920, Auxiliaries burnt the entire city centre of Cork (preventing the fire service from attending the blaze) and shot seven people, two IRA men in their beds and five civilians on the streets. Some took to wearing pieces of burnt cork in their hats afterwards, to celebrate the occasion. A few days later, near Dunmanway, an Auxiliary later judged insane killed a young retarded man and a seventy-year old priest. In February 1921 their commander, Brigadier-General Frank Crozier, himself a former officer of the Unionist paramilitary Ulster Volunteer Force, resigned in despair, utterly unable to discipline his men. They were and are often confused with the Black and Tans, and many atrocities laid at the door of the latter were in reality attributable to the Auxies, such as the murder of young mother Ellen Quinn in Kiltartan, County Galway, shot from a passing truck as she held her child. Disbanded along with the RIC in 1922, many Auxies joined the Palestine Police. As with the Black and Tans, they are still a contentious issue in Ireland. [WP]

Black and Tans: The new recruits received three months hurried and sub-standard training, and were rapidly posted to RIC barracks, mostly in Dublin, Munster and western Connacht. The first men arrived on 25 March 1920. The government also raised another unit, the Auxiliary Division of the Constabulary, known as the Auxiliaries or Auxies. This group was made up of ex-army officers. The Black and Tans acted with the Auxiliaries in the government's attempts to break the IRA. [WP]

Edgar A. Guest Quotation: "Gone is the hurry, The anguish and sting, The heartache and worry That business cares bring; Gone is the hustle, The clamor for gold, The rush and the bustle The day's affairs hold." - Edgar A. Guest in Just Folks.

Edgar A. Guest Quotation: "Show the flag! The day is gone When men blindly hurry on Serving only gods of gold; Now the spirit that was cold Warms again to courage fine." - Edgar A. Guest in Just Folks.

Edgar A. Guest Quotation: "I watch them as they hurry through the surging lines of men, Spurred to speed by grim ambition, and I know they're dreaming then." - Edgar A. Guest in Just Folks.

Edgar A. Guest Quotation: "I hurry, as I used to do, to claim that favorite place, And when a tonneau seat is mine I wear a solemn face." - Edgar A. Guest in Just Folks.

Eugene O'Neill Quotation: "She speaks hurriedly in a low voice." - Eugene O'Neill in Anna Christie.

Eugene O'Neill Quotation: "Hurry up now with your dressing." - Eugene O'Neill in Anna Christie.

Harold Brighouse Quotation: "What do you need the table for in such a hurry?" - Harold Brighouse in Hobson's Choice.

Harold Brighouse Quotation: "Whatever's the hurry for?" - Harold Brighouse in Hobson's Choice.

Marion Harland Quotation: "The apparition raised herself, with a gesture of impatience, caught the candle from the rickety table at the head of the mattress, snuffed it hurriedly, and again stooped toward the recumbent figure, with it in her hand." - Marion Harland in At Last.

Marion Harland Quotation: "Rosa's alert ear caught the hurried murmur which succeeded, and was muffled, so to speak, by her affectionate smile of gratitude." - Marion Harland in At Last.

Precipitation (horse): Precipitation was out of Double Life, a foundation mare of the famus British stud, Someries Stud. Although plain, Double life was a good racehorse and exceptional broodmare. Hurry on, the sire of Precipitation, sired 3 winners of the English Derby during the 1920s. [WP]

1921

Bertrand Russell Quotation: "In this way, men are no longer forced to submit to decisions made in a hurry by people mostly ignorant of the matter in hand and not personally interested." - Bertrand Russell in Proposed Roads to Freedom.

Bertrand Russell Quotation: "Most of his writing was done in a hurry in the interval between two insurrections." - Bertrand Russell in Proposed Roads to Freedom.

Cleveland Moffett Quotation: "Fortunately the great recruiting hall was only a few blocks distant and as we hurried there Miss Ryerson explained that the furnace man, Stephen, before coming to us, had run to McCormick College, the Chicago home for deaf students, and given the alarm." - Cleveland Moffett in The Conquest of America.

Cleveland Moffett Quotation: "I telegraphed at once to Miss Ryerson, who hurried to Chicago, arriving the next morning, and we spent most of that day together, discussing the hard problem before us." - Cleveland Moffett in The Conquest of America.

Cleveland Moffett Quotation: "The old fellow hurried off and presently returned with a heavy volume bound in red leather." - Cleveland Moffett in The Conquest of America.

Edward Walter Eberle: On 30 June 1921, Eberle took command of the Pacific Fleet. Some two years later, on 17 July 1923, he became Chief of Naval Operations and held the office until relieved by Admiral Charles F. Hughes on 14 November 1927. During the years he held this post, he reportedly fought to minimize the adverse effect upon the Navy of arms limitations negotiations and from Congressional thrift, hurried the completion of aircraft carriers "Lexington" and "Saratoga", and upheld the Navy's right to maintain its own air arm. [WP]

1921

George Barr McCutcheon Quotation: "It did not require a great stretch of imagination to convince her that the Lorrys were hurrying off to scenes of intrigue, strife and bloodshed, and that not only Graustark but its princess was in jeopardy." - George Barr McCutcheon in Beverly of Graustark.

George Barr McCutcheon Quotation: "Since his grandfather's death he had been staying at the gloomy old Brewster house in Fifth Avenue, paying but two or three hurried visits to the rooms at Mrs. Gray's, where he had made his home." - George Barr McCutcheon in Brewster's Millions.

George Barr McCutcheon Quotation: "Whereupon, at his request, she hurriedly related the story of that trying journey through the mountains, not forgetting to paint the courage of Baldos in most glowing colors." - George Barr McCutcheon in Beverly of Graustark.

George Barr McCutcheon Quotation: "He was deciding to board a tramcar and return to the hotel when, at some distance ahead, he saw a young lady run hurriedly down the steps of an impressive looking house." - George Barr McCutcheon in Castle Craneycrow.

George Barr McCutcheon Quotation: "The hunters tell them that the Axphain authorities, fully aware of the hurried flight of the Princess through these wilds, are preparing to intercept her." - George Barr McCutcheon in Beverly of Graustark.

Hurry, Jamieson Boyd: Born in 1857 and died in 1930, authored "Octocentenary of Reading abbey, A.D. 1121-A.D. 1921, by Jamieson B. Hurry …" Published in 1921.

Joseph Conrad Quotation: "I don't know how far murder can ever approach the perfection of a fine art, but looked upon with the cold eye of reason it seems but a crude expedient of impatient hope or hurried despair." - Joseph Conrad in Notes on Life and Letters.

Joseph Conrad Quotation: "Those journeys of mine had been more like pilgrimages when one hurries on towards the goal for the satisfaction of a deeper need than curiosity." - Joseph Conrad in Notes on Life and Letters.

Maria Thompson Davies Quotation: "And Mother hurried away through the kitchen, leaving the singer lady and the Doctor sitting at the table under the fragrant vine, with the replete Martin Luther nodding his sleepy head down into his plate between them." - Maria Thompson Davies in The Road To Providence.

Maria Thompson Davies Quotation: "Laughter floated on the air and mingled with banter and song, while the aroma of flesh pots and fine spices drifted from huge waiters being hurriedly carried from down and up the Road and into the Pratt gate." - Maria Thompson Davies in The Road To Providence.

Maria Thompson Davies Quotation: "He came back and stood beside her, and was just about to make a tentative remark when Mother Mayberry hurried around the side of the house." - Maria Thompson Davies in The Road To Providence.

Maria Thompson Davies Quotation: "And she hurried down the Road to where the group waited impatiently but loyally around the town pump." - Maria Thompson Davies in The Road To Providence.

Maria Thompson Davies Quotation: "Let's hurry and get that bucket of water; don't you hear them singing the doxology?" - Maria Thompson Davies in The Road To Providence.

Sax Rohmer (Arthur Ward Sarsfield) Quotation: "She was hurried this way and that, bruised, torn, and tossed helpless upon a sea of liquid brass. Through vast avenues lined with yellow, immobile Chinese faces she was borne upon a bier." - Sax Rohmer (Arthur Ward Sarsfield) in Dope.

Sax Rohmer (Arthur Ward Sarsfield) Quotation: "Without delay, and without taking the Scotland Yard men into our confidence, we had hurried our prisoner back to London, for my friend's authority was supreme." - Sax Rohmer (Arthur Ward Sarsfield) in The Insidious Dr. Fu Manchu.

Sax Rohmer (Arthur Ward Sarsfield) Quotation: "She wrote a hasty note, merely asking Gray to proceed to the restaurant, where she promised to join him, left it in charge of the maid, and hurried off to Albemarle Street." - Sax Rohmer (Arthur Ward Sarsfield) in Dope.

Sax Rohmer (Arthur Ward Sarsfield) Quotation: "He had just placed the match in an ash tray when he heard Sir Charles's voice in the lobby, and a moment later Sir Charles himself came hurrying into the library." - Sax Rohmer (Arthur Ward Sarsfield) in Fire-Tongue.

Sax Rohmer (Arthur Ward Sarsfield) Quotation: "When the lady escaped hurriedly on Wednesday night, what was it that she left behind and what price are you trying to extort from her for returning it?" - Sax Rohmer (Arthur Ward Sarsfield) in Tales of Chinatown.

William T. Tilden Quotation: "Both men hit to the lines with a certainty that makes it very dangerous to attempt to take the net on anything except a deep forcing shot that hurries them." - William T. Tilden in The Art of Lawn Tennis.

William T. Tilden Quotation: "When hurried, and it is not possible to change the foot position, throw the weight on the foot closest to the ball." - William T. Tilden in The Art of Lawn Tennis.

William T. Tilden Quotation: "Do your hurrying after the ball is in play, by running him to unexpected places in the court." - William T. Tilden in The Art of Lawn Tennis.

William T. Tilden Quotation: "Never hurry your opponent by serving before he is fully set to receive." - William T. Tilden in The Art of Lawn Tennis.

1922

Burrage, Charles Dana: Born in 1857 and died in 1926, authored "In the sunshine at Havana: record of a trip in November, 1917 / by Charles Dana Burrage. Also, Hurrying from Havana, 1906 / by Atherton Brownell. Cuba, land of sugar and spendthrifts." Publisher: Rosemary Press (Needham, Mass). Published in 1922.

Dornford Yates Quotation: "The rest of us alighted and walked hurriedly away in the opposite direction." - Dornford Yates in The Brother of Daphne.

Dornford Yates Quotation: "Hurriedly I explained, and then fell again into uproarious laughter." - Dornford Yates in The Brother of Daphne.

Dornford Yates Quotation: "Six weeks had hurried away." - Dornford Yates in The Brother of Daphne.

Dornford Yates Quotation: "I went on hurriedly." - Dornford Yates in The Brother of Daphne.

John Masefield Quotation: "I hurried along the road towards the battle, praying, as I went, that my master might conquer, that the King's troops had been caught asleep, that when I got there, in the glory of dawn, I might find the Duke's army returning thanks in their enemy's camp." - John Masefield in Martin Hyde the Duke's Messenger.

John Masefield Quotation: "I kept on ahead, longing for that wonderful minute when I could hurry my horse, in the wild rush to Egmont town, the final wild rush, on the nag's last strength, with my pursuers, now going their fastest, trailing away behind, as their beasts foundered." - John Masefield in Martin Hyde the Duke's Messenger.

John Masefield Quotation: "There were little crowds in the streets, little crowds of women, surrounding muddy, tired men who had come in from the Duke. People were going about in a hurried, aimless way which showed that they were scared." - John Masefield in Martin Hyde the Duke's Messenger.

John Masefield Quotation: "I was touched by her kind thought for me; she was risking her life for me for the second time, but in the hurry of the moment I could not put words together to thank her." - John Masefield in Martin Hyde the Duke's Messenger.

John Masefield Quotation: "I kept this my pace even when going through villages, where the people in their strange Dutch clothes hurried out to stare at me as I bucketed by." - John Masefield in Martin Hyde the Duke's Messenger.

Milton, Arthur: Author of "Paris in Seven Days. A guide for people in a hurry. With. four maps." Published in 1922.

Paramhansa Yogananda Quotation: "Tonight at home I neglected my dinner. What's the hurry? Tomorrow I'll make it a point to have a proper meal." - Paramhansa Yogananda in Autobiography of a Yogi.

Paramhansa Yogananda Quotation: "We enjoyed the days of ocean peace, a welcome contrast to the past hurried weeks." - Paramhansa Yogananda in Autobiography of a Yogi.

1923

Paramhansa Yogananda Quotation: "The following morning the physician arrived hurriedly." - Paramhansa Yogananda in Autobiography of a Yogi.

Paramhansa Yogananda Quotation: "What's the hurry?" - Paramhansa Yogananda in Autobiography of a Yogi.

1923

Christopher Morley Quotation: "Here was where husbands worked to keep Fifth Avenue going: he wondered vaguely whether Mrs. Sealyham had bought those stockings? One day he saw his uncle hurrying along Wall Street with an intent face." - Christopher Morley in Where the Blue Begins.

Christopher Morley Quotation: "From the long line of motor cars parked outside the chapel incredible chauffeurs were leaping, hurrying to see what had happened." - Christopher Morley in Where the Blue Begins.

Christopher Morley Quotation: "On the long spilling crests, that crumbled and spread running layers of froth in their hurry shoreward, the Pomerania rode home." - Christopher Morley in Where the Blue Begins.

Christopher Morley Quotation: "He hurried to Penn Station where he hired one of those little dressing booths, and put on his regalia." - Christopher Morley in Where the Blue Begins.

Christopher Morley Quotation: "Burning to know, he hurried up to the brow of the hill." - Christopher Morley in Where the Blue Begins.

Hurry, Jamieson Boyd: Born in 1857 and died in 1930, authored "Les Cercles vicieux en pathologie." Par Jamieson B. Hurry; traduit sur la troisie`me e´dition anglaise rev. et augm. par C. Flandin et F. Franc¸on. (Vicious circles in disease). Publisher: A. Maloine (Paris). Published in 1923.

Kathleen Norris Quotation: "The whole household went through its usual excitement, the doctor came, the nurse was hurriedly summoned, Susan removed all the smaller articles from Emily's room, and replaced the bed's flowery cover with a sheet, the invalid liking the hospital aspect." - Kathleen Norris in Saturday's Child.

Kathleen Norris Quotation: "Emma and Veronica, perhaps more hardened to these emergencies than are ordinary maids, rose to the occasion, and Susanna hurried off to her train satisfied that as far as the actual luncheon was concerned, all would go well." - Kathleen Norris in Poor, Dear Margaret Kirby and Other Stories.

Kathleen Norris Quotation: "She flashed through the dreary little entrance yard, past other yards, past the bakery, and took her seat on the dummy breathless with her hurry, exhilarated by the morning freshness of the air, and filled with happy expectation for the new day." - Kathleen Norris in Saturday's Child.

Kathleen Norris Quotation: "With a curious freedom from emotion of any sort, she selected a hat, and laid her gloves beside it on the bed. Just then the front door, below her, opened to admit the noise of hurried feet and of joyous laughter." - Kathleen Norris in Poor, Dear Margaret Kirby and Other Stories.

Kathleen Norris Quotation: "If the two girls, wasting a morning in the shops in town, happened to meet some hurrying young man in the street, the color rushed into Emily's face, and she alluded to the incident a dozen times during the course of the day." - Kathleen Norris in Saturday's Child.

Milton, Arthur: Author of "Rome in seven days: a guide for people in a hurry." Published in 1923.

T.S. Stribling Quotation: "Then he hurried back into the rear compartment, knocked to pieces the bearings and valves of the Deisel engine, tangled up the wiring of the storage batteries and the dynamo, beat off her brushes, disrupted the clutch on the crank shaft." - T.S. Stribling in The Cruise of the Dry Dock.

T.S. Stribling Quotation: "The American followed the luggage hurriedly; the tall fellow lowered himself calmly and with a certain precision into the stern of the dory." - T.S. Stribling in The Cruise of the Dry Dock.

T.S. Stribling Quotation: "The light fell redder and dimmer through the ports and he hurried to finish his work before darkness required a lamp in the steamy cabin." - T.S. Stribling in The Cruise of the Dry Dock.

T.S. Stribling Quotation: "The diversion saved the Englishman from any bellicose intention of the mate, who hurried off to take a hand in the sport." - T.S. Stribling in The Cruise of the Dry Dock.

T.S. Stribling Quotation: "In the dim zone of light that belted the promenade, Madden could see a number of hurrying figures." - T.S. Stribling in The Cruise of the Dry Dock.

Upton Sinclair Quotation: "There was a sudden crash and the car came to a halt, and the ingot toppled out upon a moving platform, where steel fingers and arms seized hold of it, punching it and prodding it into place, and hurrying it into the grip of huge rollers." - Upton Sinclair in The Jungle.

Upton Sinclair Quotation: "They were pitiable in their helplessness; above all things they stood in deadly terror of any sort of person in official uniform, and so whenever they saw a policeman they would cross the street and hurry by." - Upton Sinclair in The Jungle.

Upton Sinclair Quotation: "He had somehow conceived of industrial evolution as something vast and intangible and mechanical, something that went on independent of men, and that could not be hurried or delayed." - Upton Sinclair in Love's Pilgrimage (A Novel).

Upton Sinclair Quotation: "Sometimes he would enter, and hurry through, to peer into the compartments in the back; and then go out again, giving a wide berth to the drinkers, and shrinking from their glances." - Upton Sinclair in Love's Pilgrimage (A Novel).

Upton Sinclair Quotation: "Jurgis and the rest of the staff of Hinds's Hotel could hardly stop to finish their dinner, before they hurried off to the big hall which the party had hired for that evening." - Upton Sinclair in The Jungle.

1924

Hood, Jack, pseud: Publication of "Hurrying feet: a study of influences." Published in 1924.

1925

Arthur Ransome Quotation: "I think I could have made it twice as long without repetitions, and I am not at all sure that in choosing in a hurry between this and that I did not omit much which could with advantage be substituted for what is here set down." - Arthur Ransome in Russia in 1919.

Arthur Ransome Quotation: "He told me that on hearing in Moscow that some sort of fraternization was going on on the Archangel front, he had hurried off there with two prisoners, one English and one American." - Arthur Ransome in Russia in 1919.

Carnevali, Emanuel: Author of "A hurried man." Publisher: Distributor, W. Jackson; (Paris: Contact Editions; London). Published in 1925.

Georges Duhamel Quotation: "I heard a crash which shook the ground and the walls violently, then hurried footsteps and cries in the passage." - Georges Duhamel in The New Book Of Martyrs.

Georges Duhamel Quotation: "He replied timidly that he wanted the urinal, and when the orderly hurried to him bringing it, he was dead." - Georges Duhamel in The New Book Of Martyrs.

Georges Duhamel Quotation: "He was already beginning to moan and to open his eyes, and the radiographer was not hurrying." - Georges Duhamel in The New Book Of Martyrs.

Hurry, Jamieson Boyd: Born in 1857 and died in 1930, authored "Los círculos viciosos en patología." Traducción espanola, corregida y aumentada, de la 3.a edicion inglesa por el Dr. Diego Moxó y Queri con un prólogo del Dr. Augusto Pi Suner. Published in 1925.

Kingston, William Henry Giles: Born in 1814 and died in 1880, authored "Hurricane Hurry." Published in 1925.

Movie Release: The movie "Doctor! Hurry" is released.

Smith, Julian: Born in 1873 and died in 1947, authored "(The maids friend and the lace curtain, a hurried pose) (picture)." Published in 1925.

Travers, Alison: Author of "Hurry up, April. Song, the words by Edward Lockton." Publisher: Boosey & Co (London and New York). Published in 1925.

1926

HOUGHTON, Thomas Hurry: Author of "Memorials of the Family of Hurry of Great Yarmouth and of America, Australia, and South Africa. Written by T. Hurry-Houghton assisted by. Margaret Hurry-Houghton. (With portraits.)." Publisher: C. Tinling & Co (Liverpool). Published in 1926.

Hurry, Jamieson Boyd: Born in 1857 and died in 1930, authored "Imhotep, the vizier and physician of King Zoser and afterwards the Egyptain god of medicine." Publisher: Oxford university press, H. Milford (London). Published in 1926.

Movie Release: The movie "What's Your Hurry?" is released.

1927

Doris Stevens Quotation: "I walked back to the hidden taxi, hurried to headquarters, and plunged into my work, trying all night to convince myself that the sting of my wretchedness was being mitigated by activity toward a release from this state of affairs." - Doris Stevens in Jailed for Freedom.

Doris Stevens Quotation: "Quite calmly and yet triumphantly, they stood there, a pageant of beauty and defiant appeal, which not even the most hurried passerby could fail to see and comprehend." - Doris Stevens in Jailed for Freedom.

Doris Stevens Quotation: "He hurried over to the Capitol, and there made his first official business a conference with Senator Jones of New Mexico, Chairman of the Senate Suffrage Committee." - Doris Stevens in Jailed for Freedom.

Doris Stevens Quotation: "They, too, were shoved into the police automobile, their banners still high and appealing, silhouetted against the sky as they were hurried to the police station." - Doris Stevens in Jailed for Freedom.

Doris Stevens Quotation: "The patrol wagons were hurried to the scene and the arrests were executed in an exceedingly gentlemanly manner." - Doris Stevens in Jailed for Freedom.

1926

Edna Ferber Quotation: "At that Clarence Heyl rose too, hurriedly, as one unaccustomed to the service, and stood with unbowed head, looking at the rabbi interestedly, thoughtfully, reverently." - Edna Ferber in Fanny Herself.

Edna Ferber Quotation: "Mrs. Brandeis, absent from her business throughout this holy day, came hurrying in at two, to look with a rather anxious eye upon her pale and resolute little daughter." - Edna Ferber in Fanny Herself.

Edna Ferber Quotation: "Mrs. Brandeis took a scant half hour to walk the six blocks between the store and the house, to snatch a hurried dinner, and traverse the distance to the store again." - Edna Ferber in Fanny Herself.

Edna Ferber Quotation: "So it was she altogether failed to see the dark young man who hurried after her eagerly, and who was stopped by a dozen welcoming hands there in the temple vestibule." - Edna Ferber in Fanny Herself.

Edna Ferber Quotation: "His mother had told him that they would have corn out of their own garden for supper that night, and Eddie was in something of a hurry." - Edna Ferber in Buttered Side Down.

Horwood, Frederick J.: Born in 1888 and died in 1976, authored "If you don't want to hurry (music)." Words by J.W. Ogden; music by F.J. Horwood Refrain: If you don't want to hurry. Publisher: J.W. Ogden (Apsley, Ont). Published in 1927.

Hurry, Jamieson Boyd: Born in 1857 and died in 1930, authored "Poverty and its vicious circles." Ed. and prepared in Chinese by Evan Morgan, Chou Yun-Lou, Hsu Chia-Ching. --. Publisher: Christian literature society (Shanghai). Published in 1927.

Mary E. Mann Quotation: "The hour, especially, which brought the meal over which they need not hurry for any evening work; in the room made sweet with flowers; in the company of the three charming ladies; on the table the extra delicacies Emily always provided for the occasion." - Mary E. Mann in Mrs Day's Daughters.

Mary E. Mann Quotation: "Would he let her pass him? She redoubled her pace, and making him a shy little bow, tried to hurry by, but with a word of apology he stopped her." - Mary E. Mann in Mrs

1928

Day's Daughters.

Mary E. Mann Quotation: "Deleah said with an averted head that that would be very good of him; and making him a grave little bow hurried away." - Mary E. Mann in Mrs Day's Daughters.

Mary E. Mann Quotation: "No hurry, at all." - Mary E. Mann in Mrs Day's Daughters.

Mary E. Mann Quotation: "Let us hurry on." - Mary E. Mann in Mrs Day's Daughters.

McNeil, Everett: Born in 1862 and died in 1929, authored "For the glory of France: being the tale told by Noel Bidoux of how he and Robert de Boville, two French boys fleeing for their lives from the swords of their enemies, hid themselves in the hold of the ship of Samuel de Champlain just before he sailed for the New World; and narrating their thrilling adventures on board the ship and with the savages and the wild beasts of that strange and marvelous land; together with a full account of the first settlement of Quebec and the discovery of that long lake, which was named Lake Champlain in honor of its discoverer; and likewise, giving the remarkable and thrilling happenings that caused them to hurry back to France and led up to the kinless and homeless Noel finding both home and kin: as set down in English." Publisher: E.P. Dutton & Company (New York). Published in 1927.

St. John G. Ervine Quotation: "There's no hurry for a day or two, is there?" - St. John G. Ervine in The Foolish Lovers.

Villers, Thomas Jefferson: Born in 1861, authored "The hurry call of Jesus, by Thomas Jefferson Villers." Published in 1927.

1928

Aldous Huxley Quotation: "With these he hurried back to the booth of Sesostris." - Aldous Huxley in Crome Yellow.

Dorothy Love Coates: Dorothy Love Coates (January 30, 1928-April 9, 2002) rose to stardom in the 1950s as a member of The Original Gospel Harmonettes, a gospel group from Birmingham, Alabama. With her "raggedy" voice and preacher's fire she could outsing the most powerful hard gospel male singers of the era. She was also a notable composer, writing songs such as "You Can't Hurry God (He's Right On Time)", "99 and a Half Won't Do" and "That's Enough". [WP]

Hurry, Jamieson Boyd: Author of "Imhotep. Second and revised edition." Published in 1928.

Movie Release: The movie "A Hurry-Up Marriage" is released.

Pelham Grenville Wodehouse Quotation: "I got a letter from Whiteley's this morning asking when my first consignment was going to arrive. You know, these people make a mistake in hurrying a man. It annoys him." - Pelham Grenville Wodehouse in Love Among the Chickens.

Pelham Grenville Wodehouse Quotation: "Mr. Kemp was saying just now that he would have liked to take him, but we're rather in a hurry and shall probably have to get into a taxi." - Pelham Grenville Wodehouse in The Adventures of Sally.

Pelham Grenville Wodehouse Quotation: "Then, begging Keggs not to move, as he could find his way out, he had hurried to the back door, opened and shut it, and darted into hiding." - Pelham Grenville Wodehouse in The Coming of Bill.

Pelham Grenville Wodehouse Quotation: "Presently a sound behind her caused her to turn, and she perceived a godlike man hurrying across the terrace pulling up a sock." - Pelham Grenville Wodehouse in The Clicking of Cuthbert.

Pelham Grenville Wodehouse Quotation: "Old landmarks shifted as the crowd of strangers was shifting before him now, hurrying into his life and hurrying out of it." - Pelham Grenville Wodehouse in The Coming of Bill.

Van de Water, Frederic Franklyn: Publication of "Hurrying feet." By Frederic F. Van de Water. Publisher: D. Appleton (New York). Published in 1928.

1929

Jessie Graham Flower Quotation: "Now hadn't we better hurry home and make up the rest of the programme?" - Jessie Graham Flower in Grace Harlowe's Second Year at Overton College.

1930

Dawson, Warren Royal: Author of "Memoir of Jamieson Boyd Hurry. (Reprinted from 'The Woad Plant and its Dye.') With a portrait." Published in 1930.

Hurry, Jamieson Boyd: Born in 1857 and died in 1930, authored "The woad plant and its dye." By the late Jamieson B. Hurry. Publisher: Oxford University Press, H. Milford (London). Published in 1930.

Rex Stout Quotation: "I hurried home, procured a couple of hastily packed bags, and took the afternoon train for the West." - Rex Stout in Under the Andes.

Rex Stout Quotation: "She entered the room hurriedly and crossed to the farther side, then turned to face the door." - Rex Stout in Under the Andes.

Rex Stout Quotation: "We hurried forward then; Harry helped Desiree, while I painfully brought up the rear." - Rex Stout in Under the Andes.

1931

Conrad Aiken Quotation: "How shall I ever escape this mesh Or be from my lover's body removed?' Dead leaves stream through the hurrying air And the maenads dance with flying hair." - Conrad Aiken in The House of Dust.

Conrad Aiken Quotation: "Each cloud becomes a rapidly dimming face, Each hurrying face records its strange desires." - Conrad Aiken in The House of Dust.

Conrad Aiken Quotation: "The young boy whistles, hurrying down the street, The young girl hums beneath her breath." - Conrad Aiken in The House of Dust.

Conrad Aiken Quotation: "He heard the sharp breath quiver, and saw her breast More hurriedly fall and rise." - Conrad Aiken in The House of Dust.

Conrad Aiken Quotation: "Let us hurry, beloved! the hard hooves trample; The treetops tremble and glow." - Conrad Aiken in The House of Dust.

Hurley, Frank: Born in 1885 and died in 1962, authored "...the ship's rush to the wind's hurry. A fair breeze and a calm sea help the Discovery (picture)." Published in 1931.

Mr and Mrs Haldeman-Julius Quotation: "The many messages for food which they sent to Martin forced him to spring out of bed and hurry to them, for nothing is as unbearably insistent as a barn and yard full of living things clamoring their determination to have something to eat." - Mr and Mrs Haldeman-Julius in Dust.

Mr and Mrs Haldeman-Julius Quotation: "It reminded him, together with the deft way in which she hurried, without haste, without flurry, of their first evening in the shack, nearly seven years ago." - Mr and Mrs Haldeman-Julius in Dust.

Mr and Mrs Haldeman-Julius Quotation: "At five in the morning, he would be shaken by Martin and told to hurry up." - Mr and Mrs Haldeman-Julius in Dust.

Mr and Mrs Haldeman-Julius Quotation: "It was relieving to hurry across the dripping grass toward the barn." - Mr and Mrs Haldeman-Julius in Dust.

Mr and Mrs Haldeman-Julius Quotation: "When he woke early in the morning, he had to hurry to his stock." - Mr and Mrs Haldeman-Julius in Dust.

1932

Gregg, Cecil Freeman: Born in 1898, authored "Inspector Higgins hurries: (being a day in his life)." Publisher: Dial Press (New York: L. MacVeagh). Published in 1932.

1933

Agatha Christie Quotation: "She hurries out into the passage, for the servants must not find her where she is." - Agatha Christie in The Mysterious Affair at Styles.

Agatha Christie Quotation: "His eyes opened to their fullest extent as he hurried forward to assist Tuppence to alight." - Agatha Christie in The Secret Adversary.

Agatha Christie Quotation: "He gave one doubtful look at them, then hurried into an adjacent telephone box." - Agatha Christie in The Secret Adversary.

Agatha Christie Quotation: "She seized hurriedly on the first name that came into her head." - Agatha Christie in The Secret Adversary.

Agatha Christie Quotation: "In a few minutes the little doctor came hurrying towards them." - Agatha Christie in The Secret Adversary.

1934

Heard, Henry Fitzgerald: Author of "These Hurrying Years. An historical outline, 1900-1933." Published in 1934.

Stevens, Harold Charles Gilbard: Born in 1892, authored "High-speed Shakespeare: "Hamlet", "Julius Caesar", "Romeo and Juliet"; three tragedies in a tearing hurry." Publisher: The Baker International Play Bureau, (London: H.F.W. Deane: The Year Book Press; Boston, Mass). Published in 1934.

Wilhelm Reich: In the same year, "The Mass Psychology of Fascism" was published, in which Reich categorized fascism as a symptom of sexual repression. The book was banned by the Nazis when they came to power. Reich was expelled from the International Psychological Association in 1934 for political militancy. German newspapers started attacking him as a womanizer, a communist, and a Jew who advocated free love. He realized he was in danger and hurriedly left Germany disguised as a tourist on a ski trip to Austria. He spent some years in Denmark, Sweden, and Norway, before leaving for the U.S. in 1939. [WP]

1935

Bucharest: The first, wooden, triumphal arch was built hurriedly, after Romania gained its independence (1878), so that the victorious troops could march under it. Another temporary arch was built on the same site, after World War I. The current arch was built in 1935. [WP]

Hilda Conkling Quotation: "Moon, does he make you hurry?" - Hilda Conkling in Poems By a Little Girl.

Milton, Arthur: Author of "Berlin in seven days; a guide for people in a hurry, by Arthur Milton." Published in 1935.

Pary, Juliette: Author of "Les Hommes sont pressés. Men in a Hurry. Translated by Béatrice de Holthoir." Published in 1935.

PEMÁN Y PEMARTÍN. José María: Publication of "El Divino impaciente. A Saint in a Hurry. The story of Saint Francis Xavier. Translated by Hugh de Blacam.A play. With plates." Published in 1935.

Pema´n, Jose´ Mari´a: Publication of "A saint in a hurry: El divino impaciente; the story of Saint Francis Xavier." By Jose´ Mari´a Pema´n; translated by Hugh De Bla´cam, with introduction by C. C. Martindale (Divino impaciente. English). Publisher: Sands and Company (London). Published in 1935.

Sands: Publisher of "A saint in a hurry: el divino impaciente: the story of Saint Francis Xavier." By Jose´ Mari´a Pema´n; translated by Hugh de Blacam; with introduction by C.C. Martindale, S.J. Publisher: Sands (London). Published in 1935.

1936

Hemer: In December 1934 temporary barracks for one battalion were also built in Hemer. On October 30, 1936 an official garrison contract between Hemer and the state was signed, which included the building of permanent barracks. The construction wasn't finished when World War II started in 1939, but was then hurried and the buildings were reassigned as a prisoner of war camp, the "Stalag VI-A". [WP]

Masefield, John Edward: Author of "Victorious Troy, or, the Hurrying Angel. F.P." Published in 1936.

McKay, Arch, Mrs: Publication of "A history of Jefferson, Marion County, Texas, 1836-1936: one-time gateway of Texas retains its glory in rush and hurry of modern times." Compiled by Mrs. Arch McKay (and) Mrs. H.A. Spellings. Published in 1936.

1937

David Ogden Stewart Quotation: "It would be a blessed relief when the thing was finally done beyond chance of recall; why couldn't that stupid waiter hurry?" - David Ogden Stewart in A Parody Outline of History.

David Ogden Stewart Quotation: "She hides it in her cape and hurries home." - David Ogden Stewart in A Parody Outline of History.

Josephine Lawrence Quotation: "Brother and Sister hurried home and on the way over they changed to the Doctor and Muriel Elsie's worried mamma." - Josephine Lawrence in Brother and Sister.

Josephine Lawrence Quotation: "But Mickey was hurrying along toward Miss Putnam's house and did not care very much what anyone thought of him." - Josephine Lawrence in Brother and Sister.

Josephine Lawrence Quotation: "Ralph and Dick had already taken their way to the station and now Daddy Morrison hurried to get his train." - Josephine Lawrence in Brother and Sister.

Josephine Lawrence Quotation: "Take your kimona and slippers, Sister, and hurry; I'll have your bath ready for you when you come back." - Josephine Lawrence in Brother and Sister.

Josephine Lawrence Quotation: "She hurried on toward the kitchen and in a few moments the children heard her laughing with Molly." - Josephine Lawrence in Brother and Sister.

1938

Blunden, Edmund: Born in 1896 and died in 1974, authored "The hurrying brook." Publisher: Corvinus Press (London). Published in 1938.

Reg Harris: In early 1937, he was confident that he could support himself as an athlete and left the paper mill to focus on the summer cycle racing season, returning to the mill the following winter (and he repeated the process again the following year). He continued to win races and attract attention, and by the summer of 1938 was able to beat the existing British sprint champion. At the end of that season, he joined Manchester Wheelers, and in 1939 won a major race in Coventry, leading to his selection for the world championships in Milan. He travelled to Milan and had familiarised himself with the track when World War II broke out and the British team was hurriedly recalled back to the UK. [WP]

1939

E. F. L. Wood, 1st Earl of Halifax: close relations had become between Moscow and Berlin until it was too late. Italy invaded Albania and on 1 September 1939 Halifax had to watch as the international order he had sought to preserve fell to bits as Hitler invaded Poland. Chamberlain's mishandling of the peace and his equally reckless handling of what is usually called the Phony War led to his departure from 10 Downing Street. Halifax was a relatively popular candidate for the post of Prime Minister, but hurriedly ruled himself out, fearing he was not up to the challenge. [WP]

USS West Virginia (BB-48): In the closing years of the 1930s, it was becoming evident to many that it was only a matter of time before the United States became involved in yet another war on a grand scale. The United States Fleet thus came to be considered a deterrent to the country's most probable enemy, Japan. This reasoning produced the hurried despatch of the Fleet to Pacific waters in the spring of 1939 and the retention of the Fleet in Hawaiian waters in 1940, following the conclusion of Fleet Problem XXI in April. [WP]

USS Williams (DD-108): The German invasion of Poland on 1 September 1939 began hostilities in Europe, and President Franklin D. Roosevelt immediately declared America's neutrality. To augment the fleet units already engaged in the Neutrality Patrol hurriedly placed off the eastern seaboard and gulf coast of the United States, the Navy recommissioned 77 destroyers and light minelayers. [WP]

1940

Bach, Johann Sebastian: Born in 1685 and died in 1750, authored "Wir eilen mit schwachen, doch emsigen Schritten = We hurry with weak yet unfaltering footsteps, from 'Jesu, der du meine Seele' cantata, no. 78." Johann Sebastian Bach; transcribed for two pianos by Mary Howe. Publisher: Galaxy Music Corp (New York). Published in 1940.

Carolyn Wells Quotation: "A breeze, which had hurried across from New York for the purpose, blew her hat off, but she recked not, and only tautened her hair ribbon with an involuntary jerk just in time to prevent that going too." - Carolyn Wells in Ptomaine Street.

Carolyn Wells Quotation: "Parsons, if I make a hurried exit?" - Carolyn Wells in Patty's Butterfly Days.

1941

Buchan, John: Born in 1875 and died in 1940, authored "A book of escapes and hurried journeys (braille)." Publisher: Royal National Institute for the Blind (London). Published in 1941.

Donna Nook: The Donna Nook was also a 40 metre, 307 ton trawler, built in 1916 at Selby. She was pressed into service in 1941 as a minesweeper. She was accidentally rammed and sunk by another minesweeper called the Stella Rigel whilst hurrying to the assistance of a third minesweeper, the Franc Tireur, who was under torpedo attack by S96, a German E-Boat laying mines near Bouy 52, 12 miles north of Harwich, on the night of 24/25th September 1941. Her crew were saved by the Stella Rigel. [WP]

D'Usseau, Arnaud: Born in 1916, authored "Hearses don't hurry." Screenplay by Arnaud d'Usseau. Published in 1941.

Herman, Woody: Born in 1913 and died in 1987, authored "Hurry back to Sorrento (sound recording) / Sid Robin. Oh look at me now." Joe Bushkin - John De Vries. Publisher: Decca (United States). Published in 1941.

Mikhail Vasilyevich Vodopianov: During World War II, from July 1941 he was the commander of the long range bomber division, named the 81st Special Purpose Air Division. He commanded the first Soviet air raid on Berlin on August 10/11, 1941. On return way, his Petlyakov Pe-8 heavy bomber was shot down by the Flak and crash landed in Estonia, on "no man's land" between front lines. He and his crew managed to break through to the Soviet side. Vodopianov was dismissed from the commanding post as a result of big losses in this raid, but he continued to serve as a bomber pilot (main reasons of big losses were aircraft failures and a hurry in preparations, caused by Stalin's order). In 1943 he was promoted to a Major General. [WP]

United States. National Resources Planning Board Science Committee. Conservation of Cultural Resources Committee: Publication of "Tentative bibliography on the conservation of cultural resources in times of war: this bibliography has been compiled hurriedly by members of the staff of the National Archives for the Committee on the Conservation of Cultural Resources set up by the Science Committee of the National Resources Planning Board." Published in 1941.

USS Neches (AO-5): The oiler was underway from San Diego to Pearl Harbor when the Japanese attacked that base. She arrived 10 December 1941, rapidly off-loaded and hurriedly returned to San Diego in order to take on more cargo for Pearl Harbor. [WP]

USS Trever (DD-339): On the morning of 7 December 1941 when Imperial Japan launched its aircraft in the attack on Pearl Harbor, "Trever" was moored in West Loch with the minesweeping ships "Zane" (DMS-14), "Wasmuth" (DMS-15), and "Perry" (DMS-17). She engaged the aircraft with her .50-caliber Browning machine guns was solely responsible for shooting one down, and contributed (with her sister ships) to another plane's demise. She extremely hurriedly sortied to sea, under the command of the captain of "Henley (DD-391)", as many commanding officers were not able to reach their ships before sortie. "Trever's" commanding officer, Lt. Cmdr. Agnew, who had gone to sea on board the "Wasmuth", was able to rejoin his ship later that day. "Trever" spent the rest of the year, and beginning of the next, conducting minesweeping operations, local escort missions and antisubmarine patrols. [WP]

William Does His Bit: The household bustles with the sounds of the words "war" and

1942

"economy", most often joining to form "war economy". William, trying in vain to persuade his mother that leaving school would save money, and that he would go back after the war (historical note, book was written in 1941, meaning he war would end in about 4 years, william being eleven). He asks the cook if she knew about war economy. Aside from stealing the odd couple of raisins (which later ended in a comical sequence of the browns saying how little raisins were in there aisin puddings), he manages to get Cook to tell him about "corners" of produce made by "war profiteers" who gain money from wars. William decides to make a "corner" of wood, since there is a wood nearby his home. He takes it to the house of a Builder, and finds a scared women there, fretting over her war time recpes, which happen to include directons that don't even make sense to her, wo tells William to put his "wood corner" in the living room. But it is not Mr. Jones the builder who lives here, Mr. Jones the fretwork creator!!! Obviously taking a "wood corner" to be a piece of a chair or something, she hurriedly assumes William has every right to dump his barrow into the living room. The womans relations have been skipping from place to place, eventually bleeding all their relations dry, and Mrs. Jones is no different. When William outrages Mr. Jones with his "corner" of sticks and twig sized branches of common firewood, Mrs. Jones is however quite glad to see them leave for anoher unfortuante relation! She evntually gives William a Stilton Cheese to take to Mr. Brown. [WP]

1942

Publication: Publication of "Put 1943 budgets in khaki!: time to hurry." Published in 1942.

Schertzinger, Victor: Author of "Arthur Murray taught me dancing in a hurry (from the Paramount picture Fleet's in) (sound recording) / Victor Schertzinger - Johnny Mercer. Not mine (from the Paramount picture Fleet's in)." Publisher: Decca (United States). Published in 1942.

USS Ellet (DD-398): Out of Espiritu Santo "Ellet" patrolled to the Solomons with TF 16 from November 1942 until May 1943, then returned to Pearl Harbor. Back at Espiritu Santo 1 July, she hurried to Tulagi for the consolidation of the northern Solomons. She sailed for overhaul on the west coast in September 1943. [WP]

USS Juneau (CL-52): Following a hurried shakedown cruise along the Atlantic coast in the spring of 1942, "Juneau" assumed blockade patrol in early May off Martinique and Guadeloupe Islands to prevent the escape of Vichy French Naval units. She returned to New York to complete alterations and operated in the North Atlantic and Caribbean from 1 June to 12 August on patrol and escort duties. The cruiser departed for the Pacific Theater 22 August. [WP]

USS S-38 (SS-143): Cavite had now become untenable, and "S-38" was ordered to Soerabaja whence, after repairs, she was to operate with other Allied forces attempting to stem the Japanese thrust into the East Indies. On 14 January 1942, the submarine arrived at the Dutch base on the north coast of Java. On 15 January, the ABDA Command (American, British, Dutch, Australian) was officially established. On 24 January, the Japanese reached Balikpapan. On 25 January, "S-38", hurriedly repaired, departed Soerabaja to patrol in Makassar Strait off Balikpapan. [WP]

1943

Publication: Publication of "300 hints and highlights on hurry up meals." Published in 1943.

1944

Bristol Beaufort: During the Pacific War, the Beaufort performed a vital role. With the United States unable to supply many aircraft to the RAAF, the DAP Beaufort became a mainstay of the RAAF during 1941-44. Production continued to increase, reaching almost one a day in 1943, and though inexperience and hurry combined to produce a horrendous accident rate early on, the Beaufort served with 19 squadrons and played a vital role in stemming the Japanese advance: as a maritime patrol aircraft, bomber, fighter-bomber, and most of all on maritime strike duties, where Beauforts sunk an impressive tonnage of merchant and naval shipping. After roughly 50 each of the Mk V, VI and VII and 520 Mk VIIIs, production ceased in favour of more modern types in 1944, and handful of Mk.VIII's were later modified as transports, known as the Mk.IX or "Beaufreighter". [WP]

1945

British Free Corps: On March 8, 1945, the remaining BFC men were brought before Kuhlich who gave each a choice: fight at the front or be sent to an isolation camp. All of them chose to fight. Wilson, in no hurry to go into battle, managed to get himself a slot as liaison between the BFC and Kuhlichs' Berlin office. This left Douglas Mardon, a South African POW who had joined in January, in charge of the unit and in shaping up what he had: a grand total of eight men -- he refused to take two men, and Minchin had scabies. Mardon had to move the unit to a training camp in Niemeck, where the BFC men were given training in the use of the Panzerfaust and other tank killing methods. They were also issued with the StG44 (MP44) assault rifle and given training in its use. The unit strength was cut down to seven when one member was transferred after smoking aspirin until he became ill. At last, the Germans would get some use from the BFC. [WP]

Byrd, Sam: Born in 1908, authored "Hurry home to my heart." Publisher: Houghton Mifflin Company (Boston). Published in 1945.

Diocesan Girls' School, Hong Kong: In 1913, the School finally moved to its present site in Kowloon, formerly a paddy field for rice-growing. In the 1920s, the school motto, "Daily Giving Service", was adopted. During the Japanese occupation in World War II, the School was taken over as headquarters of the Japanese gendarmerie until it re-opened in September 1945 by Mrs. Gibbins, the present headmistress, who was imprisoned in Stanley during the war. To her credit, she hurried back to the Campus to reclaim the School upon her release, thereby saving the building from being looted by angry residents. [WP]

Higgins Industries: Publication of "History in a hurry: the story of Higgins of New Orleans." Publisher: Higgins (New Orleans). Published in 1945.

Redfern Gallery: Publisher of "Recent drawings by Leslie Hurry: (also) paintings by Basil Jonzen...(et al.)." Publisher: Redfern Gallery (London). Published in 1945.

1946

Adams, Malcolm: Author of "Hurry! Miss Thane." Published in 1946.

Hawes, Elizabeth: Born in 1903 and died in 1971, authored "Hurry up, please, its time." Publisher: Reynal & Hitchcock (New York, N.Y.). Published in 1946.

Hurry Leslie: Publication of "Settings & costumes for Sadler's Wells ballet Hamlet (1942), Le Lac des Cygnes and the Old Vic Hamlet (1944) with an introduction by Cyril W. Beaumont ed. by Lillian Browse." Published in 1946.

John Wain: Wain was born and brought up in Stoke-on-Trent, Staffordshire, and attended St. John's College, Oxford, gaining a B.A. in 1946 and M.A. in 1950. He wrote his first novel "Hurry on Down" in 1953, a comic picaresque about an unsettled university graduate who turns his life against conventional society. Other notable novels include "Strike the father dead" (1962), a tale of a jazzman's rebellion against his conventional father, and "Young shoulders" (1982), winner of the Whitbread Prize, the searing tale of a young boy facing the death of loved ones. Wain's use of lower-case letters in the titles of his novels indicates his non-conventional manner. [WP]

Margaret Pedler Quotation: "It was weeks since Dan had offered to relieve her of any of her housewifely tasks, although at one time he had been wont to hurry home, if he could manage to do so, on purpose to help her." - Margaret Pedler in The Lamp of Fate.

Margaret Pedler Quotation: "There would be no other train to meet at Ashencombe until the down mail, due four hours later, so why hurry?" - Margaret Pedler in The Lamp of Fate.

Margaret Pedler Quotation: "With a sharp exclamation he flung down his brush and palette and strode hurriedly to the divan." - Margaret Pedler in The Lamp of Fate.

Margaret Pedler Quotation: "Only I suppose Davilof hustled off to Devonshire in such a hurry that he never saw it." - Margaret Pedler in The Lamp of Fate.

Margaret Pedler Quotation: "Beneath his hand he could feel the hurrying beat of her heart." - Margaret Pedler in The Lamp of Fate.

USS Louisville (CA-28): With the end of the war, 14 August, "Louisville" was again seaworthy and hurriedly prepared for postwar duties. On the 16th she sailed for Guam, thence to Darien, Manchuria, with Rear Admiral T. G. W. Settle on board. From Darien, where the evacuation of Allied POWs was supervised, she steamed to Tsingato, where Japanese vessels in that area were surrendered by Vice Admiral Kaneko. "Louisville" then escorted the surrendered vessels to Jinsen, Korea, after which she returned to China for further postwar duties at Chefoo. In mid-October, she joined the Yellow Sea force for abbreviated service before proceeding, via San Pedro, to Philadelphia, where she decommissioned 17 June 1946 and entered the Atlantic Reserve Fleet. Remaining with that fleet for the next 13 years, "Louisville" was struck from the Navy list, 1 March 1959, and sold on 14 September, to the Marlene Blouse Corporation of New York. [WP]

Wilder, Margaret Buell: Author of "Hurry up and wait. (A novel.)." Published in 1946.

1947

Cyril Radcliffe, 1st Viscount Radcliffe: Radcliffe joined the Ministry of Information becoming its Director-General by 1941, where he worked closely with the Minister Brendan Bracken. After the war he resumed legal practice but this was again interrupted in 1947 when he was given the chairmanship of the two boundary committees set up with the passing of the Indian Independence Act: his sole Indian connection was the death of his eldest brother while on active service in the country. With little information to go on and with little detailed knowledge of the country, Radcliffe was forced to do as best he could. The Radcliffe Award was carried out in the greatest secrecy but there was still pressure to adjust the line between the two emergent nations of India and Pakistan for political reasons. The immediate consequences of partition were horrendous for both countries though it is doubtful that anything Radcliffe could have done would have made a great difference; even the most carefully crafted border would have provoked the massive population migrations which resulted. Radcliffe was at all turns harassed and hurried by outgoing Viceroy Mountbatten, who turned out to be ill prepared for the consequences of the Awards. [WP]

Hurry, Leslie: Born in 1909, authored "Leslie Hurry: settings & costumes for Sadler's Wells ballets. Hamlet (1942), Le lac des cygnes, and the Old Vic Hamlet (1944) With an introduction by Cyril W. Beaumont. Edited by Lillian Browse." Published in 1947.

LONDON, III. Miscellaneous Institutions, Societies, and other Bodies: Publication of "Meals in a Hurry. Recipes tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Institute, etc." Published in 1947.

Roland, Browse, and Delbanco: Publication of "Paintings by Walter Greaves, designs for 'Turandot' by Leslie Hurry: (June 1947)." Publisher: Roland, Browse & Delbanco (London). Published in 1947.

1948

Klempner, John: Author of "Hurry, hurry home." Publisher: C. Scribner's Sons (New York). Published in 1948.

Martin Luther King Quotation: "She stood waiting for the child to go, and under the keen glance of her eyes Sophy, feeling as though she had been caught in some disgraceful act, hurried down the walk and out of the gate, with her bouquet in her hand." - Martin Luther King in Martin Luther King Jr. Day Anthology.

Martin Luther King Quotation: "Its methods of bookkeeping were not good, and the whole system of its work and records partook of the hurry and turmoil of the time." - Martin Luther King in Martin Luther King Jr. Day Anthology.

Martin Luther King Quotation: "Young mars wuz in a tarrible hurry fer ter git back home." - Martin Luther King in Martin Luther King Jr. Day Anthology.

1949

Martin Luther King Quotation: "I hurried by the cottage of the misborn Neill boys." - Martin Luther King in Martin Luther King Jr. Day Anthology.

Martin Luther King Quotation: "So I hurried on, thinking of the Burkes." - Martin Luther King in Martin Luther King Jr. Day Anthology.

National Magazine Company: Publisher of "Meals in a hurry." Publisher: National Magazine Company (Sydney). Published in 1948.

1949

Beim, Lorraine: Born in 1909 and died in 1951, authored "Hurry back." By Lorraine Beim; illustrated by Edgar Levy. Publisher: Harcourt, Brace and Co (New York). Published in 1949.

Shann, Renée: Author of "Young man in a hurry. A romance." Published in 1949.

1950

Deane, pseudonym [i.e. John Creasey.]. Norman: Publication of "No Hurry to kill." Published in 1950.

Hurry, Leslie: Author of "Paintings and Drawings by Leslie Hurry. Reproductions. With an introduction by Jack Lindsay." Published in 1950.

Lockridge, Frances Louise Davis: Born in 1896 and died in 1963, authored "Murder in a hurry: a Mr. and Mrs. North mystery." Publisher: Thorndike Press (Thorndike, ME). Published in 1950.

Rosey, George: Author of "Operatic hurry (music)." Published in 1950.

1951

Procter, Maurice: Author of "Hurry the darkness." Publisher: Harper, (New York). Published in 1951.

1952

Alstone, Alex: Author of "Hurry, hurry, hurry (music): darling, come home." Words by Willard Robison; music by Alex Alstone. Publisher: J. Albert & Son (Sydney). Published in 1952.

Ashe, Gordon: Born in 1908 and died in 1973, authored "Death in a hurry." Publisher: Evans Bros (London). Published in 1952.

Lockridge, Frances Louise: Author of "Murder in a Hurry." Published in 1952.

Operation Hurricane: The bomb used plutonium produced at Calder Hall in Cumbria (now Sellafield) with a low Pu-240 content since hurried production led to short irradiation times. In fact Windscale could not quite meet the 1 August 1952 deadline for manufacturing the core and the device also used some Canadian-supplied plutonium. [WP] Procter, Maurice: Author of "Hurry the Darkness." Published in 1952.

1953

De Jong, Meindert: Born in 1910, authored "Hurry home Candy." By Meindert DeJong; pictures by Maurice Sendak. --. Publisher: Harper (New York). Published in 1953.

Vigo Press: Publisher of "The American guide to Italy; with detailed information on how to save money, see more, and have more fun - leisurely or in a hurry." Publisher: Vigo Press (New York). Published in 1953.

Wain, John: Born in 1925, authored "Hurry on down." Publisher: Penguin, in association with Secker & Warburg (Harmondsworth). Published in 1953.

1954

Buff, Mary Marsh: Born in 1890 and died in 1970, authored "Hurry, Skurry, & Flurry, by Mary & Conrad Buff." Publisher: Viking Press (New York). Published in 1954.

Hurry, Colin: Author of "The Oracle Dog and the Sages. (Illustrations by Michael Lewis.)." Published in 1954.

1955

Wain John: Publication of "Hurtigt ned ad bakke. Overs. fra engelsk efter "Hurry on down" af Michael Tejn. Omslagstegn. af Des Asmussen." Published in 1954.

Yaffe, James: Born in 1927, authored "What's the big hurry!: A novel. --." Published in 1954.

1955

Loeb, Gerald M.: Author of "The battle for investment survival." Publisher: Hurry House Publishers (New York). Published in 1955.

Publication: Publication of "Quick dishes for the woman in a hurry (by) staff home economists: Melanie De Proft, director ... (et al.) Illustrated by Kay Lovelace." Publisher: published for Culinary Arts Institute by Book Production Industries (Chicago, Ill). Published in 1955.

Stevens, Frederick William: Author of "True exposure of a plot to destroy the British Empire by 1957: hurry, the time is short!." Publisher: F. W. Stevens (Christchurch, N.Z.). Published in 1955.

Wain, John Barlington: Author of "Hurry on down: a novel." Publisher: Secker & Warburg (London). Published in 1955.

1956

Flag of Georgia (U.S. state): Miller's successor as Governor, Roy Barnes, responded to the increasing calls for a new state flag, and in 2001 quickly hurried a replacement through the legislature. His new flag sought a compromise, by featuring small versions of some (but not all) of Georgia's former flags, including the controversial 1956 flag, under the words "Georgia's History." Those flags are the original thirteen-star "Betsy Ross" US flag; the first Georgia flag (before 1879); the 1920-1956 Georgia flag; the previous state flag (1956-2001); and the current fifty-star US flag. [WP]

Movie Release: The movie "Hurry! Kurama!" is released.

Rowe, Viola: Author of "Girl in a hurry." By Viola Rowe; decorations by Tom O'Sullivan. Publisher: Longmans, Green (New York). Published in 1956.

1957

Lovelock, William: Born in 1899 and died in 1986, authored "Hurry back! (music)." Words and music by Bill Lovelock. Publisher: Southern Music Publishing Co (Sydney). Published in 1957.

National Gallery of Canada Musée des beaux-arts du Canada Stratford Festival: Publication of "Paintings, theatre and ballet designs by Pavel Tchelitchew and Leslie Hurry (exhibition records)." Published in 1957.

Norman Coombs Quotation: "Many who had run away during the war returned home to be with friends and family. Thousands of others, born in the North, hurried south to help educate and rehabilitate their brothers." - Norman Coombs in Black Experience.

1958

Armchair Theatre: One particularly notable play was "Underground", a science-fiction story transmitted on November 28 1958. A little over halfway through the live broadcast, actor Gareth Jones complained of feeling unwell while off-set in make-up between two of his scenes, and then suddenly collapsed and died. Sydney Newman ordered director William Kotcheff to carry on with the play and "shoot it like a football match", meaning to follow the characters around as they improvised a way of coping with the missing cast member. While Kotcheff hurriedly re-structured the story to be able to bring the play to an end without the missing character, production assistant Verity Lambert took over control of directing the cameras. Live transmission of "Armchair Theatre" plays ceased soon after this incident, and pre-recording on videotape began to be employed. [WP]

Latham, Jean Lee: Author of "Young man in a hurry: the story of Cyrus W Field." By Jean Lee Latham; pictures by Victor Mays. Publisher: Harper (New York). Published in 1958.

1959

Adshead, Gladys L.: Author of "Brownies -

hurry!." By Gladys L. Adshead; pictures by Velma Ilsley. Publisher: H. Z. Walck (New York). Published in 1959.

Movie Release: The movie "Wild About Hurry" is released.

1960

Hurd, Edith Thacher: Publication of "Hurry hurry." By Edith Thacher Hurd; pictures by Clement Hurd. Publisher: Harper & Row (New York). Published in 1960.

Martin, Samuel Elmo: Born in 1924, authored "Korean in a hurry: a quick approach to spoken Korean." Publisher: C. E. Tuttle (Tokyo; Rutland, Vt.). Published in 1960.

The Supremes: Although the Supremes were twice nominated for a Grammy Award - for Grammy Award for Best Rhythm & Blues Best Rhythm & Blues Recording ("Baby Love", Grammy Awards of 1965) and Grammy Award for Best Pop Performance by a Duo or Group with Best Contemporary Rock & Roll Group Vocal Performance ("Stop! In the Name of Love", Grammy Awards of 1966) - they never won an award in competition. Three of their songs - "Where Did Our Love Go" and "You Keep Me Hangin' On" (both Grammy Awards of 1999) and "Stop! In the Name of Love" (Grammy Awards of 2001) - have been named to the Grammy Hall of Fame. They were inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame in 1988, received a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame in 1994, and entered into the Vocal Group Hall of Fame in 1998. In addition, the Supremes songs "Stop! In the Name of Love" and "You Can't Hurry Love" are among The Rock and Roll Hall of Fame's 500 Songs that Shaped Rock and Roll. The black girl groups that have succeeded them in popular music, including The Three Degrees, The Emotions, The Pointer Sisters, En Vogue, TLC, and Destiny's Child, have shown the influence that the Supremes and Motown had during the 1960s. [WP]

WAIN, John Barrington: Author of "Hurry on Down." Publisher: Penguin Books in association with Secker & Warburg (Harmondsworth). Published in 1960.

1961

Hurd, Edith Thacher: Author of "Hurry, hurry. Pictures by Clement Hurd." Published in 1961.

Jones, Sara Pugh: Author of "A Hurried history of Llangollen." Published in 1961.

Weiss, Harvey: Author of "Horse in no Hurry. Illustrated by the author." Published in 1961.

1962

DE JONG. Meindert: Publication of "Hurry Home, Candy, etc." Published in 1962.

Gordon, Harry: Born in 1926, authored "Young men in a hurry: the story of Australia's fastest decade." Published in 1962.

Griffin, Ella Washington: Author of "Continent in a Hurry. The Challenge of Africa today. With illustrations, including a map." Published in 1962.

Ruanda-Urundi: Independence came largely as a result of actions elsewhere. In the 1950s an independence movement arose in the Belgian Congo, and the Belgians became convinced they could no longer control the territory. In 1960 Ruanda-Urundi's larger neighbour gained its independence. After two more years of hurried preparations the colony became independent on July 1, 1962, broken up along traditional lines as the independent nations of Rwanda and Burundi. It took two more years before the government of the two became wholly separate. [WP]

1963

Arts Council: Publisher of "3 stage designers: Leslie Hurry, Isabel Lambert, Sophie Fedorovitch." Publisher: Arts Council (London). Published in 1963.

Movie Release: The movie "Hare-Breadth Hurry" is released.

Vaccari, Oreste: Author of "Japanese in a hurry: a quick approach to Japanese language, containing 100 short lessons on subjects of daily conversation and 1000 basic Japanese words." By Oreste Vaccari and Enko Elisa Vaccari. Published in 1963.

1964

Gilden, K. B.: Born in 1914, authored "Hurry sundown, by K. B. Gilden." Publisher: Doubleday (Garden City, N.Y.). Published in 1964.

Hurry, Stephen W.: Author of "The microstructure of cells; (by) Stephen W Hurry. With a foreword by P.B. Medawar. -." Publisher: Houghton Mifflin (New York). Published in 1964.

Wain, John: Born in 1925 and died in 1994, authored "Hurry on down." John Wain; (translated into Hebrew). Publisher: am Oved (Tel Aviv). Published in 1964.

1965

Buff, Mary Marsh: Born in 1890, authored "Hurry, Skurry, & Flurry." Publisher: Viking Press (New York). Published in 1965.

Fleming, pseudonym [i.e. William Henry Fleming Bird.]. Harry: Publication of "Hurry-up Jet. Illustrated by Gordon Stowell." Published in 1965.

Gilden, K. B.: Author of "Hurry sundown." Publisher: Heinemann (London). Published in 1965.

Holland, Eddie: Author of "You can't hurry love (music)." Words and music by Eddie Holland, Lamont Dozier and Brian Holland. Publisher: April Music (North Sydney). Published in 1965.

Hurry, Stephen W.: Author of "The microstructure of cells: an introduction for sixth forms." (by) Stephen W. Hurry. With a foreword by P. B. Medawar. Published in 1965.

Joe Orton: With the success of "Sloane" evident, "Loot" was hurried into pre-production, despite the obvious flaws. Rehersals began in January 1965 with a six-week tour culminating in a West End debut planned. The play opened in Cambridge on February 1 to disasterous and scathing reviews, and not for the content but for the plot, the acting, the bright white set, the entire "quality" of the piece. Orton, at odds with director Peter Wood over the plot (or lack of same), still tore at the play producing 133 pages of new material to replace or add to the original ninety. The cast were demoralized in rehearsal and uneven and tentative on stage, they were however impressed with Orton's energy and efforts. The play staggered on to more poor reviews in Brighton, Oxford, Bournemouth, Manchester, and finally Wimbledon in mid-March. ""Loot" was a dead horse, but it continued to be flogged." Orton retired from the fray for a promiscuous, hashish-filled, eighty-day holiday in Tangier, Morocco. [WP]

Lane, Burton: Born in 1912, authored "Hurry! it's lovely up here! (music)." Words by Alan Jay Lerner; music by Burton Lane. Publisher: Chappell & Co., with Lerlane (New York, N.Y.). Published in 1965.

Movie Release: The movie "Hairied and Hurried" is released.

Wain, John: Author of "Hurry on down." Published in 1965.

1966

Cone, Molly: Author of "Hurry, Henrietta." Publisher: Houghton Mifflin (Boston). Published in 1966.

MacDonald, Alexander: Born in 1908, authored "Tanzania: young nation in a hurry." Publisher: Hawthorn Books (New York). Published in 1966.

North, Sterling: Born in 1906 and died in 1974, authored "Hurry, spring!." By Sterling North; drawings by Carl Burger. Publisher: Dutton (New York). Published in 1966.

Police Tactical Unit (Hong Kong): The tactics and equipment which had been tested for almost a decade were called suddenly into use in the spring of 1966 when The Star Ferry riots erupted. There was no warning. One night, the bustling streets of Hong Kong were busy and joyful. The next, there were mobs, riots and looting. The PTU units so hurriedly called out rapidly restored order. [WP]

Wain, John: Author of "Hurry on down. A novel. Abridged with introduction, glossary and notes by Richard Martin." Published in 1966.

You Can't Hurry Love: "You Can't Hurry Love" is a 1966 hit song recorded by The Supremes for the Motown label. Written and produced by Motown's main production team Holland-Dozier-Holland,

"You Can't Hurry Love" is one of the signature Supremes and Motown songs, and was the number-one song on the Billboard Hot 100 singles chart for two weeks, from September 4 1966 to September 17 1966. [WP]

1967

Carruth, Gertrude: Author of "Papa was in a hurry." Publisher: Naylor Co (San Antonio). Published in 1967.

Faye Dunaway: Her first screen role was in 1967 in "Hurry Sundown", but that same year, she got the leading female role in "Bonnie and Clyde Bonnie and Clyde" (opposite Warren Beatty) which garnered her an Oscar nomination. It was in the 1970s that she began to stretch her acting muscles in such films as "Three Days of the Condor", "Puzzle of a Downfall Child", "Little Big Man", "Chinatown (1974 Chinatown", and "Network Network", for which she won her Oscar as the scheming, almost inhumanly cold-blooded TV executive "Diana Christensen". [WP]

Mary Thomas, Sister, O. P.: Publication of "The Lord may be in a hurry; the Congregation of Dominican Sisters of St. Catherine of Siena of Kenosha, Wisconsin./ Mary Thomas." Published in 1967.

Montenegro, Hugo: Author of "Hurry sundown (printed music): (from) Hurry sundown." Music by Hugo Montenegro; lyrics by Buddy Kaye. Publisher: Chappell & Co (New York). Published in 1967.

Movie Release: The movie "Hurry Sundown" is released.

USS Wright (CVL-49): There were highlights and breaks from the cycle of periods in port and at sea. From 11 to 14 April 1967, "Wright" lay at anchor off the coast of Uruguay, providing a world-wide communications capability in support of President Lyndon B. Johnson as he attended the Latin American summit conference at Punta del Este. On 8 May 1968, "Wright" went to the aid of "Guadalcanal" (LPH-7) after that amphibious assault ship had suffered a machinery failure and had gone dead in the water, 180 miles south of Norfolk. "Wright" towed the helpless assault ship 84 miles before other ships arrived on the scene to help out. Later that same year, "Wright" received the coveted Ney award in the large mess afloat category. That award is given annually to the ship that maintains the highest food standards. During the "Pueblo" crisis in February 1969, "Wright"--while en route to Port Everglades, Florida--was hurriedly recalled to Norfolk and, upon her arrival there, stood by, on alert. Ultimately decommissioned on 27 May 1970, "Wright" was placed in reserve at the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard. The ship was stricken from the Navy List on 1 December 1977, and sold by the Defense Reutilization and Marketing Service (DRMS) for scrapping on 1 August 1980. [WP]

Wain, John: Born in 1925 and died in 1994, authored "Hurry on down: (broadcast version)." Published in 1967.

Walsh, Penelope: Author of "Not to hurry, love." Published in 1967.

1968

Belcas Music: Publisher of "Hurry home: Pokare-kare-ana." Words by Rolf Harris; music traditional, arranged by Rolf Harris. Publisher: Belcas Music (Sydney, N.S.W. Castle Music; Lower Hutt, N.Z). Published in 1968.

DE JONG. Meindert: Publication of "Hurry home, Candy. Snoepie kom huis toe. Illustrasies deur Maurice Sendak. (Vertaling deur Chris van Lille.)." Published in 1968.

Hurry, Stephen W.: Author of "Enquiries in biology: teachers' guide." Stephen W. Hurry, D. G. Mackean. Publisher: J. Murray (London). Published in 1968.

ONTARIO ASSOCIATION FOR CONTINUING EDUCATION: Publication of "METROPOLITAN TORONTO 1988 - A COMMUNITY FOR HUMAN DEVELOPMENT OR A TECHNOPOLITAN CENTRE OF HURRIED HUMAN CONFUSION? REFLECTIONS ON THE NEED FOR A METROPOLITAN TORONTO PLAN FOR HUMAN DEVELOPMENT." Published in 1968.

Steiner, Charlotte: Author of "What's the hurry, Harry?." Story and pictures by Charlotte Steiner.

Publisher: Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Co (New York). Published in 1968.

1969

Amul: In 1969, when the city first saw the beginning of the Hare Rama Hare Krishna movement, Sylvester daCunha, Mohammad Khan and Usha Bandarkar, then the creative team working on the Amul account came up with a clincher -- 'Hurry Amul, Hurry Hurry'. Bombay reacted to the ad with a fervour that was almost as devout as the Iskon fever. [WP]

Chambers, Robert William: Born in 1865 and died in 1933, authored "A young man in a hurry, and other short stories --." Publisher: Books for Libraries Press (Freeport, N.Y.). Published in 1969.

Donald Crowhurst: On April 22, 1969, Robin Knox-Johnston was the first to complete the race, leaving Crowhurst supposedly in the running against Tetley for second to finish, and possibly still able to beat Knox-Johnston's time (due to his later starting date). In reality, Tetley was far in the lead, having long ago passed within 150 miles of Crowhurst's hiding place; but believing himself to be in a hurry, Tetley pushed his failing boat (also a trimaran) to the breaking point, and had to abandon ship on May 30. The pressure on Crowhurst increased as he now had a real chance to win the race by deception, if he correctly timed his return; he had begun to make his way back as if he had rounded Cape Horn. [WP]

Hurry, Leslie: Born in 1909, authored "Watercolours and gouaches by Leslie Hurry." Publisher: Mercury Gallery (London). Published in 1969.

Mendoza, George: Author of "And I must hurry for the sea is coming in. Photographs by DeWayne Dalrymple, etc." Published in 1969.

Movie Release: The movie "Please Hurry!" is released.

Patten, Brian: Born in 1946, authored "Notes to the hurrying man: poems, winter '66 - summer '68. --." Publisher: Allen & Unwin (London). Published in 1969.

Paulucci, Jeno F.: Born in 1918, authored "How it was to make $100,000,000 in a hurry; the tale of Jeno and the bean sprout, by Jeno Paulucci with Les Rich." Published in 1969.

Smith, Ruth Leslie: Author of "Hurry! Dinner is at six!." By Ruth Leslie Smith; illustrated by Robert Tallon. Published in 1969.

Van Bibber, Jack: Author of "Fast feasts; a cookbook for hurried gourmets." Published in 1969.

1970

Barthelson, Joyce: Born in 1900, authored "Hurry, hurry !: for piano." Publisher: J. Fischer & Bro (Glen Rock, N.J.). Published in 1970.

Hoffmann, Oswald C. J.: Author of "Hurry home where you belong by Oswald C. J Hoffmann." Published in 1970.

Shakespeare, William: Born in 1564 and died in 1616, authored "King Richard III." William Shakespeare; introduction by Douglas Seale; designs by Leslie Hurry. Publisher: Folio Society (London). Published in 1970.

Strouse, Charles: Born in 1928, authored "Hurry back (music)." Music by Charles Strouse; lyrics by Lee Adams. Publisher: Edwin H. Morris & Company (New York). Published in 1970.

Wideman, John Edgar: Author of "Hurry home. --." Publisher: Harcourt, Brace & World (New York). Published in 1970.

1971

Bangs, John Kendrick: Born in 1862 and died in 1922, authored "Potted fiction: being a series of extracts from the world's best sellers put up in thin slices for hurried consumers. The United States Literary Canning Co." Publisher: Books for Libraries Press (Freeport, N.Y.). Published in 1971.

Fenner, Phyllis Reid: Born in 1899, authored "Desperate moments: stories of escapes and hurried journeys." Selected by Phyllis R. Fenner; illustrated by Charles Geer. Publisher: Morrow (New York). Published in 1971.

Griffin, Samuel Franklin: Author of "Little squaw Big Hurry." Publisher: Gold Side Books (Oakhurst, CA). Published in 1971.

1972

1972

Cotton, Eugene Cotton, Hilda jt. auth: Publication of "Northumbria in a hurry: an unconventional guide to Northumberland and Durham." By Eugene and Hilda Cotton. Publisher: Minerva Publishing Co (Newcastle upon Tyne). Published in 1972.

Ellis, Mel: Born in 1912, authored "Hurry Up Harry Hanson." Publisher: four Winds Press (New York). Published in 1972.

Fitzgerald, Jacqui: Author of "Don't touch me (sound recording) / Hank, Cochran; (performed by) Jacqui James. Soul medley (If I were a carpenter/Walk away Rene/You can't hurry love)." Publisher: Pye (N.Z.). Published in 1972.

Hurry, Stephen W.: Author of "Enquiries in biology." Stephen W. Hurry, D.G Mackean. Publisher: John Murray (London). Published in 1972.

LAMISON, ROBERT M.: Author of "HOUSING IN A HURRY. PROCEEDINGS OF NORTH ATLANTIC CONFERENCE. (CAMBRIDGE, MASSACHUSETTS, MARCH 18, 1972.)." Published in 1972.

Publication: Publication of "London in 48 hours the ideal guide for a visitor in a hurry - what to see, how to get there, at-a-glance maps, a souvenir of London." Published in 1972.

1973

Creasey, John: Author of "No hurry to kill. (Revised.. edition.)." Published in 1973.

Madison, Winifred: Author of "Growing up in a hurry." Publisher: Pocket Books (New York). Published in 1973.

Movie Release: The movie "Hurry Up or I'll Be 30" is released.

Patten, Marguerite: Author of "Cooking in a hurry by Marguerite Patten." Published in 1973.

The University of British Columbia School of Librarianship: Publisher of "Hurry for me! Books for young children of various racial groups." Publisher: The University of British Columbia School of Librarianship (Vancouver). Published in 1973.

1974

Aims of Industry. Economic Arguments: Publication of "'A hurried takeover by an inexpert body of men' North Sea oil Aims of Industry." Published in 1974.

De Jong, Meindert: Born in 1910 and died in 1991, authored "Hurry home Candy." Publisher: Lutterworth (Cambridge). Published in 1974.

Hound Dog Films: Publisher of "Hurry tomorrow (motion picture)." By Richard Cohen and Kevin Rafferty. Publisher: Hound Dog Films (San Francisco, Calif). Published in 1974.

Hurry, Jamieson Boyd: Born in 1857 and died in 1930, authored "Poverty and its vicious circles." Publisher: Arno Press (New York). Published in 1974.

Jørgensen Ingeborg: Publication of "Gloser og kommentarer til John Wain: Hurry on down, Penguin Books Udarb. af Ingeborg Jørgensen og Ernst Nilsson." Published in 1974.

Shann, Renée: Author of "Young man in a hurry." Publisher: Hale (London). Published in 1974.

Venable, Alan: Born in 1944, authored "Hurry the crossing." Publisher: Lippincott (Philadelphia, PA). Published in 1974.

1975

Brett, Molly: Author of "The hare in a hurry (written and illustrated) by Molly Brett." Published in 1975.

Cohen, Richard.; Rafferty, Kevin: Author of "Hurry tomorrow (motion picture)." Publisher: Tricontinental Film Center (New York). Published in 1975.

Geological Survey of Greenland Coe, Kenneth: Publication of "The Hurry Inlet granite and related rocks of Liverpool Land, East Greenland." Publisher: Grønlands geologiske undersøgelse (Copenhagen, Denmark). Published in 1975.

1976

Hound Dog Films: Publisher of "Hurry tomorrow." A film by Richard Cohen and Kevin Rafferty. Publisher: Hound Dog Films (San Francisco, Calif). Published in 1975.

Movie Release: The movie "Hurry Tomorrow" is released.

Old Chicago: Problems began developing with the mall's hurried construction. As early as July 1975, a malfunction in the mall's sprinkler system caused a six-hour shutdown of the mall. Later that year a small fire in a trash compactor forced an evacuation of the mall. In November, acrobat Jimmy Troy fell to his death from the trapeze during a circus at the mall. [WP]

Ontario. Ministry of Health: Publication of "Breakfast in a hurry." Published in 1975.

Publication: Publication of "Hurry tomorrow." A film by Richard Cohen and Kevin Rafferty; Halfway House Films. Publisher: distributed by Richard Cohen Films ((Santa Monica, Calif.): Santa Monica Video; Venice, CA). Published in 1975.

Sepamla, Sydney Sipho: Born in 1932, authored "Hurry up to it!." Publisher: Donker (Johannesburg). Published in 1975.

Trench, A. M.: Author of "Hurry, catch me." By A. M. Trench; ill. by Barbara Wong, Susan Allen. Publisher: Trench. Published in 1975.

1976

Bailey, Pearl: Author of "Hurry up, America, & spit." Publisher: Harcourt Brace Jovanovich (New York). Published in 1976.

Bonsall, Crosby: Author of "Hurry up, slowpoke." Translated into Portuguese, titled "Anda logo, seu molenga!" (translator: Ofelia Fntes). Publisher: Tecnoprint (Rio de Janeiro). Published in 1976.

Cutler, Carol: Author of "Cuisine rapide: 230 delectable recipes for cooks in a hurry." Publisher: C.N. Potter (New York, N.Y.). Published in 1976.

De Jong, Meindert: Born in 1910, authored "Hurry home, Candy (sound recording)." Based on the book by Meindert De Jong. Publisher: Random House (Westminster, MD). Published in 1976.

Fntes, Ofelia: Translator of "Hurry up, slowpoke" by Crosby Bonsall into Portuguese ("Anda logo, seu molenga!"). Publisher: Tecnoprint (Rio de Janeiro). Published in 1976.

Gibson, Roxie E Gibson, James C.: Publication of "Hey, God! Hurry!." By Roxie E. Gibson; printed & illustrated by James C. Gibson. Publisher: Crescendo Publications (Dallas). Published in 1976.

Jensen-Healey: The oil crisis hit Jensen Motors hard, greatly damaging the sales of their very large V8 Interceptor model and thus degrading their financial condition as a whole. The Jensen GT was then hurriedly brought to market, requiring massive labor expense and taxing the firm's budget even further. As the Jensen Healey continued to garner mediocre sales in the United Kingdom (though the car was relatively popular in the United States), the situation proved to be too much for the company, which, amid strikes, component shortages and inflation, proceeded to liquidate in 1975 and close their doors in May 1976. [WP]

Lloyd, Marjorie Lewis: Author of "God is in a hurry." Publisher: Review and Herald Publishing Association (Washington, D.C.). Published in 1976.

Mitchell, Lucy Sprague, 1878-1967 Black, Irma Simonton, 1906- Stanton, Jessie Groce, Larry: Publication of "The taxi that hurried (sound recording)." Publisher: Disneyland storyteller (Rexdale, Ont). Published in 1976.

Procter, Maurice: Author of "Hurry the darkness Maurice Procter." Published in 1976.

1977

Crocker, Betty Crocker, Betty: Publication of "Betty Crocker's Family dinners in a hurry." Director of photography, Stephen Manville Family dinner in a hurry. Publisher: Golden Press (New York). Published in 1977.

Hall, Terry: Author of "Kevin in a hurry." Published in 1977.

Jakubaschk, J. and J. Hurry: "Diagnoses in the Camberwell-register, a cumulative psychiatric register of cases" appears in Schweizer Archiv Fur Neurologie, Neurochirurgie Und Psychiatrie = Archives Suisses de Neurologie, Neurochirurgie et de Psychiatrie written by J. Jakubaschk and J.

1978

Hurry. Published in 1977.

Patten, Marguerite: Author of "Cooking in a hurry." Publisher: Octopus Books (London). Published in 1977.

Stewart, Katie Lo, Kenneth H. C jt. auth. Michael, Pamela: Publication of "Food for lovers: menus for lovers, affluent or impecunious, in a hurry or with time to spare." Composed by Pamela Michael from recipes by Katie Stewart, Kenneth Lo, and others. Publisher: distributed by Grosset & Dunlap (New York: Paddington Press). Published in 1977.

1978

Bodecker, N. M.: Author of "Hurry, hurry, Mary dear!: and other nonsense poems." Written and illustrated with pen sketches by N.M. Bodecker. Publisher: Atheneum (New York). Published in 1978.

Campen, Richard N.: Author of "German Village portrait." Richard N. Campen; including a section on restoration practices by Robert E. Hurry; (illustrated with photos. by the author). --. Publisher: West Summit Press (Chagrin Falls, Ohio). Published in 1978.

Chrysler Horizon: In Europe, the Horizon had a turbulent existence. The collapse of Chrysler Europe in 1978 and its subsequent sale to Peugeot meant that the car was hurriedly rebadged using the exhumed Talbot brand for the remainder of its life. [WP]

Disher, Garry: Born in 1949, authored "'Before the age of hurry-up ...' (manuscript) Australian landscape writing 1925-1950." Published in 1978.

Hurry, Stephen William: Author of "The microstructure of cells/ Stephen W. Hurry; with a forward by Peter Medawar." Publisher: Murray (London). Published in 1978.

Knoche, Keith: Author of "Lord, give me patience--but hurry up about it!." Publisher: Pacific Press Pub. Association, (Mountain View, Calif). Published in 1978.

Publication: Publication of "Social studies: standard 5: new syllabus." L.B Hurry ... (et.al.). Publisher: Via Afrika (Goodwood (South Africa)). Published in 1978.

Reid, Loren Dudley: Born in 1905, authored "Hurry home Wednesday: growing up in a Missouri small town,1905-1921." Publisher: University of Missouri Press (Columbia). Published in 1978.

SSI Earth Systems Division: Publisher of "Archaeological investigations, Courthouse Square project: proposed detention facility site, Edenton, North Carolina. Volume II Patrick H. Garrow, principal investigator; Robert W. Foss, project director and principal author; Silas D. Hurry, laboratory director." Publisher: SSI Earth Systems Division (Marietta, Ga.). Published in 1978.

Wain, John: Born in 1925 and died in 1994, authored "Hurry on down." Publisher: Secker & Warburg (London). Published in 1978.

1979

Bruce Sterling Quotation: "Journalists investigating the controversy often stumbled over the truth about Barlow, but they commonly dusted themselves off and hurried on as if nothing had happened." - Bruce Sterling in Hacker Crackdown.

Foss, Robert W Garrow, Patrick H. jt. auth. Hurry, Silas D. jt. auth. Soil Systems: Publication of "Archaeological investigations of the Edenton Snuff and Tobacco Manufacture." By Robert W. Foss, Patrick H. Garrow, Silas D. Hurry; prepared by Soil Systems, Inc Edenton Snuff and Tobacco Manufacture. Publisher: Archeology Branch, Division of Archives and History, Dept. of Cultural Resources (Raleigh, N.C. North Carolina Archeological Council). Published in 1979.

Gilden, Katya, 1919?-1991 Copyright Paperback Collection: Publication of "Hurry sundown Book II The river road." K.B. Gilden River road. Publisher: Ace Books (New York, N.Y). Published in 1979.

Hurry, J.: Author of "Register of woolclassing equipment in Victorian country technical schools/colleges, 1979." Publisher: support Services Unit, Planning Services, Education Dept. of Victoria (Melbourne). Published in 1979.

James, Nancy Esther: Author of "No time to hurry: poems." Publisher: Dawn Valley Press (New Wilmington, Pa.). Published in 1979.

1980

Lloyd, Marjorie Lewis: Author of "God is in a hurry." Translated into Danish, titled "Gud har travlt" (translator: Hans Strømbo). Publisher: Dansk Bogforlag (Odense). Published in 1979.

Ostlund, J. and E. Monvall: "John Ostlund on the TCO-KS deliberations: the case favors hurry!" appears in Vardfacket written by J. Ostlund and E. Monvall. Published on March 8, 1979.

Richards, Kent D.: Born in 1938, authored "Isaac I. Stevens: young man in a hurry." Publisher: Brigham Young University Press (Provo, Utah). Published in 1979.

Strømbo, Hans: Translator of "God is in a hurry" by Marjorie Lewis Lloyd into Danish ("Gud har travlt"). Publisher: Dansk Bogforlag (Odense). Published in 1979.

Wain, John: Author of "Hurry on down." Translated into Ces, titled "Pospíchej dolu" (translator: Radoslav Nenadál). Publisher: Odeon (Praha). Published in 1979.

WHNS: A construction permit was issued for channel 21 in Greenville as early as the 1950s. It was to have signed on air under the WANC-TV call letters. However, the station never managed to get past the planning stages, and no one was in a hurry to put the station on air. Thomas Broadcasting sold the construction permit in 1979 to Pappas Telecasting of Fresno, California. [WP]

1980

Bodecker, N. M.: Author of "Hurry, hurry, Mary dear! (large print) And other nonsense poems." Written and illustrated with pen sketches by N. M. Bodecker. Publisher: Library Reproduction Service (Los Angeles). Published in 1980.

DB & J Prince Edward Island. Dept. of Public Works Douglas Brothers and Jones: Publication of "Wood gasification heating plant forestry complex, Hurry Road; proposal for Government of Prince Edward Island Department of Public works." Prepared by DB & J (1971) Inc. Publisher: DB & J (Charlottetown). Published in 1980.

Happel, Margaret: Author of "Meals in a hurry: speedy dinners for the busy cook." Publisher: Butterick Publishing (New York). Published in 1980.

Patten, Brian: Born in 1946, authored "Notes to the hurrying man." Publisher: Unwin Paperbacks (London; Boston). Published in 1980.

Richards, Peter: Author of "Michou's race day Peter Richards illustrated by Gillian Hurry." Published in 1980.

Stylistics: Publication of "Hurry up this way again (sound recording)." Published in 1980.

Tate, James: Born in 1943, authored "If it would all please hurry: a poem." By James Tate; etchings and engravings by Stephen Riley. Publisher: Shanachie Press (Amherst (Mass.)). Published in 1980.

United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Governmental Affairs. Subcommittee on Oversight of Government Management: Publication of ""Hurry-up" spending: hearing before the Subcommittee on Oversight of Government Management of the Committee on Governmental Affairs, United States Senate, Ninety-sixth Congress, first session." Publisher: Washington: U.S. Govt. Print. Off. Published in 1980.

1981

Bebbington, P., et al.: "Epidemiology of mental disorders in Camberwell" appears in Psychological Medicine written by P. Bebbington, J. Hurry, C. Tennant, E. Sturt and J. K. Wing. Published in August 1981.

Holloway, Judith: Author of "Hurry! hurry! hurry!." By Judith Holloway; illustrations by Nina Price Stutz. Publisher: School Publications Branch, Dept. of Education (Wellington (N.Z.)). Published in 1981.

Libraries' Department, Oxfordshire County Council: Publisher of "Hurry along, please!: trams and buses in Oxfordshire, 1881-1981." Publisher: Libraries' Department, Oxfordshire County Council (Oxford). Published in 1981.

McGlashon, Angela: Author of "Fun with paints and paper: 100 different things to do!." Angela McGlashon; illustrated by Gillian Hurry. Publisher: Carousel (London). Published in 1981.

1982

Sturt, E., et al.: "The Present State Examination used by interviewers from a survey agency: report from the MRC Camberwell Community Survey" appears in Psychological Medicine written by E. Sturt, P. Bebbington, J. Hurry and C. Tennant. Published in February 1981.

Tennant, C., et al.: "The short-term outcome of neurotic disorders in the community: the relation of remission to clinical factors and to neutralizing' life events" appears in The British Journal of Psychiatry: the Journal of Mental Science written by C. Tennant, P. Bebbington and J. Hurry. Published in September 1981.

1982

Alcaraz Varó, Enrique: Born in 1940, authored "Semántica de la novela inglesa: el vocabulario de Hurry on down de John Wain." Publisher: Caja de Ahorros Provincial de Alicante (Alicante). Published in 1982.

Daniélou, Alain: Author of "Shiva and Dionysus." Alain Daniélou; translation by K.F. Hurry. --. Publisher: East-West Publications (London; The Hague). Published in 1982.

Davies, Taffy: Author of "Out and about in Sydney: Taffy Davies introduces you to the best of Sydney plus a special chapter by Jill Wran for those in a hurry." Publisher: Koala Books of Canada (distributor); (Greenwich, NSW, Australia: Experience Books; Edmonton). Published in 1982.

Davis, Jeannie: Author of "Hurry home Dad today I'm going to die." Publisher: Hawkes (Salt Lake City, Utah). Published in 1982.

Gallery/Stratford: Publisher of "Leslie Hurry, a painter for the stage = Leslie Hurry, un peintre pour la scene." Presented jointly by Stratford Festival, the Gallery Stratford. --. Publisher: Gallery/Stratford (Stratford, Ont). Published in 1982.

Hurry, Lynn. cn: Author of "Southern Africa's weather patterns: a guide to the interpretation of synoptic maps." Lynn Hurry, Johan van Heerden. Publisher: Via Afrika (Goodwood). Published in 1982.

Laney, W. L.: Author of "How to be boss in a hurry: a primer for new managers." Publisher: Bobbs-Merrill (Indianapolis). Published in 1982.

Morgan, Ted: Author of "Churchill: young man in a hurry, 1874-1915." Publisher: Simon and Schuster (New York). Published in 1982.

Publication: Publication of "Leslie Hurry, a painter for the stage / presented jointly by Stratford Festival, the Gallery Stratford = Leslie Hurry, un peintre pour la scene." Presente conjointement par Stratford Festival, the Gallery Stratford. Published in 1982.

Southgate, Vera: Author of "The big pancake." Illustrated by Gillian Hurry and adapted by Jean Newcombe and Margaret Pike. Publisher: Ladybird Books (Loughborough). Published in 1982.

1983

Biro, Val: Born in 1921, authored "Gumdrop in a hurry Val Biro." Published in 1983.

Charles, D. and D. J. Hurry: "Chorioamnionitis" appears in Clinics in Obstetrics and Gynaecology written by D. Charles and D. J. Hurry. Published in April 1983.

Globe Communications: Publisher of "Safe way to lose 20 lbs in a hurry. an easy-to follow diet that quickly evaporates those unwanted pounds." Publisher: Globe Communications (West Palm Beach, Fla). Published in 1983.

Hurry, Silas D.: Author of "Intensive archeological investigations at the Howard-McHenry site: a nineteenth century mill/tenancy." By Silas Hurry and Maureen Kavanagh. Publisher: Dept. of Natural Resources, Maryland Geological Survey, Division of Archeology (Baltimore, Md.). Published in 1983.

Paré, Paul: Translator of "The hurried child: growing up too fast too soon" by David Elkind into French ("L'enfant stressé"). Publisher: Éditions de l'Homme (Montréal). Published in 1983.

Ralph Centennius Quotation: "The passengers are then disembarked without hurry." - Ralph Centennius in The Dominion in 1983.

Rogovin, Anne: Author of "What's the hurry?: developmental activities for able and handicapped children." By Anne Rogovin and Christine Z.

Cataldo. --. Publisher: University Park Press (Baltimore). Published in 1983.

1984

Bartlett, J. C., et al.: "Typicality and familiarity of faces" appears in Memory & Cognition written by J. C. Bartlett, S. Hurry and W. Thorley. Published in May 1984.

Bebbington, P. E., et al.: "Misfortune and resilience: a community study of women" appears in Psychological Medicine written by P. E. Bebbington, E. Sturt, C. Tennant and J. Hurry. Published in May 1984.

Daniélou, Alain: Author of "Shiva et Dionysos." Translated into English, titled "Shiva and Dionysus: the religion of nature and Eros" (translator: K. F. Hurry). Publisher: Inner Traditions International (New York). Published in 1984.

Elkind, David: Author of "The hurried child." Translated into Swedish, titled "Det hetsade barnet: att stressas in i vuxenvärlden" (translator: Erik Hedström). Publisher: Natur och kultur (Stockholm). Published in 1984.

Hurry, K. F.: Translator of "Shiva et Dionysos" by Alain Daniélou into English ("Shiva and Dionysus: the religion of nature and Eros"). Publisher: Inner Traditions International (New York). Published in 1984.

Japan Foundation: Publisher of "Why aren't cars passing?; We're a little late, so let's hurry." Produced by The Japan Foundation; production, Video Pedic, Inc. --. Publisher: Japan Foundation (Tokyo). Published in 1984.

Ketcham, Hank: Born in 1920, authored "Dennis the menace: little man in a big hurry." Publisher: Ballantine Books (New York). Published in 1984.

Lydia Shum: Shum married actor and singer, Adam Cheng Siu-chow in 1985 after 11 years of cohabitation. Prior to the marriage, in December 1984, Shum was asked by good friend Lee Xiang Qin to fly to San Francisco for the opening ceremony of Lee's shop. Sum who was in Taiwan then with Cheng, was reluctant to do so initially. Eventually, Shum left for San Francisco for 3 days. When she came back, she heard rumors that Cheng was having an affair. When asked, Cheng denied and suggested marriage. Thinking that marriage deter any woman from getting close to Cheng, Shum agreed. In January 1985, Cheng and Shum flew to Canada to get married. Due to the hurried circumstances of their marriage and the size of Shum, there was insufficient time to prepare for a wedding gown and instead, Shum wore a Chinese cheongsam. Shum later said in an 2005 interview in Taiwan that one of her greatest regret was not to put on a wedding gown for her marriage. They had a daughter, Joyce Cheng Yan-yee in 1987. 8 months after Joyce was born, Cheng and Shum divorced. [WP]

Model, Laurence: Translator of "Hurry home, Grandma!" by Arielle North Olson into French ("Joyeux Noël"). Publisher: Gallimard (Paris). Published in 1984.

Olson, Arielle North: Author of "Hurry home, Grandma!" Translated into French, titled "Joyeux Noël" (translator: Laurence Model). Publisher: Gallimard (Paris). Published in 1984.

Wain, John: Author of "Hurry on down John Wain." Published in 1984.

Watson, Georgia B.: Author of "Retirement tracks: after you show the wisdom of age, depart in a hurry." Publisher: Rainbow Books (Moore Haven, FL). Published in 1984.

1985

East, Helen: Author of "The First christmas (written by Helen East) (illustrated by Gillian Hurry)." Published in 1985.

Hurry, Stephen: Author of "Ratas y superratas, hierbas y superhierbas (Videograbación) Stephen Hurry; asesores científicos: Jim Bishop, Tony Bradshaw, Colin Ingram; productor de la serie: Tony Jolly." Publisher: Open University Press (Milton Keynes). Published in 1985.

Kent, Rolly: Author of "Spirit, hurry: poems." Publisher: distributed to the trade by Kampmann (Lewiston, Idaho: Confluence Press; New York, N.Y.). Published in 1985.

Olson, Arielle North: Author of "Hurry home, grandma!" Translated into Spanish, titled "¡Ven de prisa, abuela!" (translator: Gabriel Espina).

Publisher: Altea (Madrid). Published in 1985.

Rutter, John: Born in 1945, authored "Hurry to Bethlehem (sound recording): the Christmas music of John Rutter." Publisher: Collegium Records (Cambridge, England; Omaha, Neb). Published in 1985.

Spirn, Michele: Author of "Hurry! Hurry! (cass). bk." Written by Michele Spirn; illustrated by Nancy Fontalvo. Publisher: January Productions (Hawthorne, NJ). Published in 1985.

The Library: Publisher of ""Hurry back down": John Wain at sixty: a retrospective exhibition held in the Drummond Room, Edinburgh University Library, George Square, April-September 1985." Publisher: The Library (Edinburgh). Published in 1985.

1986

Ager, Anne: Author of "Cooking in a hurry." Translated into Finnish, titled "Kiireisen keittokirja" (translator: Eija Stenqvist). Publisher: Suuri suomalainen kirjakerho (Hki). Published in 1986.

Bailey, Bill: Author of "Out & about in Perth: Bill Bailey introduces you to the best of Perth plus a chapter for those in a hurry." Publisher: Experience Books (Greenwich, N.S.W.). Published in 1986.

Bebbington, P. E., et al.: "Adversity and working class vulnerability to minor affective disorder" appears in Journal of Affective Disorders written by P. E. Bebbington, J. Hurry, C. Tennant and G. Der. Published in September - October 1986.

Bowman, Edward H.: Author of "The context of strategy: analyzing the annual reports of chemical firms." By E.H. Bowman and Dileep Hurry. Publisher: Reginald H. Jones Center, Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania (Philadelphia, PA). Published in 1986.

Carroll, Brian: Born in 1930, authored "Hurry back: an illustrated centenary history of Mayne Nickless." Publisher: Mayne Nickless (Melbourne, Vic). Published in 1986.

Elkind, David: Author of "The hurried child." Translated into Danish, titled "Børn der paces frem..." (translator: Jannick Storm). Publisher: Borgen (Valby). Published in 1986.

Furminger, Jo: Born in 1932, authored "Hurry home, Mrs Boffy!." By Jo Furminger; illustrated by Azalea Sturdy. Publisher: Hodder and Stoughton (London). Published in 1986.

Gold, Yeshara Harlap, Yaacov ill: Publication of "Hurry, Friday's a short day: one boy's Erev Shabbat in Jerusalem's Old City." By Yeshara Gold; photographs by Yaacov Harlap Erev Shabbat Jerusalem's Old City. Publisher: Mesorah Publications in conjunction with ArtScroll/Jerusalem (Brooklyn, N.Y.). Published in 1986.

Hurry, David J.: Author of "Obstetrics & gynecology: 598 multiple-choice questions with referenced, explanatory answers. (Obstetrics and gynecology.)." Publisher: Medical Examination Pub. Co (New York, NY). Published in 1986.

Kavanagh, Maureen: Author of "Archeological investigations at the Warfield site, Prince Georges County, Maryland." By Maureen Kavanagh and Silas Hurry; with contributions by Robert Jacobson and Katherine Dinnel. Publisher: Dept. of Natural Resources, Maryland Geological Survey, Division of Archeology (Baltimore, Md.). Published in 1986.

Lukoff, Fred: Author of "880-01 A grammar of Korean / by F. A. Lukoff Korean morphophonemics; Korean in hurry." By S. E. Martin; (p°yæonja Kim Min-su, Ha Tong-ho, Ko Yæong-gæun). Publisher: T°ap Ch°ulp°ansa Ch°ongp°an Kwangmunsa (880-02 Sæoul T°æukpyæolsi). Published in 1986.

Mayne Nickless: Publisher of "Hurry back: an illustrated centenary history of Mayne Nickless." Publisher: Mayne Nickless (Melbourne, Vic). Published in 1986.

Olson, Arielle North: Author of "Hurry home, Grandma!" Translated into Italian, titled "Buon Natale" (translator: Giulio Lughi). Publisher: EL (Trieste). Published in 1986.

Sam Vaknin Quotation: "The terrified chef discovered, at the last moment, that there was no cream in the kitchen. He hurriedly poured olive oil and scrambled it with the eggs." - Sam Vaknin in The First Book of Factoids.

Sam Vaknin Quotation: "So, what's the hurry?" -

Sam Vaknin in Wars and Empire.

Scott, David: Born in 1944, authored "The 30-minute vegetarian: over 200 fast & easy recipes for the healthy cook in a hurry." Publisher: Century (London). Published in 1986.

Shmuel Vaknin Quotation: "The trial was closed to the public, opaque and hurried." - Shmuel Vaknin in Russian Roulette: Russia's Economy in Putin's Era.

Stenqvist, Eija: Translator of "Cooking in a hurry" by Anne Ager into Finnish ("Kiireisen keittokirja"). Publisher: Suuri suomalainen kirjakerho (Hki). Published in 1986.

Storm, Jannick: Translator of "The hurried child" by David Elkind into Danish ("Børn der paces frem..."). Publisher: Borgen (Valby). Published in 1986.

Sweeten, Mary K.: Author of "Texas lean beef in a hurry." Mary K. Sweeten and H. Russell Cross. Publisher: Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M University System (College Station, Tex). Published in 1986.

1987

Archer, Violet, 1913- Beckwith, John, 1927- Dolin, Samuel, 1917- Eggleston, Anne, 1934- Wuensch, Gerhard: Publication of "Horizons (braille): book two (rhythms, chords and other things) Hurry, hurry, hurry (braille) If (braille) Lydian mood (braille) New mobiles (braille): 1. Wind harp; 2. Machine; 3. Tough beans, Charlie; 4. White/black Scherzo (braille)." Publisher: CNIB (43 sheets of handcopied music braille; 28 cm., master. Toronto). Published in 1987.

Bach, Johann Sebastian: Born in 1685 and died in 1750, authored "BWV 249, Osteroratorium (sound recording) Kommt, eilet und laufet = (Come, hasten and hurry); BWV 6, Bleib bei uns = (Bide with us)." Publisher: Hänssler-Verlag (Neuhausen-Stuttgart). Published in 1987.

Cherisey, Christine de: Author of "Auto, moto, vélo--." Texte de Christine de Cherisey; ill. de Gillian Hurry. Publisher: Editions des Deux coqs d'or (Paris). Published in 1987.

Edgar, George Hurry, Gillian ill. McDonald, Gillian Sims, Peter ill: Publication of "Words and pictures: for reading and writing." George Edgar and Gillian McDonald; (design and illustration by Peter Sims and Gillian Hurry). Publisher: Child's Play (International) (New York, NY). Published in 1987.

Elkind, David: Author of "The hurried child." Translated into Korean, titled "Stress padnun uri didul" (translator: Won Yongmi). Publisher: Changgisa (Seoul). Published in 1987.

Goad, Craig M.: Author of "Hurrying into the night." Publisher: Woodley Memorial Press (Topeka, Kan). Published in 1987.

Hurry, Silas D.: Author of "Archeological reconnaissance and testing, Maryland Route 2/4 corridor, Calvert County, Maryland." By Silas D. Hurry, Maureen Kavanagh and Dennis C. Curry. Publisher: Dept. of Natural Resources, Maryland Geological Survey, Division of Archeology (Baltimore, Md.). Published in 1987.

Kimmel, Tim: Author of "Little house on the freeway: help for the hurried home." Publisher: Multnomah Press (Portland, Or.). Published in 1987.

MacManus, Kay: Author of "Hattie in a hurry." Publisher: Arnold-Wheaton (Leeds). Published in 1987.

Mahoney, Mary Reeves: Author of "The hurry-up summer." Publisher: Putnam (New York). Published in 1987.

Mark V. Profio: "Operational Amplifier Having an Improved Feedback System Including an Integrator Having a Hurry-Up Circuit, and an Electric Motor Control Using the Same for Inverse Trip Selection" is patented by Mark V. Profio.

McManns, Kay: Author of "Hattie in a hurry." Kay McManns, illustrator Richard Bell. --. Publisher: Wright Group (Bothell, WA.). Published in 1987.

Movie Release: The movie "Hurried Into Eternity" is released.

Ziefert, Harriet Smith, Mavis: Publication of "Hurry up, Jessie!." By Harriet Ziefert and Mavis Smith. Publisher: Random House (New York). Published in 1987.

1988

Browne, Dik: Author of "Hägar the horrible in a hurry by Dik Browne." Published in 1988.

Cadenhead, Al: Born in 1947, authored "Hurry up and rest." Publisher: Broadman Press (Nashville, Tenn). Published in 1988.

Coal Hill School: The school appeared in the series again almost twenty-five years later in "Remembrance of the Daleks", first broadcast in October 1988. In this serial, a nostalgia-laden tribute to the show that kicked off its 25th anniversary season, the Seventh Doctor returns to 1963 to complete some business left unfinished by his hurried departure on the previous occasion. The school is a featured location, as a group of Daleks set up a base there while attempting to locate a powerful Time Lord artifact known as the Hand of Omega, which is hidden on Earth. [WP]

Colbert, James: Author of "No special hurry." Publisher: Houghton Mifflin (Boston). Published in 1988.

Connors, Dorsey: Author of "Helpful hints for hurried homemakers: time and money saving shortcuts." Publisher: Bonus Books (Chicago). Published in 1988.

Elkind, David: Born in 1931, authored "The hurried child: growing up too fast too soon." Publisher: Addison-Wesley (Reading, MA; Don Mills, ON). Published in 1988.

Farrar, Kenneth Grahame: Born in 1909, authored "Hurry, gringo: a novel." Publisher: Ashley Books (Port Washington, N.Y.). Published in 1988.

Fitzpatrick, Jean Grasso: Author of "The superbaby syndrome: escaping the dangers of hurrying your child." Publisher: Harcourt Brace Jovanovich (San Diego). Published in 1988.

Ford Falcon: The "EA" model Falcon introduced in 1988 bore a passing resemblance to the European Ford Scorpio, but under the skin, remained entirely Australian. This was only produced as sedan and stationwagon models, with the old model ute and panelvan (at that stage the XF model) continuing in production. Between 1989 and 1992, a version of the Falcon ute was badged as a Nissan under an unsuccessful government-backed model-sharing scheme called the Button Plan (which also saw the Nissan Pintara badged as the Ford Corsair). The EA model, while initially popular, unfortunately proved a little unreliable: transmission issues and electrical faults (also experienced by their major competitor at the time, the VN Commodore) were the usual culprits, before the "EB" model was hurriedly released some time later in 1990, fixing most of these issues. EA-model reliability also curtailed resale value, and still does to this day: most second-hand car purchasers usually prefer to pay more money for the preceeding model (the XF) or the succeeding model (the EB) than for the EA. This also affected the ute and panelvan models, which still persisted with their old XF-model styling, to eventually get a quick update from the EB-model release the following year in 1991 (as the "XG"). [WP]

Griffith, John: Author of "Festinat senex, or, An old man in a hurry: being an assortment of unpublished essays on problems in Greek and Latin literature and archaeology, together with reprints of three articles." By John G. Griffith An old man in a hurry. Publisher: Oxbow (Oxford). Published in 1988.

Hurry, Lynn: Author of "Encounters with sealife: activities book with colouring guide." Publisher: shuter & Shooter in association with Aardvark (Pietermaritzburg, South Africa). Published in 1988.

Joe Hutsko Quotation: "She speared a few vegetables, chewed slowly, put down her fork, and took a long drink of wine, all the while watching her husband's hurried consumption." - Joe Hutsko in Undo.

Joe Hutsko Quotation: "She had planned for them to get to the airport early, and even if he was asleep they could still certainly make their flight as long as they hurried." - Joe Hutsko in Undo.

Joe Hutsko Quotation: "She turned and raised her hand at the driver, signaling for him to wait. She hurried off the small porch and ran around to the back of the house." - Joe Hutsko in Undo.

Joe Hutsko Quotation: "He had to hurry and try to reach William after he was through with Peter Jones, even if that meant intercepting him at the airport." - Joe Hutsko in Undo.

Joe Hutsko Quotation: "Glancing at his watch he figured he could probably finish most of the outline by morning, so long as he hurried through dinner." - Joe Hutsko in Undo.

1989

Movie Release: The movie "You Can't Hurry Love" is released.

Spratt, J. S.: "The National Cancer Institute's clinical alert on breast cancer: why the hurry?" appears in American Journal of Surgery written by J. S. Spratt. Published in September 1988.

1989

Boston, Gypsy Boston: Author of "Hurry before the magic ends." Publisher: The Everett Companies (Bossier City, LA). Published in 1989.

Bourgeois, Paulette: Author of "Hurry up, Franklin." Translated into French, titled "Vite, vite Benjamin!" (translator: Christiane Duchesne). Publisher: Scholastic (Richmond Hill, ONT). Published in 1989.

Colbert, James: Born in 1951, authored "No special hurry." Publisher: Penguin (Harmondsworth). Published in 1989.

Hurry, Lynn: Author of "Oop-oë in die tuin: inleiding tot tuin-ekologie." Lynn Hurry, Piet van Wyk;(illustrasies deur Rosemary Owen). Publisher: shuter & Shooter in samewerking met Aadrdvark (Pietermaritzburg, Suid-Afrika). Published in 1989.

Ionescu, Lidia; Fratila, Elena Oprea: Translators of "Hurry on down" by John Wain into Romanian ("In graba mare"). Publisher: Univers (Bucuresti). Published in 1989.

Khalil, Badr: Author of "Neutrality and compromise in Lucky Jim and Hurry on down." Publisher: Zagazig University, Faculty of Arts (Zagazig, (Egypt)). Published in 1989.

Opie, Frank W. J.: Author of "The outdoor classroom: a teacher's guide to effective fieldwork." Frank W.J. Opie; project-editor, Lynn Hurry. Publisher: Maskew Miller Longman (Cape Town: Dept. of Environment Affairs). Published in 1989.

Wain, John: Author of "Hurry on down." Translated into Romanian, titled "In graba mare" (translators: Lidia Ionescu; Elena Oprea Fratila). Publisher: Univers (Bucuresti). Published in 1989.

1990

Alderson, Sue Ann: Born in 1940, authored "Hurry up, Bonnie!." Story by Sue Ann Alderson; art by Fiona Garrick. Publisher: Annick Press (Toronto). Published in 1990.

Beekman, George: Author of "HyperCard in a hurry." Publisher: Wadsworth Pub. Co (Belmont, Calif). Published in 1990.

Colbert, James: Born in 1951, authored "No special hurry." Publisher: Chivers (Bath). Published in 1990.

Computer virus: As bulletin board systems and online software exchange became popular in the late 1980s and early 1990s, more viruses were written to infect popularly traded software. Shareware and bootleg software were equally common vectors for viruses on BBSes. Within the "pirate scene" of hobbyists trading illicit copies of commercial software, traders in a hurry to obtain the latest applications and games were easy targets for viruses. [WP]

Galbraith, Alastair: Author of "Hurry on down (sound recording)." Publisher: Xpressway (Port Chalmers, N.Z.). Published in 1990.

Hepburn, Jane: Author of "Hot ideas for hurried home economics teachers." Publisher: Collins Educational (London). Published in 1990.

Hurry, Dileep: Author of "A strategic options framework for multinational exploration and decision-making." Published in 1990.

Indian general elections, 2004: The stock market (Bombay Stock Exchange) fell in the week prior to the announcement of the results due to fears of an unstable coalition. As soon as counting began, it became clear that the Congress coalition was headed for a sizeable lead over the NDA and the market surged, only to crash the following day when the left parties, whose support would be required for government formation, announced that it was their intention to do away with the disinvestment ministry. Following this, Manmohan Singh, the current Prime Minister and the prime architect of the economic liberalization of the early 1990s, hurried to reassure investors that the new government would strive to create a business-friendly climate. [WP]

1991

Ingram, Raymond: Author of "The stage designs of Leslie Hurry (kit)." Publisher: Chadwyck-Healey in association with the Consortium for Drama and Media in Higher Education (Cambridge). Published in 1990.

NorthwesTel: The microwave system on the Alaska Highway was inaugurated with a phone call from Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, visiting Whitehorse, to President John F. Kennedy in Washington, D.C.. Later that year, the line's worth was proven in the Cuban Missile Crisis. With the possibility of a nuclear strike by the USSR, the phone company hurriedly dispatched radio technicians to each site, often on a lonely mountaintop, to be ready to restore service in case of a failure. This route was upgraded to modern digital microwave technology in the early 1990s. [WP] Nygaard, Scott: Author of "No hurry (sound recording)." Publisher: Rounder (Cambridge, MA). Published in 1990.

Publication: Publication of "Fun food: a gastronomic extravaganza prepared for the delectation of hurried parents and featuring recipes suitable for all occasions from the family tea to the large party." Compiled by St. Clair School. Publisher: st Clair School P.T.A (Dunedin, N.Z.). Published in 1990.

Publications International, Ltd: Publisher of "101+ hurry-up hamburger recipes." Publisher: Publishers International, Ltd (Lincolnwood, IL). Published in 1990.

Schuchat, Theodor: Author of "Ulpan: how to learn Hebrew in a hurry!." Publisher: Gefen Books (Jerusalem, Israel: Gefen Pub. House; Woodmere, N.Y., U.S.A). Published in 1990.

The South Bank Centre: Publisher of "Leslie Hurry: an exhibition of theatrical designs & illustrations: 1 May-10 June 1990, Royal Festival Hall, London." Publisher: The South Bank Centre (London). Published in 1990.

1991

Bebbington, P. E., et al.: "The Camberwell Community Survey: a summary of results" appears in Social Psychiatry and Psychiatric Epidemiology written by P. E. Bebbington, J. Hurry and C. Tennant. Published in September 1991.

British Columbia. Ministry of Health: Publication of "The ambulance: help in a hurry." Publisher: Ministry of Health (Victoria). Published in 1991.

Delahaye, Mary: Translator of "Louvre, guide du visiteur pressé" by Marie-Thérèse Genin, et al.. Musée du Louvre. Paris into English ("Louvre, a guide the visitor in a hurry"). Publisher: Réunion des musées nationaux (Paris). Published in 1991.

Genin, Marie-Thérèse; et al.. Musée du Louvre. Paris: Authors of "Louvre, guide du visiteur pressé." Translated into English, titled "Louvre, a guide the visitor in a hurry" (translator: Mary Delahaye). Publisher: Réunion des musées nationaux (Paris). Published in 1991.

Gray, Lyn: Author of "Hats in a hurry." Written and illustrated by Lyn Gray. Publisher: Belair (Twickenham). Published in 1991.

Hurry, Vaughan Martin: Born in 1960, authored "Characterisation of the photosynthetic responses of spring and winter wheat to growth at cold-hardening temperatures." By Vaughan M. Hurry Resistance to photoinhibition. Publisher: Faculty of Graduate Studies, University of Western Ontario (London, Ont). Published in 1991.

Migliore, R. Henry: Author of "Personal action planning: how to get where you are going in a hurry." Publisher: Wrightbooks (North Brighton, Vic). Published in 1991.

Ojakangas, Beatrice A.: Author of "Quick breads: 65 recipes for bakers in a hurry." By Beatrice A. Ojakangas; illustrations by Sally Sturman. Publisher: C. Potter (New York). Published in 1991.

Silvious, Jan: Born in 1944, authored "The five-minute devotional: devotions for the hurried." Publisher: Zondervan Pub. House (Grand Rapids, Mich). Published in 1991.

1992

Albrecht, Robert M.: Author of "Stepping up to OS/2 2.0: upgrade from DOS and/or Windows in a hurry." By Robert Albrecht and Michael Plura. Publisher: Computer Bookshops (distributor)

(Grand Rapids, Mich: Abacus; Olton). Published in 1992.

Barbillon, Claire. Musée d'Orsay. Paris: Author of "Guide du visiteur pressé." Translated into English, titled "Guide for the visitor in a hurry" (translator: Mary Delahaye). Publisher: Réunion des musées nationaux (Paris). Published in 1992.

Beekman, George: Author of "HyperCard 2 in a hurry." Publisher: Wadsworth Pub. Co (Belmont, Calif). Published in 1992.

Bourgeois, Paulette; Clark, Brenda: Authors of "Hurry up,Franklin." Translated into Japanese, titled "Nonbiriya no hurankurin" (translator: Moki Kazuko). Publisher: Zîsî (Tokyo). Published in 1992.

Canon (fiction): The Macross canon consists of two animated TV series ("The Super Dimension Fortress Macross" and its distant sequel, "Macross Seven"), a movie which is treated as a historical drama produced in the "Macross universe" ("Macross: Ai Oboete Imasu Ka?/Macross: Do You Remember Love?") and two Original Animation Videos ("Macross Plus", a sequel and "Macross Zero", a prequel). Not included is "Macross II: Lovers Again", a sequel hurriedly produced by Big West for the 10th Anniversary of Macross in 1992. [WP]

Chassériau, Noël: Translator of "No special hurry" by James Colbert into French ("Portrait de famille"). Publisher: Gallimard (Paris). Published in 1992.

Colbert, James: Author of "No special hurry." Translated into French, titled "Portrait de famille" (translator: Noël Chassériau). Publisher: Gallimard (Paris). Published in 1992.

Corà, Bruno: Author of "Diego Esposito." Bruno Corà; (traduzioni, Kenneth Hurry, inglese, Claude Bisquerra, francese, Agnes Kohlmeyer, tedesco). Publisher: Electa (Milano). Published in 1992.

Delahaye, Mary: Translator of "Guide du visiteur pressé" by Claire. Musée d'Orsay. Paris Barbillon into English ("Guide for the visitor in a hurry"). Publisher: Réunion des musées nationaux (Paris). Published in 1992.

Elkind, David: Author of "The hurried child." Translated into German, titled "Das gehetzte Kind: werden unsere Kleinen zu schnell gross?" (translator: Anke Grube). Publisher: Lübbe (Bergisch Gladbach). Published in 1992.

English Literacy Project: Publisher of "Hurry on the machines: women in clothing factories speak out." Stories by Mamorapedi Modise ... (et al.); edited by Michael Westcott, photographs by Lesley Lawson. Publisher: English Literacy Project (Johannesburg). Published in 1992.

Ford Zetec engine: The first Zetec engine appeared in 1992, powering the fourth generation of the European Ford Escort and Orion. It was codenamed as the "Zeta" engine before Italian car maker Lancia threatened to sue Ford for trademark infringement as it already owned the name. Ford hurriedly renamed the engine "Zetec". [WP] Guneva, Nadka: Translator of "Hurry on down" by John Wain into Bulgarian ("Barzaj nadolu"). Publisher: Kastalija (Plovdiv). Published in 1992.

Harrison, Mary: Author of "Mercy in a hurry." Publisher: Macmillan Education (London). Published in 1992.

Kazuko, Moki: Translator of "Hurry up,Franklin" by Paulette Bourgeois and Brenda Clark into Japanese ("Nonbiriya no hurankurin"). Publisher: Zîsî (Tokyo). Published in 1992.

Levin, Laurie: Author of "You can't hurry love: an intimate look at first marriages after 40." Laurie Levin and Laura Golden Bellotti. Publisher: Dutton (New York, N.Y., U.S.A.). Published in 1992.

Medical Research: "Hospitals hurry to get on the family friendly bandwagon and offer child care services to employees" appears in Healthcare Human Resources. Published in September 1992.

Moore, Jim: Born in 1959, authored "K°æullint°æon: 42-pæontchae Miguk æui sæont°aek = Young man in a hurry, Clinton." Jim Muæo, Rik Ide chiæum; Kim Yæo-dae, Sæon Chae-gyu omgim. Publisher: Segyæongsa (Sæoul T°æukpyæolsi). Published in 1992.

Naval War Coll.: Sponsored research "Hurry All to Sea: Union Naval, Strategy to Counter Confederate Commerce Raiding. - Final rept." Sponsored by: Naval War Coll., Newport, RI. Written by J. M. Ruppert. Abstract: Union naval strategy to counter the Confederate commerce raiders is analyzed through a multidisciplinary approach. Initially, a discussion of the development of, the Union Navy under the stewardship of Gideon Welles is presented. Next, the political, economic, and military influences that shaped Northern strategy is examined. Welles greatly expanded the Navy to satisfy the demands of the President's Blockade Proclamation. However, contrary to some historians' arguments, the Navy's preoccupation with the blockade did not ruin the American merchant marine. The Navy which emerged during the war was uniquely suited to coastal and amphibious operations.

Publication: Publication of "101+ hurry-up pasta recipes." Publisher: Publications International. Published in 1992.

Publications International: Publisher of "101+ hurry-up chicken recipes." Publisher: Publishers International (Lincolnwood, Ill). Published in 1992.

Wain, John: Author of "Hurry on down." Translated into Bulgarian, titled "Barzaj nadolu" (translator: Nadka Guneva). Publisher: Kastalija (Plovdiv). Published in 1992.

1993

Baumeister, A. A., et al.: "The antinociceptive and motivational effects of intranigral injection of opioid agonists" appears in Neuropharmacology written by A. A. Baumeister, M. Hurry, W. Curtis, T. M. Chaney, E. Wolf and R. R. Leoni. Published in December 1993.

Clarke, A. K., et al.: "Two functionally distinct forms of the photosystem II reaction-center protein D1 in the cyanobacterium Synechococcus sp. PCC 7942" appears in Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences of the United States of America written by A. K. Clarke, V. M. Hurry, P. Gustafsson and G. Oquist. Published on December 15, 1993.

Dept. of Transport: Publisher of "Don't be in a hurry to die: kill your speed." Publisher: Dept. of Transport (London). Published in 1993.

M.V. Medical Video Productions: Publisher of "Hurry up-- and wait." (presented by) M.V. Productions; produced with the participation of the Ontario Medical Association and the Ontario Film Development Corporation. Publisher: M.V. Medical Video Productions (Ontario). Published in 1993.

Menzies, Robert Gordon, Sir: Publication of "Dark and hurrying days: Menzies' 1941 diary." Edited by A.W. Martin and Patsy Hardy. Publisher: National Library of Australia (Canberra). Published in 1993.

Morgan, Sally Guthridge, Bettina: Publication of "Hurry up, Oscar!." Sally Morgan; illustrated by Bettina Guthridge. Publisher: Puffin Books (Ringwood, Vic., Australia). Published in 1993.

Oquist, G., et al.: "Low-Temperature Effects on Photosynthesis and Correlation with Freezing Tolerance in Spring and Winter Cultivars of Wheat and Rye" appears in Plant Physiology written by G. Oquist, V. M. Hurry and N. Huner. Published in January 1993.

Richards, Kent D.: Born in 1938, authored "Isaac I. Stevens (computer file): young man in a hurry." Publisher: Washington State University Press (Pullman, Wash). Published in 1993.

Rosenberg, Lee: Born in 1952, authored "Retirement, ready or not: how to get financially prepared -in a hurry." Publisher: Career Press (Hawthorne, NJ.). Published in 1993.

Tapper, Nigel: Author of "Australia's weather patterns: an introductory guide." Nigel Tapper and Lynn Hurry. Publisher: Dellasta (Mt Waverley, Vic). Published in 1993.

Tuckett, James Hylton: Born in 1948, authored "Tuckett family history: born in a hurry and educated with speed." Publisher: J.H. Tuckett (Upper Hutt, N.Z.). Published in 1993.

1994

Beekman, George: Author of "HyperCard 2.2 in a hurry: the fast track to multimedia." Publisher: Addison-Wesley (Reading, Mass). Published in 1994.

Collier, Dianne: Author of "Hurry up and wait: an inside look at life as a Canadian military wife." Publisher: Creative Bound (Carp, Ont). Published in 1994.

Davis, Joy Morgan: Author of "Could you hurry up the dawn, Lord?: poems, prayers, and lively conversations with a loving God." Publisher: Fleming H. Revell (Grand Rapids, Mich). Published in 1994.

Eyles, Heather: Author of "My book about hurry up, Harry." Publisher: Longman (Harlow). Published in 1994.

Geert Jan Jansen: In March 1994, one "Jan van der Bergen" came to the Karl & Faber auction house in Munich. He claimed to be an art gallerist from Orleans and presented his business card. With him he had a Chagall drawing, Asger Jorn gouache and Karel Appel painting. The first two had written certificates of authenticity. He wanted them to be auctioned soon and left in a hurry. [WP]

Geography Curriculum Initiative in South Africa: Publisher of "A case for geography in the new South Africa." Edited by L.B. Hurry. Publisher: Geography Curriculum Initiative in South Africa (Pietermaritzburg). Published in 1994.

Gleeson, Libby: Author of "Hurry up!." Written by Libby Gleeson; illustrated by Mitch Vane. Publisher: SRA School Group (Santa Rosa, CA). Published in 1994.

Hurry, V. M., et al.: "Effects of a Short-Term Shift to Low Temperature and of Long-Term Cold Hardening on Photosynthesis and Ribulose-1,5-Bisphosphate Carboxylase/Oxygenase and Sucrose Phosphate Synthase Activity in Leaves of Winter Rye (Secale cereale L.)" appears in Plant Physiology written by V. M. Hurry, G. Malmberg, P. Gardestrom and G. Oquist. Published in November 1994.

Link, Elke: Translator of "Here's your hat what's your hurry" by Elizabeth MacCracken into German ("Unter Engeln, unbemerkt"). Publisher: Goldmann (München). Published in 1994.

MacCracken, Elizabeth: Author of "Here's your hat what's your hurry." Translated into German, titled "Unter Engeln, unbemerkt" (translator: Elke Link). Publisher: Goldmann (München). Published in 1994.

Parker, John: Born in 1939, authored "Hurry-scurry." By John Parker; illustrated by Philippa Stichbury. Publisher: Ashton Scholastic (Auckland, N.Z.). Published in 1994.

Rigaut, Pierre: Translator of "Victorious Troy; or, The Hurrying angel" by John Masefield into French ("Par les moyens du bord."). Publisher: Phébus (Paris). Published in 1994.

Rose, Evelyn: Author of "Weekend cook: 100 sensational dishes for the cook in a hurry." Publisher: Piatkus (London). Published in 1994.

Van Staden, Lallie: Author of "There's something under my bed." Lallie van Staden; illustrated by Denise Hurry. Publisher: Mike Jacklin/Knowledge Unlimited (Sandton (South Africa)). Published in 1994.

Wiersbe, Warren W.: Author of "God isn't in a hurry: so why be out of step?." Publisher: Crossway Books (Nottingham). Published in 1994.

1995

Bunyan Meeting Free Church. Museum Library: Publication of "Bunyan Meeting Museum Library catalogue." Compiled by Patricia Hurry, Alan F. Cirket. Publisher: Bunyan Meeting Free Church (Bedford). Published in 1995.

Carr, Leroy: Born in 1905 and died in 1935, authored "Hurry down sunshine (sound recording): the essential recordings of Leroy Carr." Publisher: Indigo (London, England). Published in 1995.

Chase, Clifford: Author of "The hurry-up song: a memoir of losing my brother." Publisher: HarperSanFrancisco (San Francisco, CA). Published in 1995.

Cherry, Conrad: Born in 1937, authored "Hurrying toward Zion (computer file) universities, divinity schools, and American Protestantism." Publisher: Indiana University Press (Bloomington). Published in 1995.

Christopher E. Banas, et al.: "Radially expandable vascular graft with resistance to longitudinal compression and method of making same" is patented by Christopher E. Banas, Scott Randall, Tarun J. Edwin and Fariba Hurry. Abstract: A microporous polytetrafluoroethylene ("PTFE") endovascular graft which has a reinforcing structure integrally bound to the graft which permits radial expansion of the graft and stabilizes the graft against longitudinal compression upon application of an axial force thereto and against axial foreshortening upon radial expansion of the graft. The graft is particularly useful as a covering for an endovascular stent.

Hurry, V. M., et al.: "Cold Hardening of Spring and Winter Wheat and Rape Results in Differential Effects on Growth, Carbon Metabolism, and Carbohydrate Content" appears in Plant Physiology written by V. M. Hurry, A. Strand, M. Tobiaeson, P. Gardestrom and G. Oquist. Published in October 1995.

Larsen, Marianne: Translator of "Hurry up, Timmy Toot!" by Jean Pidgeon into Danish ("Skynd dig, Tim Tog"). Publisher: Vinten (Kbh.). Published in 1995.

McGurk, Harry: Author of "Project Charlie: an evaluation of a life skills drug education programme for primary schools." Harry McGurk and Jane Hurry. Publisher: The Home Office; (London). Published in 1995.

Movie Release: The movie "Can't Hurry Love" is released.

Nancy McKeon: Since then, she has starred in many made-for-TV movies, most notably "A Cry for Help: The Tracey Thurman Story", in which she portrays an abuse victim. She starred in her own series, "Can't Hurry Love", in 1995, to only lukewarm success. Since 2001, she has played Inspector Jinny Exstead on the Lifetime drama "The Division". Previously, she starred in the movie "The Wrong Woman", as a woman framed for killing her boss. [WP]

Olsen, Kristina: Author of "Hurry on home." Publisher: Philo/Rounder (Cambridge, MA). Published in 1995.

Sylva, Kathy: Author of "Early intervention in children with reading difficulties: an evaluation of reading recovery and a phonological training; a short report prepared for the School Curriculum and Assessment Authority." K Sylva and J Hurry with statistical consultation from I Plewis. Publisher: School Curriculum and Assessment Authority (London). Published in 1995.

The Big Bang (1987 film): In 1995, Italy annihilates Libya, which destroys Israel. Africa bombs Germany, which in turn attacks France. Luxembourg conquers England. Sweden, Monte Carlo and Switzerland immolate themselves. The Russians decide to liquidate the Americans, who unleash their nuclear fleet, leaving only two continents on the verge of World War IV. In the north, a mutated strain of males in America and Russia merge, forming the "USSSR", in the south. All that is left of womankind retreat to their territory of "Vaginia". Both factions are deficient in the standard number of limbs and sexual characteristics: the men, who have had their behinds blown off, are gay Hitler clones, and the women have become multibreasted, ballerina warriors. The two armies are soon at odds with each other. The men perfect their most destructive weapon yet and call it the 'Big Piece', while the women build 'Big Mama', a superbomb capable of destroying the solar system. The Council of the Universe, fearing for everyone's safety, appoints our hero, Fred, a simple garbageman of the sky as "Mister Good Offices" to diplomatically calm the situation down. Fred meets with the Commander in Chief of the USSSR and promptly falls in love with his young mistress, Liberty, whom he abducts to Vaginia. He meets the "Big Supreme" of the Vaginians, Una, who listens distractedly to Fred's arguments for peace, offering him a more intimate and immediate approach. Fred is unable to withstand her advances. With no hope for peace and mad with rage at the idea of being separated from Liberty, he releases the Fourth World War. Liberty is taken on board the penile 'Big Piece' which starts to rise as Fred hurries to her rescue. He manages to get on board and escape with her to the safety of a tropical island. While the two armies fraternize, the two appropriately shaped superbombs collide and explode in a cosmic orgasm. Depsite the general devastation, planetary collisions and so on, due to the divine intervention by a taken-aback God, Fred and Liberty miraculously survive. [WP]

W.P. Cross: Publisher of "Hurried into eternity: some accidents and disasters from Scotland in the 19th century." (compiled by William P. Cross). Publisher: W.P. Cross (London). Published in 1995.

Walsh, Jill: Author of "How to write a powerful CV in a hurry: an at-a-glance guide to writing a CV and covering letter." Written by Jill Walsh, with input from Carey Moon. Publisher: Lewisham CV Service (London). Published in 1995.

Weiner, Leslie: Author of "Quick chocolate fixes: 75 fast and easy recipes for people who want chocolate--in a hurry!." Leslie Weiner and Barbara Albright; illustrations by Durell Godfrey. Publisher: St. Martin's Griffin (New York). Published in 1995.

West, Colin: Born in 1951, authored "Hurry up Howard!." Stories and pictures by Colin West. Publisher: HarperCollins (London). Published in 1995.

1996

Air Force Inst. of Tech.: Sponsored research "Measuring the Impact of Programmed Depot Maintenance Funding Shortfalls on Weapon System Availability. - Master's thesis." Sponsored by: Air Force Inst. of Tech., Wright-Patterson AFB, OH. Written by D. F. Hurry. Abstract: This study used the Poisson regression technique, bootstrap estimates, and the Kaplan-Meier estimates for survivor curves to determine the impact of Programmed Depot Maintenance (PDM) on weapon system availability. More specifically, these techniques estimated the effect in the number failures per year due to PDM, but the bootstrap technique also estimated the effect in the amount of downtime experienced by a weapon system due to PDM. Although the Poisson regression model did not pass the rigors of statistical testing, the Poisson regression suggested differences in the number of failures per year between PDM and no-PDM weapon systems.

Army Command and General Staff Coll.: Sponsored research "CACTUS Airpower at Guadalcanal. - Master's thesis 2 Aug 95-7 Jun 96." Sponsored by: Army Command and General Staff Coll., Fort Leavenworth, KS. Written by T. L. Clubb. Abstract: This study examines the role of the CACTUS Air Force during the battle for Guadalcanal. Hurriedly planned and executed, Guadalcanal was the first U.S. ground offensive in the Pacific. Starting as an unopposed amphibious assault, the operation turned into a six-month-long air, land, and sea battle to secure the island. Operating from an expeditionary airfield, the U.S. Marine Corps employed air power as its primary means of defending the island. The CACTUS Air Force conducted the campaign with limited air assets and was plagued by a variety of critical shortages, yet it managed to play a key role in the U.S. victory. This study focuses on the specific contributions of air power during this campaign.

Daly, Kerry: Author of "Families and time: keeping pace in a hurried culture Kerry J. Daly." Publisher: Sage (Thousand Oaks, California (etc.)). Published in 1996.

Ekspreso: Ekspreso is termed the "language for people in a hurry" (in Ekspreso, "la lingua pro la persona in haste"). It is an easy-to-learn language meant to serve as an international auxiliary language quite useful for people who want to meet foreigners and learn about other countries and cultures. It was invented from Interlingua by Jay Bowks, a school teacher from New Hampshire, in 1996, as a result of discussion on the Axlang email list. [WP]

Hurry, V., et al.: "Effect of Cold Hardening on the Components of Respiratory Decarboxylation in the Light and in the Dark in Leaves of Winter Rye" appears in Plant Physiology written by V. Hurry, O. Keerberg, T. Parnik, G. Oquist and P. Gardestrom. Published in July 1996.

Jensen, Muriel: Author of "Husband in a hurry." Publisher: Harlequin Books (Toronto; New York). Published in 1996.

Lustig, Loretta: Author of "Hurry up, Timmy Toot!." Publisher: Joshua Morris (Bath). Published in 1996.

Moore, C. Philip: Author of "Yachts in a hurry: an illustrated history of the great commuter yachts." C. Philip Moore; foreword by Robert B. MacKay. Published in 1996.

Nye, Naomi Shihab: Author of "Never in a hurry: essays on people and places." Publisher: University of South Carolina Press (Columbia). Published in 1996.

Paschkes-Bell, Gillian Da Cunha, Sharon Hurry, Joanna UNUM Limited: Publication of "Adapting to change: when an employee becomes disabled." By Gillian Paschkes-Bell ... (et al.) Report of the Disability Leave pilot. Publisher: Royal National Institute for the Blind (London, England). Published in 1996.

Publication: Publication of "Hurry the jug (sound recording): classic recordings of songs, lilting and storytelling in the Irish tradition." Publisher: Ace Records (London, (Eng.)). Published in 1996.

Rankin, Joan: Author of "Hurry! hurry!." Story and illustrations by Joan Rankin. Publisher: Human & Rousseau (Cape Town). Published in 1996.

Robert Sheckley Quotation: "Caswell thanked him, lifted the Regenerator in both arms and hurried out." - Robert Sheckley in Bad Medicine.

Robert Sheckley Quotation: "The customer was in such a terrible hurry." - Robert Sheckley in Bad Medicine.

Timberlake, Terry: Author of "Atlanta 1996: Oolympic games kit: a kit of worksheets for teachers in a hurry: information and activities suitable for years 5, 6, 7, 8." Kit produced by Terry Timberlake. Publisher: 'No Time Educational (Belmont, Victoria). Published in 1996.

1997

Bjornsson, K.: "Scientific ethics committee--don't go along with research personnel who are in a hurry" appears in Sygeplejersken written by K. Bjornsson. Published on March 14, 1997.

Bourgeois, Paulette Clark, Brenda Hirsh, Michael: Publication of "Hurry up, Franklin." Executive producers, Michael Hirsh et al.; produced with the participation of Family Channel. Publisher: Telegenic Entertainment (Toronto). Published in 1997.

Breck, James E.: Author of "Hurry up and wait: growth of young bluegills in ponds and in simulations with an individual-based model." Publisher: Michigan Dept. of Natural Resources, Fisheries Division (Lansing, MI). Published in 1997.

Cultural Center of the Philippines: Publication of "Hurry up and wait: contemporary Philippine prints." (exhibition arranged and brochure compiled by Jane Scott). Publisher: National Gallery of Victoria (Melbourne). Published in 1997.

Easwaran, Eknath: Author of "Take your time: finding balance in a hurried world." Publisher: Hyperion (New York). Published in 1997.

Fisher, Cheryl: Author of "Too late to hurry (sound recording)." Publisher: Royalty Music (Edmonton, AB). Published in 1997.

Gaskin, James E.: Author of "In a hurry: NetWare 4.11/IntranetWare quick reference." Publisher: Network Press (San Francisco). Published in 1997.

Hurry, V., et al.: "Accumulation of Zeaxanthin in Abscisic Acid-Deficient Mutants of Arabidopsis Does Not Affect Chlorophyll Fluorescence Quenching or Sensitivity to Photoinhibition in Vivo" appears in Plant Physiology written by V. Hurry, J. M. Anderson, W. S. Chow and C. B. Osmond. Published in February 1997.

James-Roberts, I. S., et al.: "Links between infant crying and sleep-waking at six weeks of age" appears in Early Human Development written by I. S. James-Roberts, S. Conroy and J. Hurry. Published on April 25, 1997.

Michigan Dept. of Natural Resources: Sponsored research "Hurry Up and Wait: Growth of Young Bluegills in Ponds and in Simulations with an Individual-Based Model. - Research rept." Sponsored by: Michigan Dept. of Natural Resources, Ann Arbor. Inst. for Fisheries Research.; Fish and Wildlife Restoration Program, Washington, DC. Written by J. E. Breck. Abstract: The growth of young-of-the-year bluegills Lepomis macrochirus was measured in six experimental ponds and simulated with an individual-based model. In the ponds the young bluegills grew at a rate of about 0.6 mm/d for 3-4 weeks. An abrupt reduction in growth rate to about 0.2 mm/d occurred when total zooplankton density (exclusive of rotifers) decreased below about 50 organisms/L, and growth rate decreased to nearly zero by September. The model included daily foraging for several sizes of open-water or benthic prey and a revised set of bioenergetics parameters for bluegill. The simulations suggest that the initally rapid growth rate was near the limit set by maximum daily ration; the fish may have obtained full rations even with suboptimal foraging during this phase.

National Gallery of Victoria: Publisher of "Hurry up and wait: contemporary Philippine prints."

Exhibition arranged and brochure compiled by Jane Scott. Publisher: National Gallery of Victoria (Melbourne). Published in 1997.

Tarun J. Edwin, et al.: "Radially expandable tubular polytetrafluoroethylene grafts and method of making same" is patented by Tarun J. Edwin, Fariba Hurry and Christopher E. Banas.

Telegenic Entertainment: Publisher of "Hurry up, Franklin (Video-cassette)." Publisher: Telegenic Entertainment (Toronto, ON). Published in 1997.

Temporarily Yours: Temporarily Yours was an American sitcom which ran for six episodes in 1997. It starred actress Debi Mazar as Deb, a young woman who is desperate for a luxurious, cheaply priced New York City apartment. She lies to the landlady about having a job with a temp agency and then hurries to the agency to beg for work before the landlady calls and discovers the lie. The agency is run by Joan (Tony Award winner Joanna Gleason), an uptight businesswoman. Joan reluctantly takes on Deb as an employee but sends her out on strange assignments. In the pilot episode she is sent to work as a makeup artist at a mortuary. The five following episodes generally revolved around Deb's various temporary assignments and how they effected her personal life. [WP]

1998

Bodecker, N. M.: Author of "Hurry, hurry, Mary dear!." N.M. Bodecker; illustrated by Erik Blegvad. Publisher: Margaret K. McElderry Books (New York). Published in 1998.

Campbell, D., et al.: "Chlorophyll fluorescence analysis of cyanobacterial photosynthesis and acclimation" appears in Microbiology and Molecular Biology Reviews: MMBR written by D. Campbell, V. Hurry, A. K. Clarke, P. Gustafsson and G. Oquist. Published in September 1998.

Hurry, Mark J.: Born in 1965, authored "Cerebral hemoglobin oxygen saturation in patients with restless legs syndrome and periodic limb movements in sleep." Published in 1998.

Mattingley, Christobel: Born in 1931, authored "Hurry up, Alice!." Christobel Mattingley; illustrated by Michael Johnson. Publisher: Puffin Books (Ringwood, Vic). Published in 1998.

Menzies, Robert, Sir: Publication of "Dark and hurrying days (sound recording) Menzies' 1941 diary." Edited by A.W. Martin and Patsy Hardy. Publisher: Louis Braille Books (South Yarra, Vic). Published in 1998.

Passmore, Jacki: Born in 1947, authored "Curry in a hurry: 150 fast feasts from 5 Asian cuisines." Publisher: Anne O'Donovan (Melbourne, Vic). Published in 1998.

Space Station Silicon Valley: Space Station Silicon Valley is a platform game released in 1998 by Scottish developer DMA Design (now known as Rockstar North, creator of the Grand Theft Auto series). It was first released for the Nintendo 64, and later in a version for the Gameboy Color. This was the last game DMA Design produced for the Nintendo 64. The game producers were hurrying to make games for the next generation of systems, and the game was released with bugs and glitches in it. [WP]

Sykes, Julie: Author of "Hurry, Santa!." By Julie Sykes; illustrated by Tim Warnes. Publisher: Koala Books (Mascot, N.S.W.). Published in 1998.

1999

Airport: India: Subsequent to the hijacking of an IA flight in December 1999, and the crash of an Alliance Air plane in July 2000, the MoCA is hurriedly pushing ahead with its plans for procurement of safety/security equipment, acquisition of new planes and modernization of CNS/ATM equipment at all domestic airports.

Alda, Arlene: Born in 1933, authored "Hurry Granny Annie." Arlene Alda; illustrations by Eve Aldridge. Publisher: Tricycle Press (Berkeley, Calif). Published in 1999.

Bernoth, E. M., et al.: "Approaches to managing aquatic animal health in Australia" appears in Revue Scientifique et Technique (International Office of Epizootics) written by E. M. Bernoth, G. Murray, M. D. Rickard and G. Hurry. Published in April 1999.

Bourgeois, Paulette Clark, Brenda Cockburn,

2000

Bruce: Publication of "Hurry up, Franklin. (Kit: book and cassette)." ill. by Brenda Clark, music by Bruce Cockburn. Publisher: Kids Can Press (Toronto, ON). Published in 1999.

Field, Sabra: Author of "Before life hurries on." By Sabra Field and Jenepher Lingelbach. Publisher: University Press of New England (Hanover, N.H.; London). Published in 1999.

Gene Siskel: In 1998, Siskel underwent brain surgery to remove a brain tumor. He announced on February 3, 1999 that he was taking a leave of absence but that he expected to be back by the fall, writing "I'm in a hurry to get well because I don't want Roger to get more screen time than I." The last film he viewed was the Sarah Michelle Gellar romantic comedy "Simply Irresistible". [WP]

Harvard Business School Publishing,: Publisher of "Harvard managementor: an online resource for managers in a hurry." Publisher: Harvard Business School Publishing, (Watertown, Mass). Published in 1999.

Hurry, Anne: Author of "Psychoanalysis and developmental therapy." Edited by Anne Hurry; contributors, Tessa Baradon ... (et al.); foreword by Anne-Marie Sandler. Publisher: International Universities Press (Madison, Conn). Published in 1999.

International Universities Press: Publisher of "Psychoanalysis and developmental therapy." Edited by Anne Hurry; contributors, Tessa Baradon ... (et al.); foreword by Anne-Marie Sandler. Publisher: International Universities Press (Madison, Conn). Published in 1999.

Jamie Denton: Summer of 1999 found Jamie heading back to the theater, starring in the world premiere of the play "In Walked Monk". It was still running when "The Pretender" came "off the bubble" and was renewed, allowing production for the 4th season to begin. For the first month of production, twice a week, Jamie played two completely different roles within a twenty-four hour period ... portraying the sociopathic "Mr. Lyle" on the set of "The Pretender" by day, then hurrying to the theater to play the mild-mannered "Steven" on stage in the evening. [WP]

Katsuhiko Kondo: "Electronic control unit for internal combustion engine" is patented by Katsuhiko Kondo. Abstract: An electronic control unit for an internal combustion engine is able to accurately identify cylinders even in such a case as starting an engine while the engine is still cold or with a deteriorated battery or even if the engine is started hurriedly, or hastened start is repeated.

Knight, Ann Scott: Author of "Hurry home: novella and short stories." Publisher: four Way Books (Marshfield, MA). Published in 1999.

Medical Research: "Orlistat. No hurry." appears in Canadian Family Physician Medecin de Famille Canadien. Published in October 1999.

Mitchell, P.: "Procurement. Hurry up and wait" appears in The Health Service Journal written by P. Mitchell. Published on September 30, 1999.

Nicholls, Judith: Author of "Hurry aboard!." By Judith Nicholls; illustrated by Lo Cole. Publisher: Addison Wesley Longman (Harlow). Published in 1999.

Poulsen, Allan: Translator of "Hurry scurry mousie!" by Judy Hindley into Danish ("Spring, lille mus, spring!"). Publisher: Carlsen (Bagsværd). Published in 1999.

Publication: Publication of "Cities in a hurry:. DD304/02V." Published in 1999.

Roberts, Harry: Born in 1920, authored "Harry in a hurry." Publisher: The author (Bexley, N.S.W.). Published in 1999.

Strand, A., et al.: "Acclimation of Arabidopsis leaves developing at low temperatures. Increasing cytoplasmic volume accompanies increased activities of enzymes in the Calvin cycle and in the sucrose-biosynthesis pathway" appears in Plant Physiology written by A. Strand, V. Hurry, S. Henkes, N. Huner, P. Gustafsson, P. Gardestrom and M. Stitt. Published in April 1999.

Zelinski, Ernie John: Born in 1949, authored "Don't hurry, be happy!: more than 650 smart ways to slow down and really live." Publisher: Prima Pub (Rocklin, Calif). Published in 1999.

2000

Beaucourt, Cécile: Translator of "Hurry up, Franklin!" by Paulette Bourgeois into French ("Dépêche-toi, Franklin!"). Publisher: Deux coqs d'or (Paris). Published in 2000.

2000

Brémaud, Raymonde L.: Author of "Hurried cooks." Publisher: R.L. Brémaud (North Hatley QC). Published in 2000.

Browndeer Press/Harcourt, Inc: Publisher of "Hurry!." Illustrated by Emily Arnold McCully; adapted from Farewell to the Faarivox by Harry Hartwick. Publisher: Browndeer Press/Harcourt, Inc (San Diego). Published in 2000.

Graham Ashley Field and Robert James Mann: "System and method for automatic voice message processing" is patented by Graham Ashley Field and Robert James Mann. Abstract: The present invention relates to a system and methods for automatic voice message processing and in particular to a system and method for processing voice messages to convert the voice mail to email and prioritise the e-mail according to acoustic features in the voice mail. Performing speech to text conversion on a voice message and then categorising the text has its problems. A keyword for the categorisation may not be present in the text if the speaker was in too much of a hurry when leaving a message, for instance if it was urgent or important. If the speaker talked too quickly or does not match the speech pattern word vocabulary then the keyword may not be recognised.

Haas, Jessie: Author of "Hurry!." By Jessie Haas; pictures by Jos. A Smith. Publisher: Greenwillow Books (New York). Published in 2000.

Hahn, Emily: Born in 1905 and died in 1997, authored "No hurry to get home: the memoir of the New Yorker writer whose unconventional life and adventures spanned the twentieth century." Emily Hahn; foreword by Sheila McGrath; introduction by Ken Cuthbertson. Publisher: Seal Press (Seattle). Published in 2000.

Jeanine Lee Hurry, et al.: "Process for preparing polymers" is patented by Jeanine Lee Hurry, Robert Hugh Schwartz and Richard Shu-Hua Wu. Abstract: A process for preparing polymers is disclosed. The process utilizes displacement of air in a polymerization reactor with water vapor, a closed system, and a pump at high operating pressure to pump the polymer through a heat exchanger in an external loop, resulting in reduced volatile organic compound emissions.

Kenison, Katrina: Born in 1958, authored "Mitten strings for God: reflections for mothers in a hurry." Publisher: Hodder Headline Australia (Sydney, N.S.W.). Published in 2000.

Maxwell, Thomas, musician: Publication of "No hurry (sound recording)." Publisher: Platinum Groove (Toronto). Published in 2000.

McCully, Emily Arnold, ill: Publication of "Hurry!." Illustrated by Emily Arnold McCully, adapted from Farewell to the Faarivox by Harry Hartwick. Publisher: Harcourt Brace (San Diego). Published in 2000.

Meikle, William: Author of "Millennium macabre." William Meikle with Graeme Hurry; illustrated by Iain Maynard. Publisher: Enigmatic (Bishops Stortford). Published in 2000.

Mitchell, Lucy Sprague: Author of "Taxi that hurried." Lucy Sprague Mitchell, Irma Simonton Black, Jessie Stanton; (edited by) Margery Cuyler. Published in 2000.

Morton, Lone: Author of "Hurry up, Molly = D??he-toi, Molly." Lone Morton; pictures by Gill Scriven; French by Christophe Dillinger. Publisher: Barron's Educational Series (Hauppauge, N.Y.). Published in 2000.

Publication: Publication of "Young people and mental health edited by Peter Aggleton, Jane Hurry and Ian Warwick." Published in 2000.

Spencer Wayne Bruce, et al.: "Process for cleaning reactors" is patented by Spencer Wayne Bruce, James Kent Carpenter, Jeanine Lee Hurry, Joseph Richard Povernick, Frank Randolph Robertson III, Robert Hugh Schwartz and Richard Shu-Hua Wu. Abstract: This invention relates to a process for cleaning reactors. The process utilizes a solvent fed from multiple pressure sources to clean reactors of residual polymers. The reactors are equipped with agitators and stationary nozzles aimed at the agitator blades. The agitator is rotated during cleaning. The process may also utilize heated aqueous base to clean heat exchangers in external loops. In one aspect, a mixture of at least one organic solvent and aqueous base are utilized to clean certain reactors.

Stanley, Jerry: Born in 1941, authored "Hurry freedom: African Americans in Gold Rush California." Publisher: Crown Publishers (New York). Published in 2000.

Thomsen, Thorstein: Translator of "Hurry, hurry Mary dear" by Niels Mogens Bodecker and Erik Blegvad into Danish ("Skynd dig, skat!"). Publisher: Sesam (København). Published in 2000.

Wiley: Publisher of "Young people and mental health (computer file)." Edited by Peter Aggleton, Jane Hurry and Ian Warwick. Publisher: Wiley (Chichester; New York). Published in 2000.

2001

Afghanistan - News: August 16, 2001 — Headline: Taleban Refuses Diplomats Access To Detainees. Excerpt: Afghanistan's Taleban rulers have advised Western diplomats to leave the country after again refusing to let them see eight foreign aid workers detained on charges of promoting Christianity. Pakistan-based diplomats from Germany, Australia and the United States have been waiting in Kabul since Tuesday to try to secure access to the detained aid workers. … Australian diplomat Alastar Adams told reporters in the Afghan capital that the Taleban has asked them to be patient and to wait until the investigation is finished. As he puts, the Taleban officials have told the diplomats that any sign of persistence and pursuing or trying to hurry the investigation may be counter-productive.

Afghanistan - News: October 26, 2001 — Headline: Afghan Refugees Brace for Harsh Winter. Excerpt: In Afghanistan, the approach of winter is threatening to deepen the suffering of an estimated one million internally displaced people. Relief organizations are hurrying to deliver humanitarian supplies to camps spread throughout the country. They fear that bad weather and an escalation of hostilities between Taleban and opposition forces could prevent them from reaching the needy. Local people here call it bobi shabit, for bad winds, blinding windstorms that sweep through this part of Afghanistan in late October and serve as an early warning indicator that winter is not far away. Author: Alisha Ryu.

Afghanistan - News: November 13, 2001 — Headline: Iran Helps Afghan Refugees Near Border. Excerpt: Drought, poverty, and years of war have driven hundreds of thousands of Afghans from their homes. For several years neighboring Iran has taken in more than two million Afghans. After the September 11 terrorist attacks in the United States, Iran closed its border, fearing a new refugee influx. But Iran established two camps, just inside Afghanistan, to shelter the newcomers. Five-kilometers inside Afghanistan and past the border post manned by Northern Alliance fighters, 700 tents have been set up to house just less than 1,000 Afghan refugees. This is camp "Mile 46," apparently named simply after a marker that delineates the border between Iran and Afghanistan. … He says he has been here three times and enjoys coming to the camp to show films and bring books to the children. Some of the children eagerly clutch their little books and hurry off to their tents. Others continue to run and play.

Afghanistan - News: December 30, 2001 — Headline: Ismail Khan: Quick Formation of Interim Government Helped bin Laden Escape. Excerpt: The top military commander in western Afghanistan says that the UN decision to push forward the formation of an interim government may have cost the Northern Alliance the opportunity to capture or kill Osama bin Laden. Ismail Khan says he is not criticizing the United Nations for forming an interim government in Kabul. He acknowledges that the new government, led by moderate ethnic Pashtun Hamid Karzai, is doing its best to fill the political vacuum left by the Taleban in mid-November. But the veteran Afghan opposition commander, who is an ethnic Tajik, says the rush to form a broad-based government, which included Pashtuns, made it easy for the Taleban to strike deals and melt back into Afghan society. The fundamentalist Taleban was a Pashtun-dominated group. "If the United Nations had not been in such a hurry to form an interim government, it would have given Northern Alliance forces a chance to collect weapons from the Taleban," Mr. Khan said. "If we had been able to disarm the Taleban and Taleban-supported groups, I am sure Osama bin Laden would have been captured or killed by now." Author: Alisha Ryu.

Bost, Brent W.: Author of "The hurried woman:

conquer fatique, achieve successful lifelong weight management, and rekindle the fire in your relationships." Publisher: Vantage Press (New York). Published in 2001.

Chicago Mass Choir: Publication of "Calling on you, live (sound recording)." Chicago Mass Choir Just as I am Majesty Prayer Time Take it to Jesus He's waiting Holy Ghost power Calling on You You can't hurry God I'm blessed If God said it Nobody but You God is one prayer away. Published in 2001.

Ciereszko, I., et al.: "Phosphate status affects the gene expression, protein content and enzymatic activity of UDP-glucose pyrophosphorylase in wild-type and pho mutants of Arabidopsis" appears in Planta written by I. Ciereszko, H. Johansson, V. Hurry and L. A. Kleczkowski. Published in March 2001.

Congress - News: September 8, 2001 — Headline: Missile Defense Debate Heating Up in US. Excerpt: President Bush is now battling to save his missile defense program from opposition Democratic efforts in Congress to cut it. That reflects the wider national debate over the value of missile defense in terms of its cost, effectiveness and impact on the rest of the world, where there is much skepticism about the program. Missile defense is a major issue that has united Republicans behind it and Democrats against it. … Many tests lie ahead, says Mr. Coyle, before we can be sure a bullet can hit a bullet and thus bring down an incoming missile. Since the Bush Administration seems to be in a hurry to deploy a system before the end of the first term, there will have to be a sustained series of tests, one after another. This a quite a challenge, says Mr. Coyle.

Empire State Building: The Empire State Building's construction was hurried to completion, in order to take the title of "world's tallest building" from the Chrysler Building. It remained the tallest skyscraper in the world for a record 41 years (and the world's tallest man-made structure for 23 years) until the construction of the World Trade Center, and shortly afterwards the Sears Tower. As of 2005, following the September 11, 2001 attacks, it is the 2nd tallest building in the United States, and the tallest in New York City (see the 50 Tallest buildings in the U.S. list). [WP]

Hill, Andrew: Born in 1950, authored "Be quick--but don't hurry! (sound recording) (finding success in the teachings of a lifetime)." Andrew Hill with John Wooden. Publisher: Simon & Schuster Audio (New York, NY). Published in 2001.

Hurry, Silas D.: Author of "'--once the metropolis of Maryland': the history and archaeology of Maryland's first capital." Silas D. Hurry; with contributions by Martin E. Sullivan, Timothy B. Riordan, and Henry M. Miller. Publisher: Historic St. Mary's City Commission (St. Mary's City, Md.). Published in 2001.

Iran - News: November 29, 2001 — Headline: Iran Undergoing Democratic Changes. Excerpt: During the past few months, Iran has become a hub of diplomatic activity as foreign emissaries have sought cooperation in resolving the crisis in neighboring Afghanistan. There has been speculation that the Afghan crisis may bring Iran further out of its diplomatic isolation and could result in opening a dialogue with the United States. For many outsiders, Iran brings to mind visions of turbaned, bearded Islamic fundamentalists, and women cloaked in black from head to toe. Think again, says Mahmood Sariolghalam. "Iran is a very cosmopolitan country unlike the image that it has, especially in the United States," he said. … Some, like Hamid Jalaeipour are not too concerned by the demonstrations. They say it is natural for young people to be in a hurry. But others are worried about what, to them, is the impatience of Iran's young people with the slow pace of change.

Jacob Samuels - News: December 28, 2001 — Headline: SPECIAL PROGRAM - December 29, 2001: New Year's Story. Excerpt: A few days before Christmas, Chantal Yardley visited Jacob Samuels in the old people's home. … Chantal tried to change the subject. "Do you know it has been almost thirty years?" she asked the old man. … When Rafe and Chantal Yardley stepped out onto their new property, people hurried up to them and shook their hands. The man holding the "Welcome" sign said he was Jacob Samuels, from the house at the top of Bright Hill.

Mexico - News: September 5, 2001 — Headline:

US, Mexico Report Progress on Immigration Issues. Excerpt: U.S. Secretary of State Colin Powell and Mexican Foreign Minister Jorge Castaneda are reporting progress on the issue of immigration reform, but say an agreement on the status of Mexican migrant workers in the United States is probably years away. The two men chaired a meeting of the U.S.-Mexico Binational Council, on the eve of presidential talks at the White House. Mr. Powell and his Mexican counterpart finalized bilateral agreements to - among other things - open two new border crossings, improve safety standards for cross-border food shipments, and to share assets the two countries' police seize from criminal gangs operating in the border area. … At a news conference with Mr. Castaneda, Secretary Powell said he is pleased with progress made since the Bush and Fox administrations first took up the issue six months ago, but that a deal will not be rushed into being. "It is a very difficult, tough issue and we've got to do it right, not do it fast. And we've made a great deal of progress with respect to principles," Mr. Powell says. "We are now getting ready to move from principles into specifics and programs, and how would one design such programs to satisfy our needs, satisfy the needs of our peoples and how do we do it in a way that we know the system will work when we put it in place. We want to be right, not in a hurry."

Mike O'Sullivan - News: November 11, 2001 — Headline: Hollywood Regroups After Sept. 11 Attacks. Excerpt: The terror attacks of September 11 are having an impact in Hollywood, as they are throughout the U.S. economy. Mike O'Sullivan looks at some of the changes underway in the entertainment business. Hollywood's initial response to the attacks September 11 was subdued. Television shows with violent themes were withheld from broadcast and the release of several action films was delayed. One movie, Arnold Schwarzenegger's Collateral Damage, may never be released. It deals with a terror attack in New York, not unlike the one that occurred September 11. … Producer Mike Medavoy has held top positions at several Hollywood studios, including United Artists, Orion Pictures, which he co-founded, and Tristar Pictures, where he was company chairman. Mr. Medavoy says there is little production of feature films in Hollywood today for reasons unrelated to the attacks. Earlier this year, producers anticipated labor problems as contracts were renewed for both writers and actors. Studio executives hurried to finish their films before the contract deadlines. There were no strikes in the industry, but the flurry in production early in the year led to a lull by September.

New York - News: September 17, 2001 — Headline: New York City Hall Reopens; Recovery Continues. Excerpt: City Hall opened in New York Monday, just blocks away from the deadly terrorist attack on the World Trade Center. The around-the-clock rescue operation to find some of the 5,000 people who are missing continues, but hope of finding victims alive is fading. Despite the work of thousands of volunteers from all over the United States and Canada, no one has been brought out of the wreckage alive since Wednesday, but city officials say the top priority is still the rescue effort. … Mr. Monette says eight search and rescue teams have been brought in. He says rescue, not recovery, remains at the top of the agenda. "We are going to stay in the rescue and response mode for as long as it takes, until we are sure that we have done everything possible, provided every resource, and we do not want to hurry that," he said. "As long as there is hope, we are going to continue that effort. The city is going to continue it. At some time in the future, we will make that judgment as to when we go into recovery." Author: Barbara Schoetzau.

New York - News: October 12, 2001 — Headline: US Stocks Mixed Friday. Excerpt: A new case of anthrax discovered in New York City shook the U.S. stock markets Friday, precipitating a steep sell off, but stocks regained some lost ground in the final hour of trading. The Dow Jones Industrial Average closed 66 points lower, less than one percent, at 9,344. The broader Standard & Poor's 500 Index dropped six points to 1,092, while the tech-weighted Nasdaq Composite Index managed a fractional gain of about two points, ending the week at 1,703. … Corporate security consultant Elaine Carey is telling U.S. companies to stay alert and give employees more support. "Communicate regularly with your employees. Communicate to them you have a crisis management plan and an evacuation plan," she said. "And two, give them some general security awareness. Tell everybody what is suspicious, what is not suspicious, what should you act on and empower them to speak up and have a way to get to somebody at the top in a hurry if they see something."

Osama bin Laden - News: December 28, 2001 — Headline: Bush: bin Laden Will be Found. Excerpt: President Bush said he does not know where Osama bin Laden is, but vowed he will be brought to justice. Mr. Bush said U.S. forces remain determined to find Osama bin Laden - dead or alive. President Bush also said Osama bin Laden can run, but he cannot elude capture. He said the United States is not sure of his whereabouts, or even if he is still alive. But he stressed Osama bin Laden will be found. … The president spoke on the grounds of his ranch on a clear, windy winter's day. At his side was General Tommy Franks, the commander of U.S. troops in Afghanistan. General Franks said American forces will remain on Afghan soil until their mission is complete. "I think it's best for all of us to recognize that we will not be hurried, we will not be pressed into doing something that does not represent our national objectives," he went on to say. "And we will take as long as it takes."

Pakistan - News: October 25, 2001 — Headline: Afghan Groups Meet in Pakistan to Discuss New Government. Excerpt: Hundreds of Afghan exiles and tribal leaders have wrapped up a two day meeting aimed at establishing a broad based government in Afghanistan. The meeting was organized by supporters of the former king, Mohammed Zahir Shah. Representatives of the former king were among a number of groups that stayed away from the gathering. Speakers during the two day conference repeatedly condemned Afghanistan's ruling Taleban and September's terrorist attacks on the United States. … Wakil Akbarzai is one of the organizers of the conference. "There should be no hurry no rush," he says. "We should not give room for another military take over, which will continue the uncertainty in Afghanistan."

Philippines - News: October 1, 2001 — Headline: Ex-Philippine President Estrada Goes on Trial. Excerpt: In the Philippines, the corruption trial of former President Joseph Estrada began Monday. The proceedings started without Mr. Estrada's team of lawyers and under protest from the defendant. The trial of former President Joseph Estrada opened before an anti-graft tribunal in the Manila suburb of Quezon City. … Mr. Estrada did eventually appear, with his son, Jinggoy, but without his lawyers. As the trial opened, the former president asked the judge for a postponement. During a court recess, he complained to reporters that he was being treated unfairly. "I am surprised why they are in any hurry to proceed with the trial," he said. "In fact, this is the first postponement asked by the defense counsel." Author: Scott Bobb.

Safron, D. J., et al.: "Part-time work and hurried adolescence: the links among work intensity, social activities, health behaviors, and substance use" appears in Journal of Health and Social Behavior written by D. J. Safron, J. E. Schulenberg and J. G. Bachman. Published in December 2001.

Savitch, L. V., et al.: "Cold acclimation of Arabidopsis thaliana results in incomplete recovery of photosynthetic capacity, associated with an increased reduction of the chloroplast stroma" appears in Planta written by L. V. Savitch, J. Barker-Astrom, A. G. Ivanov, V. Hurry, G. Oquist, N. P. Huner and P. Gardestrom. Published in December 2001.

Simon Hurry and Jonathan L. Williams: "Gel type vapor release device" is patented by Simon Hurry and Jonathan L. Williams.

Tuncer, M., et al.: "A pill turned into a foreign body in a patient in a hurry" appears in Endoscopy written by M. Tuncer, Y. Erzin, A. F. Celik, U. Korman, N. Mandel and E. Oktay. Published in May 2001.

United States - News: November 3, 2001 — Headline: Americans in Small Towns Feel Safe, But Still Worry About Terrorists. Excerpt: United States government officials have been telling the American people to be alert for more terrorist attacks, but also to live normal lives. People living in small American towns might feel safer than those who live or work in big cities, but terrorism is still something rural Americans think and talk about. A freight train rolls through Manteno, Illinois, a town of about 6,400 people surrounded by cornfields 80 kilometers south of Chicago. There are plenty of signs that the terrorist attacks of September 11 are on people's minds: American flags hang in store windows, and from front porches and automobile antennas. But for people like Juanita Green, the threat of more attacks is not something that keeps them awake at night. "Because it is a nice little town. The police are always around. You always see them all over the place," she said. … Outside the coffee shop, Bill Mansfield says his days as a U.S. Marine during World War II convinced him that you can not hurry a military campaign. "We had battles in the South Pacific where we thought we were going to walk right up onto the shore and take over and it didn't happen," he said.

United States - News: December 27, 2001 — Headline: PEOPLE IN AMERICA - Dec. 30: Heroes of September Eleventh. Excerpt: Many of these people died while trying to save the lives of others. They are honored as American heroes. … On Tuesday, September eleventh, terrorists hijacked four large civilian passenger airplanes in the United States. All four flights were traveling from the eastern part of the country to the West Coast. … Hundreds of New York City firefighters and police officers began rescue efforts immediately after two of the hijacked planes crashed into the World Trade Center buildings. As people were hurrying down the stairs to escape the buildings, firefighters and policemen were hurrying up those same stairs to help bring injured victims out.

United States - News: December 28, 2001 — Headline: PEOPLE IN AMERICA - December 30, 2001: Heroes of September 11. Excerpt: On Tuesday, September eleventh, terrorists hijacked four large civilian passenger airplanes in the United States. All four flights were traveling from the eastern part of the country to the West Coast. At fifteen minutes before nine in the morning in New York City, one of the planes crashed into the north building of the World Trade Center. The airplane tore a huge hole in the building, and the plane's fuel immediately caused a large fire. … Hundreds of New York City firefighters and police officers began rescue efforts immediately after two of the hijacked planes crashed into the World Trade Center buildings. As people were hurrying down the stairs to escape the buildings, firefighters and policemen were hurrying up those same stairs to help bring injured victims out.

Zambia - News: December 29, 2001 — Headline: Main Opposition Candidate Claims Victory in Zambian Election. Excerpt: Early results from Zambia's presidential election show a race still too close to call. But the main opposition candidate has already declared victory. Six of the opposition contenders are alleging vote-rigging by the ruling party. They have asked the chief justice to delay swearing in Zambia's new leader. Presidential candidate Anderson Mazoka of the United Party for National Development says his own party's polling figures show him with a comfortable lead over the ruling party candidate, Levy Mwanawasa. He has declared himself the next president of Zambia. … Candidate Nevers Mumba told reporters they have asked the Chief Justice to delay swearing in the new president until their concerns are addressed. "We feel that it would be wrong for him to proceed in a hurry with the inauguration because we want to ensure that we solve this problem," he said. Author: Challiss McDonough.

2002

Afghanistan - News: May 8, 2002 — Headline: Returning Afghan Refugees Happy To Be Home Despite Hardships. Excerpt: Officials in Afghanistan say with relative peace and stability restored in much of the country, many of Afghanistan's nearly four million refugees are returning home. Refugee officials say nearly 500,000 Afghan refugees have returned in the past two months. Most of them are coming from Pakistan. But, in the past three weeks, 30,000 refugees in Iran have also returned and their numbers are increasing. The refugees begin arriving minutes after Iran's border post opens in the morning. They come on special buses that shuttle all day between the Iranian border post, 200 meters away, and this compound of white tents pitched on a treeless no-man's land between the two borders. The returnees, as they are called, climb down from the bus. U.N. staff tell them how to proceed. … The returnees are given free transportation home and about $10 per person in cash. When they reach their destination, they will also receive some food and items like cooking pots and plastic sheeting for shelter. Everyone is excited and in a hurry to get on the road. The trip to the provincial capital, Herat, 125 kilometers away, will take five hours because of the poor condition of the roads. Many returnees are going to Herat, but others are crossing the country to Kabul, 1,200 kilometers away. Their journey will take several days. Once home, the returnees will face more hardships. Officials say the next big task is to reintegrate them into their communities, to provide them with health services, educational opportunities and jobs. In a country shattered by a quarter-century of war, the task is daunting. But for now, there is happiness here, because despite the uncertainties ahead, these people are going home. Author: Scott Bobb.

Afghanistan - News: October 4, 2002 — Headline: UN Mediator: Fighting Flares up in Northern Afghanistan. Excerpt: United Nations mediators say fighting has flared up again between forces of rival military commanders in northern Afghanistan after a cease-fire failed to take hold. A U-N spokesman in Kabul said Thursday three people have been killed and five others wounded so far in battles between supporters of ethnic Uzbek General Abdul Rashid Dostum and ethnic Tajik commander Atta Mohammad. Fighting erupted between the two sides late last week. U-N negotiators hurried to the Dara-i-Suf area of northern Afghanistan, and they brokered a cease-fire.

Alexandre de Merode: Prince Alexandre de Merode (1934 - November 19, 2002) was a member of a Belgian princely house and the head of drug testing policy for the International Olympic Committee (IOC). Born in Etterbeek, Belgium, de Merode was criticized for his lax policies regarding drug testing in the Olympic Games. For example, following the 1984 Summer Olympics, several test results were destroyed "accidentally" while in de Merode's hotel suite. He claimed that the Games organizers were in a hurry to wind things up and that he lost control of the results. [WP]

Brazil - News: July 29, 2002 — Headline: Brazilian Black Pride Activists Use Music in Anti-Discrimination Fight. Excerpt: In Brazil, a growing black pride movement closely associated with hip-hop music seeks to end racial inequalities. Even though blacks or Afro-descendants make up about half the country's population, they are almost completely absent in most universities, big business, government and the media. Activists are trying to change this. M.V. Bill comes from one of Rio's poorest slums, favelas. He calls for Brazil's Afro-descendants to take their destiny in their own hands. … "This is a project that will take 20 to 40 years," he said. "We are in no hurry. We know it is something very difficult, but it is our project. It is our utopia. We can not live without utopia and this one is ours so we will go for it."

China - News: March 9, 2002 — Headline: China Still Struggles to Reform Laws to Meet WTO Obligations. Excerpt: Two and a half months after China joined the World Trade Organization, the country is still struggling to revise laws to meet its obligations to the global trade body. China's Parliament chief, Li Peng, said that much work is needed before China can honor its commitments to the World Trade Organization. In his address to the National People's Congress in Beijing Saturday, Mr. Li said that China must hurry to revise laws and regulations to bring them strictly in line with WTO rules. At the same time, he says lawmakers should exploit the rules of the global trade body, to protect and promote China's economic development. Author: Leta Hong Fincher.

Christmas - News: December 24, 2002 — Headline: Christmas in Abidjan: A Celebration Under Curfew. Excerpt: Christians in Abidjan are trying to make the best of a difficult situation as they prepare to celebrate Christmas under curfew, while their country is torn apart by war. The curfew is putting a damper on most holiday celebrations. Christmas carols blare through speakers outside an Abidjan supermarket, as shoppers inside rush through the aisles gathering last-minute supplies for Christmas dinner. They need to hurry because the store is closing early, not because of the holiday, but because Abidjan is under curfew. Everyone needs to be off the streets by 7:00 p.m. or they run the risk of getting shot by soldiers enforcing the dusk-to-dawn curfew. Author: Challiss McDonough.

DFT: Publisher of "Driver in a hurry: child in a coma = Gyrrwr ar frys: plentyn ar farw." Publisher: DFT (London). Published in 2002.

Doherty, William Joseph: Born in 1945, authored "Putting family first: successful strategies for reclaiming family life in a hurry-up world." William J. Doherty and Barbara Z. Carlson. Publisher: Henry Holt (New York). Published in 2002.

Durán, Araceli: Author of "Sorry! but I am with Hurry: No digas que estás con 'Hurry' si lo que tienes es prisa: un práctico y entretenido manual alfabético acerca de las preposiciones inglesas." Published in 2002.

Edwards, Ron: Born in 1930, authored "How to cook when the wife is crook: a handbook for the harassed, hurried husband: simple recipes." Publisher: Rams Skull Press (Kuranda, Qld). Published in 2002.

Faber, Inge: Translator of "Windows XP hea daches: how to fix common (and not so common) problems in a hurry" by Curt. Line Up Tekstproduktie. Groningen Simmons into Dutch ("Windows XP zonder zorgen"). Publisher: Academic Service (Schoonhoven). Published in 2002.

Gear, Alan D.: Author of "Fast glass painting: techniques and projects for glass painters in a hurry." Alan D. Gear and Barry L. Freestone. Published in 2002.

Green Valley - News: June 7, 2002 — Headline: Wildfire in Los Angeles Threatens Residents. Excerpt: A wildfire north of Los Angeles has scorched 9,000 hectares and destroyed seven houses. Fifteen-hundred residents have been forced to flee their homes. More than 400 houses were ordered evacuated Thursday as high winds fanned flames closing in on the rural community of Green Valley. Some people defied the order and stayed to protect their houses, hosing them down with water. Fire captain JoAnn Cantos says the area is unsafe for residents. … The area 80 kilometers north of Los Angeles is home to many ranches. Fleeing residents hurried to lead their horses and sheep to safety. Author: Mike O'Sullivan.

Iraq - News: October 23, 2002 — Headline: Britain Urges Haste in Approving Stronger Resolution on Iraq. Excerpt: Britain says the Security Council should hurry and approve a tough new resolution on Iraq. British Foreign Secretary Jack Straw issued the call. Foreign Secretary Straw told reporters he is a patient man, but time is running out for the Security Council to act. "We cannot wait forever. I do not believe we shall have to. And although the negotiations have been painstaking, as ever over such an issue, but they have also so far been constructive," he said.

Ivory Coast - News: November 14, 2002 — Headline: Rebels Reject Ivory Coast Peace Deal but Continue Talks. Excerpt: Ivory Coast rebels say they will remain in negotiations with the government, even after rejecting parts of a partial peace deal aimed at ending the country's eight-week-old rebellion. Rebels with the Patriotic Movement of Ivory Coast said they are willing to keep negotiating with the Ivory Coast government, and have presented a list of counter-proposals to the chief mediator, Togolese President Gnassingbe Eyadema. … Thousands of people hurried to get home Wednesday after government officials made a sudden announcement that the curfew would take effect two-hours earlier than usual. Author: Luis Ramirez.

Kansas - News: September 21, 2002 — Headline: Manhattan…Kansas?. Excerpt: If you hear Americans saying they're going to visit the "Apple," it's most likely the "BIG Apple" - bustling Manhattan in New York City. But there's another Manhattan that's officially an "Apple," too. It's a thriving midwest college town. "Tucked away in the rolling Flint Hills of Northeast Kansas is a diverse community, rich in historical preservation and cultural opportunities. We can't wait to give you a taste of what the Little Apple has to offer," says a tour guide. … It's been 32 years since Manhattan, Kansas, lawyer Terry Arthur studied at New York University law school in the BIG Apple. And he says he's in no hurry to get back. "I like the outdoors and the wide open spaces of Kansas," he said. "I like to hunt and fish and play golf and be outside. And New York to me was very confining. The number of people there, the limited space that each person has. At that time they were having a garbage strike. I didn't find it to be very clean. I found people not necessarily unfriendly, but they were too busy. I think there's too many people, to pay attention to other individuals. And I like Kansas, where everyone tries to help people and get along."

Los Angeles - News: August 22, 2002 — Headline: Book Provides New Details Into Struggle Aboard Hijacked Flight 93. Excerpt: The last moments aboard a hijacked jet that crashed September 11 were marked by a frenzied struggle as passengers and crewmembers tried to overpower the hijackers. New details have emerged in a book by the widow of one of the passengers, Todd Beamer. Lisa Beamer was in Los Angeles to meet with readers. After terrorists commandeered his aircraft, Todd Beamer and his fellow passengers and crew members tried to overpower them with a food cart and pots of boiling water, while the hijackers tried to cut off the plane's oxygen and break into the cockpit. Those details are recounted in Lisa Beamer's new book, called Let's Roll! Ordinary People, Extraordinary Courage. … A telephone operator reported that Ms. Beamer's husband said "Let's Roll" in a hurried call before the passengers apparently fought back against the hijackers. Lisa Beamer says those words are typical of her husband, who would always take positive action in a crisis. Author: Mike O'Sullivan.

Los Angeles - News: August 23, 2002 — Headline: New Book Details September 11 Hijacking. Excerpt: The last moments aboard one of the hijacked jets that crashed on September 11th were marked by a frenzied struggle as passengers and crewmembers tried to overpower the hijackers. New details have emerged in a book by the widow of one of the passengers, Todd Beamer. Lisa Beamer was in Los Angeles to meet with readers. After terrorists commandeered his aircraft, Todd Beamer and his fellow passengers and crew members tried to overpower them with a food cart and pots of boiling water, while the hijackers tried to cut off the plane's oxygen and break into the cockpit. Those details are recounted in Lisa Beamer's new book, called Let's Roll! Ordinary People, Extraordinary Courage. The widow based her account on cockpit recordings, which she has heard but which have not been released to the public, and on cell phone conversations between passengers and their loved ones. A telephone operator reported that Ms. Beamer's husband said "Let's Roll" in a hurried call before the passengers apparently fought back against the hijackers. Lisa Beamer says those words are typical of her husband, who would always take positive action in a crisis. Author: Mike O'Sullivan.

Morales-Manzanares, Roberto: Born in 1958, authored "In a hurry II: for chamber orchestra - score." Published in 2002.

New York - News: January 31, 2002 — Headline: March 25, 2001 - New York Times Style. Excerpt: I've learned over the years to stay away from the word "objective." I do say "impartial." We do try very hard to tell the whole story and all the sides of a story -- when there is a story with more than one side. Q- Tell me a bit about style and usage here at The [New York] Times. What makes it unique? What is it about style that you really want to stress to your writers and others? A- We try to write a language that is the equivalent of what used to be called "middle speech" by radio announcers. It's not so hip that our older established readers wold be turned off [dissuaded] by it…. And at the same time it's not stodgy and doesn't read as if it comes out of a law brief. It is as straightforward and as clear as we can make it. We are read by people in a hurry many of them on trains and buses that are lurching and rocking. People are being bumped by other commuters.

And we nevertheless want them to be able to get the facts in the most efficient way they can off the paper and into their heads!

New York - News: September 19, 2002 — Headline: Is Media Overwhelming Our Lives?. Excerpt: Educators have worried for years over the effects of too much television on young people. But how does that impact extend beyond television, and how is it influencing people of all ages? Those are questions posed by New York University professor Todd Gitlin in a book called Media Unlimited: How the Torrent of Images and Sounds Overwhelms Our Lives. For many Americans, electronic sounds and images have become almost a constant companion whether they're watching a television news program, doing business by cell phone, talking to a friend over the Internet, or going out for the evening to see a movie. … And what to do about all these messages that seem to say hurry up, get what you want now, and if you're bored, change the channel?

New Zealand - News: March 29, 2002 — Headline: Hollywood Goes Global. Excerpt: Of the five movies nominated as best picture at this year's Academy Awards, not one was filmed in Hollywood. They were shot instead on location in places as far afield as New Jersey, Australia and New Zealand. That illustrates a problem that troubles Hollywood insiders and local economists, who note that Los Angeles lost 18,000 jobs last year in the movie industry, and nearly as many support jobs in fields from catering to accounting. … Another UCLA economist, Tom Lieser, cites two reasons for the drop in Hollywood production. The threat of strikes last year by Hollywood writers and actors prompted the studios to hurriedly finish as many movies as possible. Author: Mike O'Sullivan.

Pakistan - News: November 21, 2002 — Headline: Pakistan Lawmakers Elect Prime Minister. Excerpt: Pakistan's National Assembly has elected Mir Zafarullah Khan Jamali as the country's first civilian prime minister since the 1999 military coup. The 58-year-old Pakistani leader comes from the southwestern province of Balochistan. He won 172 votes out of 328, defeating candidates from an Islamic alliance and the party of exiled former Prime Minister Benazir Bhutto. … "Let's not be in a hurry, let's not be impatient and let's not be selfish," he said. "If that be the case, I am afraid, Mr. Speaker, again we will be defaulters [lose civilian rule] and God knows what's going to happen after that. It's a golden chance we have got. It's a right of the people and I think every citizen is looking towards us."

Pakistan - News: November 21, 2002 — Headline: Mir Zafarullah khan jamali Pakistan New Prime Minister. Excerpt: Also Click on Real Audio for Bio-Graphy of Mir Zaffarullah Khan Jamali, Newly elected PM of Pakistan.by Pashto Service Stinger Naseer kakar in Queta. Pakistan's National Assembly has elected Mir Zafarullah Khan Jamali as the country's first civilian prime minister since the 1999 military coup. … "Let's not be in a hurry, let's not be impatient and let's not be selfish," he said. "If that be the case, I am afraid, Mr. Speaker, again we will be defaulters [lose civilian rule] and God knows what's going to happen after that. It's a golden chance we have got. It's a right of the people and I think every citizen is looking towards us."

Pakistan - News: November 27, 2002 — Headline: Pakistan's New Prime Minister Faces Many Challenges. Excerpt: Pakistan's return to democracy last week climaxed with Mir Zafarullah Khan Jamali becoming the country's 16th elected prime minister. But Mr. Jamali will be walking a tightrope. He has a very thin majority and faces strong opposition in the parliament on the one hand and a strong president on the other. Prime Minister Jamali formed the government with the help of smaller parties and the defection of 10 members of the main opposition party. He won the minimum necessary 172 votes in the 342-member lower house of parliament, but there was a price to pay. Three of the "turncoats" from former Prime Minister Benazir Bhutto's party were given key ministries in the new cabinet: defense, interior and petroleum. … In a speech after his election, Prime Minister Jamali said that his government will consult the opposition on all major issues. He pledged to protect democracy.

"Let's not be in a hurry, let's not be impatient and let's not be selfish. … It's a golden chance we have got. It's a right of the people and I think every citizen is looking toward us," he said.

Palestine - News: August 20, 2002 — Headline: Palestinian Police Assume New Political Security Duty in Bethlehem. Excerpt: Two Palestinians and an Israeli soldier have been killed by violence in the West Bank and Gaza Strip. The deaths follow the withdrawal of Israeli troops from Bethlehem, where Palestinian police once again patrolled the streets. A jeep makes its way along one of the narrow streets of central Bethlehem. Inside are several young men in freshly starched blue camouflage uniforms, with Kalashnikov rifles slung over their shoulders. … But life in Bethlehem has regained some sense of normalcy after the recent months of curfews and Israeli occupation. People are back on the streets to do their shopping, without having to hurry back home before curfew time.

Palestine - News: August 22, 2002 — Headline: Life in Bethlehem Regains Some Semblance of Normalcy. Excerpt: Israeli forces withdrew from the West Bank town of Bethlehem on Monday, in the first stage of what is hoped will be a larger pullout from other Palestinian areas in the future. While life in Bethlehem has regained some semblance of normalcy, many local residents say the Israeli withdrawal is nothing more than a public relations ploy aimed at countering international criticism of Israel's reoccupation of Palestinian land. This is Manger Square in central Bethlehem. The bells peal from the Church of the Nativity, where Christians believe Jesus Christ was born. … Children scamper about, families are back out shopping without having to hurry home before curfew time. Music blares from loudspeakers, luring customers to buy the latest pop hits.

Picken, Bob: Author of "Hurry, hurry, hard!: a history of curling in Manitoba." Publisher: Great Plains Publications (Winnipeg). Published in 2002.

Roger Miret and the Disasters: Their musical career started in the early 2000s and released their first self-titled debut album in 2002 on Hellcat Records and released their first single "Give 'Em The Boot" in 2003. They recorded and finished their second album in no hurry in 2004 and titled "1984" which was released on February 22, 2005 as their first album in 3 years. [WP]

Romano, M.: "Moving ahead, but barely. AMA in no hurry to transform into an 'organization of organizations'" appears in Modern Healthcare written by M. Romano. Published on September 9, 2002.

Sanschagrin, Joceline: Born in 1950, authored "Caillou: hurry up!." Text, Joceline Sanschagrin; illustrations, Claude Lapierre. Publisher: Éditions Chouette (Montréal). Published in 2002.

Schmidt, Annie M.G: Translator of "The taxi hurried" by Lucy Sprague Mitchell, et al. into Dutch ("De gele taxi: verhaaltje van Lucy Sprague Mitchell, Irma Simonton Black en Jessie Stanton"). Publisher: Rubinstein (Amsterdam). Published in 2002.

Somalia - News: May 16, 2002 — Headline: Somalia Reconciliation Conference to Tackle Factional Fighting. Excerpt: Kenya is planning to host a national reconciliation conference for Somalia. The session could take place as early as June. It is an attempt to end years of factional fighting in Somalia. Kenyan officials discussed at a news conference Thursday what steps are being taken to persuade Somalia's warring parties to attend the conference. Officials in Nairobi say that representatives from Kenya, Ethiopia and Djibouti - countries that border Somalia - will arrive in Somalia on Monday. … "Everybody is keen to come to the conference whenever it takes place. And they all again agree that we need not hurry the process until we have got everybody on board," he noted. "From the findings so far it is again clear that maybe in the past we have concentrated on just setting up the government in Somalia. But there is a need to address other issues like land, like the question of disarmament or the question of integrating the various factions."

Stitt, M. and V. Hurry: "A plant for all seasons: alterations in photosynthetic carbon metabolism during cold acclimation in Arabidopsis" appears in Current Opinion in Plant Biology written by M. Stitt and V. Hurry. Published in June 2002.

2002

Swaim, Bernie: Author of "Mi Baja: no hurry, no worry." Bernie Swaim; (illustrations by Jerry Meloche). Published in 2002.

Tin Foil Phoenix: In 2001, they released "Hurry", a seven-song EP. Its first single, "Neopolitan", got a great amount of airplay on Canadian radio. The song soon caught 604 Records co-founder Jonathan Simkin's attention and the band was signed to 604 Records/Universal in the summer of 2002. The deal guaranteed the release of their debut album in the United States, Canada, the United Kingdom, Australia, Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg, and the Netherlands. [WP]

Turkey - News: December 7, 2002 — Headline: Miss Turkey Crowned Miss World in London. Excerpt: A young Turkish woman has won the Miss World pageant in London, after the contest was dogged by boycotts, riots, and a last-minute change of venue. Miss Turkey, Azra Akin, accepted a glittering tiara and more than 150-thousand dollars in prize money today (Saturday) before a sellout crowd at London's Alexandra Palace. She said she hoped to represent the women of the world, in her words, "in a good way." Miss Colombia took second place and Miss Peru, third. … Then, some 200 Nigerians died in riots after a journalist suggested the Islamic prophet Mohammed would have approved of the pageant -- and even taken one of the contestants as his bride. Last month the pageant organizers hurriedly moved the event to London to escape the fray.

United States - News: February 13, 2002 — Headline: Toyota Unveils 'Pod' Car. Excerpt: Most car-owning Americans probably feel they could not live without their automobiles. Some might even go so far as to say they love their car, maybe even giving it a name. For this latter group, Japan's Toyota Motor Company has developed a new vehicle it says communicates with and even understands the driver. It is called the "pod," which stands for Personalization on Demand. It is a concept vehicle developed jointly by Toyota and Sony Corp. The pod looks a little bit like the Volkswagen Beetle, but, according to Dave Hermance of Toyota's U.S. Technical Center, it does more than the average Beetle. "It has sensors built into the controller, which is a palm of your hand kind of system, that monitors the driver's pulse and perspiration rate and also has a voice-recognition system that monitors conversations going on in the vehicle," he said. The information gathered by the car's monitors is used to adjust the car's interior climate, musical selections on the sound system, and even how fast or even whether the car moves forward. Don Esmond is Toyota's U.S. Division General Manager. "Sensing that the driver is in a hurry, it will try to relax the driver by soothing music, cool air and various warning displays," said Don Esmond. "If the driver conveys signs of "road rage," [anger] pod will slow to a stop, offering a time-out [break] for the driver."

United States - News: July 1, 2002 — Headline: American Veto Imperils UN Bosnia Mission. Excerpt: U.N. Secretary-General Kofi Annan has urged the Security Council to resolve its dispute over the new International Criminal Court, which came into being Monday, or risk undermining United Nations peacekeeping missions. U.N. officials are making contingency plans for a hasty departure from Bosnia, after the United States vetoed a six-month extension of the operation over its failure to get guarantees that American citizens would be exempt from the court's jurisdiction. The Security Council has until midnight Wednesday, New York time, to satisfy U.S. demands. If it fails, the Bosnia operation will effectively be over, six months before its time. A European police mission was scheduled to take over in December. … U.N. spokesman Fred Eckhard also says contractual obligations tied to the operation would have to be broken, and that would be a big financial loss for the organization. "There would be contracts that would have to be canceled, probably something like a $1 million worth of fines or penalties paid for early cancellation of those contracts," he said. "And people would have to have their contracts terminated earlier than usual to move the police out of the mission, or hurry them into some European-led mission. You will have to ask the European Union what it is prepared to do and how quickly it could move whether it could accelerate its takeover of this mission. But it could be very disruptive, no matter what is done."

2002

United States - News: August 23, 2002 — Headline: PEOPLE IN AMERICA - September 1, 2002: Louisa May Alcott. Excerpt: In eighteen-sixty-eight, an American publisher asked a struggling young writer to write a book for girls. At first, the writer, Louisa May Alcott, was not sure she wanted to do it. She said she never liked girls. And she never knew many, except her sisters. She thought her family's activities and experiences might be interesting to others. But, she said, probably not. … Alcott decided to write the book anyway. She told about her experiences growing up in the northeastern United States during the middle of the nineteenth century. Her book proved to be more than interesting. "Little Women" became one of the most popular children's books in American literature. It has been published in more than fifty languages. … "The dim, dusty room … the cozy chairs, the globes, and, best of all, the wilderness of books in which she could wander where she liked, made the library a region of bliss to her. The moment Aunt March took her nap, or was busy with company, Jo hurried to this quiet space, and, curling herself up in the easy chair, devoured poetry, romance, history, travels, and pictures, like a regular bookworm."

United States - News: August 30, 2002 — Headline: SCIENCE IN THE NEWS - September 3, 2002: Stress and Illness. Excerpt: Many people suffered mental and emotional problems after the September Eleventh terrorist attacks in the United States last year. Terrorism creates fear and fear often leads to severe stress. Studies suggest that stress can reduce the body's ability to fight disease and can lead to serious health problems. Stress affects everybody every day. It is your body's reaction to physical, chemical, emotional or environmental influences. Some stress is unavoidable and may even be good for us. Stress can keep our bodies and minds strong. It gives us the push we need to react to an urgent situation. Some people say it makes them more productive at work and gives them more energy. … Some people, for example, are aggressive and always in a hurry. They often become angry when things do not happen the way they planned. They are called "Type A" personalities. Studies suggest that these people often get stress-related illnesses.

United States - News: September 27, 2002 — Headline: Many US Cities Develop Light Rail Systems. Excerpt: Many large American cities are trying to alleviate traffic congestion by improving their mass transit systems. A growing number of those systems include light rail trains - a faster and more sophisticated version of the streetcars or trolleys that most cities abandoned some 40-50 years ago. Light rail uses electrically powered cars with steel wheels on tracks in the street. It often has a special lane so it can move faster, but it can also operate in mixed traffic. … Gary Thomas, the president of Dallas Transit, says in many places, the rails follow the route of the old trolley-car system, which closed down some 50 years ago. "So what we are actually seeing now is history come full-circle and we are seeing the light rail system come back in because it does allow for a system to move a lot of different people in a hurry," he said. "We carry about 43,000 people on a daily basis right now. We expect to add about another almost 30,000 people to that, as we continue to expand, and again doubling that later by 2010."

United States - News: November 21, 2002 — Headline: AMERICAN MOSAIC - November 22, 2002: Elected Sisters in Congress / Question About Madeleine Albright / Country Music Awards. Excerpt: And report about two sisters recently elected to Congress. … Earlier this month, the voters in the western state of California elected Democrats Loretta Sanchez and her sister Linda to the United States House of Representatives. They are the first sisters elected to serve in Congress at the same time. Shep O'Neal has more. … Mizz Albright continues to speak out about the importance of democracy. She has warned the Bush administration against being in a hurry to launch a war with Iraq. She says the United States needs to finish its work in Afghanistan before dealing with Iraq. She also has spoken out about the importance of having support from international allies. Some people in government have criticized those who question a possible war. Mizz Albright says it is her duty as an American to ask questions.

United States - News: November 30, 2002 — Headline: Kenya Bombing Investigators Free American-Spanish Couple. Excerpt: An American woman and her Spanish husband have been freed in Kenya, after two days of questioning about Thursday's terrorist attack on an Israeli-owned hotel near the port city of Mombasa, in which 15 people died. Nearly 20 other suspects are still being held. The American woman, Alicia Kalhammer, of Florida, and her husband, Jose Tena from Madrid, were released from Mombasa police station Saturday. … The American-Spanish couple was detained Thursday, while hurriedly checking out of Le Soleil Beach Club, several kilometers from the Paradise Hotel, just after the bombing.

United States - News: December 14, 2002 — Headline: The Killers Within: The Deadly Rise of Drug Resistant Bacteria. Excerpt: Our bodies are covered with bacteria. Even the most fastidious among us provides a home for about one trillion of the tiny organisms, comprising about one-twentieth of our body weight! Most of these creatures are harmless, like those within our intestinal tracts that help us digest food. But others can make us really sick. Forty-four thousand Americans die each year from bacterial infections, twice the number who die from AIDS in the United States. For decades, drugs known as antibiotics have been the major weapon against bad germs. But health experts are growing increasingly concerned about the dramatic rise in drug-resistant bacteria in the United States and around the globe. Mark Plotkin writes scary stories about people attacked by aggressive superbugs. Take the case of Evangeline Ames Murray, who nearly met her fate on a New York commuter train when flesh-eating bacteria entered her body and began to munch away at her arm. "Who needs science fiction when you have necrotizing fasciitis? This is a bug that attacks you, that eats your flesh and if you don't get to the doctor in a hurry you die," says Mr. Plotkin. Author: Rosanne Skirble.

Valentine's Day - News: February 1, 2002 — Headline: THIS IS AMERICA - February 4, 2002: Dating. Excerpt: Thursday, February Fourteenth, is Valentine's Day. On that day, many people buy cards or flowers for those who are important in their lives. Valentine's Day gives lovers a chance to express their feelings. However, millions of people in the United States are alone. They are not married or involved in a close relationship. Some of these people wish they could find someone to date. They wish they could celebrate Valentine's Day with a special person. … Some people seeking dates do not like making hurried choices. But others praise this method. A young woman in Chicago, Illinois says it prevents spending long hours with someone who is not very interesting.

Washington - News: November 22, 2002 — Headline: Polio, Surveillance and Observation. Excerpt: This is the third in a five-part series on global polio eradication, based on interviews in Washington, in Atlanta at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, and at National Immunization Days in northern Nigeria. Polio, a highly infectious viral disease, is preventable but not curable. Vaccines have halted its spread in much of the world. Thanks to the efforts of a global campaign to stop the disease, the World Health Organization predicts a polio-free world by 2005. … World Health Organization epidemiologist Ali Takai was one of two surveillance officers in the northern state of Kano, a high-risk area. Alerted by an observant local informant, he hurried to the countryside to examine a child. He stopped first at a cold storage facility, located within one of the hospitals, to collect the vaccine carrier and ice-packs, ready to go into the child's house. Author: Rosanne Skirble.

Would - News: November 24, 2002 — Headline: New Code of the West. Excerpt: Would it bother you to find the neighbors' cattle grazing on your front lawn? Just how long can you live without power when it's minus-six degrees and snowing outside? Those aren't standard questions for most prospective homeowners… unless they're looking to move to parts of the rural west. Bruce Dukyers had always dreamed of owning a bit of land where he could run a few horses and gaze out on a little piece of paradise. Ten years ago, the dream came true. He and his wife Gretchen abandoned suburban Chicago for a fourteen hectare spread in Montana's spectacular Madison ValleY. "The mountains change continually, I look out at Sphinx Mountain. I often take picture of it just because I love the way it looks in different qualities of light," she says. … The Duykers found themselves in a place where cowboys still drive cattle down the main highway. That might sound terribly romantic, but not if you're in a hurry to get to town. And at the same time they were learning to live with cowboys, the Duykers had to learn to live without a lot of services they'd taken for granted in the suburbs. "Taking the garbage to the dump was one big surprise," she says. "I really didn't expect to have to do that."

Zimbabwe - News: September 17, 2002 — Headline: Zimbabwe Farmer Sentenced to 15 Years for Murder. Excerpt: A Zimbabwe farmer was sentenced Tuesday to serve 15 years in prison. The sentence comes one day after the farmer, who is white, was convicted of murdering a black man who had illegally been given land on his farm under Zimbabwe's resettlement program. Philip Bezuidenhout is the first commercial farmer to be convicted of an offense, since farm invasions began in February 2000. … Bezuidenhout had denied committing murder. He told the court that he had accidentally struck Mr. Mapenzauswa as he drove away in a hurry from a threatening mob at his farm. But the state prosecutor rejected his plea and insisted he had deliberately run over Mr. Mapenzauswa. Author: Peta Thornycroft.

2003

Academy Awards - News: March 14, 2003 — Headline: THIS IS AMERICA - March 17, 2003: Academy Awards. Excerpt: Sunday will be the most important day of the year for hundreds of people in the movie industry. Filmmakers will receive Academy Awards for the best acting, directing, writing, editing, music and other work on movies released last year. The winners will receive an award called an Oscar. It is shaped like a man. It is made of several metals covered with gold. The statue is only about thirty-four centimeters tall. It weighs less than four kilograms. But the award can be priceless to the person who receives it. … The awards are presented every spring. The ceremony on Sunday will be held in the Kodak Theater in Hollywood. Important people in the movie industry attend the ceremonies. Crowds of people wait outside the theater. They watch the famous movie stars as they arrive for the ceremony. Camera lights flash. Actors and actresses smile for the photographers and television cameras. Some movie stars make statements to waiting reporters. Others hurry inside the theater.

Bailey, Joseph V.: Author of "Slowing down to the speed of love (computer file): how to create a deeper, more fulfilling relationship in a hurried world." Publisher: Contemporary Books (Chicago). Published in 2003.

Biuso, Julie: Author of "The long Italian lunch: over 70 dishes that are too good to hurry." Julie Biuso; recipe photographs by Ian Batchelor. Publisher: New Holland (London). Published in 2003.

Bourgeois, Paulette: Author of "Hurry up, Franklin." Translated into Polish, titled "Franklinie, pospiesz sie" (translator: Patrycja Zarawska). Publisher: Debit (Bielsko-Biala). Published in 2003.

British National Party: As of October 2003, the Party has seventeen elected councillors, all in England. This was previously eighteen, but the BNP expelled one of its existing Burnley councillors from the Party after his alleged unruly behaviour at its annual 'Red, White and Blue' festival. At the Party's request, the councillor subsequently resigned his council seat. The former councillor in question had been hurriedly chosen after the party's first choice was unavailable to stand for election at very short notice. The BNP claimed it had no way of predicting the unsuitability of this last-minute choice due to the circumstances, and describes the incident as only a "minor setback". The party lost the subsequent by-election for this resigned seat. [WP]

Cambodia - News: June 23, 2003 — Headline: Cambodia Prepares for Election Campaign. Excerpt: In Cambodia, campaigning begins

Thursday for national elections that will be held in one month. The Cambodian government says it is working hard for a free and fair vote. But civil rights groups say they are concerned that government restrictions and voter intimidation may mar the elections. As the month-long campaign begins for Cambodia's national elections, officials are pledging a free and fair process. Cambodia's Prime Minister Hun Sen says he will not campaign in order to avoid quarreling with his rivals. Nevertheless, democracy advocates and human rights groups are warning that officials in the government and ruling party are using unfair tactics to maintain the grip they have held on the country for decades. … Mr. Koul says there have been 11 killings and 84 cases of intimidation in recent months. Although investigations have shown many of the cases were due to personal disputes, Mr. Koul says the investigations have been hurried and have led voters to believe that it is risky to take an independent stand. Author: Scott Bobb.

Cyprus - News: January 15, 2003 — Headline: Cypriot Leaders Resume Reunification Talks. Excerpt: The leaders of Cyprus' Greek and Turkish communities have resumed United Nations-sponsored talks aimed at reunifying the island before it joins the European Union in 2004. The meeting came a day after tens of thousands of Turkish Cypriots called on their leader to approve the U.N. reunification plan or resign. Greek Cypriot President Glafcos Clerides and Turkish Cypriot leader Rauf Denktash held their first meeting since U.N. Secretary-General Kofi Annan presented his reunification proposals in November. The two men promised to meet again on Friday. … The U.N. is in a hurry to reach an agreement because Cyprus, like nine other countries that have been approved for membership in the EU, are due to sign an accession agreement with the bloc in April.

Cyprus - News: February 26, 2003 — Headline: Prospects For Acceptance of Cyprus Unification Plan Seems Bleak. Excerpt: United Nations Secretary General Kofi Annan is in Cyprus making a last ditch effort to get Greek and Turkish Cypriot leaders to accept a reunification plan that will allow both sides to join the European Union next year. Mr. Annan has invested time and energy in elaborating a plan he hopes will heal the partition of the island. That came about in 1974, when Turkish troops invaded the northern third of Cyprus after a failed coup by Greek Cypriot nationalists seeking to unite the island with Greece. … Mr. Annan is in a hurry. Though he originally set Friday as the deadline for acceptance of his plan, talks between the two sides have made little progress. So the Secretary General has extended the time frame for an agreement by one week.

Danelutti, John: Author of "Hurry up!: teacher edition." Written by John Danelutti; photography by Michael Curtain. Published in 2003.

Daniélou, Alain: Author of "Sacred music: its origins, powers, and future traditional music in today's world." Alain Daniélou (Shiva Sharan); articles selected and presented by Jean-louis Gabin; (translated from the French by Kent Hurry). Publisher: Indica Books (Varanasi). Published in 2003.

Dennard, Deborah: Author of "Hurry up, Hedgehog!" Based on text by Deborah Dennard; illustrated by Robert Hynes. Published in 2003.

Fisher, Sue: Born in 1961, authored "Fast plants: choosing and growing plants for gardens in a hurry." Published in 2003.

Ford, Bernette: Author of "Hurry up!" By Bernette Ford; illustrated by Jennifer Kindert. Published in 2003.

Ginsburg, Art: Author of "Home cookin' in a hurry." Publisher: Oxmoor House (Birmingham, Ala). Published in 2003.

Great Plains - News: March 5, 2003 — Headline: Genetics Professor Mixes Science and Pragmatism to Create 'Sustainable Agriculture'. Excerpt: Farmers in America's central Great Plains have been planting their crops annually for generations. Year after year, the soil has turned those plantings into harvests. But erosion, insects, drought, and the effects of chemicals have taken their toll on the land. As he thought about this 30 years ago, a California genetics professor remembered the hardy prairie of his native Kansas. He wondered whether food grains could be grown perennially, just like the prairie's drought, and insect-resistant grasses. So Wes Jackson went back to Kansas to find out. … One issue is that melding various species into a sort of granola-of-the-fields, Wes Jackson calls it an "ecological mosaic", takes time - a long time. They've been at it a quarter-century. Plant breeding, Mr. Jackson reminds you, is not a science that you can hurry, and he admits he'll probably not live to see the day when yields are sufficient that farmers will widely embrace the polyculture idea.

Harst, Rudi: Author of "Hurry slowly: living from the inside out." Published in 2003.

Heaser, Sue: Author of "Fast polymer clay: speedy techniques and projects for crafters in a hurry." Publisher: Collins & Brown (London). Published in 2003.

Hong Kong - News: April 25, 2003 — Headline: SARS Impacting Daily Life in Hong Kong. Excerpt: Six weeks into the outbreak, Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome or SARS has changed life in Hong Kong. Hong Kong has been hit hard by the disease, which is responsible for the deaths of more than of 100 people. Morning rush hour in Hong Kong sees hordes of workers hurrying to their office towers. Until a few weeks ago, people would push each other and crowd into elevators. But today, the idea of being trapped inside an enclosed space with a dozen people, even for just one minute, is a nightmare. Author: Heda Bayron.

Hurry, Kenneth: Translator of "Histoire de l'Inde" by Alain Daniélou into English ("A brief history of India"). Publisher: Inner Traditions (Rochester, VICT). Published in 2003.

Iraq - News: February 6, 2003 — Headline: Britain to Deploy Additional Forces around Iraq. Excerpt: Britain is sending more than 100 aircraft and 8,000 personnel to join the military buildup around Iraq. The deployment in the coming weeks will include about 100 planes and 27 helicopters, with 8,100 support personnel. … The defense secretary, Geoff Hoon, said Iraqi President Saddam Hussein must hurry up and comply with U.N. disarmament resolutions, if he wants to avoid a war.

Iraq - News: March 27, 2003 — Headline: British Troops Uncover Evidence of Iraqi Chemical Weapons. Excerpt: Senior British officials say their troops in southern Iraq have found more evidence that Iraqi President Saddam Hussein may be planning to use chemical weapons. Officials showed a videotape of British soldiers in a captured Iraqi command center in the Rumeila oil fields area in southern Iraq, surrounded by what they said were more than 100 chemical protective suits, gas masks and related equipment. … The British military chief of staff, Admiral Michael Boyce, says the Iraqi soldiers left the building in a hurry, leaving lots of equipment behind. Author: Al Pessin.

Iraq - News: March 29, 2003 — Headline: Car Bomb Attack Kills 4 US Soldiers in Iraq. Excerpt: U.S. military officals say a car bomb attack at a U.S. checkpoint in central Iraq killed at least four American soldiers. Meanwhile, coalition forces in Iraq are keeping up their relentless round-the-clock bombing of Baghdad, while some advanced ground units have halted their dash to the Iraqi capital to beef up stretched supply lines. U.S. warplanes fired Tomahawk cruise missiles early Saturday at Iraq's information ministry, causing extensive damage. The attack came after a night of air raids in which the Iraqis say several dozen civilians were killed at a neighborhood market. U.S. military officials say the strikes were aimed at government buildings and Republican Guard positions around the Iraqi capital. … To improve the supply effort, U.S. army engineers near the town of Najaf, 160 kilometers south of Baghdad, are hurrying to build an airstrip in the desert capable of handling C-130 transport aircraft. Landing supplies at the airstrip, they say, will reduce the need to bring in provisions by road. The advance force's supply lines have been persistently ambushed by Iraqi irregulars.

Iraq - News: April 3, 2003 — Headline: 'Key Suburbs of Basra Have Now Been Taken,' says British Defense Secretary. Excerpt: Britain says its troops have taken key suburbs of the southern Iraqi city of Basra, and are getting more and more help from Iraqi civilians as they move to take full control of the city. British Defense Secretary Geoff Hoon told parliament that British forces are consolidating their positions around Basra, but are in no particular hurry to take control of the entire city. Author: Al Pessin.

Iraq - News: April 5, 2003 — Headline: British Military Encouraging Iraqi Surrender in Basra. Excerpt: The British military is encouraging militant supporters of Iraqi President Saddam Hussein to surrender in the southern city of Basra. British military officials say leaders of the ruling Baath party of Saddam Hussein should give up now to avoid more civilian deaths in Basra. … British forces have surrounded Basra since the early days of the campaign, which began March 20, and Captain Lockwood says there is still no hurry to rush into the city. "In reality we can't speed the fall of Basra. We are conscience obviously of the people who live there. Their safety is our primary concern," he said. "We are treating it very carefully. They are becoming more confident in us every day. We are getting lots of very good information from people who are talking to us. And resistance is dropping off as the days go on."

Iraq - News: April 15, 2003 — Headline: Ambassador Wilson and Tanya Gilly Discuss Iraq's Near Future. Excerpt: Ms. Gilly, since I introduced the Ambassador first, I will give you the first question. The meeting broke up after a day with a declaration. Are you heartened by this beginning? Is it a first step? Or did you expect more? … One of the things that all the Iraqis have to believe now is that Saddam is gone and they can move very freely. And these meetings, the first one took place, and I'm sure a lot of Iraqis were anticipating to see what was going to come out of this meeting. And then, with the next meeting, of course, you're going to see more participation from other groups and other personalities as well. … Ms. Gilly, it would seem that if they're in a hurry, they are now waiting for 10 more days, this is a fair point. If the United States and the troops are going to be there for a while, the longer they're there, the more they will be seen as occupiers, despite their protestations, wouldn't you think?

Iraq - News: April 17, 2003 — Headline: Report from Iraq: Examination of the First Iraqi Opposition Meeting. Excerpt: Leaders of the Iraqi opposition gathered in Nassiryah to hold their first meeting since the fall of Saddam's government. This first meeting of the Iraqi Opposition occupies the front pages and headlines of all Middle Eastern newspapers and TV news reports. Most of the reports focus on two aspects: that the meeting was attended by the first administrator of post-war Iraq, U.S. retired Lt. General James Garner, but the same meeting was boycotted by an important Shiite group. Shiite Muslims are protesting in the streets of Nassiryah, yelling "We don't want Saddam. We don't want the U.S.A." Their message is clear. They want Iraqis to rule Iraq. One Iraqi opposition group sent a single non-voting delegate because they doubted that this meeting could immediately lead to establishment of an Iraqi self-rule. Ahmad Chalabi, the leader of the Iraqi National Congress, an exile group widely seen as enjoying the support of the U.S., did not take part in the meeting. … Professor Easa feels that the choice of General Garner to take charge in the post-war U.S. Office of Reconstruction and Humanitarian Assistance in Iraq is quite reasonable due to his experience in Northern Iraq. However, Mr. Easa advises General Garner should go slowly on Iraq's problems. Mr. Easa says he fears the U.S. government might be pressuring him too much and that this might cause him to make many hurried decisions.

Iraq - News: May 9, 2003 — Headline: Iraq Suffers Severe Gasoline Shortage. Excerpt: Iraq has the second largest oil reserves in the world. But the country is suffering a severe gasoline shortage in the aftermath of the US invasion. Few gasoline stations are open in Baghdad, and there are cars lined up for several kilometers at those that are operating. … And for those in a hurry? Well, a thriving black market is available if they are willing to pay up to 25 cents a liter.

Iraq - News: May 22, 2003 — Headline: Powell's Talks in Paris to Focus on Iraq, Upcoming G8 Summit. Excerpt: Secretary of State Colin Powell arrived in Paris Thursday for talks focusing on the post-war reconstruction of Iraq with foreign ministers of the other G8 industrial powers and Russia. Mr. Powell says the United States will not rush the process of creating an interim Iraqi government. The Paris meeting, which will lay groundwork for the G8 summit in Evian, France early next month, will be the first joint meeting of big-power foreign ministers since the Iraq war. … "It might disappoint some people. It might make other parties pleased," he said. "What we have to do is do it right, and not be in a hurry, but do it right. So that we put in place a responsible government, a lasting government, a government that will be reflective of all the people of Iraq, and we should not be in a hurry. And that is the point the president has made repeatedly. We are there to do it right, however long it might take."

Iraq - News: June 2, 2003 — Headline: Britain Defends Decision to Join US-led Attack on Iraq. Excerpt: Britain is defending its decision to go to war against Iraq from critics who say Prime Minister Tony Blair duped the public about Iraq's weapons of mass destruction program. Pressure is mounting on Prime Minister Blair to prove the existence of Saddam Hussein's weapons program following a so-far futile search for conclusive evidence. The former international development secretary, Clare Short, said Mr. Blair misled and deceived parliament in order to meet Washington's timetable for war against Iraq. "We were duped by the speed, claiming that the stuff was weaponized and might be used in 45 minutes, which was part of the secret commitment to a date, which meant everything had to be hurried along," she said.

Iraq - News: June 2, 2003 — Headline: British Public, Politicians Question Intelligence Reports on Iraqi Weapons. Excerpt: British Prime Minister Tony Blair is defending his decision to go to war against Iraq, in response to critics who say he duped the public about Iraq's weapons of mass destruction program. Pressure is mounting on Prime Minister Blair to prove the existence of Saddam Hussein's weapons program, following a so far futile search for conclusive evidence. … "We were duped by the speed, claiming that the stuff was weaponized and might be used in 45 minutes, which was part of the secret commitment to a date, which meant everything had to be hurried along," said Ms. Short.

Iraq - News: July 19, 2003 — Headline: Iraq Intelligence Controversy Could Have Serious Political Fallout in US, Britain. Excerpt: President Bush and British Prime Minister Tony Blair stood together in Washington this week, and offered a spirited defense of their decision to go to war in Iraq. But questions continue to dog both men about some of the pre-war intelligence used to justify the toppling of Saddam Hussein. At a joint news conference, both men seized the opportunity to defend their decision to use military force. … But Larry Sabato also added that the president's political fortunes could improve in a hurry, depending on developments in Iraq.

Iraq - News: September 4, 2003 — Headline: Arab League Distances Itself From Iraq's Governing Council. Excerpt: Arab foreign ministers are preparing to meet in Cairo next week. They have not invited any representative of Iraq's new Governing Council, but its newly appointed foreign minister might go anyway. The Arab League and its member nations have made a point of keeping the U.S.-appointed Iraqi Governing Council at a certain distance. Although League Secretary General Amr Moussa recently met with a delegation from the council, the Arab League has refused to officially recognize the council's authority and has not yet acted on the council's request that it be allowed to fill Iraq's vacant Arab League seat. … The League has given recent signals that it's in no hurry to ease the Iraqi Council's path to formal recognition. In recent days, Mr. Moussa has welcomed a representative of the Committee to Protect the Iraqi People, a political group which actively opposes the Governing Council. The representative, Mehzer Dulaimi, called on Arab nations to reject the council.

Iraq - News: September 23, 2003 — Headline: Bush Urges UN Members to Rebuild Iraq Together. Excerpt: President Bush says United Nations members must come together to help pay for rebuilding Iraq. It was the president's first appearance before the U.N. since the U.S.-led invasion of Iraq. President Bush did not back down from going to war without the U.N. But now that most of the fighting is finished, he said it is time the world body comes together behind what he calls the U.N.'s fundamental principles. "We are dedicated to the defense of our collective security, and to the advance of human rights. These permanent commitments call us to great work in the world, work we must do together. So let us move forward," he said. … Mr. Bush said a U.S.-appointed governing council is making progress toward Iraqi democracy, but he says it is too soon for an electoral timetable. "The primary goal of our coalition in Iraq is self-government for the people of Iraq, reached by orderly and democratic means. This process must unfold according to the needs of Iraqis, neither hurried nor delayed by the wishes of other parties," he said. Author: Scott Stearns.

Iraq - News: September 23, 2003 — Headline: Bush, Chirac Discuss Iraq at UN. Excerpt: President Bush and French President Jacques Chirac have failed to resolve their differences over the future of Iraq's political transition. But the French leader says he will not veto a U.S.-backed resolution for a multinational security force. The two leaders met for 45 minutes following their very different speeches to the U.N. General Assembly. … President Bush rejects a timetable, saying the process must unfold according to the needs of Iraqis, neither hurried nor delayed by the wishes of other parties. Author: Scott Stearns.

Iraq - News: September 24, 2003 — Headline: Bush, Schroeder Soothe Differences over Iraq. Excerpt: U.S. President George Bush and German Chancellor Gerhard Schroeder say they have overcome differences that divided them over the ouster of Saddam Hussein. Mr. Bush is in New York, where he is lobbying for a new U.N. resolution authorizing a multi-national security force for Iraq. It was the first formal meeting between the two leaders since last year, when Germany joined France in denying President Bush U.N. authority to invade Iraq. … President Bush says it is too soon for a timetable because free elections cannot be held until there is a new constitution. He says the process must unfold "according to the needs of Iraqis, neither hurried nor delayed by the wishes of other parties." Author: Scott Stearns.

Iraq - News: September 24, 2003 — Headline: Bush Official: No Hurry on Iraq Resolution. Excerpt: A senior Bush administration official says President Bush has not directly asked any country to provide additional troops for peacekeeping efforts in Iraq. But, briefing reporters in New York, the official said Mr. Bush has used two days of meetings with foreign leaders at the United Nations to request help with Iraq's reconstruction. The official added the Bush administration is not in any hurry to win passage of a new UN resolution expanding the UN role in Iraq.

Iraq - News: November 12, 2003 — Headline: Bush Discusses Security, Economy with Top US Official in Iraq. Excerpt: President Bush has held urgent talks with his national security team about speeding up Iraq's return to self-rule and improving security for coalition troops. White House spokesman Scott McClellan says President Bush met for consultations on accelerating efforts to restore security, political activity, and economic growth in Iraq. … The urgency of this White House meeting on Iraq was underscored by Ambassador Bremer's hurried summons from Baghdad and Secretary Rumsfeld's delaying the start of a trip to Asia. Author: Scott Stearns.

Ituzi, Akemi: Translator of "Don't hurry, be happy" by Ernie John Zelinski into Japanese ("Suro raihu no moto rokumaruni"). Publisher: Voisu (Tokyo). Published in 2003.

Janssen, Nel: Translator of "Husband in a hurry" by Muriel Jensen into Dutch ("Muze van het lot"). Publisher: Harlequin (Amsterdam). Published in 2003.

Jensen, Muriel: Author of "Husband in a hurry." Translated into Dutch, titled "Muze van het lot" (translator: Nel Janssen). Publisher: Harlequin (Amsterdam). Published in 2003.

Jones, Kirk Byron: Author of "Addicted to hurry: spiritual strategies for slowing down." Published in 2003.

Malzahn, Gus: Author of "Hurry-up no huddle: an offensive philosophy." Published in 2003.

Mars - News: December 5, 2003 — Headline: News Media Speculate on Possible US Manned Flights to Moon, Mars. Excerpt: The Bush administration is reviewing America's human space exploration program, and the outcome could be a new plan that takes the U.S. space program beyond Earth orbit, where it has been for 23 years. Speculation in the news media is that the government might announce a plan to send astronauts back to the moon or to Mars. The Bush White House has a reputation for keeping secrets, and its review of ways to energize the country's human spaceflight program is no exception. Even renowned George Washington University space policy analyst John Logsdon has not been able to learn anything about the review. He was a member of the independent board of experts who investigated the February break-up of the space shuttle Columbia. … Whatever the Bush administration decides, it appears to be in no hurry to rush its review. White House spokesman Scott McClellan has rejected press conjecture that President Bush will make an announcement at December 17 ceremonies in North Carolina commemorating the 100th anniversary of the Wright brothers' first airplane flight.

Martí, Marc Rosich: Translator of "Hurry up, Alice!" by Christobel Mattingley and Michael Johnson into Spanish ("¡Date prisa, Alice!"). Publisher: Círculo de Lectores (Barcelona). Published in 2003.

Mattingley, Christobel; Johnson, Michael: Authors of "Hurry up, Alice!" Translated into Spanish, titled "¡Date prisa, Alice!" (translator: Marc Rosich Martí). Publisher: Círculo de Lectores (Barcelona). Published in 2003.

Morgan, Nicola: Author of "Hurry up, Edward!: tell the time: maths story book." (illustrated by Peter Lawson; written by Nicola Morgan). Publisher: Egmont (London). Published in 2003.

Multimedia Container Format: After a six month hibernation, in summer 2003, Matroska had got a four month head-start in writing the software. All those who were in a hurry had moved their interests towards Matroska. This brought off the pressure of rushed release for MCF, and instead suggested that the format could be fine-tuned further. The experiments with Matroska proved to be useful feedback and thus MCF got many improvements that it would not have got without the split. This includes proper multi-segment support (virtual addressing) and even lower overhead. [WP]

Murray, Carol: Author of "Hurry up!" Written by Carol Murray; illustrated by Dave Garbot. Published in 2003.

New York - News: September 24, 2003 — Headline: Chirac, Annan Criticize US Unilateralism at UN. Excerpt: U.S. President Bush has locked horns at the United Nations with French President Jacques Chirac and U.N. Secretary General Kofi Annan over the U.S. decision to act unilaterally in Iraq. From U.N. headquarters in New York, Peter Heinlein sent this overview of opening day at a new General Assembly session. President Bush gave a spirited defense of his decision to invade Iraq without a U.N. Security Council resolution. But his speech was sandwiched between two other world leaders, both of whom denounced Washington's unilateralism. … Mr. Chirac wants full sovereignty to be handed over to Iraqis within months. But Mr. Bush made it clear he would not be rushed. In his Assembly speech, he said self-government in Iraq should be neither hurried nor delayed by the wishes of other parties.

News: June 27, 2003 — Headline: Polite Light Becomes Latest Idea in Fighting Road Rage. Excerpt: With adjustable seats, soundproof interiors, CD players, televisions, and cellular phones, cars are virtually comfortable enough to live in. But when it comes to safety, driving experts say many people are at risk while driving. They speed, they do not signal turns, and some drivers even take their frustration out on other drivers. Experts believe that forms of violent fury on the road are increasing, but so are the ideas to combat it. The latest idea in fighting road rage is a polite light. It might be just a moment of tailgating, or it might start when a driver cuts another off the road, then suddenly it escalates into a war on the freeway. The media call it 'road rage' where shouting and cursing are not unusual. … Researchers say that some people, who seem to be quite composed most of the time, behave aggressively when they get into their cars. Mr. Dula says the vehicle itself serves as a catalyst to transform those people into angry drivers. He says there are several reasons for that. "One is that the vehicle is used as a method to get from one place to another, so if you are in a hurry and anybody gets in your way, you are more likely to get upset. We also have a kind of comfort zone around us. So if somebody comes in that comfort zone, people take offense to an extent that makes them angry and maybe want to retaliate. And with the fact that you have a bit of anonymity in the vehicle that most people do not really think that the license plates are identifying them," he says. "With this kind of anonymity people are more likely to behave aggressively." Author: Faiza Elmasry.

News: October 22, 2003 — Headline: October 23, 2003 - Slangman: A Really Bad Day. Excerpt: "I only had a few hours to pull it all together (which means to prepare, to pull it all together) so I had to kick it into high gear (which means to hurry, because when a car is traveling at its highest speed, it has to be in high gear -- you can see that the only way I can write a letter, of course, is in slang!) " … "With only now four hours before going on international television, I hauled buns to my friend's house.' And hauled buns simply means I hurried, because when you haul you hurry, and buns is slang for one's rear end."

Pakistan - News: July 30, 2003 — Headline: Going Home in Handcuffs: A Pakistani's Story. Excerpt: During the past year and a half, the U.S. government has been selectively enforcing immigration laws that were for many years overlooked. Before the September 11, 2001, attacks, immigration officials said publicly their focus was on catching and deporting illegal immigrants who committed crimes, not those who merely overstayed visas. But since then, law enforcement agents have been seeking out undocumented men from countries thought to have a history of al-Qaeda presence. Several thousand Arab and South Asian immigrants have been deported, and many feel double-crossed. When Ajaz Ahmad first got a visa to come to the United States, he rode his bicycle home with his passport in his shoe. "I don't want to lose that passport! I don't want to lose it," he explained. Ajaz's father died when he was 16. His family was poor and Ajaz was making only about $30 a month. There were bills to pay, weddings for his brothers and sisters to finance. So when Ajaz finally got his visa at age 24, he left for New York in a hurry. Within days of arriving, he got an off-the-books job working overnights at a Yonkers gas station. He tuned the radio in his booth to station WKTU 103.5. It was 1994.

PALA (Musical group): Publication of the sound recording "Hurry slowly." PALA. Published in 2003.

Sane, P. V., et al.: "Changes in the redox potential of primary and secondary electron-accepting quinones in photosystem II confer increased resistance to photoinhibition in low-temperature-acclimated Arabidopsis" appears in Plant Physiology written by P. V. Sane, A. G. Ivanov, V. Hurry, N. P. Huner and G. Oquist. Published in August 2003.

Schilsky, R. L.: "Hurry up and wait: is accelerated approval of new cancer drugs in the best interests of cancer patients?" appears in Journal of Clinical Oncology: Official Journal of the American Society of Clinical Oncology written by R. L. Schilsky. Published on October 15, 2003.

Simmons, Curt: Born in 1968, authored "Mac OSX headaches: how to fix common (and not so common) problems in a hurry." Publisher: Osborne/McGraw-Hill (Berkeley, Calif.; London). Published in 2003.

Simon Hurry, et al.: "Gel Compositions for Diffusion Devices" is patented by Simon Hurry, Stephen Barnes and Nicholas O'leary.

Solomon Islands - News: July 23, 2003 — Headline: Solomon Islands PM Flees Capital; Intervention Force Arriving. Excerpt: Prime Minister Allan Kemakeza of the troubled Solomon Islands has fled the capital Honiara, just hours before the arrival of an Australian-led intervention force. Officials say Mr. Kemakeza has been taken to a secret location amid concerns for his safety. The hurried departure of the Solomon Islands prime minister is yet another example of how chaotic and lawless his country has become. He fled the capital on board a police patrol boat because of concerns for his security. Author: Phil Mercer.

Sudan - News: December 23, 2003 — Headline: UNHCR Prepares to Transfer Sudanese Refugees in Chad. Excerpt: The United Nations says thousands of Sudanese refugees who have fled to eastern Chad must be moved to safety further away from the border. The agency says it is sending an emergency team to Chad next week to prepare for the transfer. U.N. refugee spokesman Ron Redmond said tens of thousands of Sudanese refugees who fled to Chad are scattered along a 600-kilometer border. He said many are in poor health and living in makeshift sites in the remote, and dangerous eastern border region. "There are reports that fighting and lawlessness - just general insecurity has spilled across that very remote border. Some of these people came across, for example, with cattle and other livestock, which have been stolen. There have been cross-border, basically, bandit raids. This type of thing. So it is extremely difficult to police 600 kilometers of border and there are some areas of that border region where we cannot go because it is too dangerous," he said. … Mr. Redmond said the UNHCR is hurriedly developing a refugee site in Farachana, a town about 55 kilometers from the border. "By mid-January, Farachana should be ready to take an initial 10,000 refugees. They will be brought to the site from various collection points along the border where they are now gathered. The new site still needs to have water wells developed, a basic road network and other infrastructure before the refugees can be transferred and we are also looking at other sites where we can transfer refugees further into the New Year," he said.

Tadlock, John W.: Author of "When it's rush hour all day long: finding peace in a hurry-sick world." Published in 2003.

Turkey - News: September 23, 2003 — Headline: EXPLORATIONS – September 24, 2003: Urban Search and Rescue Teams. Excerpt: It is August seventeenth, nineteen-ninety-nine, in Izmit, Turkey. An earthquake measuring seven-point-four on the Richter Scale has killed at least seventeen-thousand people. Dogs are running through the remains of fallen buildings. The animals are seeking the smell of human beings trapped in the wreckage. At this time, however, it does not seem that any more people will be found alive. … But then, German workers signal about a possible survivor. Experts from the United States also discover a twenty-seven-year-old woman alive in the ruins of a building. These workers are from the Fire and Rescue Department of Fairfax County, Virginia. They spend many hours moving wreckage out of the way. They reach the woman and five other people, still alive. Then they hear of a six-year-old boy who is still trapped under a fallen building. They hurry to help organize yet another rescue.

United States - News: February 7, 2003 — Headline: THIS IS AMERICA - February 10, 2003: Dating. Excerpt: February fourteenth is Valentine's Day. On that day, many Americans send cards or buy presents for people who are important in their lives. Valentine's Day gives lovers a chance to express their feelings. However, millions of people in the United States are alone. They are not married or involved in a close relationship. Some of these people wish they could find someone to date. They wish they could celebrate Valentine's Day with a special person. … Some people seeking dates do not like making hurried choices. But others praise this method. They say it prevents spending long hours with someone who is not very interesting.

United States - News: February 12, 2003 — Headline: Military Reservists Face Disruption in Wartime. Excerpt: More than 111,000 military reservists around the United States have been plucked out of their civilian lives and called-up to active duty, in support of the U.S. military's mobilization for a possible war against Iraq. The toughest personal sacrifices for each reservist include leaving families and friends behind. Sergeant Major Betsey DePoint left her home in Minnesota and her job as a public relations manager for a non-profit agency. She has been at an army training center in Ft. Benning, Georgia, for more than one month. Sergeant DePoint says the task of scrambling to prepare for her one year assignment has been hurry up and wait. "I only had about 10 days notice," she said, "and it happened right before Christmas, so my first consideration was making sure we had the holidays as normal as we could."

2003

United States - News: April 20, 2003 — Headline: Palaces of Saddam Hussein, Relatives, Reveal Extravagant Lifestyle. Excerpt: Most Iraqis lived frugally, especially during the past 12 years of U.N. sanctions. But Saddam Hussein, his family and close associates lived like kings. In one compound, U.S. soldiers have discovered stacks of American currency, totaling more than $650 million. Correspondent Laurie Kassman visited one of the vast palace compounds. Pass through the massive concrete and iron gates, and leave behind the dusty crowded streets of Baghdad. Ahead stretches a wide avenue that passes in front of large office buildings, expansive parks, sumptuous villas surrounded by rose gardens and neatly trimmed hedges. … On the second floor, reached by a sweeping marble staircase, women's clothes were strewn around a small dressing area, and jewelry cases ripped open, as if the person who lived there had left in a hurry. American soldiers were busy packing them up and carrying them off to a large truck outside.

United States - News: August 10, 2003 — Headline: Americans Have Increasingly Big Shoes To Fill. Excerpt: Not the elusive, hairy creature that some say is roaming the woods of the American Northwest, but the ordinary American! It's well known that we're growing taller and fatter. And now it's clear that our feet are enlarging, too - and fast. So fast that the average foot has jumped one full shoe size in just sixteen years. … For men, thanks to the popularity of sports and the larger-than-life athletes who play them, there are plenty of sneakers and casual shoes to be found, even in gargantuan sizes. But industry officials admit it's still difficult to convince retailers to stock stylish large-size dress shoes. Most local, family-owned shoe stores that once would special-order large shoes for their customers have disappeared in favor of massive, impersonal department stores and nationwide shoe chains that, if they recognize the Bigfoot trend at all, have been in no hurry to react to it.

Washington - News: September 24, 2003 — Headline: Iraqi Governing Council Officials Deny Rift With Washington. Excerpt: The leaders of Iraq's interim Governing Council, who are in New York for the annual meeting of the General Assembly, are denying reports of a rift with the United States over a timetable for self-rule. Members of the council expect a U.S. presence in Iraq for the foreseeable future. Several prominent U.S. media have reported that efforts to rebuild Iraq are being complicated by a dispute over when the United States will turn over control of the country to Iraqis. … In his speech to the General Assembly Tuesday, President Bush said he would not be hurried in returning Iraq to Iraqi rule. France, Germany and Russia are said to be pushing for an accelerated timetable for the transfer of power, and a greater United Nations role in the process.

Washington - News: November 26, 2003 — Headline: Street Sense Seeks to Put Human Face on the Homeless While Putting Money in their Pockets. Excerpt: The holiday season that begins Thursday with Thanksgiving Day feasts in many American homes is often the only time of year that people pay much attention to the homeless and hungry. We buy someone a meal, slip a panhandler a buck or two, or spend a day volunteering at a soup kitchen. But a new newspaper in Washington, D.C., aims to put a human face on homelessness year-round, not just during the frigid months ahead. August Mallory, 47, is one of the vendors who pays 30 cents a copy for the brand-new newspaper by, for, and about the homeless of Washington. Whenever he can coax someone into stopping to listen, and that's not often, as most people hurry past him, trying not to make eye contact, he has good luck selling the paper for the cover price of $1. He keeps the 70 cent profit.

Waters, W. F., et al.: "A comparison of tyrosine against placebo, phentermine, caffeine, and D-amphetamine during sleep deprivation" appears in Nutritional Neuroscience written by W. F. Waters, R. A. Magill, G. A. Bray, J. Volaufova, S. R. Smith, H. R. Lieberman, J. Rood, M. Hurry, T. Anderson and D. H. Ryan. Published in August 2003.

Zelinski, Ernie John: Author of "Don't hurry, be happy." Translated into Japanese, titled "Suro raihu no moto rokumaruni" (translator: Akemi Ituzi). Publisher: Voisu (Tokyo). Published in 2003.

Zimbabwe - News: October 16, 2003 — Headline: Zimbabwe May Further Restrict Press Freedom. Excerpt: Zimbabwe's President Robert Mugabe has signed into law amendments to the country's controversial press law, which many people expect to further restrict press freedom. The amendments, approved during the weekend, include a clause that is expected to make it easier for the government to prosecute journalists accused of publishing falsehoods. … Harare lawyer Jacob Mafema said the changes are designed to ensure that the state gets a conviction. "The amendments are minor. The amendments were made to correct errors that had emanated in the act because it was hurriedly introduced in parliament," he said. "What it actually does is that it tightens the loose ends where there could have risen possibilities to challenge the act now it will become more difficult, it simply tightens the old act." Author: Tendai Maphosa.

Zimmerman, Andrea Griffing: Author of "Fire! fire!, hurry! hurry!" By Andrea Zimmerman and David Clemesha; pictures by Karen Barbour. Published in 2003.

2004

Afghanistan - News: June 29, 2004 — Headline: Karzai Asks NATO to Send Troops Now. Excerpt: Afghan President Hamid Karzai has made an urgent appeal to NATO to quickly send troops to his war-scarred country to strengthen security in the run-up to September's elections. Speaking extemporaneously to leaders from NATO nations and those from the alliance's partner states in the Balkans and Central Asia, Mr. Karzai issued an impassioned appeal for the alliance to speed up its deployment of troops to his country so that Afghans can vote in what he called a secure environment. "I thank you very much for what you have done yesterday for us, and I would like you to please hurry as NATO in Afghanistan," he said. "Come sooner than September and provide the Afghan men and women with the chance to vote freely, without fear, without coercion."

Afghanistan - News: June 30, 2004 — Headline: Afghanistan Looks to NATO for Better Security. Excerpt: NATO has confirmed a commitment to send additional troops to Afghanistan to boost security during upcoming elections. The commitment, voiced at the just-completed NATO summit in Istanbul, came after Afghanistan's leader pleaded with the alliance to keep its promise of help. Events elsewhere may have also played into NATO's deliberations on Afghanistan. After NATO leaders ratified their pledge to send additional troops to Afghanistan, interim President Hamid Karzai urged the deployment of an additional 2,200 troops take place as quickly as possible. "Please hurry as NATO in Afghanistan," Mr. Karzai urged. "Come sooner than September and provide the Afghan men and women with the chance to vote freely, without fear, without coercion." Author: Gary Thomas.

Afghanistan - News: October 6, 2004 — Headline: Karzai Confident of Win in Afghan Election First Round. Excerpt: Afghanistan will hold its first presidential election in decades on October 9. Among the 18 candidates vying for office is incumbent President Hamid Karzai, a respected but sometimes controversial figure who took the reins of the Afghan transitional government in 2002. Hamid Karzai was chosen to lead Afghanistan's transitional government soon after a U.S-led alliance removed the Islamic Taleban from power in late 2001 for harboring international terrorists. The 46-year-old Afghan leader speaks several languages and comes from the country's largest ethnic group, the Pashtuns. Mr. Karzai has long supported efforts to establish a multi-ethnic government to solve Afghanistan's problems caused by three decades of war - including poverty, corruption and uncontrolled private militias. … "We proposed to Mr. Karzai that this is not the right time for the election security-wise, and we asked him to delay this election," he said. "But he is in such a hurry that he should have the election before the American election in November."

African - News: January 9, 2004 — Headline: Africa's Contribution To US 'Football'. Excerpt:

Ebenezer Ekuban, Amos Zereoue, Bhawoh Jue and Chike Okeafor. What do these African-born individuals have in common, apart from being sons of the African continent, that is? Da Ole Emperor's pretty sure that right now I've stumped ninety nine percent of you, even though most of you are as sports crazy as I am. I admit that this is a real tough one for those of you not residing in the United States. … But, believe you me, they earn that money. Theirs is a most frustrating position where quality of play is measured in number of sacks and hurries they achieve during the sixteen-game season. And if they average just one of each per game they are considered among the league's very top.

Bangladesh - News: January 30, 2004 — Headline: Shortage of Indian Cow Makes Eid Market Dull in Bangladesh. Excerpt: Shortage of cows coming across the border from India has affected the supply in the cattle markets in Bangladesh where an enormous amount of cattles are sold during the sacrificial Eid, Eidul Azha. Prices have gone up and small cattle businessmen in the makeshift cattle market are hurrying to make money. Author: Amir Khasru.

Biuso, Julie; Batchelor, Ian: Authors of "The long Italian lunch: over 70 dishes that are too good to hurry." Translated into Dutch, titled "Uitgebreid Italiaans lunchen: gerechten om in goed gezelschap van te genieten" (translator: Gwen Neuman). Publisher: BZZTôH ('s-Gravenhage). Published in 2004.

Bobby Ologun: He faced French fighter Cyril Abidi in "K-1 Dynamite!!" in Osaka Dome on December 31, 2004 (At first, he was going to face Mike Bernardo, but in a hurry, his opponent was changed to Abidi because of Bernardo's wound). [WP]

Brazil - News: January 30, 2004 — Headline: Brazil's Proposal to Tax Arms Sales to Fund UN Anti-Poverty Programs Discussed at Geneva Meeting. Excerpt: The presidents of France, Brazil, Chili and the United Nations secretary-general have signed on to a new plan for eradicating poverty and hunger in the world. The world leaders have jointly unveiled proposals which include taxing the sale of arms to raise the money needed to tackle global destitution. The world leaders admit they have to come up with new money in a hurry or their battle to cut poverty and hunger in half by the year 2015 will be lost.

Brown, Peter: Author of "Promoting work/life balance in a hurry culture: issues and challenges." Publisher: Griffith University (Nathan, Qld). Published in 2004.

Burma - News: March 31, 2004 — Headline: Thialand Welcomes Burma's Move To Resume Constitutional Convention. Excerpt: Thailand says it is welcoming Burma's move to set a date of mid-May for a convention to draft a new constitution. Human rights groups say opposition leader Aung San Suu Kyi and her party, the National League for Democracy, must participate to ensure the convention's credibility. Thailand Wednesday gave its backing to Burma's announced decision to hold a constitutional convention in May. … In a bid to hurry Burma's progress, Thailand is sponsoring an international forum called the Bangkok Process aimed at restarting political reforms proposed nearly nine months ago by Burmese Prime Minister Khin Nyunt. Author: Ron Corben.

California - News: September 8, 2004 — Headline: Los Angeles' Famed Ambassador Hotel Awaits Uncertain Fate. Excerpt: There's a bit of a battle brewing in the city of Los Angeles, California over the fate of a single building. This building isn't a church or seat of government, but rather a landmark in the history of the city: the Ambassador Hotel. World famous authors, Hollywood stars, dignitaries and presidents from Herbert Hoover in the 1920s to Richard Nixon in the 1950s all visited or stayed at the Ambassador. And then in 1968, while walking through the hotel's pantry, presidential candidate Robert Kennedy was assassinated. That perhaps was the beginning of the end of the Ambassador Hotel, with its doors finally closing in 1989. Since then, the hotel and its eight hectares of prime real estate have been in limbo, but soon its fate will be decided. In the middle of this mostly high rise landscape of Los Angeles, the wooden sign seems out of place. It is reminiscent of those sometimes seen on a rural highway beckoning tourists to visit a roadside attraction. "Film the Ambassador" it reads. The famed hotel that once entertained Hollywood's elite is now herself an aged character actor, still booked nearly 52 weeks a year, not by guests but film crews. Except for the production crews that move hurriedly in and out of one of the bungalows or lounge in director's chairs under the trees, the hotel is still. It is a quietness that suggests a longtime vacancy.

Cyprus - News: April 1, 2004 — Headline: Future of Cyprus Peace Plan Uncertain. Excerpt: The fate of the final U.N. plan to reunify Cyprus is now in the hands of the Greek and Turkish Cypriot people, who will vote in a referendum on the plan April 24. Their leaders do not like the plan, but the people will have the final say. Many Cypriots have spent the past few days watching a lot of television and listening to radio newscasts, eager for information from the reunification talks in Switzerland. It was past midnight when the talks broke up, and U.N. Secretary General Kofi Annan announced that he would finish the plan himself, as had been previously agreed. … "Outsiders have decided how the settlement should be, they have given us limited margin for changing of what they have put on paper, they are in a great, shameful hurry to finish the job and the pressure on us is really unacceptable," he said.

Elkind, David: Author of "The hurried child." Translated into Portuguese, titled "Sem tempo para ser criança: a infância estressada" (translator: Magda França Lopes). Publisher: Artmed (Porto Alegre). Published in 2004.

France - News: January 30, 2004 — Headline: French National Assembly to Examine Controversial Ban of Religious Symbols. Excerpt: France's National Assembly begins examining controversial legislation next week to ban Muslim head scarves, Jewish skullcaps, Christian crosses and other religious symbols from public schools. The parliament, dominated by President Jacques Chirac's Union for a Popular Movement party, is expected to pass the measure into law, but many fear it will create more problems than it is meant to solve. The students hurrying to class at Lycee Diderot in northern Paris on a snowy afternoon are casually dressed in jeans and jackets. None appear to be wearing any obvious sign of religious affiliation.

Hainaut-Baertsoen, Nelle: Translator of "Hurry, Santa!" by Julie Sykes and Tim Warnes into French ("Vite, Père Noël!"). Publisher: Mijade (Namur). Published in 2004.

Iran - News: July 29, 2004 — Headline: Iraqi Officials: Thousands of Iranians Illegally Enter Iraq. Excerpt: Ever since the fall of Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein, Kadhimiya, just outside Baghdad, has been bustling with business. That is because tens of thousands of mostly Shi'ite Muslim pilgrims have been flocking to the city where the 600-year-old Islamic holy shrine of al-Kadhim is located. But while business may be booming, the Iraqi interim government is becoming increasingly concerned about the thousands of pilgrims streaming into the country illegally from Iran. … Despite the claims of a half-dozen hotel owners that they are no longer renting rooms to Iranians, there is plenty of evidence they are still in town. The lobbies and public areas of the hotels echo with the sounds of the Persian language. In one instance, a group of Persian-speaking men hurried out of the hotel once word spread that a reporter was asking about them.

Iraq - News: February 8, 2004 — Headline: Bush Defends Decision to Go to War in Iraq. Excerpt: President Bush is again defending his decision to invade Iraq and says he will cooperate with a commission he has established to find out why pre-war intelligence appears to have mistakenly concluded that Iraq had stockpiles of chemical and biological weapons. President Bush says he has given the commission more than a year to complete its work because he does not want their work to be hurried. In an interview with NBC television, Mr. Bush dismissed criticism that he is trying to avoid bad news in an election year by telling the commission not to report back until next March. Author: Scott Stearns.

Iraq - News: February 9, 2004 — Headline: President Bush Defends War in Iraq. Excerpt: President Bush is defending his decision to go to war in Iraq, saying Saddam Hussein was a madman and at the very minimum had the ability to make weapons of mass destruction. Mr. Bush made the comments in an NBC television interview being broadcast today (Sunday) . … But he said the committee will not issue its report until after the November presidential elections so that its work will not be hurried. The nine-member commission has been given until March 31, 2005 to complete its probe.

Iraq - News: September 16, 2004 — Headline: UN Downplays Annan 'Illegal War' Comment. Excerpt: The United Nations has downplayed Secretary-General Kofi Annan's broadcast remark that the war in Iraq was illegal. A spokesman said the comment was consistent with Mr. Annan's long-held position. But the U.S. ambassador questioned the wisdom of the remark, and defended the decision to go to war. Secretary General Annan's use of the word "illegal" to describe the Iraq war during a British television interview this week is receiving worldwide headline treatment. … But a day after the statement was broadcast, Mr. Annan was clearly in no mood to discuss the matter. After facing reporters to read a statement on Sudan, the secretary-general hurried off before any questions on Iraq could be asked.

Israel - News: February 3, 2004 — Headline: Sharon Stands Firm on Gaza Settlement Plan. Excerpt: Israeli Prime Minister Ariel Sharon says he will form a new government if any of his coalition partners try to block his plans to remove almost all Jewish settlements from the Gaza Strip. The Israeli leader's comments came as conservative members of his coalition warned the government will fall if Mr. Sharon tries to carry out his plan. The Israeli leader's statements were carried Tuesday in the Hebrew daily Yedioth Ahronoth. Mr. Sharon told the paper he "will not hesitate to set up another government" adding he has no intention of "being at the mercy of factions that won't permit [him] to handle matters of state." … Many Israelis are also skeptical of the plan. Peace Now, the Israeli political organization that has long advocated the removal of Jewish settlements from Palestinian lands, issued a statement Tuesday advising settlers not to hurry to pack.

Kennedy, J. and A. M. Buchan: "Acute neurovascular syndromes: hurry up, please, it's time" appears in Stroke; a Journal of Cerebral Circulation written by J. Kennedy and A. M. Buchan. Published in February 2004.

Lau Hansen, Jesper: Author of "MAD in a hurry: the swift and promising adoption of the EU Market Abuse Directive." Published in 2004.

Mars - News: January 5, 2004 — Headline: Spirit Sends Sweeping Picture of Martian Terrain. Excerpt: The new U.S. Spirit spacecraft on Mars has transmitted a sweeping three-dimensional panorama of nearby terrain to joyful scientists at mission control. The scientists have already selected a target they want the roving robot to explore when it sets off in several days. Scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in California donned spectacles with red and blue lenses to peer at a three-dimensional black-and-white view of a broad swath of flat Martian terrain littered with rocks. … Mission scientist Steven Squyres of Cornell University says inspecting Sleepy Hollow will offer an opportunity to look at subsurface layers. But he said he is in no hurry to get the rover there until they have more experience driving it. "We haven't earned our Martian driver's licenses yet. Early on, we're going to be driving this vehicle very, very cautiously. It's the right thing to do. We've got unknown terrain beneath our wheels. We've got a vehicle that's completely different from anything that's ever been operated before. You know, if it takes a week to get to Sleepy Hollow, that's fine with me," he said.

Missouri - News: July 10, 2004 — Headline: US Interstate Highway System Celebrates 50 Years. Excerpt: Fifty years ago this week, a speech to U.S. governors dramatically changed the future of America. It envisioned a vast network of high-speed expressways, criss-crossing the nation. Two years later, in 1956, Congress approved the nationwide grid of superhighways called the Interstate Highway System, and the first spade of dirt was turned in rural Missouri. These interconnecting ribbons of concrete are now seen as a blessing by some and a curse by others. Vice President Richard Nixon delivered the speech to the governors, working from President Dwight Eisenhower's notes. Ike, as he was called, missed the occasion because of a death in his family. An audio recording of Nixon's remarks could not be found, but here's part of what he said in 1954. … Loved or despised, ever-widening interstate highways have become a fixture across the American landscape. Reports say Congress is close to giving states the authority to levy tolls on selected lanes of previously free interstates as a way to hurry impatient drivers past traffic bottlenecks and raise money for even more high-speed roads.

Moscow - News: February 6, 2004 — Headline: Moscow Blast Kills 39; Terrorism Suspected. Excerpt: An explosion has ripped through a subway train in Moscow, killing at least 39 people in what authorities say could have been a suicide bombing. About 120 other people were wounded. The blast came during the morning rush hour today (Friday) on the Moscow Metro. Dozens of ambulances and firetrucks hurried to the scene at Moscow's Paveletskaya Square.

Neuman, Gwen: Translator of "The long Italian lunch: over 70 dishes that are too good to hurry" by Julie Biuso and Ian Batchelor into Dutch ("Uitgebreid Italiaans lunchen: gerechten om in goed gezelschap van te genieten"). Publisher: BZZTôH ('s-Gravenhage). Published in 2004.

Nicoletti, Martino: Born in 1968, authored "Shamanic solitudes: ecstasy, madness, and spirit possession in the Nepal Himalayas." Martino Nicoletti; (translated by Ken Hurry). Published in 2004.

Perras, Galen Roger: Born in 1961, authored "Hurry up and wait: Robert Menzies, Mackenzie King, and the failed attempt to form an imperial war cabinet in 1941." Publisher: European Studies Research Institute, University of Salford (Salford). Published in 2004.

Pro-FUNCINPEC - News: February 16, 2004 — Headline: A Phnom Penh Court Gives FM 90 to a New Owner in a Hurry. Excerpt: A Phnom Penh court decides to transfer a pro-FUNCINPEC radio station to a new owner in a hurry. The new owner Mrs. Keo Sothea was given the right to take over FM 90, 6 days after she had filed a petition to claim back the station she said rightfully belongs to her late husband Mr. Chhim Van Sithong.

Reaganomics - News: June 11, 2004 — Headline: Economists Still Debate Merits of 'Reaganomics'. Excerpt: Economists are still debating former President Ronald Reagan's economic legacy, known as "Reaganomics." Supporters say his tax cuts spurred the U.S. economy, creating wealth and jobs. Critics say Reaganomics hurt the poor and ran up huge deficits. At a White House ceremony to approve a tax cut, President Reagan, a Republican, said lower taxes would keep more money in the hands of individual Americans and businesses so they could invest for the future and the nation would prosper. … But Reagan Administration economic advisor William Niskanen says in this case, the deficit spending was justified because it paid for a military buildup that helped hurry the collapse of the Soviet Union and the end of the Cold War.

South Africa - News: May 14, 2004 — Headline: S. Africa Optimistic as FIFA Prepares to Announce 2010 World Cup Host. Excerpt: The world football body, FIFA, Fédération Internationale de Football Association, announces its pick for the host country of the 2010 soccer world cup Saturday, and tension in South Africa, one of the front runners, is rising. The hopes of these 40,000 soccer fans gathered this week in Pretoria at a match featuring the Kaizer Chiefs, the country's favorite team, are now pinned on the 24 FIFA executives in Zurich who will decide Saturday if South Africa will host the 2010 soccer world cup. … Mr. Mbeki will hurry back to South Africa to be with his people when the announcement is made on Saturday. This time no one has opened the sparkling wine in anticipation but they hope that like these soccer fans in Pretoria, they will have cause to celebrate. Author: Delia Robertson.

Steer, Michael: Born in 1961, authored "Hurry up Lucy." Words by Michael Steer; illustrated by Deborah Baldassi. Publisher: Era Publications (Flinders Park, S.Aust). Published in 2004.

Sudan - News: January 13, 2004 — Headline: Tales Of Terror From Sudanese Refugees In Chad. Excerpt: The UN refugee agency, the UNHCR, says at least 95 thousand Sudanese refugees have crossed the border into Chad. The refugees are fleeing battles between militias in Sudan’s Darfur region. They began leaving the area last April, but the exodus has picked up considerably over the past month. The UNHCR recently sent an assessment team to eastern Chad, while it hurries to build refugee camps. Ron Redmond is a spokesman for the UNHCR. From Geneva, he gave English to Africa reporter Joe De Capua an update on the situation. He says the emergency team has been moving along the border, which is about 600 kilometers long.

Sudan - News: July 29, 2004 — Headline: Egypt Wary of Foreign Intervention in Sudan. Excerpt: Secretary of State Colin Powell during a visit this week asked Egypt to support U.N. sanctions against Sudan, for failing to move quickly enough to end militia attacks against civilians in the western region of Darfur. Egypt says Khartoum should not be pressured to move too hastily. Egypt is caught between its allegiance to the United States and mistrust in the region of Washington's motives in the Arab world, where there is concern that a humanitarian mission could lead to some form of military intervention. Egypt is strongly opposed to foreign intervention in Sudan, including any attempt to impose sanctions on the Khartoum government. But Egypt is also one of the United States' key strategic allies in the region, and receives some $1.3 billion in military aid and $815 million in economic assistance each year. … "There is [a] feeling that this type of resolution, even of sanctions, is just a step [towards] direct intervention by the Americans and the British, and I think the feeling is against this in Egypt and in the Arab world," he said. "There is a feeling that the Sudanese government could manage the problem. Why the Americans are [in such a] hurry for things, which is clearly [the] responsibility of governments and of regional peoples and organizations?"

Thailand - News: April 20, 2004 — Headline: Thai PM: Bangkok May Consider Withdrawing Troops from Iraq. Excerpt: Thai Prime Minister Thaksin Shinawatra says Bangkok will consider withdrawing its troops from Iraq if they are attacked. Mr. Thaksin told reporters today (Tuesday) that Thailand is in no hurry to withdraw its forces. But he warned that Thai troops could be pulled out of the country if the security situation there gets worse.

Thomas, Joyce Carol: Born in 1938, authored "What's the hurry, Fox?: and other animal stories." Adapted by Joyce Carol Thomas; collected by Zora Neale Hurston; illustrated by Bryan Collier. Publisher: HarperCollins (New York). Published in 2004.

Tomislav Nikolic - News: June 27, 2004 — Headline: Reformist, Nationalist Compete in Serbian Presidental Election. Excerpt: Voting is underway in Serbia for the second and final round of a presidential election that Western diplomats have called a choice between reforms, or international isolation. Pro-Western candidate, Boris Tadic, is running against the ultra-nationalist Tomislav Nikolic. Most parties have united behind Boris Tadic, who favors Western-style reforms and Serbia's integration into the European Union to overcome more than a decade of international isolation because of its role in the Balkan wars. … By contrast, his ultra-nationalist rival, Tomislav Nikolic, of the Serbian Radical Party, has pledged never to force Serbs to surrender to the U.N. court in The Hague, and made clear he would not be in any hurry to join the European Union. That does not seem to worry some Serbs gathering at a newspaper kiosk not far from a polling station.

U.S. - News: July 19, 2004 — Headline: Health Educators Encourage Community Diabetic Screening. Excerpt: As more people eat fast food and skip exercise, more are becoming diabetic. This year, the World Health Organization reports that three million people will die from the disease. When it's diagnosed early, diabetes is reversible, but it's often hard to catch in time. The Centers for Disease Control estimate that nearly one quarter of all diabetes cases in the U.S. go undiagnosed, so some communities are adopting innovative ways to get people's attention. At the Southeast YMCA gym in Colorado Springs, a dad tosses a basketball with his wife and son. A mom herds her children toward the waterslides, and a sweatsuit-clad couple saunters toward the weight-lifting room. While many of these patrons are slender, quite a few have expanded waistlines, giving their bodies an apple shape. Health educator Wayne Greene says they're at risk for diabetes. … Another apple-shaped couple Mr. Greene approaches are in a hurry and turn down the offer of the free blood screening.

Ukraine - News: October 31, 2004 — Headline: Ukrainians Vote for New President in Tight Race. Excerpt: Tens of thousands of Ukrainians are expected to vote before the day is over in a race so tight it is expected to go to a second round. Voters have a choice of more than 20 candidates, but only two are seen as real contenders, pro-Russia Prime Minister Viktor Yanukovich and pro-western opposition leader Viktor Yushchenko. … Just days before the vote, metal barriers were placed around election commission headquarters in central Kiev, where votes will be tallied overnight. The fence was thrown up in a hurry after a rally attended by an estimated 100 thousand Yushchenko supporters ended with minor altercations. Author: Lisa McAdams.

United States - News: February 8, 2004 — Headline: 'Saddam Hussein Was a Danger to America,' Insists Bush. Excerpt: President Bush has again defended his decision to invade Iraq - this time in an hour-long interview on American television, in which he said he was right to launch military action to oust Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein. "There was no doubt in my mind that Saddam Hussein was a danger to America," he said. … "The reason why we gave a time was because we didn't want it to be hurried," he defended. "This is a strategic look, kind of a big picture look at the intelligence gathering capacities of the United States of America."

United States - News: April 17, 2004 — Headline: PEOPLE IN AMERICA - Alan Shepard. Excerpt: The clock has started. With those words, Alan Shepard became the first American to travel into space. He was in a small spacecraft called Freedom Seven. It was on top of a huge rocket traveling at more than eight-thousand kilometers an hour. Fifteen minutes later, Freedom Seven came down in the Atlantic Ocean. Alan Shepard was a national hero. He had won an important victory for the United States. The date was May Fifth, Nineteen-Sixty-One. The United States and the Soviet Union were in a tense competition for world influence. And this competition was reaching even into the cold darkness of space. … Shepard was tired of waiting. So he told the ground crew to hurry to solve the problems and fire the rocket. Finally, they did.

United States - News: June 10, 2004 — Headline: US Food Companies Scramble to Cash in on Low-Carb Diet Craze. Excerpt: One-fourth of American adults report they're on a diet at any given time. And so potent are the hottest, latest versions of low carbohydrate diets, like the one named for the late diet guru Robert Atkins, that hundreds of low-carb products have elbowed their way onto grocery store shelves across America. Even big corporations that make foods high in carbohydrates, like bread and pasta and orange juice, are scrambling to cash in on the low-carb bonanza. The low-carb idea caught on because carbohydrates turn to body sugars that fatten us up and can lead to diabetes. Sales of more than 1,500 low-carb products, from teas to spaghetti sauces to ice cream, and even cheesecake, topped $15 billion just in the past year. … And since July of last year, an online magazine called LowCarbiz has been watching it all. Its editor, Daisy Whitney, says what began with a few small specialty companies grabbed the attention of big food conglomerates like Kraft and General Mills. They've hurried to market their own low-carb products and reposition some old ones as low-carb. Sara Lee confectioners is partnering with the Atkins-brand company to develop a low-carb pizza. Even the potato industry is trying to come up with a low-carbohydrate spud, if indeed such a thing is possible.

United States - News: August 8, 2004 — Headline: Walden: An American Classic Turns 150. Excerpt: An American classic celebrating the joys of nature, solitude and simplicity was published 150 years ago on August 9, 1854. In "Walden," Henry David Thoreau recounts the two years, two months and two days he spent living alone in the woods of what was then rural Massachusetts, in the American northeast. The book has been translated into many languages and is now available in an anniversary edition, illustrated by photographer Scot Miller. It was published by Houghton Mifflin in collaboration witih the Walden Woods Project, a non-profit group that works to protect the landscape described in Thoreau's famous work. In 1845 Henry David Thoreau moved into a one room cabin he'd built for himself in the woods, along the shore of Walden Pond. The cabin was just a thirty-minute walk from his mother's home in Concord Center, Massachusetts. But the young essayist wanted to live a life far removed from the comforts and conveniences of his past, a life stripped to the bare essentials. … The photos vary dramatically in scope as well from panoramic aerial views to close-ups of a log, a leaf, or a flower: "A lot of the photographs are very intimate views of details. There [are] photographs of mushrooms that if you stop and look at them, you see these amazing pieces of art work. We're always in a hurry and we don't stop and notice these things," says Mr. Miller.

United States - News: September 16, 2004 — Headline: THE MAKING OF A NATION - 1850 Compromise, Part 4. Excerpt: In eighteen-fifty, the Congress of the United States debated an important compromise proposal. The compromise dealt mostly with the national dispute over slavery. The dispute threatened to split the northern and southern parts of the country. There was a danger of war. Many leaders in the north and south supported the compromise. But, President Zachary Taylor did not. … Taylor did not think there was a crisis. He did not believe the dispute over slavery was as serious as others did. He had his own plan to settle one part of the dispute. He would make the new territory of California a free state. Slavery there would be banned. Taylor's plan did not, however, settle other parts of the dispute. It said nothing about laws on escaped slaves. It said nothing about slavery in the nation's capital, the District of Columbia. It said nothing about the border dispute between Texas and New Mexico. The congressional compromise was an attempt to settle all these problems. … President Taylor rejected Texas's claims. He told his secretary of war to send an order to the military commander in New Mexico. The commander was to use force to oppose any attempt by Texas to seize the territory. The secretary of war said he would not send such an order. He believed that if fighting began, southerners would hurry to the aid of Texas. And that, he thought, might be the start of a southern struggle against the federal government.

Universal Mobile Telecommunications System: Over 120 licenses have already been awarded to operators worldwide (as of December 2004), specifying W-CDMA radio access technology that builds on GSM. With the technology still emerging, politicians hurriedly set up license auctions, which funneled billions of dollars in license fees into public budgets. In Germany alone, license holders paid a total 50.8 billion euros. Operators are expected to begin gaining income from those licenses in 2005. These huge license fees have the character of a very large tax paid on income expected 10 years down the road, created huge losses, and put many European telecom operators close to bankruptcy. Over the last few years these losses have been written off, and the associated debt has been reduced, largely through income from SMS data services. [WP]

Utah - News: December 22, 2004 — Headline: Photographer Pursues Her Dream by Documenting America. Excerpt: Carol Highsmith is in a hurry. She wants to capture, on film, present day America so that future generations will be able to look back and see how life existed at the turn of the 21st century. Ms. Highsmith is in the western state of Utah photographing monoliths that will be around for years but other parts of America, she says, are slowly disappearing. "Well I really do have a sense of urgency in my photography and that is that I feel there are certain aspects of American life as I know it that is definitely disappearing," she says. "Barns, wooden barns, which during my entire life have been everywhere I've looked are decaying, many of them are across the country, so I always photograph those. Lighthouses, which used to be extremely important to us are now starting to fall to decay, so I've photographed many, many lighthouses across America."

Vajra Publications: Publisher of "Riddum, the voice of the ancestors." Edited by Martino Nicoletti; photographs by Martino Nicoletti and Fabrizio Gaggini; (translation from Italian by Ken Hurry). Publisher: Vajra Publishers (Kathmandu). Published in 2004.

Valentine's Day - News: February 15, 2004 — Headline: THIS IS AMERICA - Dating. Excerpt: Another February fourteenth, Valentine's Day, has come and gone. Millions of people received flowers and chocolate, or some other gift, or even just a telephone call from someone they care about. Valentine's Day is a special time for love. People who follow old traditions have a second chance at the end of this month. A tradition says February twenty-ninth, Leap Year Day, is the one day a woman may ask a man to marry her. … Dating is the traditional first step toward marriage. But many young Americans no longer feel in as much of a hurry to get married as in the past. They want to finish their education and establish themselves in a profession first.

Vietnam - News: September 14, 2004 — Headline: Bush Addresses National Guard Convention. Excerpt: President Bush kept the focus on fighting terrorism Tuesday in a speech to members of the National Guard, part of the U.S. military's reserve forces. Mr. Bush's own service in the Guard during the Vietnam War has become an issue in this presidential election campaign. The president says the National Guard has a long tradition of service to America in times of trouble, from the war for independence to the current war on terror. … "Now what that has done is this. We have sent troops over there without their individual protective gear, we have humvees without the armor on it, we have retrained artillery men and tankers into so-called MPs and all of this is done in a very hurried way," he said.

Vleeschouwer, Olivier de: Translator of "Hurry up, Spider Man" by Kate Egan and Bob Ostrom into French ("Dépêche-toi, Spider Man!"). Publisher: Hachette jeunesse (Paris). Published in 2004.

Warren Zevon: A tribute album titled "Enjoy Every Sandwich: Songs of Warren Zevon" was released October 19, 2004. The title came from Zevon's interview on David Letterman in 2002. His son, Jordan Zevon, did a large part of the work on the album and performed "Studebaker." A second tribute album, titled "Hurry Home Early" from Zevon's song "Boom Boom Mancini" off his album "Sentimental Hygiene" was released on July 8, 2005. [WP]

Washington - News: February 4, 2004 — Headline: THE MAKING OF A NATION - James Madison, Part 4. Excerpt: As we reported in the last program, British forces attacked Washington in the summer of Eighteen-Fourteen. They burned the Capitol building, the White House, and other public buildings before withdrawing to their ships in the Chesapeake Bay. British General Robert Ross and Admiral Sir George Cockburn led the attack on Washington. They planned next to attack Baltimore. But the people of Baltimore expected the attack, and began to prepare for it. Fifty-thousand of them built defenses around the city. … The British at first were in no hurry to sign a peace treaty. They believed that their forces would be able to capture parts of the United States.

2005

America's - News: August 3, 2005 — Headline: Questions of Wrongdoing Trouble President Grant's Second Term. Excerpt: Ulysses Grant won America's presidential election of eighteen seventy-two. It would be his second term in office. … Grant's first administration was marked by dishonesty and shameful events. The situation grew much worse after he won a second term. … People hurried to other banks to withdraw their savings. Within hours, many of these other banks had to close. They, too, were out of money. Within a month, more than five thousand banks across the country failed and closed their doors. This created an economic crisis.

Bost, Brent W.: Author of "The hurried woman syndrome (computer file): a seven-step program to conquer fatigue, control weight, and restore passion to your relationship." Publisher: McGraw-Hill (New York). Published in 2005.

Cambodia - News: April 21, 2005 — Headline: Cambodian Prince Warns of Former King's Weakening Health. Excerpt: The health of Cambodia's former king, Norodom Sihanouk, is deteriorating. The elderly monarch has been a central figure in his country for more than 60 years. A son of the former king, Prince Norodom Ranariddh, said Thursday that Norodom Sihanouk's health was worrying, as it was of the interest of all Cambodians. "The Chinese doctors did not find any new illnesses of His Majesty the King, but his health is getting weaker and weaker," he said. … The diatribes came to a head last month, prompting an angry reaction from Hun Sen, who suggested Ruom Ritt should hurry up and die. Author: Kate Woodsome.

China - News: October 11, 2005 — Headline: US Treasury Secretary Seeks Further Revaluation of Chinese Currency. Excerpt: Speaking in Tokyo before leaving for China Tuesday, Mr. Snow said he was anxious to see the Chinese allow market forces to play a larger role in setting the value of the yuan. U.S. manufacturers and some lawmakers say the Chinese currency is grossly undervalued, and has cost American jobs as cheap Chinese goods have flooded into the United States. The Chinese government took note of Mr. Snow's comments Tuesday, but made it clear that it is no hurry to make changes to its currency exchange system. Author: Daniel Schearf.

Christie, Judy Pace: Born in 1956, authored "Hurry less, worry less: 10 strategies for living the life you long for." Publisher: Dimensions For Living (Nashville, TN). Published in 2005.

Clay County Savings Bank - News: February 12, 2005 — Headline: Frank and Jesse James. Excerpt: Twelve men on horses ride slowly into town. Their hats are low on their faces. They stop in front of the Clay County Savings Bank. Two of the men get off their horses and enter the bank. The bank manager asks if he can help them. The two men pull out guns from under their heavy coats. They demand money. In less than two minutes, they return to the street. Now the gang is in a great hurry. All twelve men begin shooting. Author: Paul Thompson.

Colorado - News: August 18, 2005 — Headline: Colorado Teens Tackle Shakespeare. Excerpt: As a cool evening breeze settles over Boulder, Colorado, dozens of youngsters, teens and adults head down a suburban driveway, toting lawn chairs and picnic dinners. They are ushered to their seats by middle school students wearing lavish Elizabethan gowns. "Thouest must go that way," whispers one girl dramatically as she points toward the backyard, "to go to the wonderful dilly dally." Another usher giggles as she adds, "Thus comes together to talk Shakespeare." Tonight, most of that talk will be happening on a makeshift stage as these pre-teen and early teenage actors perform a real Shakespeare play. One of the ticket takers says that he's been practicing, and declaims one of his lines, "'Antonio, I arrest thee a suit at Count Orsino.'" He says he memorized his lines, noting "everyone had a lot of lines." … As Bay hurries backstage, her dad and a hundred other audience members settle into lawn chairs, eager for the play to begin. A handful of teens and children dressed as clowns crowd together, mischievously watching as Bay steps onto the homemade stage. Author: Shelley Schlender.

Daniélou, Alain: Author of "India, a civilization of differences: the ancient tradition of universal tolerance." Alain Daniélou; edited and prefaced by Jean-Louis Gabin; translated from the French by Kenneth Hurry. Publisher: Inner Traditions (Rochester, Vt.). Published in 2005.

Fischman J.: Author of "Stroke: when to hurry for help," published in U.S. News & World Report, vol. 139, no. 11, p. 76, on September 26, 2005.

Genrikh Padva - News: September 20, 2005 — Headline: Khodorkovsky Appeal Again Postponed. Excerpt: The court agreed to Khodorkovsky's request Tuesday after his lead attorney, Genrikh Padva said he would be discharged from a hospital by Thursday. The court had earlier ordered other lawyers to represent him, but he said they were not familiar enough with the case to appeal his conviction and nine-year sentence on fraud and tax evasion charges. Supporters of the former Yukos chief say prosecutors are trying to hurry the appeal to prevent him from running in a December parliamentary by-election. Prosecutors say he is trying to delay the case because under the law he can run while his appeal is being heard, but disqualified if it is rejected.

Greenberg, Alvin: Author of "Hurry back: poems." Publisher: Lost Horse Press (Sandpoint, Idaho).

Published in 2005.

Grossatesta, Gaetano: Author of "Balletti: in occasione delle felicissime nozze di sua eccellenza la signora Loredana Duodo con sua eccellenza il signor Antonio Grimani." Composti da Gaetano Grossatesta; a cura di/ edited by Gloria Giordano; traduzione/ translation, Ken Hurry; by Angene Feves. Publisher: Libreria musicale italiana (Lucca). Published in 2005.

India - News: January 8, 2005 — Headline: Aid for Tsunami Victims. Excerpt: Kofi Annan says helping survivors of the earthquake and killer waves in the Indian Ocean last week is a race against time. The United Nations secretary-general says countries that have offered aid must hurry and provide it. The offers add up to around four thousand million dollars. United Nations officials say one-fourth of that is needed during the next six months. The concern about offers of international aid is based on history. For example, the earthquake in Bam, Iran, in December of two thousand three killed more than twenty-six thousand people. Countries and groups offered hundreds of millions of dollars worth of assistance. The United Nations says it has confirmed only about seventeen million dollars in aid received so far. Governments and organizations that offered help dispute that, however. Author: Jerilyn Watson.

Indonesia - News: December 22, 2005 — Headline: From Tsunami's Devastation, Aceh Finds Peace. Excerpt: Out of the ruins of last year's deadly tsunami, the people of Aceh have found one ray of hope - the end of three decades of civil war. After surveying the devastation in Aceh, separatist rebels and the Indonesian government realized that the best way to begin rebuilding was to lay down their arms. Leaders from both sides welcome the peace, and hope that it can last. The Acehnese capital of Banda Aceh is alive at night now, something unthinkable a year ago, even before last year's tsunami. Then shops once shut down and people hurried home before dark to avoid getting caught up in the conflict between the separatist Free Aceh Movement and the Indonesian military. Author: Nancy-Amelia Collins.

Intercourse Merchants Association: Publication of "Intercourse, Lancaster County, PA, slow down the hurry, map & visitors guide." Village of Intercourse Merchants Association. Published in 2005.

International Space Station - News: August 4, 2005 — Headline: Discovery Declared Safe to Return to Earth, Fourth Spacewalking Repair Not Necessary. Excerpt: The U.S. space agency NASA has cleared the shuttle Discovery for re-entry Monday with no need for another repair spacewalk. The crew has finished most of its work at the International Space Station and took time Thursday to remember fallen astronauts and cosmonauts. After a mission fraught with worries about problems with Discovery's fragile heat shield, shuttle officials say the orbiter appears safe to come back to Earth. The last issue engineers hurried to analyze was a loose piece of thermal blanket below the cockpit window, believed torn during Discovery's launch by debris falling off its exterior fuel tank. NASA feared that if the fabric ripped away during the high-speed descent through the atmosphere, an impact could damage Discovery's tail or braking rudder.

Iraq - News: October 16, 2005 — Headline: Iraqi Referendum Draws Mixed Reaction in Region. Excerpt: While many Iraqis celebrated their second democratic exercise in less than a year, political analysts in neighboring countries wondered whether the constitutional referendum would ease the violence that is undermining peace and reconstruction in the country. Preliminary results show that members of the Kurdish and Shiite Arab groups voted massively for the new charter, which grants them considerably autonomy under a federal system. … But other analysts say that the draft constitution was put together in a hurry, and decisions on some of its most controversial elements were deferred. As a result, they say that, regardless of the referendum results, the document will need considerably more work. Author: Scott Bobb.

Iraq - News: October 17, 2005 — Headline: Iraqi Referendum Draws Mixed Reaction in Region. Excerpt: Election employees enter data from the referendum at the headquarters of the Independent Electoral Commission in Iraq in Baghdad. As the ballots are counted from Iraq's constitutional referendum, many observers are hailing the vote as an important step toward democracy. … But other analysts say that the draft constitution was put together in a hurry, and decisions on some of its most controversial elements were deferred. As a result, they say that, regardless of the referendum results, the document will need considerably more work. Author: Scott Bobb.

Israel - News: August 17, 2005 — Headline: Troops Begin Forced Evacuation of Jewish Settlers in Gaza. Excerpt: Israeli troops have begun to forcibly remove Jewish settlers from the Gaza Strip. This is the most crucial phase of an operation aimed at evacuating some 8,500 settlers from Gaza and a small sliver of the northern West Bank. … In Neve Dekalim - a settler, his young daughter held aloft in his outstretched arms, ran from soldier to soldier asking if they were going to evict her. … Officials say they expect it to take several weeks before the evacuation is complete but add they are in no hurry and insist it will be carried out.

Israel - News: December 20, 2005 — Headline: Israel's Sharon Leaves Hospital after Minor Stroke. Excerpt: Mr. Sharon was given a clean bill of health, and he emerged from the hospital smiling. "I have to hurry back to work," he said, adding that his illness would not effect his performance. He spoke clearly and appeared fit. Author: Robert Berger.

Japan - News: April 26, 2005 — Headline: Japanese Train Crash Kills At Least 67. Excerpt: The death toll from Japan's worst train accident in 40 years has risen to at least 67, as rescue workers pull bodies from crushed rail cars in the western city of Amagasaki. A few people are believed to be alive and trapped inside the train, nearly a full day after the train slammed into an apartment building during Monday's morning rush hour. Investigators say the train's 23-year-old driver may have been hurrying to stay on schedule and failed to negotiate a turn in the tracks.

Katrina - News: September 11, 2005 — Headline: Hurricane Katrina Death Toll in Hundreds, Lower Than Expected. Excerpt: Last week, as news pictures showed corpses floating in the water or abandoned in the streets of New Orleans, authorities there predicted a death toll in the thousands. Recovery efforts are far from over. The official death toll from Katrina at the moment stands at about 400. Coast Guard Vice Admiral Thad Allen, who was named last week to take charge of U.S. government relief efforts on the ground, told the Fox News Sunday program he did not have any expectations of the death toll. … The thousands of survivors who were hurriedly evacuated from New Orleans were sent to communities throughout the United States. The president of the American Red Cross, Marty Evans, said her organization has shelters for the displaced in 17 states.

Longo-Guess C.M., Gagnon L.H., Cook S.A., Wu J., Zheng Q.Y., Johnson K.R.: Authors of "A missense mutation in the previously undescribed gene Tmhs underlies deafness in hurry-scurry (hscy) mice," published in Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences of the United States of America, vol. 102, no. 22, p. 7894-9, on May 31, 2005.

Mayes, Randall Elam: Author of "The Cybernetics of Kenyan Running: hurry, hurry has no blessing." Publisher: Carolina Academic Press (Durham, N.C.). Published in 2005.

Morton-Shaw, Christine: Author of "Mr Jack: a little dog in a big hurry." Christine Morton-Shaw; illustrated by Thomas M. Müller. Publisher: Macmillan Children's (London). Published in 2005.

Mr. Sam Rainsy - News: November 23, 2005 — Headline: Sam Rainsy Party Remains United. Excerpt: The opposition Sam Rainsy Party (SRP) legislators allege that the party remains united despite the fact that their leader, Mr. Sam Rainsy, is currently in exile abroad. Mr. Sam Rainsy fled Cambodia in a hurry after the members of parliament stripped his immunity, along with SRP legislators Chea Poch, and Cheam Channy on February 3rd. Author: Thida Win.

North Korea - News: September 12, 2005 — Headline: North Korea Nuclear Talks Resume in Beijing. Excerpt: In Beijing, the six-party talks on North Korea's nuclear weapons program have resumed. Daryl Kimball heads the Arms Control Association, an independent research organization. He says the situation is serious, given what is happening in one area. … "If I were sitting in North Korea, I wouldn't be too worried," says Mr. Spector. "We know the United States is tied down in Iraq. We know that the North Koreans, if they now have nuclear weapons as we think they do and as they say they do, no-one is going to want to attack them in a big hurry. It is simply too dangerous. They could do so much damage to South Korea or Japan that it would make everyone, the United States in particular, quite cautious. So I don't think that they are genuinely worried about an invasion. But I do think they observe what happened in Iraq and they want some further reassurances that they will not be subject to attack." Author: Andre de Nesnera.

OECD/IEA: Publisher of "Saving electricity in a hurry: dealing with temporary shortfalls in electricity supplies." Publisher: OECD/IEA (Paris). Published in 2005.

OÌ Flatharta, Antoine: Author of "Hurry and the monarch." By Antoine OÌ Flatharta; illustrated by Meilo So. Publisher: distributed by Randon House (New York: Knopf). Published in 2005.

Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development. International Energy Agency: Publication of "Saving electricity in a hurry: dealing with temporary shortfalls in electricity supplies." Publisher: OECD (Paris). Published in 2005.

Plog, Anthony: Author of "Hurry up: for 4 trumpets (2003) = pour 4 trompettes = für 4 Trompeten." Publisher: Editions Bim (Vuarmarens, Switzerland). Published in 2005.

Publication: Publication of "Windows XP headaches elektronisk materiale how to fix common (and not so common) problems in a hurry Curt Simmons." Published in 2005.

Simmons, Curt: Born in 1968, authored "Windows XP headaches (ressource électronique) how to fix common (and not so common) problems in a hurry." Publisher: McGraw-Hill/Osborne (Emeryville, Calif). Published in 2005.

So Della - News: December 22, 2005 — Headline: A Special Story for Christmas: 'The Gift of the Magi'. Excerpt: There was clearly nothing to do but sit down and cry. So Della cried. Which led to the thought that life is made up of little cries and smiles, with more little cries than smiles. Della finished her crying and dried her face. She stood by the window and looked out unhappily at a gray cat walking along a gray fence in a gray back yard. Tomorrow would be Christmas Day, and she had only one dollar and eighty-seven cents to buy her husband Jim a gift. She had been saving every penny she could for months, with this result. … She found it at last. It surely had been made for Jim and no one else. It was a chain -- simple round rings of silver. It was perfect for Jim's gold watch. As soon as she saw it she knew that it must be for him. It was like him. Quiet and with great value. She gave the shopkeeper twenty-one dollars and she hurried home with the eighty-seven cents that was left. Author: O. Henry.

Storey P., Hurry J., Jowitt S., Owens D., House A.: Authors of "Supporting young people who repeatedly self-harm," published in Journal of the Royal Society of Health, vol. 125, no. 2, in March 2005.

Syria - News: October 25, 2005 — Headline: Bush Repeats Call for UN Action Against Syria. Excerpt: President Bush wants the United Nations to take action against Syria, following a U.N. investigation implicating Syrian and Lebanese officials in the assassination of former Lebanese Prime Minister Rafik Hariri. Mr. Bush says Syria is helping destabilize the region by backing Palestinian militants and allowing terrorists to cross into Iraq to join the insurgency against U.S. troops there. … Syria's U.N. Ambassador Fayssal Mekdad says Mehlis report was influenced by opponents of Syria and every paragraph deserves a comment to refute its contents. Without identifying the Bush Administration by name, Ambassador Mekdad questioned what he calls the real objectives of those who are in such a hurry to adopt judgments that he says support their extremist positions. Author: Scott Stearns.

Togo - News: February 20, 2005 — Headline: African Group Imposes Sanctions on Togo. Excerpt: The West African grouping, ECOWAS, has suspended Togo and imposed sanctions on the government of President Faure Gnassingbe, who was installed by the military after the death of his father and is refusing to step down. The member states of ECOWAS are increasing pressure on Togolese President Faure Gnassingbe to step down. Member states have recalled their diplomats from the country, and the group is imposing an arms embargo on Togo and a travel ban on Togolese officials. … African and world leaders want the former speaker of parliament to take over the presidency and organize elections. Parliament hurriedly made Mr. Gnassingbe the new parliamentary speaker, after the sudden death of his father, President Gnassingbe Eyadema, who ruled for 38 years.

United States - News: February 23, 2005 — Headline: The American Civil War: The Seven Days Campaign. Excerpt: In any war, an important target is the enemy's capital city. To capture the enemy's capital usually means victory. In America's Civil War, the north hoped for a quick victory by capturing the southern capital at Richmond, Virginia. Northern forces were strong enough. There were about one hundred fifty thousand Union soldiers in and around Washington. … Everyone in Washington feared an immediate attack on the city. Soldiers were hurried to the capital from Baltimore and other nearby cities. And President Lincoln sent thousands of troops to chase Jackson in the Shenandoah Valley, instead of helping McClellan at Richmond.

United States - News: March 2, 2005 — Headline: The American Civil War: The Second Battle at Bull Run. Excerpt: General George McClellan moved the army up to the very gates of the city. But then, General Robert E. Lee led his southern forces in a furious attack that smashed McClellan's army and drove him away from Richmond. … President Abraham Lincoln and his new chief General, Henry Halleck, put together a new northern force. They called it the Army of Virginia. They gave command of it to General John Pope, a successful fighter in the west. … It was a mighty force, much larger than Jackson's army. Jackson was worried. He sent an officer back to find General Lee. He sent a message: Lee must hurry. Jackson faced a big army.

United States - News: April 13, 2005 — Headline: The American Civil War: Battle of Gettysburg Aids the Union, but at a Cost. Excerpt: America's civil war in the eighteen-sixties did not have the full support of the people. Many said they did not care who won -- north or south. They just wanted to be left alone. In the north, many young men refused to be drafted into the Union Army. Some of their protests turned violent. … When the guns began to roar, both sides hurried more men to the front.

United States - News: April 18, 2005 — Headline: The American Civil War: The Battle of Chancellorsville. Excerpt: There was a change on the military side of the war, too. President Lincoln named a new commander for the Union's Army of the Potomac. This was the force that would try again to capture the Confederate capital at Richmond, Virginia. … General Joe Hooker was the new commander of the Army of the Potomac. He replaced General Ambrose Burnside, when Burnside suffered a terrible defeat at Fredericksburg, Virginia, at the end of eighteen-sixty-two. Burnside had replaced General George McClellan, when McClellan kept refusing to obey President Lincoln's orders. … Jackson fell from his horse. Two bullets had smashed his left arm. Another bullet had hit his right hand. He was hurried to the back of the line. A doctor quickly cut off his left arm and stopped the heavy bleeding.

United States - News: April 26, 2005 — Headline: Polio: How an Ancient Disease Met a Modern Prevention. Excerpt: Fifty years ago, American media reported a major and welcome announcement. They said scientists had created a medicine to protect people against polio. The medicine was described as safe, powerful and effective. The announcement was made on April twelfth, nineteen fifty-five. The date is now fixed in medical history. Today, international efforts have greatly reduced cases of polio around the world. The World Health Organization supports a campaign to end the health threat from the disease by this year. A worldwide effort called the Global Polio Eradication Initiative is working toward this goal. … The Salk polio vaccine was given with a needle, through the skin. Americans often call such an injection a shot. American parents hurried to get their children protected. Hundreds of thousands of Europeans also got shots. That caused people to say that the Salk vaccine was the shot felt ‘round the world. Author: Jerilyn Watson.

United States - News: May 7, 2005 — Headline: The Woman Behind 'Little Women': Author and Activist Louisa May Alcott. Excerpt: In eighteen sixty-eight, an American publisher asked a struggling young writer to write a book for girls. At first, the writer, Louisa May Alcott, was not sure she wanted to do it. She said she never liked girls. And she never knew many, except her sisters. She thought her family's activities and experiences might be interesting to others. But, she said, probably not. … Alcott decided to write the book anyway. She told about her experiences growing up in the northeastern United States during the middle of the nineteenth century. Her book proved to be more than interesting. “Little Women” became one of the most popular children's books in American literature. It has been published in more than fifty languages. … "The dim, dusty room … the cozy chairs, the globes, and, best of all, the wilderness of books in which she could wander where she liked, made the library a region of bliss to her. The moment Aunt March took her nap, or was busy with company, Jo hurried to this quiet space, and, curling herself up in the easy chair, devoured poetry, romance, history, travels, and pictures, like a regular bookworm." Author: Shelley Gollust.

United States - News: May 16, 2005 — Headline: Stress: What It Can Do to Us, What We Can Do About It. Excerpt: Many people in the United States suffered emotional or mental problems after the terrorist attacks on September eleventh, two thousand one. Terrorism creates fear and fear often leads to severe stress. Studies suggest that stress can reduce the body’s ability to fight disease and can lead to serious health problems. Stress affects everybody every day. It is your body’s reaction to physical, chemical, emotional or environmental influences. Some stress is unavoidable and may even be good for us. Stress can keep our bodies and minds strong. It gives us the push we need to react to an urgent situation. Some people say it makes them more productive at work and gives them more energy. … Some experts say that pressure can cause a chemical imbalance in the brain that can lead to depression. More than thirty million American women suffer from depression. These problems are linked to their stress-filled lives and constant hurrying. Author: Cynthia Kirk.

United States - News: September 21, 2005 — Headline: How the Western United States Was Settled. Excerpt: The federal government supported the settlers' claims. It fought, and won, several wars with Indian tribes. It forced the Indians to live on government-controlled reservations. … After the Indians were defeated, thousands of settlers hurried west. Some hoped to find new, rich farmland. The soil they left behind was thin and overworked. Their crops were poor. Some simply hoped to buy any kind of farmland. They did not have enough money to buy farmland in the east. Author: Frank Beardsley.

United States - News: November 29, 2005 — Headline: The Lewis and Clark Exploration: One of the Most Important Events in American History. Excerpt: We have told how Meriwether Lewis and William Clark led a group of men and one woman across the American Northwest. The group was known as the Corps of Discovery. They began their trip on May fourteenth, eighteen-oh-four, in Saint Louis, near the central part of the country. It was more than one year before they reached the Pacific coast near the Columbia River. They had traveled by river, horse and foot more than six thousand six hundred kilometers. … President Thomas Jefferson asked Lewis to lead an exploration of the northwestern part of the country. He wanted Lewis to learn as much about the land, people, animals and plants as he could. Jefferson asked that Lewis write about the progress of his group each day. Lewis and Clark kept very careful records. Often, Lewis would use more than one thousand words to tell about an animal or a bird. Both men drew maps and pictures of what they saw. … The three groups met again in August of eighteen-oh-six. Traveling on the rivers was easier that in the beginning of their trip. The explorers now were going in the same direction as the current. They were in a hurry to get home. They had been away for two years and five months. Author: Paul Thompson.

Vice President John Garang - News: August 4, 2005 — Headline: Calm Returns to Khartoum after Days of Violence. Excerpt: Khartoum is calm after days of rioting following the death of Vice President John Garang. At least 130 people were killed and more than 350 injured in the rioting. The government took steps Thursday to insure that Khartoum and the rest of the country remains calm. President Omar al Bashir issued a decree ratifying the appointment of Salva Kiir Mayardit to succeed John Garang as vice president of the Republic of Sudan and president of the government of South Sudan. … But the city is still tense and rumors spread quickly. On Wednesday, there were reports that a Sudanese militia leader, Paulino Mattip, had been killed. The reports proved false, but police checkpoints were reinstated and residents hurried to their rooftops to survey the scene. Author: Noel King.

Vietnam - News: November 2, 2005 — Headline: Government Representatives to Clarify on Supplemental Border Treaty. Excerpt: The three National Assembly Commissions responsible for reviewing the Supplemental Border Treaty with Vietnam said they have invited the government representatives to come to the national assembly to answer their questions. Mr. Monh Saphan, Chairman of the National Assembly's Commission of Home Affairs, National Defense, Investigation and Anti-corruption said the government's representatives will come to explain about the treaty on Friday. However he could not say who's coming for sure. He said it could be vice premier Sok An. … Chairwoman of the Commission on Foreign Affairs Princess Norodom Vichara, said that as member of this commission, she will ask many questions such as why the government was in such a hurry to sign this treaty without conducting a referendum first. Author: Ratana Seng.

Washington - News: June 9, 2005 — Headline: After the Civil War: Death of Lincoln Helps Unite a Divided Nation. Excerpt: On April ninth, eighteen sixty-five, Confederate General Robert E. Lee surrendered his army to Union General Ulysses Grant. Within weeks, America's Civil War would be over. When people in Washington learned of Lee's surrender, they hurried to the White House. They wanted to hear from President Abraham Lincoln. The crowd did not know that it would be one of his last speeches. … Already, he was moving forward from victory to the difficult times ahead. The southern rebellion was over. Now, he faced the task of re-building the Union. Lincoln did not want to punish the south. He wanted to re-join the ties that the Civil War had broken. So, when the people of the north expected a speech of victory, he gave them a speech of reconstruction, instead.

Yolen, Jane: Author of "Grandma's hurrying child." Jane Yolen; illustrated by Kay Chorao. Published in 2005.

Zimbabwe - News: June 10, 2005 — Headline: Zimbabwe Strike Heads for Collapse. Excerpt: A two-day strike called to protest a crackdown by President Robert Mugabe's government on informal traders headed for a total collapse on Friday when most businesses opened as usual for the second consecutive day. A coalition of civic groups, supported by the main opposition Movement for Democratic Change (MDC) , had urged Zimbabweans to stay away from work on Thursday and Friday to protest the destruction by police of illegal homes and street businesses. … "I don't honestly see the point of stayaways. Maybe in the past, but not now," said one woman as she hurried to work.

2006

Afghanistan - News: December 6, 2006 — Headline: Assessing the Bonn Accords. Excerpt: December 5 marked the fifth anniversary of the Bonn Accords, the U.N.-brokered agreement that laid out a road map for political development in postwar Afghanistan. After representatives of various Afghan factions signed a landmark agreement on December fifth, 2001, U.N. Special Representative Lakhdar Brahimi proclaimed the promise that the Bonn Accords held for the battered and bruised nation of Afghanistan. … "It turned to the U.N. without any clear ideas about what it wanted, which actually was an advantage. So the U.N. based this process on the work it had been doing for many years with different Afghan factions about setting up a transitional government, and very hurriedly put together … based on that: just put together a transitional government and set forth a process through which it would gradually increase its legitimacy and capacity," says Rubin. Author: Gary Thomas.

Asian - News: July 11, 2006 — Headline: Asia - Home to Half the World Population - Is Graying. Excerpt: As the United Nations observes World Population Day, most Asian countries are grappling with an aging society. … The United Nations projects the number of Asians aged 65 and older will increase more than 300 percent between the years 2000 and 2050 - from 207 million to 857 million. … "We consistently underestimate the pace of aging. I think the changes in age structure will be greater, aging will be faster that what people anticipate, and so we better develop ways to deal with it, and we'd better hurry," Mason says.

Bangladesh - News: February 14, 2006 — Headline: Moderate Tremor Hits Bangladesh. Excerpt: A moderate earthquake hit northern and southeastern districts of Bangladesh on Tuesday morning, triggering panic among people. Eleven people were injured when they were coming out of their house hurriedly at Gaibandha during the tremor that occurred at 6:56am. The magnitude of the earthquake was 5.7 on the Richter scale. Author: Matiur Rahman Chowdhury.

Bangladesh - News: December 2, 2006 — Headline: President Meets Top Political Leaders to Resolve Issues in Bangladesh. Excerpt: President and Chief Advisor Iajuddin Ahmed last night held crucial talks with the chiefs of the two major political alliances separately to resolve the prevailing political crisis centering various issues ranging from the assumption of the office of chief adviser by the president to the hurried announcement of the election schedule. The summit between BNP Chairperson Khaleda Zia and Chief Adviser Iajuddin Ahmed ended at 9:45pm. Responding to the chief advisor's invitation, both the chiefs of the two major alliances --- Khaleda Zia and Sheikh Hasina, met him last night and discussed the ongoing political crisis. Author: Matiur Rahman Chowdhury.

Benedict C., Geisler M., Trygg J., Huner N., Hurry V.: Authors of "Consensus by democracy. Using meta-analyses of microarray and genomic data to model the cold acclimation signaling pathway in Arabidopsis," published in Plant Physiology, vol. 141, no. 4, in August 2006.

California - News: January 6, 2006 — Headline: California Governor Schwarzenegger Calls for $222 Billion Public Works Program. Excerpt: California Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger has called for a massive $222 billion program to rebuild his state's infrastructure, and he promised cooperation with rival Democrats. The Republican governor, whose approval ratings have dropped dramatically in the past year, appealed to voters Thursday to give him another chance to solve California's problems. The former star known for tough-guy onscreen roles has softened his message. An apologetic Arnold Schwarzenegger promised to work together with Democrats, with whom he has had increasingly rocky relations. He says he has been in too much of a hurry to revamp California's government, overcoming the gridlock that both parties admit has nearly crippled the state at times. California governors, both Republicans and Democrats, have faced competing demands to reduce excessive spending while maintaining essential services, from education to police and fire protection. Author: Mike O'Sullivan.

Cambodia - News: December 22, 2006 — Headline: Cambodia Assures Finland on Heng Pov's Legal Procedure. Excerpt: Finland, which has given former Phnom Penh police chief Heng Pov a visa, expressed concern about his legal procedures after Malaysia hurriedly sent him back to Cambodia on December 21. Khieu Thakvika, spokesman of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, told reporters Friday that if Finland "regrets" about Heng Pov, Cambodia can send back many criminals to Finland. Author: Khemara Sok.

Canada - News: July 4, 2006 — Headline: Gold

Rush! Thousands Hoped to Strike It Rich in Canada's Klondike. Excerpt: George Carmack and his two Indian friends, Skookum Jim Mason and Dawson Charlie, were working near the edge of a small river in western Canada's Yukon Territory. The area was just across the border from Alaska, which was owned by the United States. The men were using large steel pans to search for gold. They placed dirt and rocks in a pan and then filled it about half way with water. Slowly, they moved the water around in the pan until most of the dirt and water washed away. This left only very small rocks. This method was a very good way to find small amounts of gold. The three men had often worked like this in an effort to find gold. But they had never been very successful. … The little town of Skagway soon had thousands of people looking for a place to live, food to eat and directions to where they could find gold. The stampeders were in a hurry. They wanted to quickly travel to the area where they could find gold. Author: Paul Thompson.

Canada - News: July 5, 2006 — Headline: Thousands Rushed to Find Gold in the Klondike in Western Canada. Excerpt: But most of the people who traveled to the gold fields in the 1890s had no idea what they would face. They did not know about the extremely hard work and terrible living conditions. … George Carmack and his two Indian friends, Skookum Jim Mason and Dawson Charlie, were working near the edge of a small river in western Canada's Yukon Territory. The area was just across the border from Alaska, which was owned by the United States. The men were using large steel pans to search for gold. They placed dirt and rocks in a pan and then filled it about half way with water. Slowly, they moved the water around in the pan until most of the dirt and water washed away. This left only very small rocks. … The little town of Skagway soon had thousands of people looking for a place to live, food to eat and directions to where they could find gold. The stampeders were in a hurry. They wanted to quickly travel to the area where they could find gold. Author: Nancy Steinbach.

Chenoweth D.: Author of "Can single-patient investigational new drug studies hurry slow trains to the fast track?" published in Drug Discovery Today, vol. 11, no. 5-6, in March 2006.

China - News: September 20, 2006 — Headline: US, China Set Up Economic Cooperation Dialogue. Excerpt: U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry Paulson says the United States and China will start holding regular high-level talks to boost economic cooperation. Paulson is on a visit to Beijing, where he urged China to hurry its financial reforms. … Henry Paulson said key to that progress is further reform of China's currency policy, echoing calls the Bush administration has long made for Beijing to relax controls on the yuan. Author: Luis Ramirez.

Dhaka Export Processing Zone - News: June 3, 2006 — Headline: Investors Decide to Shut Down Garment Factories at EPZ in Dhaka. Excerpt: Investors at the Dhaka Export Processing Zone said on Saturday that the authorities had failed to provide security for their industries against 'mob attacks' and the situation had gone 'out of control' forcing closure of their units. The Bangladesh EPZ Investors Association on Saturday announced an indefinite closure of their factories, until the situation permitted them to resume operations in some 84 factories, owned by foreign and local entrepreneurs, employing 75,000 workers. At a hurriedly called press conference at the Soargaon Hotel, the leaders of the association claimed that they had been forced to shut their factories following continuous 'vandalism' of 'outside mobs' and 'instigators' at the DEPZ from May 22 which escalated on Saturday. Author: Matiur Rahman Chowdhury.

Egypt - News: December 31, 2006 — Headline: The New Year Begins With Some Resolutions. Excerpt: January first. The beginning of a new year. As far back in history as we can tell, people have celebrated the start of a new year. The people of ancient Egypt began their new year in summer. That is when the Nile River flooded its banks, bringing water and fertility to the land. Today, most people celebrate New Year's Day on January first. People observe the New Year's holiday in many different ways. … Other people use New Year's resolutions to make major changes in their lives. One such resolution might be to "stop and smell the flowers." This means to take time to enjoy simple pleasures instead of always being too busy and in a hurry. Author: Two popular ones are to lose weight or stop smoking. Transcript of radio broadcast:.

Emerson, Jayne: Author of "The impatient patchworker: (20 great projects you can make in a hurry)." Jayne Emerson; photographs by John Heseltine. Publisher: potter Craft (New York). Published in 2006.

Fortunato - News: March 26, 2006 — Headline: The Cask of Amontillado. Excerpt: Fortunato was bigger, richer and more handsome than I was. And he enjoyed making me look like a fool. He hurt my feelings a thousand times during the years of my childhood. I never showed my anger, however. So, he thought we were good friends. But I promised myself that one day I would punish Fortunato for his insults to me. Many years passed. Fortunato married a rich and beautiful woman who gave him sons. Deep in my heart I hated him, but I never said or did anything that showed him how I really felt. When I smiled at him, he thought it was because we were friends. … I hurried to put the last stone into the wall and put the cement around it. Then I pushed the pile of bones in front of the new wall I had built. Author: Edgar Allan Poe.

France - News: October 27, 2006 — Headline: Critics Complain About Lack of Change One Year After French Riots. Excerpt: Standing next to a sack of West African music CDs, Ricardo Elumbu watched the steady flow of commuters hurrying into the grimy train station at Sevran, a 20-minute ride from downtown Paris. Yellow leaves floated through the warm air, softening the edges of the towns cheerless housing projects where small groups of residents, most of them Africans, gathered outside to chat. Elumbu took a break from trying to sell his CDs to talk to a reporter about what has changed in Sevran, a year after the riots. The answer according to Elumbu, a native Congolese, is not very much. Author: Lisa Bryant.

Goulas E., Schubert M., Kieselbach T., Kleczkowski L.A., Gardeström P., Schröder W., Hurry V.: Authors of "The chloroplast lumen and stromal proteomes of Arabidopsis thaliana show differential sensitivity to short- and long-term exposure to low temperature," published in The Plant Journal: for Cell and Molecular Biology, vol. 47, no. 5, in September 2006.

Hamacher M., Marcus K., van Hall A., Meyer H.E., Stephan C.: Authors of "The HUPO Brain Proteome Project--no need to hurry?" published in Journal of Neural Transmission (Vienna, Austria: 1996), vol. 113, no. 8, p. 963-71, in August 2006.

Hendrickson L., Vlcková A., Selstam E., Huner N., Oquist G., Hurry V.: Authors of "Cold acclimation of the Arabidopsis dgd1 mutant results in recovery from photosystem I-limited photosynthesis," published in FEBS Letters, vol. 580, no. 20, p. 4959-68, on September 04, 2006.

Internet - News: January 17, 2006 — Headline: You Know You're Living in 2006 If.… Excerpt: Jokes make the rounds via Internet e-mail all the time. Good jokes, bad jokes, clean jokes, dirty jokes, long and short jokes, old ones and new ones. Some of them aren't really jokes, exactly, like the old standbys about blondes or the fellow who goes into a bar. They're more like shrewd little observations about modern life that make us smile. One set going around begins with the line, You know you are living in 2006 if.. And what follows says a lot about the hurried, complex, techno-absorbed world in which most Americans live.

Iran - News: November 8, 2006 — Headline: UN Split by 'Unbridgeable Differences' Over Iran Sanctions. Excerpt: China's U.N. ambassador says Security Council discussions on an Iran sanctions resolution have revealed "unbridgeable differences". He dismissed the talks as "not serious". China's U.N. envoy Wang Guangya says talks on how to punish Iran for its nuclear activities have been "inconclusive". He said Tuesday's meeting of the five permanent Security Council members revealed deep differences over the meaning of an agreement reached by their foreign ministers last July. "In a number of difficult areas, the differences cannot be bridged. So I believe there should be more reflections in the capitals, and also I believe we need to talk to each other," he said. … U.S. Ambassador John Bolton hurried past reporters without saying anything after Tuesday's meeting. But earlier, he accused Russia of backing away from last July's agreement among foreign ministers of the Security Council powers to keep pressure on Iran to end its uranium enrichment. "Well, I don't know how we're going to work it out, because the Russian version is very different than what we think the foreign ministers agreed to," he said. Author: Peter Heinlein.

Ivanov A.G., Hendrickson L., Krol M., Selstam E., Oquist G., Hurry V., Huner N.P.: Authors of "Digalactosyl-diacylglycerol deficiency impairs the capacity for photosynthetic intersystem electron transport and state transitions in Arabidopsis thaliana due to photosystem I acceptor-side limitations," published in Plant & Cell Physiology, vol. 47, no. 8, p. 1146-57, in August 2006.

Kampot - News: July 18, 2006 — Headline: Former Kampot Governor Imprisoned on Corruption Charges. Excerpt: Funcinpec party quota's former Kampot governor was imprisoned by authorities on criminal charges by the government last March, suspected of corruptions, and clearing trees and illegally occupying state land, allege police and human rights officials. Mr. Puth Chandarith was arrested in Battambang province and was taken to Kampot province's prison Sunday afternoon, in which police officials say was done after a court subpoena was issued for his arrest. The Ministry of Interior's department of criminal police unit's chief Mak Chito says that this arrest was done hurriedly to prevent Mr. Puth from fleeing abroad. Author: Sothea Tith.

Kenya - News: December 18, 2006 — Headline: Opposition ODM-Kenya to set Rules in Picking Presidential Candidate. Excerpt: In Kenya, leaders of the main opposition Orange Democratic Movement (ODM-Kenya) are meeting early this week to set the rules in selecting who leads the party in next year's general elections. This comes after weeks of speculation that the party has finally agreed on how and when to pick its candidate. But senior officials and members say there is no such agreement and the party is not in a hurry. David Musila is a leading member of ODM-Kenya. He talked about the new developments in the party. Author: Peter Clottey.

Khartoum - News: May 4, 2006 — Headline: US Pushes for Darfur Peace Deal Before Latest Deadline Arrives. Excerpt: The peace agreement proposed by the African Union is more than 80 pages long and attempts to resolve the most contentious issues in the Darfur conflict, such as disarmament and power sharing between rebels and the Khartoum government. … "And I think in contrast to the longer and much more detailed Comprehensive Peace Agreement related to the North-South conflict in Sudan, this agreement has been relatively hurriedly put together and does not go into exhaustive detail on accountability and implementation of some of the key things - like how to accomplish disarmament of the Janjaweed, which the Sudanese government has promised on numerous occasions and failed to fulfill," Rice says.

Lebanon - News: July 18, 2006 — Headline: Israel Pounds Lebanon for Seventh Day, Hezbollah Rockets Hit Northern Israel. Excerpt: The few people who were on the streets of this normally bustling city hurried back to their homes or into air raid shelters. … In all, Hezbollah rockets struck towns across northern Israel, including Nahariya, Safed, Acre and Tiberius on the Sea of Galilee.

Lebanon - News: July 30, 2006 — Headline: Search for Mideast Ceasefire Continues. Excerpt: Speaking Sunday in Israel, Rice said she was deeply saddened by the civilian deaths from Israel's airstrike in the Lebanese town of Qada. She said she spoke with Lebanese Prime Minister Fuad Saniora to confirm she would postpone an expected visit to Beirut. Earlier, Mr. Saniora demanded an immediate and unconditional ceasefire and an international investigation into what he called "Israeli massacres." He said Lebanon will not consider any negotiations until a ceasefire is in place. … Mr. Olmert said today Israel is in no hurry for a ceasefire until its main objectives of the offensive are reached.

Lebanon - News: August 2, 2006 — Headline: Relief Agencies Struggle with Aid Distribution in Lebanon. Excerpt: Shipments of humanitarian aid are reaching the south Lebanese port city of Tyre, but aid agencies say they are still having trouble getting the relief supplies to areas where they are most needed. … For the first two weeks of the Israeli military campaign against Hezbollah militants, aid shipments like this one could not get to Tyre. Now, the Red Cross and the United Nations are able to get supplies here by ship and by road, but aid agencies are still having trouble moving the aid to the surrounding villages, to the people who need it most urgently. … But the last corpse proves to be a problem. The body has been sitting in the heat for so long that it has swollen up too big to fit into any of the hurriedly-made coffins. A bloody piece of white cloth covers the dead man's face as the soldiers debate what to do about it. Author: Challiss McDonough.

Liberia - News: July 28, 2006 — Headline: Fire at Liberian Executive Mansion; All are Safe. Excerpt: Details are emerging about the extent of the fire that gutted Liberia's presidential palace yesterday, including the offices of President Ellen Johnson Sirleaf as the country was celebrating its 159th independence anniversary. Reporter Frank Sainworla was in the Liberian capital, Monrovia, and says the damage was extensive. He says President Sirleaf spoke Wednesday night in an apparent effort to calm the nerves of a tense country. "The president addressed the nation from the foreign ministry where a hurriedly arranged reception was held. The reception that should have been held at the Executive Mansion for the three visiting heads of state – John Kufuor of Ghana, Laurent Gbagbo of Ivory Coast, and Tejan Kabbah of Sierra Leone.". Author: James Butty.

Lundmark M., Cavaco A.M., Trevanion S., Hurry V.: Authors of "Carbon partitioning and export in transgenic Arabidopsis thaliana with altered capacity for sucrose synthesis grown at low temperature: a role for metabolite transporters," published in Plant, Cell & Environment, vol. 29, no. 9, in September 2006.

Major Wentworth Caswell - News: June 4, 2006 — Headline: A Municipal Report. Excerpt: A big, heavy man was walking up and down in the hotel lobby. Something about the way he moved made me think of a hungry dog looking for a bone. He had a big, fat, red face and a sleepy expression in his eyes. He introduced himself as Wentworth Caswell -- Major Wentworth Caswell -- from "a fine southern family." Caswell pulled me into the hotel's barroom and yelled for a waiter. We ordered drinks. While we drank, he talked continually about himself, his family, his wife and her family. He said his wife was rich. He showed me a handful of silver coins that he pulled from his coat pocket. By this time, I had decided that I wanted no more of him. I said good night. … Azalea Aair opened a tiny old purse and took out a dollar bill. It had been fixed with a piece of blue paper and the upper right hand corner was missing. It was the dollar I had given to Uncle Caesar. "Go to Mister Baker's store, Impy," she said, "and get me twenty-five cents' worth of tea and ten cents' worth of sugar cakes. And please hurry." Author: O. Henry.

Matsubara S., Hurry V., Druart N., Benedict C., Janzik I., Chavarría-Krauser A., Walter A., Schurr U.: Authors of "Nocturnal changes in leaf growth of Populus deltoides are controlled by cytoplasmic growth," published in Planta, vol. 223, no. 6, p. 1315-28, in May 2006.

Military Commissions - News: June 29, 2006 — Headline: US Government Seeks Way Forward for Guantanamo Detainees. Excerpt: In the wake of Thursday's Supreme Court ruling, U.S. officials are working to find a new way to determine the future of the approximately 450 men held at the Guantanamo Bay detention facility. The Court ruled that the government's procedure for trying detainees in special Military Commissions is not valid. The Supreme Court's decision says the commissions are not valid because they do not follow procedures specifically authorized by the congress. That leaves open the possibility that the congress could pass a law establishing a new procedure for trying the detainees. … "Nobody's in a big hurry to vote that, yes, you can execute someone without telling them on what basis you found them guilty," said Philip Heymann. "You put senators and congressmen in the position of choosing publicly between very offensive things." Author: Al Pessin.

Montana - News: May 20, 2006 — Headline: Margaret Bourke-White Helped Create Modern Photojournalism. Excerpt: Margaret Bourke-White took the picture that appeared on the first cover of Life magazine. It was a picture of a new dam being built in the western state of Montana. The light on the rounded supports showed the dam's great strength. The small shapes of two men at the bottom showed the dam's huge size. Bourke-White was no longer satisfied just to show the products of industry in her pictures, as she had in the past. She wanted to tell the story of the people behind the industry: In this case, the people who were building the dam. … The dam in Montana was a federal project. Ten thousand people worked on it. Bourke-White took pictures of those people – at the dam, in the rooms where they lived, and in the places where they had fun. With her pictures in Life magazine, she told a story about America's "Wild West" in the twentieth century. … As others were hurrying to safety, Bourke-White placed several cameras in the window of her hotel room. She set the cameras so they would remain open to the light of the night sky. Then she joined the others in rooms under the hotel. While she waited for the bombing attack to end, her cameras recorded the explosions, which lit up the rooftops of the city. Author: Shelley Gollust.

Mother Rigby - News: August 21, 2006 — Headline: Feathertop. Excerpt: After the long winter months, the crows, the big black birds, were hungry. And when they saw the little green plants, they flew down to eat them. Old Mother Rigby tried to make the noisy and hungry birds go away. They made her very angry. She did not want the black birds to eat her corn. But the birds would not go away. So, early one morning, just as the sun started to rise, Mother Rigby jumped out of bed. She had a plan to stop those black birds from eating her corn. Mother Rigby could do anything. She was a witch, a woman with strange powers. She could make water run uphill, or change a beautiful woman into a white horse. Many nights when the moon was full and bright, she could be seen flying over the tops of the houses in the village, sitting on a long wooden stick. It was a broomstick, and it helped her to do all sorts of strange tricks. … Feathertop moved no closer, but turned around and hurried through the streets of the town toward his home. When Mother Rigby opened the door, she saw Feathertop shaking with emotion. He was puffing on his pipe with great difficulty and making sounds like the clatter of sticks, or the rattling of bones. Author: Nathaniel Hawthorne.

National Assembly - News: March 8, 2006 — Headline: Senate to Send Amended Law 50% Plus One Back to Parliament. Excerpt: The Senate Wednesday decides to send back the constitutional amendment of the 50% plus one formula to the National Assembly without studying or passing it due to lack of quorum. The newly appointed senators who are newly elected have not sworn in for the office and former senators are not present at the meeting. … Senate Secretary General Um Sarith says that this adoption of the amendment of formula 50% plus one in such a hurry has to be done in five days, and the Senate is in transition, and is looking for quorum. Author: Sothea Tith.

New York - News: September 10, 2006 — Headline: Plans for Ground Zero Slow to Take Shape in Glass and Steel. Excerpt: Ground Zero is the name for where the Twin Towers of the World Trade Center stood until September eleventh, two thousand one. Members of al-Qaida flew hijacked passenger airplanes into the towers. More than two thousand seven hundred people were killed as the buildings collapsed and disappeared from the New York skyline. … Current plans call for occupancy in two thousand eleven. … Mister Childs hurried to make changes. Within just a few weeks, the new plans for the Freedom Tower were presented. That was in June of last year. David Childs set the building farther back from the street, to leave more room for a public plaza area. Being farther back from traffic would also provide more security against a terrorist attack from the street.

Nigeria - News: September 21, 2006 — Headline: Angry Muslims Burn Churches in Nigeria. Excerpt: The authorities in Nigeria's northern state of Jigawa have imposed a nighttime curfew in the wake of a violent protest by a group of Muslim youths in the state capital. The rioters attacked Christians following a blasphemous statement allegedly made by a local Christian woman about Prophet Muhammad. Hundreds of heavily armed anti-riot policemen are patrolling the streets of Dutse, capital of the northern Nigerian state of Jigawa, to contain rioting by angry Muslim youths. … The state governor, Ibrahim Turaki, was attacked when he tried to calm the mob and had to be hurriedly taken away. Some of the governors bodyguards sustained severe injuries. Author: Gilbert da Costa.

Nunes, Terezinha: Author of "Improving literacy by teaching morphemes." Edited by Terezinha Nunes and Peter Bryant; with Ursula Pretzlik and Jane Hurry. Publisher: Routledge (London; New York). Published in 2006.

One - News: February 6, 2006 — Headline: The Return of a Private. Excerpt: One of the men had a large red scar across his forehead. Another had an injured leg that made it painful for him to walk. The third had unnaturally large and bright eyes, because he had been sick with malaria. The three soldiers spread their blankets on the train seats and tried to sleep. It was a cold evening even though it was summertime. Private Smith, the soldier with the fever, shivered in the night air. … Laughing and crying, Misses Smith grabbed her hat and her children and ran out of the house. She hurried down the road after him, calling his name and pulling her children along with her. But the soldier was too far away for her voice to reach him. Author: Hamlin Garland.

Ortega-Marlasca M.M.: Author of "[Residents, hurries, and consultations: other ways of looking at them]," published in Atencion Primaria / Sociedad Espanola de Medicina de Familia Y Comunitaria, vol. 37, no. 7, p. 423, on April 30, 2006.

Palestine - News: June 28, 2006 — Headline: Palestinians Say Israeli Forces Have Arrested Hamas Government Officials. Excerpt: Israel has rounded up dozens of members of the Palestinians' ruling party Hamas, following the kidnap of an Israeli soldier on Sunday. Israel is also expanding its military offensive in the Gaza Strip. … Israeli spokesman Ra'anan Gissin says Hamas is a terrorist regime and will be treated accordingly. … "I think that Israel just hurry up right now with its military invasion right now in Gaza, and in my opinion Israel didn't give enough time for the diplomatic initiatives to bring for the release of the soldier," said Eid.

Paul - News: May 15, 2006 — Headline: Paul's Case, Part Two. Excerpt: Paul wanted to be surrounded by beautiful things. He loved his part-time job as an usher at the concert hall. He helped people find their seats before the concert. Then he could listen to the music and dream of exciting places. Paul also spent a lot of time at the local theater. He knew many of the actors who worked there. He used to do little jobs for them. And they would let him see plays for free. … A few weeks later, Paul's boss, Mr. Denny, gave Paul a large amount of money to take to the bank. He told Paul to hurry because it was Friday afternoon. He said the bank would close soon and would not open again until Monday. At the bank, Paul took the money out of his pocket. It was five thousand dollars. Paul put the money back in his coat pocket. And he walked out of the bank. Author: Willa Cather.

Peterson, Doug: Author of "Ben Hurry: a lesson in patience." Published in 2006.

Rosso D., Ivanov A.G., Fu A., Geisler-Lee J., Hendrickson L., Geisler M., Stewart G., Krol M., Hurry V., Rodermel S.R., Maxwell D.P., Hüner N.P.: Authors of "IMMUTANS does not act as a stress-induced safety valve in the protection of the photosynthetic apparatus of Arabidopsis during steady-state photosynthesis," published in Plant Physiology, vol. 142, no. 2, p. 574-85, in October 2006.

Routledge: Publisher of "Improving literacy by teaching morphemes." Edited by Terezinha Nunes and Peter Bryant; with Ursula Pretzlik and Jane Hurry. Publisher: Routledge (London; New York). Published in 2006.

Ruggiero I.: Author of "Consultation in adolescence: hurried, terminable, interminable," published in The International Journal of Psycho-analysis, vol. 87, in April 2006.

Schloss, Andrew: Born in 1951, authored "Homemade in a hurry: more than 300 shortcut recipes for delicious home-cooked meals." Publisher: Chronicle Books (San Francisco). Published in 2006.

2006

Senegal - News: July 5, 2006 — Headline: Benito Cereno, Part Three. Excerpt: As we told you in earlier parts of our story, rebel slaves seized the ship San Dominick off the coast of Chile. They killed many of its officers and crew. The captain, Benito Cereno, was ordered to sail to Senegal. But first, he was forced to take the ship to the lonely island of Santa Maria, near the southern end of Chile. There, it could safely get water and supplies for the long, dangerous voyage to Africa. At the island, the rebels were surprised and frightened when they found an American ship anchored in the harbor. It also had stopped for water. Many of the rebels wanted to sail away. But their leader, Babo, opposed it. They had little water and food, and could not go far. Babo created a story to keep anyone from suspecting that the Spanish vessel was in the hands of rebels, and that its captain was a prisoner. … On board the San Dominick, the shouting rebels were raising their axes and knives in a wild revolt. They stopped some of the Spanish sailors from jumping into the sea. A few, however, jumped, while two or three, who were not quick enough, went hurrying up the top-most wood arms. Author: Herman Melville.

Signora Lisabetta - News: March 6, 2006 — Headline: Rappaccini's Daughter, Part 1. Excerpt: Giovanni’s room had a small window. From it he could see a large garden that had many plants and flowers. “Does the garden belong to you?” he asked Signora Lisabetta one day. … Giovanni often sat by his window to look at the garden. He had never seen so many different kinds of plants. They all had enormous green leaves and magnificent flowers in every color of the rainbow. … As Giovanni hurried to his room, he felt confused and a little frightened. Author: Nathaniel Hawthorne.

Stafford-Smith M.: Author of "Hurry up and slow down: lessons in drug development from the COX-2 inhibitors," published in Canadian Journal of Anaesthesia = Journal Canadien D'anesthesie, vol. 53, no. 10, p. 973-7, in October 2006.

Sylvie's - News: March 19, 2006 — Headline: The White Heron. Excerpt: Every evening Sylvie left her grandmother's house at five-thirty to bring their cow home. The old animal spent her days out in the open country eating sweet grass. It was Sylvie's job to bring her home to be milked. When the cow heard Sylvie's voice calling her, she would hide among the bushes. This evening it had taken Sylvie longer than usual to find her cow. The child hurried the cow through the dark forest, following a narrow path that led to her grandmother's home. The cow stopped at a small stream to drink. As Sylvie waited, she put her bare feet in the cold, fresh water of the stream. … The cow finished drinking, and as the nine-year-old child hurried through the forest to the home she loved, she thought again about the noisy town where her parents still lived. Author: Sarah Orne Jewett.

Syria - News: December 25, 2006 — Headline: Olmert Says He Wants to Renew Peace Talks with Syria. Excerpt: Mr. Olmert said the two countries could arrive at dialogue if Syria stops its support for Islamic terror groups, including Hamas that heads the Palestinian Authority and Hezbollah in Lebanon. He also demanded that Syria sever what he called "its appalling connection with Iran." Tension between Israel and Syria increased in July when Israel launched a 34-day assault on Lebanon, after Hezbollah kidnapped two Israeli soldiers on the northern border. Israel accused Syria of supplying weapons to Hezbollah. Since then, Syrian President Bashar Assad has offered several times to renew peace talks with Israel. … Peace talks between Israel and Syria broke down in 2000 because Israel was reluctant to relinquish the strategic Golan Heights captured during the Six Day War in 1967. And today, Israel is still in no hurry to hand over the Golan to a regime it does not trust. Author: Robert Berger.

Thailand - News: November 20, 2006 — Headline: Bomb Kills 2 in Thailand's Muslim South. Excerpt: A bomb has exploded at a market in a mainly Muslim town on Thailand's border with Malaysia, killing two people and wounding another 16. It is just the latest incident in a three-year-old, low-intensity war between the Thai government and suspected Islamic militants. … Police said the bomb that went off Monday at an outdoor food market in the town of Sungai Kolok was hidden in a motorcycle and detonated remotely by a cellular phone, just as shoppers were in the midst of making their morning purchases. … She says that when she arrived at the market to buy shrimp, she did not see the motorcycle carrying the bomb. She says she was told by a friend that the man who parked the vehicle at the market left in a hurry.

Uganda - News: March 2, 2006 — Headline: Uganda's Conflict Largely Ignored by West as Thousands Die. Excerpt: Aid agencies say as many as 100,000 people have died, and nearly a 1,000 more die every week, mainly from conflict-related hunger and lack of medicine. Nearly two million people have been displaced at the hands of a shadowy militia with ties to Sudan's Arab-led government. It sounds like western Sudan's Darfur conflict, but it's not. This is northern Uganda, where suffering from a 20-year insurgency has attracted little international media attention. President Museveni has won international acclaim and financial aid from Western governments for tackling the country's rampant HIV and AIDS problem, and returning stability to a country devastated by two decades of brutal repression by former dictators Idi Amin and Milton Obote. … Most people here believe this is a war Mr. Museveni is not in a hurry to win, especially because the people most affected are the Acholi, many of whom served in the armies of Amin and Obote, both of whom were overthrown by Mr. Museveni. Father Rodriguez says the Acholi see the lingering conflict, and the government's weak response, as a form of punishment for their opposition to Mr. Museveni.

United States - News: January 4, 2006 — Headline: Theodore Roosevelt Becomes America's Youngest Leader. Excerpt: The war between the United States and Spain in eighteen ninety-eight was one of the shortest in American history. The fighting lasted about three months. Yet that short war led to long-term changes for America. Victory made the United States an increasingly important world power. … The United States received several of Spain's island colonies as part of the peace agreement. The most important was the Philippines. … Vice President Roosevelt hurried to Buffalo. He went to the house where the president's body lay. Then he went to another house to be sworn in as president. He was forty-two years old -- the youngest man ever to hold the office. Author: Frank Beardsley.

United States - News: February 25, 2006 — Headline: Radio Pioneers Pulled Words, Music and World Events Out of Thin Air. Excerpt: Edwin Armstrong was another American inventor who was important in the development of electronics and radio communication. Armstrong developed technology that helped to improve radio reception. He discovered ways to limit unwanted radio signals. … Soon, radio stations began to appear in other areas. In nineteen twenty-two, two stations in New York State joined together to broadcast the championship game of American baseball. The stations were connected by telephone lines. This permitted them to share the same program. It was one of the first examples of a radio network. … During this period, families gathered in their living rooms every night to listen to radio shows. Children hurried from school to hear shows created for them. In the daytime, millions of women listened to radio plays called soap operas. They were called soap operas because companies that make soap paid for the shows. Author: George Grow.

United States - News: May 4, 2006 — Headline: Americans Get Plenty of 'Fat to Go'. Excerpt: All this, because, according to the U.S. government, about two-thirds of our men and women, and one-third of our children, are overweight. … Even bigger villains are the so-called "convenience stores" -- convenient, if you're in a hurry to get fat. One that the Washington Post found near a school in a poor neighborhood sold out 640 bags of honey cheese curls, 140 bags of salted potato chips, 240 packages of sugary shortcake rolls, and 2,400 bottles of sweet soda -- all in just five school days. The owner was proud of his low prices. "That lets the kids get the cheapest breakfast in town," he told the newspaper. "A core meal of juice, cake, and two bags of chips."

United States - News: June 12, 2006 — Headline: Paul Bunyan. Excerpt: Each group of workers had its own tall tale hero. Paul Bunyan was a hero of North America’s lumberjacks, the workers who cut down trees. He was known for his strength, speed and skill. Tradition says he cleared forests from the northeastern United States to the Pacific Ocean. Some people say Paul Bunyan was the creation of storytellers from the middle western Great Lakes area of the United States. Other people say the stories about him came from French Canada. … The camp also was home to Sport, the Reversible Dog. One of the workers accidentally cut Sport in two. The man hurried to put the dog back together, but made a mistake. He bent the animal's back the wrong way. However, that was not a problem for Sport. He learned to run on his front legs until he was tired. Then, he turned the other way and ran on his back legs.

United States - News: August 8, 2006 — Headline: 1965: Two Gemini Craft Meet in Space, Another Step Toward Moon. Excerpt: Today, Shirley Griffith and Tony Riggs complete a report about America's second manned space program, Gemini. Its purpose was to bring the United States closer to its goal of landing astronauts on the moon. … To explore the surface of the moon, astronauts must be able to survive outside the protection of their spacecraft. So an astronaut on the flight of Gemini Four, Ed White, took that first frightening step into the unknown. For more than twenty minutes, he floated outside his spacecraft in the emptiness of space. … Borman and Lovell continued to circle the Earth, day after day, as workers hurried to meet the new launch date. They were almost three hundred kilometers high. They were moving at twenty-eight thousand kilometers an hour.

United States - News: October 18, 2006 — Headline: Get Your Act Together: Organization Is the Name of the Game. Excerpt: A woman from Japan was telling a friend about her trip to the United States. The woman had visited major businesses and investment companies in New York City and Chicago. "I studied English before I left home, " she said. "But I still was not sure that people were speaking English." … Cut to the chase means to stop spending so much time on details or unimportant material. Hurry and get to the good part. Author: Some expressions that might be heard at business meetings. Transcript of radio broadcast..

Washington - News: February 11, 2006 — Headline: Shirley Horn: One of the Great Jazz Singers of the 1950s and 1960s. Excerpt: Shirley Horn was considered one of the great jazz singers of the nineteen fifties and sixties. She was often compared to the famous singers Ella Fitzgerald, Dinah Washington and Sarah Vaughan. She performed for more than fifty years. Shirley Horn's voice was smooth and expressive, but never hurried. She was one of the slowest singers in jazz. When she sang a song, she wanted the audience to feel it in the same way she did. She had a small voice. But her songs had a big effect. Author: Cynthia Kirk.

World Bank - News: June 5, 2006 — Headline: Opposition Party and NGOs Want to See Investigation into World Bank Projects. Excerpt: Opposition Sam Rainsy party and NGOs officials on Monday appeal to the government and the World Bank to discuss cooperation for inquiry about irregularities related to the bank's aid of 64 million dollars for 3 development projects, asking the government not to dispense the money for the projects, due to a corruption scandal. This appeal occurs after the Ministry of Economy and Finance suspended funding for 3 development projects supported by the World Bankd last week worth $64 million after it discovered irregularities in contracts and misuse of funds. … Opposition party legislator Keo Remy says that the government should cooperate with the World Bank to find the corrupted perpetrators in the 3 projects first, before executing the projects in a hurry. He says that the data presented to the World Bank should be considered, and the government should show that they are willing to reduce and stop corruption. Author: Sakada Chun.

Zheng B., MacDonald T.M., Sutinen S., Hurry V., Clarke A.K.: Authors of "A nuclear-encoded ClpP subunit of the chloroplast ATP-dependent Clp protease is essential for early development in Arabidopsis thaliana," published in Planta, vol. 224, no. 5, p. 1103-15, in October 2006.

2007

Adora Svitak - News: June 19, 2007 — Headline:

Child Prodigy Embarks on Campaign for Literacy. Excerpt: "I consider reading a very key way to spread information, to learn things, to be able to connect with other people, which leads to better bridges of trust and less misunderstanding, which can lead to better world peace," said Adora Svitak. Adora says she wants to spread her message the world over and persuade children to love reading and writing as much as she does. She says she has been writing since the age of four, and she believes writing is a skill we will always need. … "'Wandered off!' Didoni snorted. 'Forgot, more like. But no mind. Tomorrow we are off for Bulrox where the Duke himself resides. If luck is with us, the Duke himself may ask me to paint his portrait or perhaps commission a portrait of his Duchess. Then Master, won't we be lucky indeed?' Miles asked, his grin even wider. 'Don't be pert! Now hurry up with the tasks I give you!' Didoni exclaimed." Author: Mona Ghuneim.

Ban Ki-moon - News: September 5, 2007 — Headline: UN Chief 'Shocked and Humbled' by Darfur Visit. Excerpt: "I was so shocked and humbled when I visited the IDP [internally displaced persons] camps," said Ban Ki-moon. "I was shocked at the poverty and hardship all these tens of thousands of people who are undergoing. I really wanted to give them even a small hope, of silent hope as the secretary-general. I felt humbled by the limited resources and power." Al Salem is one of three camps for IDPs in the El Fasher area. While there, the U.N. secretary-general told a huge crowd of people who came out to greet him that he was bringing them a message of hope. … Mr. Ban's visit was hurried and held under heightened security because of a security incident earlier in the day. Author: Lisa Schlein.

Bunting, Eve: Born in 1928, authored "Hurry! hurry!." Eve Bunting; illustrated by Jeff Mack. Publisher: Harcourt (Orlando). Published in 2007.

Campbell C., Atkinson L., Zaragoza-Castells J., Lundmark M., Atkin O., Hurry V.: Authors of "Acclimation of photosynthesis and respiration is asynchronous in response to changes in temperature regardless of plant functional group," published in The New Phytologist, vol. 176, no. 2, p. 375-89, in 2007.

China - News: February 20, 2007 — Headline: China Celebrates Year of The Pig. Excerpt: China celebrates the Lunar New Year this week with family gatherings, fireworks, and traditional temple fairs. Many Chinese astrologers say 2007 is the year of the "golden pig," a lucky year to have children but other fortune tellers say the year could bring disaster. Daniel Schearf reports from Beijing. China exploded in celebration this weekend as citizens rang in the Lunar New Year. … She says her daughter's office is full of women and she is too busy to find a boyfriend. Miao says she is not in a hurry for her daughter to marry, but hopes she can find a suitable mate who will make her happy. Author: Daniel Schearf.

Dakar - News: September 7, 2007 — Headline: Opposition Activists in Divided Ivory Coast Frustrated With Peace Process. Excerpt: Even as northern-based rebels and presidential advisers in Ivory Coast say they are upbeat about the peace process taking hold, opposition activists say that current developments have not changed anything. Programs to disarm former fighters, reintegrate the army and distribute nationality and voting papers to many undocumented northerners are still needed before twice-delayed elections can take place. Phillip Wellman has this report from our West Africa bureau in Dakar. A spokesman for the opposition Democratic Party of Ivory Coast, Niamkey Koffi, says rebels and the president have made little progress. … "We have to put pressure on both the parties on both of them so that they will hurry and try to do the identification of people so that they can get the papers to vote," he said. "Right now, both parties are encouraged to be in certain situations because they are both sharing the wealth of this country. And the people are getting poorer and poorer. So we can [not] do it anymore, [we cannot accept] any more delay for that kind of agreement." Author: Phillip Wellman.

Daniélou, Alain: Author of "Shiva and the primordial tradition: from the tantras to the science of dreams." Alain Daniélou with Jean-Louis Gabin; translated from the French by Kenneth F. Hurry. Publisher: Inner Traditions (Rochester, Vt.). Published in 2007.

Duch - News: June 18, 2007 — Headline: Lawyer of Torture Chief Urges Speedy Trial. Excerpt: The lawyer of Kaing Khek Iev, the Khmer Rouge torture chief known also known as Duch, appealed Friday for a speedy tribunal process so that his client could see a trial. Lawyer Ka Savuth said his client had been held many years without trial and urged the jurists of the tribunal to "please hurry."

Financial - News: March 2, 2007 — Headline: Investors Count Their Losses Following a Rough Week. Excerpt: Financial markets around the world took investors on a shaky ride this week. … China's main stock market in Shanghai fell nine percent Tuesday. It was the worst drop in Chinese stocks in ten years. Investors hurried to sell their stocks as concern spread that the government might raise interest rates. There were also unconfirmed reports of a possible new tax on capital gains. Chinese officials denied those reports.

Frazer, Brian: Author of "Hyper-chondriac: one man's quest to hurry up and calm down." Publisher: Atria Books (New York). Published in 2007.

Hawaii - News: January 8, 2007 — Headline: Sharks and People: Guess Which Is More a Danger to the Other. Excerpt: Not long ago, Kyle Gruen was swimming near the Hawaiian island of Maui when he felt something bite him. Mister Gruen was wearing special eyeglasses for use in water. He could see his attacker. It was a purple and gray shark. The twenty-nine-year old Canadian was wounded on his left upper leg and hand. But he turned and pushed away the shark with his other foot. He watched the blood flow from his body as he swam away. Others hurried to help Mister Gruen. Soon the Canadian man was in a hospital operating room, having his injuries repaired.

India - News: October 3, 2007 — Headline: India Poems Introduce People and Places of Subcontinent. Excerpt: This summer, Milwaukee residents and visitors had a chance to see India's villages with their people, shops, fields, rivers and temples. They did it without leaving the city. India came to Wisconsin through a photograph exhibit that drew attention and stirred emotions. Faiza El Masry reports. … "These are photographs by Waswo X Waswo, a Milwaukee photographer," she says. "What's interesting about them is they really are photographs of rural India today." … "I tend to see beauty in things that are rural, a life style that's perhaps slower, less hectic, less hurried," he explains. "Through my photographs and my camera, I have tried to seek out what I see as sort of an essence of India, what makes India special, rather than just the globalized culture, because to me it's very homogenous. It's pretty much the same whether you are in Tokyo or London or New York or Bombay." Author: Faiza Elmasry.

Israel - News: January 1, 2007 — Headline: Israel Denies Reports of Imminent Prisoner Swap with Hamas. Excerpt: Israeli officials say there has been no significant progress in efforts to win the release of a soldier kidnapped by Hamas militants six months ago and held in the Gaza Strip. Israel played down a statement by a spokesman for the Hamas military wing, Abu Ubaida, who reported a breakthrough in negotiations for a prisoner swap. Ubaida told Israel Radio that a deal could be imminent after Israel softened its position. … Shalit's capture in June prompted Israel to launch a major military offensive in Gaza that went on for months. That brought suffering on the Palestinian people, but Israeli analyst Zvi Mazal says Hamas is in no hurry to make a deal. Author: Robert Berger.

Japan - News: January 4, 2007 — Headline: Japanese PM Promises a More Assertive Foreign Policy. Excerpt: He said the main reasons for that change are the "proliferation" of missiles and weapons of mass destruction, and a series of regional conflicts. Mr. Abe says to protect Japan's peace, independence, freedom and democracy, and to protect the lives of the Japanese people, it becomes ever more important that Tokyo strengthen the Japan-U.S. alliance. … "There are people inside the LDP who now feel free to talk about this thing, in large part because it's not going to lose them votes any more. It used to be a matter that would pretty much clearly lose them votes in a hurry," said Reed. Author: Kurt Achin.

Japan - News: August 21, 2007 — Headline: Pop, R&B Star Beyonce Discusses Current Concert

Tour with VOA. Excerpt: Knowles described her tour. "I've been to Japan, all over Europe, and now we're in America. I've met some amazing people and it's really been a blast [fun time]." Knowles' success continues to grow. Along with an Oscar nomination for her role as Deena Jones in "Dreamgirls", 10 Grammy Awards, her seven nominations lead the upcoming MTV Music Video Awards. … Knowles' film career includes Austin Powers in Goldmember, The Fighting Temptations, The Pink Panther and Dreamgirls. She is not in a hurry to start work on another film. Author: Larry London.

Keech O., Pesquet E., Ahad A., Askne A., Nordvall D., Vodnala S.M., Tuominen H., Hurry V., Dizengremel P., Gardeström P.: Authors of "The different fates of mitochondria and chloroplasts during dark-induced senescence in Arabidopsis leaves," published in Plant, Cell & Environment, vol. 30, no. 12, in December 2007.

Kline J.L., Shimada T., Johnson R.P., Montgomery D.S., Hegelich B.M., Esquibel D.M., Flippo K.A., Gonzales R.P., Hurry T.R., Reid S.L.: Authors of "Short pulse laser train for laser plasma interaction experiments," published in The Review of Scientific Instruments, vol. 78, no. 8, in August 2007.

National Assembly - News: July 13, 2007 — Headline: Pailin Residents Despair Over Corruption. Excerpt: The law has become a perennial promise unkept, stuck in the National Assembly for years and the lynchpin of donor disapproval. The former Khmer Rouge villagers said at a public forum that they, like everyone else, want to see it passed. … "They want the National Assembly to speed up passage of the anti-corruption law in a hurry," he said. "They think the corruption that they deal with involves government officials every day. They believe that if the corruption continues, they will have difficulties in their living."

Nigeria - News: June 26, 2007 — Headline: Nigerian President Mulls Unity Government. Excerpt: But cracks within the opposition are beginning to show as Mr. Yar'Adua presses for unity. Ibrahim Modibo of the All Nigeria People's Party says the party is willing to attend Tuesday's meeting with the president to hear what he has to offer. … "Nigeria is a nation in a hurry," he said. "We love drama, so Nigerians are a little bit impatient. Even the labor confrontation [strike] ought not to have occurred if Yar'Adua had done politics on the 29th May by repudiating all the last-minute measures put in place by [former president] Obasanjo. I think Yar'Adua has to move faster." Author: Gilbert da Costa.

North Korea - News: April 9, 2007 — Headline: US Envoy Says North Korea May Not Meet Nuclear Disarmament Deadline. Excerpt: U.S. envoy Christopher Hill told reporters in Tokyo Monday he was still hopeful North Korea could meet a Saturday deadline to shut down its nuclear facilities and let inspectors into the country. But he said the dispute over North Korean accounts was making that less likely. North Korea has refused to implement a February agreement to shut down its Yongbyon nuclear reactor in exchange for aid until it receives 25 million dollars in North Korean accounts from a Macau bank. … Lankov says the North Koreans are not in a big hurry to receive aid equal to 50 thousand tons of heavy fuel oil, promised for closing its nuclear facilities, and will continue to negotiate as they see fit. Author: Daniel Schearf.

Pakistan - News: November 5, 2007 — Headline: Pakistani Police Arrest Protesters; US Blasts Military Rule. Excerpt: The biggest clash between the protesters and police occurred in the eastern city of Lahore, where more than 1,000 attorneys rallied at the High Court. Police used tear gas and then stormed the gathering, arresting and beating hundreds of people. … "Our hope now is that he hurry back to elections," said President Bush. "At the same time we want to continue working with him to fight these terrorists and extremists who have not only tried to kill him, but have used parts of his country from which to launch attacks into Afghanistan and / or are planning attacks on America." Author: Meredith Buel.

Palestine - News: September 3, 2007 — Headline: Palestinian Rocket Lands Near Israeli School. Excerpt: Palestinian militants in the Gaza Strip have fired at least seven rockets at southern Israel, including one that landed near a daycare center. As Robert Berger reports from Jerusalem, residents are accusing the Israeli government of failing to protect them. … Shlomit Eckstein, a mother of six, told Israel Radio that there are eight daycare centers in Sderot and none have been fortified against rocket attacks. But Eckstein said protecting buildings is not enough. … Nevertheless, Israel pulled out of heavily-populated Gaza two years ago, and the government is no hurry to send the army back in. Officials say a major ground offensive is not on the agenda. Author: Robert Berger.

Palestine - News: September 11, 2007 — Headline: Palestinian Rocket Attack Wounds at Least 66 Israeli Soldiers. Excerpt: Israeli soldier walks next to armored vehicle at base on border with Gaza Strip, 11 Sep 2007. A Palestinian rocket crashed into an Israeli army base on the Gaza border as soldiers slept in their tents. The wounded soldiers were recruits undergoing basic training. … Dichter told Israel Radio that it is not a question of if Israel will restore deterrence, but when. Nevertheless, he said Prime Minister Ehud Olmert and other senior officials are in no hurry to launch a major assault on Gaza, two years after Israel pulled out of the territory. Author: Robert Berger.

Paré, Jean: Born in 1927, authored "Company's Coming healthy in a hurry." Publisher: Company's Coming Pub (Edmonton). Published in 2007.

Pat Ntsobi - News: June 15, 2007 — Headline: S. African Government Seeks Injunction to Bar Police Officers from Strike. Excerpt: The police service decided to seek the injunction following a decision by the police, prisons and civil rights union to call its members out on strike because an agreement to end the strike has not been reached. Union spokesperson Pat Ntsobi told national radio the union is ready to defy the legal prohibition against strikes by its members. … On Thursday, union negotiators called a hurried meeting with the government during which the government made a new offer, including an across-the-board 7.25 percent basic salary increase. The unions said they would seek a fresh mandate from their members. Author: Delia Robertson.

Philippines - News: January 10, 2007 — Headline: ASEAN Officials Call for Faster Economic Integration. Excerpt: Host Philippine President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo said Wednesday the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) and East Asia summits this week would bring a "golden" opportunity for the region to chart a new direction in development. She called for greater effort toward economic integration among Southeast Asian nations, China, Japan, South Korea, India and other neighbors. … "We are competing with the rest of the world, and everybody wants to hurry because if we don't hurry up agreements will be signed by Japan with other people in the world, by ASEAN with other people in the world," Kabigting said. "Everybody's pushing the pedal all the way to the ground for a long time now." Author: Heda Bayron.

Princess Dejah Thoris - News: March 29, 2007 — Headline: A Princess of Mars, Part Four. Excerpt: Last week, we told how John Carter observed a fierce battle between the green Martians and a race of red, human-like creatures. He also saw the beautiful Princess Dejah Thoris being captured after the battle. A short time later, John Carter, the Princess and their friend, the green Martian woman Sola, attempt to escape rather than face death. The Princess and Sola must flee while John Carter tries to slow the green warriors who are chasing them. John Carter continues to tell what happens in Edgar Rice Burroughs' story, "A Princess of Mars.". … Then, one day, a soldier returned from a long flight. When he landed he hurried to the great meeting room.

Russia - News: July 17, 2007 — Headline: Russia Promises 'Targeted, Appropriate' Response to British Expulsions. Excerpt: Political observers in Moscow predict Russia will respond in kind to Monday's decision by London to expel four Russian diplomats. But the Foreign Ministry appears in no hurry to announce specific measures. … At the same time, said the Russian official, we will consider average citizens, tourists, cultural and academic exchange participants, and business circles. Grushko says Russia does not want such people to suffer because of actions by London.

Author: Peter Fedynsky.

Russia - News: October 18, 2007 — Headline: Russian President Fields Questions from Citizens. Excerpt: Mr. Putin also said Russia is reversing its demographic decline with the recent birthrate reaching its highest level in 15 years, and the death rate its lowest since 1999. Viewers raised domestic issues such as unemployment, inflation, and traffic jams, as well as international ones related to neighboring Ukraine, membership in the World Trade Organization, and the U.S. presence in Iraq. … But Mr. Putin says he differs with the American leader on the issue of a troop withdrawal date. Mr. Putin says a deadline must be set, otherwise, Iraqi leaders will not hurry to develop their own security forces. Author: Peter Fedynsky.

Sudan - News: June 7, 2007 — Headline: Sudanese Refugees Head Home. Excerpt: An estimated four million people fled southern Sudan, during Sudan's 21-year civil war between the nation's ruling Islamist regime and southern rebels. In 2005, a peace agreement ended the war, paving the way for the return of the largest refugee population in the world. The day begins at dawn. The horns signal that it is time to leave. Men, women and children hurry from their tents here at the way station, outside of Khartoum, to get on board their assigned buses. Author: Noel King.

United States - News: January 25, 2007 — Headline: Cesar Millan: Famous Dog Trainer, but Not All Experts Follow His Lead. Excerpt: Americans own about seventy-three million dogs. Many people have problems training their animals. Some are turning to dog expert Cesar Millan. Faith Lapidus has more. … Cesar Millan's television show is called "Dog Whisperer." It is broadcast in several countries, including the United States, Japan and Thailand. Millan has also written a book about his life and ideas about dog training. It is called "Cesar's Way: The Natural, Everyday Guide to Understanding and Correcting Common Dog Problems." … Here is a song the band sings with the country singer Lucinda Williams. It is called “Hurry Up Sunrise”.

United States - News: March 29, 2007 — Headline: A Princess of Mars, Part One. Excerpt: Today, we begin a new series from a book by American writer Edgar Rice Burroughs. The book is called “A Princess of Mars.” It is the first book in a series that Mister Burroughs wrote about a man who travels to Mars during the last years of the eighteen hundreds. There, the man meets strange beings and sees strange sights. At first he is a captive, then a warrior, and after many battles, a prince of a royal family. Shep O’Neal begins the story of “A Princess of Mars.”. … Suddenly I heard shots far ahead of me. I hurried ahead as fast as I could. Soon I came to a small camp. Several hundred Apache Indians were in the center of the camp. I could see Powell on the ground. I did not even think about what to do, I just acted. I pulled out my guns and began shooting.

United States - News: September 23, 2007 — Headline: 'West Side Story': Love, Hate and the Immigrant Experience. Excerpt: Some of the greatest artists in American musical theater worked together to create "West Side Story" in nineteen fifty-seven. Choreographer and director Jerome Robbins, who developed the idea. Arthur Laurents, who wrote the play's words. And Stephen Sondheim, who wrote the words to the songs. … As we said last week, "West Side Story" is a story about young people in a poor part of New York City in the nineteen fifties. Two groups of teenagers fight each other for control of the streets. … Tony must hurry away when Maria's friend Anita comes in. Anita is mourning Bernardo, whom she loved. She is angry with Maria for loving Tony. Anita tells Maria that "a boy like that" -- not her own kind -- will only cause her pain. The part of Anita is sung by Chita Rivera.

West Side Story - News: September 16, 2007 — Headline: How 'West Side Story' Gave Romeo and Juliet a New Home in America. Excerpt: Choreographer and director Jerome Robbins developed the idea for "West Side Story" about fifty-five years ago. Most musicals of that time were not serious plays. They were written and performed purely for enjoyment. Robbins wanted to create a different kind of dance-musical. It would mix real social conflicts into a dream-like work of art. His idea was to make a modern American version of the great tragic play "Romeo and Juliet" by William Shakespeare. … Tony finds the apartment building where Maria lives with her family. He calls to her window. She comes out quietly to the metal fire escape. Maria can stay for only a few minutes. She and Tony declare their love for each other. Then she must hurry inside. Carol Lawrence sings the part of Maria.

Western Hemisphere - News: April 3, 2007 — Headline: Welcome to Death Valley, a Land of Extremes That Has Earned Its Name. Excerpt: Death Valley is a land of beautiful yet dangerous extremes. There are mountains that reach more than three thousand meters into the sky. There is a place called Badwater that is the lowest area of land in the Western Hemisphere. If there were water there, it would be eighty-six meters below the level of the ocean. Death Valley can be dangerously cold during the winter months. Storms in the mountains can produce sudden flooding on the floor of the Valley. … The area was named by a woman in eighteen forty-nine. That was the year after gold was discovered in California. Thousands of people from other parts of the country traveled to the gold mining areas in California. They were in a hurry to get there before other people did.

Zaragoza-Castells J., Sánchez-Gómez D., Valladares F., Hurry V., Atkin O.K.: Authors of "Does growth irradiance affect temperature dependence and thermal acclimation of leaf respiration? Insights from a Mediterranean tree with long-lived leaves," published in Plant, Cell & Environment, vol. 30, no. 7, in July 2007.

2008

Högberg P., Högberg M.N., Göttlicher S.G., Betson N.R., Keel S.G., Metcalfe D.B., Campbell C., Schindlbacher A., Hurry V., Lundmark T., Linder S., Näsholm T.: Authors of "High temporal resolution tracing of photosynthate carbon from the tree canopy to forest soil microorganisms," published in The New Phytologist, vol. 177, no. 1, p. 220-8, in 2008.

Klug H., Lindström K.: Authors of "Hurry-up and hatch: selective filial cannibalism of slower developing eggs," published in Biology Letters, on February 05, 2008.

Parker, Philip M.: INSEAD Chair Professor of Management Science. On September 4, 2007 he obtained the patent for a “Method and Apparatus for Automated Authoring and Marketing,” which was used, in 2008, to create "Hurry: Webster's Timeline History." Publisher: ICON Group International, Inc. (San Diego). Abstract: The present invention provides for the automatic authoring, marketing, and/or distributing of title material. A computer automatically authors material. The material is automatically formatted into a desired format, resulting in a title material. The title material may also be automatically distributed to a recipient. Meta material, marketing material, and control material are automatically authored and if desired, distributed to a recipient. Further, the title material may be authored on demand, such that it may be in any desired language and with the latest version and content.

Solomontos-Kountouri O., Hurry J.: Authors of "Political, religious and occupational identities in context: Placing identity status paradigm in context," published in Journal of Adolescence, on January 11, 2008.

License for Wikipedia Entries

The GNU Free Documentation License does not apply to entries in the public domain, used under commercial license, or under copyright. For each entry or "Document" (as defined below) used from www.wikipedia.org the GNU Free Documentation License applies, the text of which is provided here. To retrieve the original Wikipedia article via the internet, use the url www.en.wikipedia.org/wiki/HEADWORD where "HEADWORD" is the headword provided before the entry. For example, a Wikipedia article for "Apple Pie" is http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Apple_Pie. Note that expression words are separated by underscores (e.g. Apple_Pie). Electronic backup copies of these articles are available from www.websters-online-dictionary.org; type the headword into the search box to locate the backup. Paperback versions of this book are being printed on demand, in unknown quantities. ICON Group International, Inc. makes no warrantees with respect to any of the content in this book.

Text of the GNU Free Documentation License

Version 1.2, November 2002; Copyright (C) 2000,2001,2002 Free Software Foundation, Inc. 51 Franklin St, Fifth Floor, Boston, MA 02110-1301 USA. Everyone is permitted to copy and distribute verbatim copies of this license document, but changing it is not allowed.

0. PREAMBLE

The purpose of this License is to make a manual, textbook, or other functional and useful document "free" in the sense of freedom: to assure everyone the effective freedom to copy and redistribute it, with or without modifying it, either commercially or noncommercially. Secondarily, this License preserves for the author and publisher a way to get credit for their work, while not being considered responsible for modifications made by others. This License is a kind of "copyleft", which means that derivative works of the document must themselves be free in the same sense. It complements the GNU General Public License, which is a copyleft license designed for free software. We have designed this License in order to use it for manuals for free software, because free software needs free documentation: a free program should come with manuals providing the same freedoms that the software does. But this License is not limited to software manuals; it can be used for any textual work, regardless of subject matter or whether it is published as a printed book. We recommend this License principally for works whose purpose is instruction or reference.

1. APPLICABILITY AND DEFINITIONS

This License applies to any manual or other work, in any medium, that contains a notice placed by the copyright holder saying it can be distributed under the terms of this License. Such a notice grants a world-wide, royalty-free license, unlimited in duration, to use that work under the conditions stated herein. The "Document", below, refers to any such manual or work. Any member of the public is a licensee, and is addressed as "you". You accept the license if you copy, modify or distribute the work in a way requiring permission under copyright law. A "Modified Version" of the Document means any work containing the Document or a portion of it, either copied verbatim, or with modifications and/or translated into another language. A "Secondary Section" is a named appendix or a front-matter section of the Document that deals exclusively with the relationship of the publishers or authors of the Document to the Document's overall subject (or to related matters) and contains nothing that could fall directly within that overall subject. (Thus, if the Document is in part a textbook of mathematics, a Secondary Section may not explain any mathematics.) The relationship could be a matter of historical connection with the subject or with related matters, or of legal, commercial, philosophical, ethical or political position regarding them. The "Invariant Sections" are certain Secondary Sections whose titles are designated, as being those of Invariant Sections, in the notice that says that the Document is released under this License. If a section does not fit the above definition of Secondary then it is not allowed to be designated as Invariant. The Document may contain zero Invariant Sections. If the Document does not identify any Invariant Sections then there are none. The "Cover Texts" are certain short passages of text that are listed, as Front-Cover Texts or Back-Cover Texts, in the notice that says that the Document is released under this License. A Front-Cover Text may be at most 5 words, and a Back-Cover Text may be at most 25 words. A "Transparent" copy of the Document means a machine-readable copy, represented in a format whose specification is available to the general public, that is suitable for revising the document straightforwardly with generic text editors or (for images composed of pixels) generic paint programs or (for drawings) some widely available drawing editor, and that is suitable for input to text formatters or for automatic translation to a variety of formats suitable for input to text formatters. A copy made in an otherwise Transparent file format whose markup, or absence of markup, has been arranged to thwart or discourage subsequent modification by readers is not Transparent. An image format is not Transparent if used for any substantial amount of text. A copy that is not "Transparent" is called "Opaque". Examples of suitable formats for Transparent copies include plain ASCII without markup, Texinfo input format, LaTeX input format, SGML or XML using a publicly available DTD, and standard-conforming simple HTML, PostScript or PDF designed for human modification. Examples of transparent image formats include PNG, XCF and JPG. Opaque formats include proprietary formats that can be read and edited only by proprietary word processors, SGML or XML for which the DTD and/or processing tools are not generally available, and the machine-generated HTML, PostScript or PDF produced by some word processors for output purposes only. The "Title Page" means, for a printed book, the title page itself, plus such following pages as are needed to hold, legibly, the material this License requires to appear in the title page. For works in formats which do not have any title page as such, "Title Page" means the text near the most prominent appearance of the work's title, preceding the beginning of the body of the text. A section "Entitled XYZ" means a named subunit of the Document whose title either is precisely XYZ or contains XYZ in parentheses following text that translates XYZ in another language. (Here XYZ stands for a specific section name mentioned below, such as "Acknowledgements", "Dedications", "Endorsements", or "History".) To "Preserve the Title" of such a section when you modify the Document means that it remains a section "Entitled XYZ" according to this definition. The Document may include Warranty Disclaimers next to the notice which states that this License applies to the Document. These Warranty Disclaimers are considered to be included by reference in this License, but only as regards disclaiming warranties: any other implication that these Warranty Disclaimers may have is void and has no effect on the meaning of this License.

2. VERBATIM COPYING

You may copy and distribute the Document in any medium, either commercially or noncommercially, provided that this License, the copyright notices, and the license notice saying this License applies to the Document are reproduced in all copies, and that you add no other conditions whatsoever to those of this License. You may not use technical measures to obstruct or control the reading or further copying of the copies you make or distribute. However, you may accept compensation in exchange for copies. If you distribute a large enough number of copies you must also follow the conditions in section 3. You may also lend copies, under the same conditions stated above, and you may publicly display copies.

3. COPYING IN QUANTITY

If you publish printed copies (or copies in media that commonly have printed covers) of the Document, numbering more than 100, and the Document's license notice requires Cover Texts, you must enclose the copies in covers that carry, clearly and legibly, all these Cover Texts: Front-Cover Texts on the front cover, and Back-Cover Texts on the back cover. Both covers must also clearly and legibly identify you as the publisher of these copies. The front cover must present the full title with all words of the title equally prominent and visible. You may add other material on the covers in addition. Copying with changes limited to the covers, as long as they preserve the title of the Document and satisfy these conditions, can be treated as verbatim copying in other respects. If the required texts for either cover are too voluminous to fit legibly, you should put the first ones listed (as many as fit reasonably) on the actual cover, and continue the rest onto adjacent pages. If you publish or distribute Opaque copies of the Document numbering more than 100, you must either include a machine-readable Transparent copy along with each Opaque copy, or state in or with each Opaque copy a computer-network location from which the general network-using public has access to download using public-standard network protocols a complete Transparent copy of the Document, free of added material. If you use the latter option, you must take reasonably prudent steps, when you begin distribution of Opaque copies in quantity, to ensure that this Transparent copy will remain thus accessible at the stated location until at least one year after the last time you distribute an Opaque copy (directly or through your agents or retailers) of that edition to the public. It is requested, but not required, that you contact the authors of the Document well before redistributing any large number of copies, to give them a chance to provide you with an updated version of the Document.

4. MODIFICATIONS

You may copy and distribute a Modified Version of the Document under the conditions of sections 2 and 3 above, provided that you release the Modified Version under precisely this License, with the Modified Version filling the role of the Document, thus licensing distribution and modification of the Modified Version to whoever possesses a copy of it. In addition, you must do these things in the Modified Version:

A. Use in the Title Page (and on the covers, if any) a title distinct from that of the Document, and from those of previous versions (which should, if there were any, be listed in the History section of the Document). You may use the same title as a previous version if the original publisher of that version gives permission.

B. List on the Title Page, as authors, one or more persons or entities responsible for authorship of the modifications in the Modified Version, together with at least five of the principal authors of the Document (all of its principal authors, if it has fewer than five), unless they release you from this requirement.

C. State on the Title page the name of the publisher of the Modified Version, as the publisher.
D. Preserve all the copyright notices of the Document.
E. Add an appropriate copyright notice for your modifications adjacent to the other copyright notices.
F. Include, immediately after the copyright notices, a license notice giving the public permission to use the Modified Version under the terms of this License, in the form shown in the Addendum below.
G. Preserve in that license notice the full lists of Invariant Sections and required Cover Texts given in the Document's license notice.
H. Include an unaltered copy of this License.
I. Preserve the section Entitled "History", Preserve its Title, and add to it an item stating at least the title, year, new authors, and publisher of the Modified Version as given on the Title Page. If there is no section Entitled "History" in the Document, create one stating the title, year, authors, and publisher of the Document as given on its Title Page, then add an item describing the Modified Version as stated in the previous sentence.
J. Preserve the network location, if any, given in the Document for public access to a Transparent copy of the Document, and likewise the network locations given in the Document for previous versions it was based on. These may be placed in the "History" section. You may omit a network location for a work that was published at least four years before the Document itself, or if the original publisher of the version it refers to gives permission.
K. For any section Entitled "Acknowledgements" or "Dedications", Preserve the Title of the section, and preserve in the section all the substance and tone of each of the contributor acknowledgements and/or dedications given therein.
L. Preserve all the Invariant Sections of the Document, unaltered in their text and in their titles. Section numbers or the equivalent are not considered part of the section titles.
M. Delete any section Entitled "Endorsements". Such a section may not be included in the Modified Version.
N. Do not retitle any existing section to be Entitled "Endorsements" or to conflict in title with any Invariant Section.
O. Preserve any Warranty Disclaimers.

If the Modified Version includes new front-matter sections or appendices that qualify as Secondary Sections and contain no material copied from the Document, you may at your option designate some or all of these sections as invariant. To do this, add their titles to the list of Invariant Sections in the Modified Version's license notice. These titles must be distinct from any other section titles. You may add a section Entitled "Endorsements", provided it contains nothing but endorsements of your Modified Version by various parties--for example, statements of peer review or that the text has been approved by an organization as the authoritative definition of a standard. You may add a passage of up to five words as a Front-Cover Text, and a passage of up to 25 words as a Back-Cover Text, to the end of the list of Cover Texts in the Modified Version. Only one passage of Front-Cover Text and one of Back-Cover Text may be added by (or through arrangements made by) any one entity. If the Document already includes a cover text for the same cover, previously added by you or by arrangement made by the same entity you are acting on behalf of, you may not add another; but you may replace the old one, on explicit permission from the previous publisher that added the old one. The author(s) and publisher(s) of the Document do not by this License give permission to use their names for publicity for or to assert or imply endorsement of any Modified Version.

5. COMBINING DOCUMENTS

You may combine the Document with other documents released under this License, under the terms defined in section 4 above for modified versions, provided that you include in the combination all of the Invariant Sections of all of the original documents, unmodified, and list them all as Invariant Sections of your combined work in its license notice, and that you preserve all their Warranty Disclaimers. The combined work need only contain one copy of this License, and multiple identical Invariant Sections may be replaced with a single copy. If there are multiple Invariant Sections with the same name but different contents, make the title of each such section unique by adding at the end of it, in parentheses, the name of the original author or publisher of that section if known, or else a unique number. Make the same adjustment to the section titles in the list of Invariant Sections in the license notice of the combined work. In the combination, you must combine any sections Entitled "History" in the various original documents, forming one section Entitled "History"; likewise combine any sections Entitled "Acknowledgements", and any sections Entitled "Dedications". You must delete all sections Entitled "Endorsements."

6. COLLECTIONS OF DOCUMENTS

You may make a collection consisting of the Document and other documents released under this License, and replace the individual copies of this License in the various documents with a single copy that is included in the collection, provided that you follow the rules of this License for verbatim copying of each of the documents in all other respects. You may extract a single document from such a collection, and distribute it individually under this License, provided you insert a copy of this License into the extracted document, and follow this License in all other respects regarding verbatim copying of that document.

7. AGGREGATION WITH INDEPENDENT WORKS

A compilation of the Document or its derivatives with other separate and independent documents or works, in or on a volume of a storage or distribution medium, is called an "aggregate" if the copyright resulting from the compilation is not used to limit the legal rights of the compilation's users beyond what the individual works permit. When the Document is included in an aggregate, this License does not apply to the other works in the aggregate which are not themselves derivative works of the Document. If the Cover Text requirement of section 3 is applicable to these copies of the Document, then if the Document is less than one half of the entire aggregate, the Document's Cover Texts may be placed on covers that bracket the Document within the aggregate, or the electronic equivalent of covers if the Document is in electronic form. Otherwise they must appear on printed covers that bracket the whole aggregate.

8. TRANSLATION

Translation is considered a kind of modification, so you may distribute translations of the Document under the terms of section 4. Replacing Invariant Sections with translations requires special permission from their copyright holders, but you may include translations of some or all Invariant Sections in addition to the original versions of these Invariant Sections. You may include a translation of this License, and all the license notices in the Document, and any Warranty Disclaimers, provided that you also include the original English version of this License and the original versions of those notices and disclaimers. In case of a disagreement between the translation and the original version of this License or a notice or disclaimer, the original version will prevail. If a section in the Document is Entitled "Acknowledgements", "Dedications", or "History", the requirement (section 4) to Preserve its Title (section 1) will typically require changing the actual title.

9. TERMINATION

You may not copy, modify, sublicense, or distribute the Document except as expressly provided for under this License. Any other attempt to copy, modify, sublicense or distribute the Document is void, and will automatically terminate your rights under this License. However, parties who have received copies, or rights, from you under this License will not have their licenses terminated so long as such parties remain in full compliance.

10. FUTURE REVISIONS OF THIS LICENSE

The Free Software Foundation may publish new, revised versions of the GNU Free Documentation License from time to time. Such new versions will be similar in spirit to the present version, but may differ in detail to address new problems or concerns. See http://www.gnu.org/copyleft/. Each version of the License is given a distinguishing version number. If the Document specifies that a particular numbered version of this License "or any later version" applies to it, you have the option of following the terms and conditions either of that specified version or of any later version that has been published (not as a draft) by the Free Software Foundation. If the Document does not specify a version number of this License, you may choose any version ever published (not as a draft) by the Free Software Foundation.

How to use this License for your documents

To use this License in a document you have written, include a copy of the License in the document and put the following copyright and license notices just after the title page: Copyright (c) YEAR YOUR NAME. Permission is granted to copy, distribute and/or modify this document under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License, Version 1.2 or any later version published by the Free Software Foundation; with no Invariant Sections, no Front-Cover Texts, and no Back-Cover Texts. A copy of the license is included in the section entitled "GNU Free Documentation License". If you have Invariant Sections, Front-Cover Texts and Back-Cover Texts, replace the "with...Texts." line with this: with the Invariant Sections being LIST THEIR TITLES, with the Front-Cover Texts being LIST, and with the Back-Cover Texts being LIST. If you have Invariant Sections without Cover Texts, or some other combination of the three, merge those two alternatives to suit the situation. If your document contains nontrivial examples of program code, we recommend releasing these examples in parallel under your choice of free software license, such as the GNU General Public License, to permit their use in free software.

Index

A

Aaron, 41, 46
Abbe, 19
Abby, 60
Abelard, 70
Abidi, 270
Abidjan, 251, 252
Abram, 48
Absentee, 34
Abuse, 240, 272
Academic, 252, 280, 298
Acceptance, 131, 260
Access, 112, 246, 276
Accords, 284, 285
Ace, 228, 242
Acholi, 293
Activists, 251, 295
Acute, 261, 272
Ada, 75, 198
Adapted, 230, 245, 274
Adapting, 34, 241
Addams, 81
Addington, 71
Addison-Wesley, 234, 238
Additions, 154, 157
Addresses, 35, 151, 277
Adela, 43
Adjutant, 23, 128
Adolescence, 249, 291, 300
Adora, 294, 295
Adrianople, 8
Adshead, 221, 222
Adviser, 46, 285
Advisor, 273, 285
Aeroplane, 182, 204
Aesop, 5
Affective, 232
Afghans, 28, 246, 269
Afloat, 37, 97, 145, 224
Afrika, 228, 230
Afro-descendants, 251
Agencies, 288, 289, 293
Ager, 7, 232, 233
Aggie, 198
Aggleton, 245, 246
Agnes, 78, 237
Aguinaldo, 155
Ahmad, 262, 266
Ahmed, 285
Aided, 14, 103, 118
Aids, 258, 282, 293
Aikenside, 44
Aikman, 83
Aims, 226, 268
Airport, 234, 243
Aitken, 107
Ajaz, 266
Akemi, 264, 268
Alaska, 236, 286
Albion, 88
Albrecht, 75, 236
Albright, 241, 257
Alda, 243
Alden, 69, 171
Alderson, 235
Aldous, 212
Aleppo, 7
Alex, 220
Alexandre, 251
Alfonso, 9, 124
Algernon, 183
Alicante, 230
Alighting, 79, 164
Aline, 128
Alisha, 246
Allah, 144, 177
Alleyne, 129
Allied, 7, 204, 217, 219
Allington, 57, 76, 77
Allis, 70
Alstone, 220
Alton, 56
Alwin, 137
Amateur, 119, 135
American-Spanish, 258
Amiable, 127, 172
Amin, 293
Amsterdam, 255, 264
Amul, 225
Anda, 227
Andes, 213
Andrea, 94, 269
Andreas, 53, 180, 181
Andreievich, 198
Angel, 26, 214, 239
Animation, 142, 237
Anita, 123, 299
Anker, 86
Ann, 84, 235, 242, 244
Anne-Marie, 244
Announce, 265, 273, 298
Anstey, 148, 163
Anthology, 219, 220
Anti-corruption, 284, 297
Antiquary, 140
Antoine, 281
Apes, 188, 189
Apparatus, 127, 291, 300
Appleton, 148, 212
Arabian, 94, 95

Arabs, 37, 144
Aran, 126, 127
Archaeological, 139, 154, 228
Archangel, 63, 210
Archduke, 14, 71, 155, 179
Archeological, 228, 230, 232, 233
Archeology, 228, 230, 232, 233
Archives, 45, 216, 227, 228
Arielle, 231, 232
Aristophanes, 5
Arizona, 120, 126
Arkansas, 68, 71
Arlene, 243
Armchair, 166, 221
Armstrong, 293
Arnaud, 216
Arrives, 66, 288
Arsene, 161
Artillery, 182, 204, 277
Artists, 248, 299
Artless, 32
Arts, 221, 222, 235
ASEAN, 298
Assessment, 240, 274
Assistant, 32, 138, 188, 221
Assume, 172, 255
Asylum, 124, 126
Atkin, 295, 300
Atlanta, 184, 242, 258
Atta, 176, 251
Auburn, 69, 82
Auction, 193, 239
Audio, 247, 254, 273
Auldearn, 14, 78
Auraria, 71
Austrian, 13, 20, 37
Authoring, 300
Autumn, 22, 50, 105
Auxies, 205, 206
Auxiliaries, 10, 205, 206
Auxiliary, 205, 206, 241
Availability, 241
Avila, 11, 12
Avonlea, 190
Awaits, 56, 86, 167, 270
Azalea, 232, 289
Aztlan, 100, 101
Azuela, 147

B

Babbitt, 203
Babo, 292
Bacteria, 258
Badge, 51, 115
Bald, 6
Balikpapan, 217
Banas, 239, 243
Bancroft, 53
Bangs, 142, 225
Bannerman, 166
Baradon, 244
Barbara, 95, 227, 241, 248, 252
Barbillon, 237
Barcelona, 81, 265
Barnes, 177, 221, 266
Barnet, 10, 231
Barns, 276
Barnum, 90
Baronet, 12, 126
Barrett, 201
Barrier, 75, 193
Barry, 55, 252
Bartholomew, 130, 186
Bartlett, 134, 231
Barzaj, 237, 238
Baseball, 125, 293
Basin, 54, 108, 121
Bassington, 193
Batchelor, 259, 270, 273
Battleship, 152, 153
Baumeister, 238
Bavaria, 6
Bayron, 261, 298
Beachcomber, 119
Beacon, 63
Beagle, 53
Beardsley, 283, 293
Beasley, 66
Beasts, 54, 72, 208, 212
Beatrice, 236
Beauchamps, 47
Beaumont, 55, 218, 219
Becke, 93
Bede, 59
Bedford, 21, 239
Beekman, 235, 237, 238
Beetle, 256
Behavior, 158, 168, 249
Beim, 220
Belcas, 224
Belgian, 222, 251
Belgium, 251, 256
Belinda, 32
Bellamy, 119
Belle, 76
Belloc, 186
Belmont, 235, 237, 242
Benazir, 254
Benedict, 285, 289
Benet, 203
Benito, 292
Bennington, 159, 170
Bentzon, 96
Beret, 94
Berkeley, 243, 266
Bernardo, 270, 299
Bernette, 260
Bernie, 256
Bernoth, 243
Bertram, 136
Bertrand, 206
Bessie, 98
Betham-Edwards, 122
Bettina, 238
Beulah, 92
Beware, 54
Bezuidenhout, 259
BFC, 218
Bible, 52, 160
Biddle, 15
Biggers, 178

Bills, 54, 64, 266
Biog, 42
Biographical, 28, 38
Biographies, 36
Biography, 38
Bion, 123
Birmingham, 212, 260
Biro, 230
Birthday, 18, 144
Biuso, 259, 270, 273
Bjornsson, 242
Blacam, 214
Blackwood, 183
Blades, 154, 245
Blagdon, 27
Blanche, 81, 99, 194
Blasphemy, 110, 130
Bleak, 164, 260
Blegvad, 243, 246
Blindfolded, 113
Bluegills, 242
Blues, 222
BNP, 259, 285
Bob, 151, 202, 255, 277
Bobb, 249, 251, 260, 279, 280
Bobbs-Merrill, 192, 230
Boccaccio, 9
Boers, 81, 194
Bogforlag, 229
Bohemians, 13
Bohn, 62, 63
Bolsheviks, 204
Bombay, 65, 225, 235, 296
Bonn, 284, 285
Bonsall, 227
Bonus, 150, 234
Bookmen, 119
Boosey, 131, 198, 210
Borgen, 232, 233
Borneo, 149, 192
Borough, 22, 36
Boss, 155, 156, 230, 240, 291
Bost, 246, 277
Bough, 144, 149
Boulevards, 25, 121
Bourget, 115
Bowl, 176, 197
Bowman, 232
Bowring, 25, 26
Bracegirdle, 17
Braham, 111
Bramah, 168, 169
Brandeis, 211
Brass, 176, 207
Brazilian, 160, 251
Breck, 242
Breckenridge, 98
Brent, 246, 277
Brett, 226
Bricks, 88
Brier, 103
Brighouse, 206
Brighton, 223, 236
Bristol, 151, 217
Brittany, 6
Broadway, 68, 177, 195
Brooks, 80
Broom, 67, 137
Brotherhood, 128, 150
Browndeer, 245
Browning, 33, 34, 216
Browse, 218, 219
Bruno, 103, 237
Buck, 23, 183, 203, 268
Budget, 58, 227
Builder, 142, 217
Buisy, 17
Bulba, 44
Bulgarian, 8, 237, 238
Bunbury, 28
Bungalow, 107
Bungsho, 148, 163
Bunker, 176
Bunny, 183
Bunting, 169, 295
Buoncampagno, 12
Burckhardt, 31
Bureau, 214, 295
Burn, 17, 290
Burnham, 125
Burnside, 282
Burr, 41, 46
Burrage, 208
Bury, 74, 84, 164
Buta-ul, 6
Button, 181, 234
BWV, 233
Bygone, 135, 196
Byron, 32, 38, 112, 264
Bysshe, 71
Byways, 154, 196
Byzantines, 7

C

Cabanatuan, 155
Cabell, 201
Cabot, 119
CACTUS, 241
Cadet, 126
Caesar, 214, 289
Cahan, 168
Caine, 132
Cairo, 136, 263
Calf, 99
Camberwell, 229, 230, 236
Cambodian, 260, 277
Cambrensis, 189
Camden, 39, 42
Camilla, 147, 190, 191
Cammell, 41
Camors, 75
Campen, 228
Campus, 146, 218
Canadien, 244, 292
Canal, 111, 117
Canby, 201
Cannan, 80
Canon, 77, 237
Canterbury, 6, 8, 173
Canyon, 99, 147, 172
Canyons, 97, 168
Capitol, 211, 277
Capt, 74
Caravan, 66, 97, 140, 141
Carbohydrate, 240, 275

Carbon, 240, 255, 289, 300
Cardinal, 12, 18, 135
Cargoes, 80, 127
Carleton, 79, 80
Carlist, 46
Carlo, 144, 240
Carloman, 6
Carlyle, 49
Carmack, 286
Carmen, 5
Carolyn, 216
Carpet, 103, 197
Cary, 8, 9
Cash, 93, 251, 275
Cask, 90, 287
Casson, 184
Castaneda, 248
Catalogue, 83, 139, 239
Cathcart, 43
Catherwood, 97
Catholic, 8, 155
Cavalier, 29
CDs, 287
Ceasefire, 288
Celebrates, 272, 295
Celebration, 251, 295
Celestial, 44, 98
Cemetery, 106, 201
Centennius, 230
Centers, 258, 274, 298
Cerebral, 243, 272
Cereno, 292
Cesar, 46, 299
Challenge, 215, 222, 247, 269
Challenges, 254, 270
Challiss, 250, 252, 289
Champlain, 212
Chancellor, 93, 264
Chancellorsville, 76, 282
Channing, 113
Chantal, 247
Chapais, 163
Chapdelaine, 146, 147
Chappell, 223, 224
Charing, 149, 188
Charity, 39, 195
Charmed, 30, 128
Charolais, 161
Charter, 56, 279
Chartres, 70
Chas, 166
Chavasse, 54
Chaves, 191
Cheer, 44, 61, 189
Cheese, 170, 192, 217, 293
Cherisey, 233
Chesapeake, 24, 133, 277
Chesnutt, 141
Chickamauga, 65, 168
Chickens, 129, 212
Childers, 198
Childs, 290
Chile, 292
Chinatown, 208, 224
Chip, 168
Chlorophyll, 242, 243
Choir, 159, 247
Chopin, 61, 127
Choreographer, 299
Chowdhury, 285, 286
Christ, 80, 124, 255
Christians, 95, 251, 255, 290
Christobel, 243, 265
Christophe, 80, 245
Chrysler, 228, 247
Chums, 126
Chuzzlewit, 83, 84
Ciereszko, 247
Cinq, 38
Circus, 198, 227
Clair, 236
Claire, 86, 237
Clare, 114, 263
Claretie, 75
Clarissa, 19
Clarke, 168, 238, 243, 294
Classes, 46, 74, 169, 190
Classic, 242, 275
Claude, 237, 255
Claus, 120
Clausewitz, 30
Clement, 23, 222
Clever, 52, 163, 166
Clinton, 24, 237
Clockmaker, 41
Cloister, 48, 59
Clotelle, 60
Cloud, 38, 46, 64, 160, 213
Clousten, 176
Clover, 164, 199
Clovis, 138
Clyde, 224
Coates, 212
Coax, 85, 268
Cockburn, 243, 244, 277
Code, 125, 258
Codman, 50
Cohen, 226, 227
Coke, 89
Coll, 237, 241
Collapse, 228, 273, 284
Collier, 238, 274
Collonell, 13, 15
Colonell, 13
Color, 185, 209, 243, 292
Colored, 60, 83
Columbiad, 24
Column, 95, 178
Comedies, 18
Comet, 80, 172
Commerce, 50, 79, 191, 237
Commissions, 284, 289
Communicate, 55, 60, 249
Communicated, 15, 16, 35
Communications, 13, 224, 230
Comprising, 28, 258
Concert, 103, 291, 296
Concord, 50, 276
Condon, 200
Confluence, 71, 231
Congregation, 152, 224
Congressional, 206, 276
Congressmen, 160, 289
Congreve, 17

Coniston, 141, 183
Conklin, 135
Conkling, 214
Conn, 244
Conquerors, 40
Conservation, 216
Considering, 40, 77, 128
Constantinople, 18, 149
Contact, 210, 268
Continental, 23, 47, 100
Continuing, 224, 234
Controversy, 201, 228, 263
Coolidge, 129
Coombs, 221
Cope, 76, 136
Copy-Cat, 131
Cord, 68
Cork, 205
Cornelius, 166
Cornell, 98, 272
Cornish, 111
Cornwallis, 24
Corp, 216, 256
Corporation, 219, 238
Corrupted, 177, 294
Cory, 183
Cosmopolis, 115
Cossacks, 85, 86
Costa, 291, 297
Cotes, 134
Cotton, 36, 226
Councell, 13
Countess, 85
Counties, 17, 205
Country--And, 162
Cow-Country, 168
Coyle, 247
Crackdown, 228, 284
Craddock, 183
Cradle, 100, 145, 196
Craft, 106, 287, 294
Crafts, 36
Creasey, 220, 226
Creative, 225, 238
Creek, 29, 38, 65, 71
Creese, 68
Criticism, 201, 255, 271
Critics, 263, 273, 287
Crocker, 227
Crockett, 51
Cromwell, 14, 63, 139
Crowhurst, 225
Crows, 88, 142, 150, 290
Crucial, 154, 280, 285
Cruiser, 60, 217
Crusade, 7, 8
Crusader, 7
Cuba, 144, 152, 170, 208
Cuban, 144, 152, 167, 236
Culver, 123
Cumberland, 67, 130
Curate, 52, 77
Curdie, 77
Cure, 149, 201
Curly, 199
Curriculum, 239, 240
Curry, 233, 243
Cursing, 123, 131, 155, 265
Customs, 121, 138, 152
Cuthbert, 79, 212
Cygnes, 218, 219
Cynthia, 141, 283, 294
Cypriots, 260, 271
Cytherea, 200

D

Daddy-Long-Legs, 190
Dakar, 295
Dakyns, 5
Daleks, 234
Dallas, 227, 257
Damascus, 7, 9
Damnation, 101
Danelutti, 260
Dansk, 229
Daphne, 208
Darien, 219
Darsey, 15
Dasent, 44
Dating, 258, 267, 277
Davenport, 118, 152
Davisson, 157
Dawson, 213, 286
Dazed, 122, 166
Deane, 214, 220
Dearborn, 34
Debate, 247, 273, 289
Deborah, 260, 273
Decca, 216, 217
Decline, 21, 299
Decommissioned, 144, 219, 224
Dedication, 6, 146
Deer, 48, 61, 204
Defends, 263, 271
Definitions, 192, 201
Defoe, 17
Degrees, 22, 156, 222, 258
Dejah, 298
Delahaye, 236, 237
Deland, 62
Delaney, 109
Delbanco, 219
Delia, 273, 298
Della, 281
Deluge, 123, 198
Demand, 45, 256, 278, 300
Demos, 96, 97
Denmark, 214, 226
Dennard, 260
Dennis, 231, 233
Denver, 71
Deny, 19, 268
Deploy, 247, 261
DePoint, 267
Depot, 49, 98, 241
Derr, 178
Derrick, 107
Desiderius, 10, 16
Dessalle, 108
Destiny, 20, 80, 118, 251
Detainees, 246, 289
Detroit, 34
Deuteronomy, 153
Deux, 233, 244

Devastation, 240, 279
Devices, 9, 266
Devonshire, 13, 219
Dewey, 170
DFT, 252
Dhaka, 286
Diabetic, 274
Dialogues, 18, 19
Diaz, 60
Dido, 90, 95
Didoni, 295
Differential, 240, 287
Diggings, 63
Dik, 233, 234
Dileep, 232, 235
Dilke, 116
Dinah, 109, 294
Dionysos, 231
Dionysus, 230, 231
Diplomat, 195, 246
Disasters, 20, 32, 240, 255
Disciple, 164
Disclosures, 43
Discursions, 169
Discussed, 255, 270, 285
Discusses, 264, 296
Disengaged, 70, 105, 139
Disorders, 179, 229, 230, 232
Distributor, 210, 230, 236
Divino, 214
Dixie, 196
DMA, 243
Dobein, 29
Dodgson, 187
Doherty, 252
Dolittle, 197, 198
Dome, 188, 270
Domingo, 102
Dominick, 292
Dominion, 98, 230
Dong, 111, 113
Donna, 122, 216
Donner, 66, 81
Doone, 75, 76
Dope, 207
Dostoyevsky, 62
Doubleday, 195, 223
Downie, 122, 134
Doxology, 185, 207
Dozens, 182, 273, 278, 291
Drake, 31
Drama, 25, 236, 237, 240, 297
Drawing, 142, 177, 185, 198, 239
Drawings, 42, 218, 220, 223
Draws, 163, 279
Dreamgirls, 297
Dresden, 20, 90
Drift, 148
Drought, 246, 260, 261
Drummond, 178, 232
Dublin, 18, 54, 205
Duc, 113
Duch, 295, 296
Duchess, 23, 166, 295
Dufferin, 68
Dull, 194, 270
Dunedin, 139, 236
Dunes, 111, 177
Dunne, 84
Durham, 226, 280
Dutton, 212, 223, 237
Duykers, 259
Dwarf, 29, 42, 192
Dye, 213
Dykes, 66
Dynamiter, 165
Dyne, 84

E

Eagle, 82, 102
Earned, 272, 300
Easa, 262
Easter, 7, 121
Easton, 129
Eberle, 206
Ebers, 95
Eccles, 17
Echo, 130, 140, 271
Eckstein, 298
Economists, 221, 254, 273
ECOWAS, 281, 282
Eddie, 211, 223
Eddy, 30
Edenton, 228
Edinburgh, 28, 47, 71, 232
Editions, 210, 233, 281
Editorials, 156
Edmonton, 230, 242, 298
Educational, 97, 235, 242, 245, 251
Educators, 254, 274
Efficiency, 191
Egbert, 183
Egg, 84
Egmont, 208, 265
Egyptian, 31, 138
Eid, 270, 291
Eija, 232, 233
Ekspreso, 241
Elaine, 193, 248
Electoral, 264, 280
Electronic, 244, 254
Elements, 158, 279, 280
Elena, 235
Elephant, 161
Elinor, 65
Elke, 239
Ellet, 217
Elmasry, 266, 296
Elmo, 92, 222
Elsmere, 115
Elumbu, 287
Emancipation, 68, 186
Embankment, 128, 135, 188
Emerson, 204, 287
Emotions, 24, 80, 222, 296
Employment, 59, 171
Empress, 6, 71
Encouraging, 262
Engeln, 239
Engineer, 42, 60, 161
Engineers, 126, 174, 177, 261, 279
Englishman, 19, 68, 158, 210

Enigma, 122
Enjoy, 43, 277, 287
Enlarged, 38, 105, 165
Enquiries, 224, 226
Enriched, 165
Enriquez, 60
Enterprise, 12, 35, 169
Entertainment, 242, 243, 248
Envoy, 287, 297
Eothen, 60
Ephraim, 21
Epics, 95
Epidemic, 6, 79, 80
Epidemiology, 229, 236
EPZ, 286
Era, 133, 212, 233, 273
Eradication, 258, 282
Erasmus, 10, 16
Erev, 232
Erik, 231, 243, 246
Erle, 132
Eros, 231
Erskine, 198
Ervine, 212
Escort, 181, 216, 217, 237
Escorted, 53, 65, 219
Esmond, 256
Espanola, 130, 210, 291
Espartero, 46
Espiritu, 217
Essay, 22, 148
Essex, 13
Estate, 27, 71, 100, 270
Esther, 69, 142, 160, 228
Estrada, 249
Ethiopia, 74, 255
Eustace, 7, 110
Evan, 148, 211
Evelyn, 23, 179, 239
Eventful, 107, 129, 173
Everard, 134
Everlasting, 124, 157, 189
Everyday, 68, 299
Excellency, 108, 133
Excellent, 13, 20, 37
Exmoor, 75, 76
Exodus, 69, 274
Exploration, 235, 264, 283
Explorations, 54, 267
Export, 286, 289
Extension, 233, 256
Extremes, 300
Eyadema, 252, 282

F

Faarivox, 245
Faber, 239, 252
Fables, 5, 149
Factional, 255
Faculty, 235, 236
Fairless, 115
Faiza, 266, 296
Falcon, 234
Famed, 270, 271
Famille, 237, 244
Fane, 6, 82
Farachana, 267
Faraj, 9
Fariba, 239, 243
Fascism, 214
Fashionable, 32, 43, 174
Faubourg, 132, 169
Faure, 282
Feathertop, 290
Fedynsky, 299
Feedback, 233, 265
Felix, 190, 201
Felton, 112
Fenner, 225
Fer, 109, 130, 220
Ferdinand, 40, 179
Ferry, 39, 100, 223
Feuillet, 75
FIFA, 273
Fife, 144
Finance, 107, 266, 294
Finland, 285
Finnish, 232, 233
Fires, 39, 72, 127, 162
Fischer, 166, 225
Fisher, 68, 242, 260
Fisheries, 242
Fitchburg, 83
Fitz, 12, 48
Fitzosbern, 6
Fitzpatrick, 46, 234
Flatharta, 281
Fleming, 84, 223, 239
Fletcher, 42
Flights, 250, 264
Flinders, 155, 273
Floppy, 127, 199
Fluorescence, 242, 243
Fntes, 227
Foix, 8, 11
Follen, 189
Folly, 5, 10, 100, 127
Footprints, 182, 183
Foreseeing, 42, 112
Forgetting, 66, 177, 184, 207
Format, 265, 300
Fortunate, 147
Fortunato, 287
Foss, 228
Foundling, 19
Fountain, 166
Fountains, 42, 185
Fracasse, 51, 52
Francia, 6
Frankfort, 135
Frankish, 6
Franks, 249
Freeing, 81
Freeport, 225
Frenchman, 16, 79, 93, 170
Friars, 86, 136
Friendship, 32, 182
Fritz, 24, 176
Frog, 161, 183
Frost, 131, 168
Frozen, 118, 185
Funding, 241, 294
Furminger, 232
Furze, 50
Fyne, 195

Fyodor, 62

G

Gabin, 260, 278, 295
Gables, 179, 190
Gabriel, 13, 231
Gadsden, 24
Gaetano, 279
Gallienne, 173, 174
Gallimard, 231, 237
Galt, 32
Gaming, 56
Garang, 284
Gardestrom, 239, 240, 241, 244, 249
Garment, 157, 286
Garner, 183, 227, 262
Garrow, 228
Gary, 257, 269, 285
Gasoline, 262
Gaunt, 95, 194, 200
Gear, 252, 266, 277
Gebir, 31
Gefen, 236
Geisler, 285, 291
Gel, 249, 266
Gelett, 192
Gemini, 294
Genesis, 34, 69
Genetics, 260
Geneva, 270, 274
Genin, 236
Genius, 16, 20, 108, 129, 161
Genoese, 9, 197
Genrikh, 278
Geoff, 261
Geography, 106, 239
Geological, 226, 230, 232, 233
Geology, 53, 158
Georg, 95
Georgians, 70, 71
Gerald, 189, 195, 221
Geraldus, 189
Gerard, 182
Gerhard, 233, 264
Germans, 24, 218
Gettysburg, 127, 282
Ghostly, 27, 73, 101
Gibson, 227
Gilden, 223, 228
Gilead, 123
Giles, 97, 195, 210
Ginzberg, 193
Gladstone, 125, 204
Gladys, 221, 222
Glascow, 16, 84
Gleeson, 239
Globe, 140, 230, 258
Gloria, 200, 279, 298
Gnassingbe, 252, 282
Goad, 77, 233
Goats, 163
Goddard, 139, 196
Godmunder, 197
Golan, 292
Goldmann, 239
Goldsmith, 38
Gollust, 283, 290
Gonzalo, 152
Goodwood, 228, 230
Goody, 166
Goose, 38, 162
Gore, 52, 96
Gospel, 15, 97, 212
Gotthold, 21
Governess, 96
Governmental, 229
Governments, 274, 279, 293
Gowanlock, 109
Gracious, 87, 88, 157
Graduate, 218, 236
Grammar, 31, 97, 202, 232
Grange, 84
Granny, 204, 243
Greece, 32, 260
Greeks, 8, 176
Greene, 38, 274, 275
Greenland, 226
Greenmantle, 194, 195
Greenwich, 230, 232
Griffin, 222, 225, 241
Griffith, 234, 270, 294
Grimm, 124
Grossatesta, 279
Grub, 93, 107, 108
Gruen, 296
Guadalcanal, 224, 241
Guantanamo, 289
Guards, 21, 42, 71, 174
Gud, 229
Guess, 89, 296
Gulf, 16, 107, 194, 215
Gunboat, 167, 170
Guneva, 237, 238
Gurlitt, 166
Gustafsson, 238, 243, 244
Gustavus, 110
Guthridge, 238
Gwen, 270, 273
Gypsy, 60, 235

H

Haas, 245
Hadden, 79
Haddock, 113
Hague, 111, 230, 274
Hahn, 245
Halevy, 90
Halifax, 215
Halleck, 74, 282
Hamish, 118
Handbook, 166, 252
Hank, 226, 231
Hannah, 98, 139, 171
Hapgood, 53
Harben, 123
Hardening, 239, 240, 241
Hardships, 250, 251
Harland, 206
Harlap, 232
Harlequin, 241, 264
Harlow, 239, 244
Harmondsworth, 220, 222, 235
Harper, 220, 221, 222

HarperCollins, 241, 274
Harrigan, 202
Harsh, 73, 246
Hartwell, 97
Hartwick, 245
Harvard, 244
Harvey, 182, 222
Hatch, 58, 202, 300
Hats, 155, 181, 205, 236, 278
Hattie, 233
Hausset, 20
Havana, 208
Hawaiian, 140, 215, 296
Hawkins, 156
Hazlitt, 33
Headland, 74
Healthcare, 237, 255
Hearst, 156
Hearth, 52, 59, 190
Heart-Histories, 56
Heartstrings, 119
Heated, 182, 245
Heating, 229, 247
Hebrew, 11, 223, 236, 272
Hecker, 30
Heda, 261, 298
Hegan, 172
Heights, 34, 292
Heinlein, 265, 288
Heinsius, 15
Helene, 40, 172
Helga, 137
Hellenica, 5
Helps, 246, 284
Hemer, 214
Hemisphere, 300
Hemispheres, 89, 90
Hemon, 146, 147
Hendrickson, 287, 288, 291
Heng, 285
Henrietta, 79, 132, 223
Hentzau, 150
Herald, 74, 182, 227
Herat, 251
Hereford, 6, 19, 193
Heroine, 60
Herzegovina, 179
Hewlett, 133
Heyse, 94
Hiep, 113
Higgins, 213, 218
Highlands, 14, 16
Highsmith, 276
High-speed, 214, 272, 273, 279
Hijacking, 243, 253
Hilaire, 186
Hilda, 214, 226
Hilma, 116
Hindman, 110
Hindostan, 105
Hints, 53, 93, 192, 217, 234
Hira, 105, 106
Hirsh, 242
Historic, 9, 247
Historical, 98, 214, 217, 237, 253
Hitchcock, 173, 218
Hitler, 215, 240
Hits, 255, 285
Hki, 232, 233
Hoa, 113
Hodder, 232, 245
Hodierna, 7
Hoenshel, 123
Hoffmann, 225
Hohenzollerns, 174
Holcroft, 23
Holiness, 11, 16
Holland, 15, 223, 259
Holloway, 229
Homeless, 212, 268
Homemade, 278, 291
Homestead, 166
Honest, 89, 167, 177
Hood, 87, 110, 210
Hoon, 261
Hopalong, 203
Hopgood, 177
Horizon, 46, 55, 173, 228
Horn, 199, 225, 294
Horowitz, 11
Horrocks, 37
Horwood, 211
Hospitals, 205, 237, 258
Hound, 226, 227
Housing, 226, 287
Howell, 41
Hue, 44, 49, 113
Hull, 34, 81
Humane, 22, 98
Humanitarian, 246, 262, 274, 288
Humbled, 295
Hun, 260, 278
Huneker, 127
Huntington, 42
Huntingtower, 194
Huntly, 25
Hurry-graphs, 62, 63, 82
Hurry-Houghton, 211
Hurry-scurry, 239, 280
Hurst, 31, 32
Hutt, 224, 238
Huxley, 212
HyperCard, 235, 237, 238
Hyperion, 54, 242

I

Iajuddin, 285
Ibn, 9
Ibrahim, 291, 297
Iconoclast, 100
Ida, 72, 135
Idaho, 231, 278
Idle, 69, 136, 144
Ignored, 189, 293
Ike, 178, 272
Illinois, 16, 65, 250, 258
Illustrasies, 224, 235
Illustrative, 27
Ilya, 155
Images, 28, 254
Imaginary, 25, 80
Imhotep, 211, 212

Immigration, 248, 266
Imminent, 27, 111, 296
Imogen, 166
Imprisoned, 12, 218, 288
Improved, 10, 183, 233
Improving, 257, 264, 291
Inchbald, 25
Index, 248
Indiana, 67, 239
Indianapolis, 192, 230
Indies, 17, 130, 217
Indiscretions, 185
Individual-based, 242
Indonesian, 279
Industries, 218, 221, 286
Inferior, 22, 45
Inge, 177, 252
Ingeborg, 226
Ingram, 110, 231, 236
Initiative, 239, 282
Injunction, 298
Inspector-General, 45
Instances, 42, 154
Institution, 174, 177
Institutions, 50, 97, 219
Instruments, 30, 297
Integration, 274, 298
Intendant, 154, 163
Intercourse, 45, 279
Internet, 254, 287
Interpreted, 90, 110
Interstate, 272, 273
Intrigue, 31, 207
Intrusion, 34, 185
Investigators, 258, 280
Iohn, 13, 15
Ionescu, 235
IRA, 205, 206
Iranians, 271
Irishman, 191, 202
Irma, 227, 245, 255
Ismail, 246
Isthmus, 61, 175
Italiaans, 270, 273
Itinerary, 107, 189
Ituzi, 264, 269
Ivanov, 249, 266, 288, 291

J

Jabberjee, 148, 163
Jacobs, 80, 163
Jacques, 264, 265, 271
Jacqui, 226
Jakubaschk, 227
James-Roberts, 242
Jamie, 244
Janeiro, 227
Janet, 44, 199
Jannick, 232, 233
Janssen, 264
Jasmin, 71
Jay, 223, 241
Jayne, 287
Jazz, 201, 294
Jean-Christophe, 80
Jeanine, 245
Jean-Jacques, 20
Jean-louis, 260, 278, 295
Jeanne, 108, 172
Jeff, 104, 295
Jenkins, 96, 118, 187
Jenny, 23, 56
Jeno, 225
Jerilyn, 279, 283
Jerry, 146, 245, 256
Jersey, 42, 67, 254
Jessopp, 86
Jesuit, 158
Jet, 223, 253, 272
Jethro, 141
Jigawa, 290, 291
Jill, 230, 240
Jimmyjohn, 155, 156
Joan, 242, 243
Joblin, 28
Joceline, 255
Johannesburg, 227, 237
Johnston, 127
Johnstone, 59
Joliet, 16
Joplin, 200
Jordan, 153, 277
Josel, 11
Joshua, 153, 241
Journalists, 228, 269
Jovanovich, 227, 234
Joyeux, 231
Juan, 62
Judas, 83, 143
Judge, 59, 108, 249
Judges, 50, 153
Judy, 196, 244, 278
Juliet, 135, 214, 299, 300
Julius, 16, 214
Juneau, 217
Jungles, 105
Jurgen, 201

K

Kabul, 246, 251
Kai, 168, 169
Kamban, 197
Kampot, 288
Karl, 43, 239
Kastalija, 237, 238
Katrina, 245, 280
Katsuhiko, 244
Katy, 129
Kavanagh, 230, 232, 233
Kazuko, 237
Keble, 43
Keene, 87
Keim, 193
Kemakeza, 266
Ken, 245, 273, 277, 279
Kenelm, 49
Kensington, 135, 151, 173
Kenyan, 255, 280
Keo, 273, 294
Kerry, 127, 241
Kerst, 22
Khaleda, 285
Khmer, 296, 297
Kien, 113
Kiireisen, 232, 233

Kills, 261, 273, 280, 292
Kilmer, 162
Kilner, 24
Kim, 232, 237
Ki-moon, 295
Kingsford, 150
Kirby, 209
Kleczkowski, 247, 287
Klondike, 286
Klondyke, 173
Knocks, 157
Knowles, 297
Koala, 230, 243
Kondo, 244
Koreans, 281, 297
Kotcheff, 221
Koul, 260
Koxinga, 14
Krol, 288, 291
Kurds, 105, 106

L

Laboratory, 168, 228, 272
Lakes, 53, 294
Lallie, 239
Lambert, 221, 222
Lancaster, 126, 194, 279
Lancastrian, 9, 10
Lances, 110
Landloper, 156, 157
Landlord, 82, 101, 104
Larimer, 71
Lark, 185, 186
Lashed, 90, 124
Latham, 221
Latin, 224, 234
Latzko, 180, 181
Laurence, 15, 231
Laurie, 237, 268
Lawmakers, 251, 254, 278
Leaning, 116, 160, 189, 202
Leap, 46, 277
Leavenworth, 125, 176, 241
Lectores, 265
Lectures, 31, 40
LeFebure, 195
Leiden, 15
Leonardo, 10
Lermontov, 40
Leroux, 148
Lessing, 21
Lester, 198
Levin, 85, 237
Levinsky, 168
Leviticus, 69
Levy, 220, 250, 273
Lew, 80
Libby, 239
Liberal, 87, 129
Liberian, 289
Librarianship, 226
Libraries, 225, 229
Lidia, 235
Lieut, 13, 14
Lieutenant, 14, 123, 144, 188
Life-Pictures, 56
Lifetime, 240, 247
Lightfoot, 204
Lighthouses, 276
Liguori, 124
Lille, 224, 244
Lillian, 155, 218, 219
Lily, 154, 183
Lincolnwood, 236, 238
Linda, 200, 257
Linderman, 164
Lindlahr, 201
Link, 239
Links, 242, 249
Lions, 36, 104
Lisabetta, 292
Liska, 124
Liverpool, 12, 74, 211, 226
Lockridge, 220
Lodge, 29, 119, 200
Loe, 99
Lola, 190
Lombard, 58
Lone, 137, 245
Long-term, 239, 287, 293
Longueval, 13, 90
Loot, 223
Lords, 13, 23, 62
Lorensen, 195
Loretta, 241, 257
Lorraine, 167, 220
Louisbourg, 119
Louisisana, 22
Louisville, 67, 219
Lovelock, 221
Ltd, 204, 236
Lucas, 13, 109
Lucile, 74
Lucinda, 190, 299
Ludovic, 90, 180, 190
Luis, 252, 286
Lukoff, 232
Lumet, 193
Lumholtz, 192
Lunar, 295
Lundmark, 289, 295, 300
Lupin, 161
Lutheran, 13, 20
Luxembourg, 240, 256
Lydia, 112, 231
Lyn, 236
Lynde, 192
Lynwood, 110
Lyon, 203
Lysistrata, 5

M

MacClure, 191
MacCracken, 239
Macgregor, 152, 153
Machen, 168
Machiavelli, 10
Mackean, 224, 226
Mackenzies, 78
Macmillan, 237, 280
Madcap, 72
Madge, 177, 189
Madison, 226, 244, 259, 277
Madness, 9, 31, 273
Madrid, 12, 35, 46, 232, 258

Maenads, 123, 213
Maggie, 115, 159, 162
Magic, 84, 88, 235
Maine, 47, 152, 153
Maintenance, 241
Ma-ka-tai-me-she-kia-kiak, 29
Malaysia, 285, 292
Malbone, 83
Malcolm, 109, 218
Mamma, 48, 88, 199, 215
Manchester, 97, 215, 223
Manhattan, 200, 252, 253
Manhood, 73, 82, 159
Mania, 30
Manned, 188, 246, 264, 294
Mansions, 89, 197
Manstin, 177
Mapenzauswa, 259
Marc, 265
Marcel, 90, 147
Mardon, 218
Marguerite, 226, 228
Marian, 107, 201
Mariano, 147
Marillac, 41
Marine, 238, 241, 250
Marjorie, 192, 227, 229
Marketing, 224, 300
Market-Place, 26, 101
Marne, 202
Marquess, 68, 154
Marsh, 220, 223
Marston, 13, 14
Martial, 63, 90
Martian, 272, 298
Martians, 140, 298
Martindale, 214
Martino, 273, 276
Martyrs, 210
Mask, 134, 141, 172
Massachusetts, 226, 275, 276
Masson, 77
Masterman, 36, 37
Masters, 46, 194
Mates, 140, 202
Matilda, 122
Matiur, 285, 286
Matroska, 265
Matthews, 199
Mattingley, 243, 265
Maude, 44, 85
Maumee, 35
Maureen, 230, 232, 233
Maurine, 184
Mavis, 117, 174, 233
Maxwell, 201, 245, 291
Mazarin, 14, 15
McCully, 245
McDonald, 233
McDonough, 250, 252, 289
McDouall, 54
MCF, 265
McGlashon, 229
McGurk, 240
McKay, 214
McManns, 233
McNamee, 5
Mdlle, 201, 204
Meadows, 23, 101
Measuring, 126, 241, 267
Mechenmal, 158
Medavoy, 248
Medawar, 223, 228
Mediator, 48, 251, 252
Mediterranean, 30, 300
Medley, 201, 226
Meets, 240, 285, 299
Meigs, 34, 35
Meikle, 245
Mekdad, 281
Melodrama, 137
Melody, 146
Memorial, 199, 233
Memories, 64, 146, 148, 183
Merchants, 16, 26, 191, 279
Mercury, 91, 225
Merode, 251
Messengers, 5, 116, 123, 144
Messrs, 106, 176, 188
Metabolism, 240, 255
METROPOLITAN, 224
Mich, 236, 237, 239
Michel, 17
Michele, 33, 232
Michigan, 88, 242
Mickey, 136, 215
Middlemarch, 59
Mienhold, 39
Mifflin, 218, 223, 234, 276
Milan, 15, 58, 215
Milford, 211, 213
Militant, 186, 262
Millan, 299
Millionaire, 95, 172, 189
Milwaukee, 296
Mingo, 166
Mir, 254
Miscellaneous, 40, 41, 48, 219
Miserables, 53
Misfortune, 20, 125, 231
Missionary, 59
Mississippi, 16
Missouri, 68, 228, 272
Mistletoe, 120
Mizz, 257
Mlle, 162, 172
Mme, 96, 172
Mobile, 205, 276
Moderate, 246, 285
Mohammad, 225, 251
Mohammed, 249, 256
Moki, 237
Molecular, 243, 287
Molko, 11
Mombasa, 258
Monica, 227
Monitors, 204, 256
Monitress, 174
Monsieur, 63, 75
Monster, 24, 188, 198
Montague, 140
Montana, 289, 290
Montenegro, 179, 224

Montfort, 8
Mont-Saint-Michel, 70
Monvall, 229
Moor, 13, 14, 64, 84
Moral, 30, 31
Morga, 12
Morrow, 44, 193, 225
Mort, 82, 83
Morton-Shaw, 280
Mosaic, 257, 261
Moschus, 123
Moses, 18, 86
Motor, 126, 209, 233, 256
Motors, 116, 200, 227
Motown, 222, 223, 224
Mount, 23, 42, 75, 82
Mouse, 24, 153, 198, 204
Moussa, 263
Multimedia, 238, 265
Munk, 120
Muriel, 215, 241, 264
Murphy, 144
Museveni, 293
Musical, 255, 256, 266, 299
Musician, 61, 245
Muskett, 177
Muslims, 262, 290
Mustering, 41, 176
Mutants, 242, 247
Muttering, 89, 204
Mutual, 32, 51, 63
Mux, 78
Muze, 264

N

Nacogdoches, 171
Nadka, 237, 238
Nan, 73, 182
Nance, 171, 173
Naples, 38, 63
Narborough, 17, 166
NASA, 279
Nashville, 234, 278
Nasmyth, 60
Nassiryah, 262
Nathan, 21, 199, 270
Nationalist, 179, 274
NBC, 271
Ned, 67, 221
Nel, 264
Netherlands, 81, 256
Neuman, 270, 273
Neurochirurgie, 227
Neurologie, 227
Neutrality, 215, 235
Newes, 13
Newgate, 15, 23, 110
Newport, 144, 237
NGOs, 294
Nicaea, 7
Nicholls, 244
Nick, 57, 188
Nicola, 265
Nicoletti, 273, 276
Nicolo, 10
Niecks, 61
Nigel, 238
Nigerian, 291, 297
Nigerians, 256, 297
Nightingale, 171
Nikolic, 274
Nina, 198, 229
Nintendo, 243
Nissan, 234
Nixon, 270, 272, 273
Noah, 80
Nominoe, 6
Nonbiriya, 237
Nook, 216
Nora, 113, 199
Norfolk, 157, 188, 224
Normalcy, 255
Normandy, 6, 129, 142
Norodom, 277, 278, 284
Norse, 44, 89
Northeast, 253, 275
Norton, 158
Norwich, 25, 86
Notebooks, 10, 45
Novelist, 107
Novelists, 100, 203
Ntsobi, 298
Nunes, 291
Nur, 7

O

Oak, 27, 51
Oaks, 92, 190, 241
Obligations, 251, 256
Obote, 293
Observer, 47, 204
Obstetrics, 230, 232
Octave, 75
Odense, 229
Odes, 5
ODM-Kenya, 288
Ofelia, 227
Offices, 12, 100, 144, 240, 289
Ojakangas, 236
Oland, 85
Oldport, 83
Olivier, 88, 277
Olmert, 288, 292, 298
Olson, 231, 232
Olympic, 251
Omar, 56, 284
Oncology, 266
One-fourth, 275, 279
Opens, 35, 83, 172, 251
Operations, 206, 216, 238, 286
Operative, 159, 181
Operators, 276
Opie, 235
Oprea, 235
Optic, 62
Orange, 189, 275, 288
Oreste, 222
Organisation, 107, 281
Oriental, 195
Orion, 237, 248
Orme, 31, 32
Orsini, 71
Orton, 223
Osborn, 36, 37

Ostlund, 229
Oswald, 225
Outlaw, 36, 85
Outpost, 75
Outsiders, 247, 271
Overbeck, 133
Oversight, 92, 229
Overwhelming, 13, 20, 89, 254
Owens, 97, 281
Owing, 15, 23, 53
Oxfordshire, 229
Oyster, 48, 198

P

Packet, 41, 129
Paddy, 117, 218
Padva, 278
Pakistani, 254, 297
PALA, 266
Palazzo, 11, 70
Palestinians, 255, 291
Palmer, 27, 84, 157
Pamela, 228
Paradise, 258, 259
Paramount, 197, 217
Pardon, 59, 142, 144, 147
Parlette, 157
Parody, 125, 215
Parson, 110, 131, 184
Partridge, 76, 163
Paschkes-Bell, 241
Pashtuns, 246, 269
Patchin, 135
Pater, 80, 81
Patrick, 228
Patriotic, 48, 90, 252
Patsy, 238, 243
Pauline, 196, 201, 204
Paulson, 286
Paulucci, 225
Pauper, 93
PDM, 241
Peabody, 151, 152
Peak, 96, 124
Pedro, 53, 97, 219
Peep, 140, 141
Peking, 74, 197
Penguin, 220, 222, 226, 235
Penh, 273, 285
Peninsula, 102, 133, 158
Pennsylvania, 45, 232
Pepper, 88, 113, 189
Peregrine, 20, 21
Perspiring, 71, 74
Perth, 232
Peru, 40, 256
Pessin, 261, 262, 289
Pete, 115, 183, 184
Phaeton, 103
Phantasmagoria, 187
Phantom, 54, 148, 187
Pharsalia, 5, 6
Phelps, 203
Philae, 83
Philippine, 12, 242, 298
Philippines, 242, 249, 293, 298
Phillip, 295
Phillis, 47, 64
Phillpotts, 186
Philoktetes, 5
Phineas, 90
Phnom, 273, 285
Phosphate, 239, 247
Photographer, 275, 276, 296
Photoinhibition, 236, 242, 266
Phyllis, 135, 225
Phytologist, 295, 300
Pickle, 20, 21
Pidgin, 112
Piedmontese, 58
Pietermaritzburg, 234, 235, 239
Pig, 199, 295
Pilniak, 198
Pink, 160, 198, 297
Pioneer, 28, 48, 111, 184
Pirates, 110
Plaatje, 104
Placing, 45, 158, 200, 300
Planta, 247, 249, 289, 294
Plato, 5
Platte, 70, 71
Pleasureland, 201, 204
Plessis-Praslin, 14, 15
Plotkin, 258
Plovdiv, 237, 238
Pod, 256
Poetical, 18, 56
Poets, 32, 105, 163
Poisson, 241
Poland, 215
Polestar, 138, 139
Polish, 46, 259
Polite, 38, 265
Politicians, 141, 179, 263, 276
Politics, 55, 96, 297
Pomegranates, 101, 102
Ponds, 242
Poppy, 154, 191
Portland, 156, 233
Portraits, 80, 104, 211
Portugal, 9, 31, 130
Portuguese, 227, 271
Postponed, 155, 278
Posts, 56, 149, 165
Potomac, 282
Potts, 68, 97
Poultry, 22, 138
Pounds, 31, 63, 90, 230, 288
Pov, 285
Pow-wow, 195
Pratz, 22
Prayer, 83, 121, 247
Precipitation, 28, 206
Preface, 16, 164
Prejudice, 26, 27, 32
Preliminary, 66, 98, 279
Prepares, 123, 259, 266, 273
Pre-Revolutionist, 90
Presidency, 45, 282
Pretender, 244
Pretoria, 273

Pretzlik, 291
Prevention, 149, 258, 282
Prevost, 19
Princes, 14, 72, 132
Principality, 6, 7
Printers, 139, 154
Procedure, 285, 289
Procter, 220, 227
Profio, 233
Profitable, 84
Pro-FUNCINPEC, 273
Programmed, 241
Programs, 248, 270, 295
Prominent, 28, 268
Promises, 148, 296, 298
Promoting, 156, 246, 270
Prophet, 256, 291
Proposal, 229, 270, 276
Prosecutors, 278
Prospector, 152, 153
Prospects, 86, 102, 260
Protestant, 13
Protestants, 13
Protesters, 297
Proudhon, 48
Proust, 147
Proverbs, 69, 163
Provides, 253, 258, 300
Provincial, 12, 230, 251
Pro-western, 274, 275
Prussia, 36, 37, 83
Psychiatric, 227, 236
Psychiatrie, 227
Psychiatry, 230, 236
Psychoanalysis, 244
Psychological, 214, 229, 230, 231
Puffin, 238, 243
Punishment, 62, 118, 293
Purviance, 74
Pushes, 54, 288
Puth, 288
Putin, 299
Puzzle, 40, 224
Pye, 54, 226

Q

Qing, 14
Qld, 252, 270
Quebec, 16, 212
Queens, 15, 201
Quesada, 152
Queux, 144
Quincy, 112
Quiver, 29, 213

R

RAAF, 217
Rachel, 39, 159
Radical, 46, 274
Rafferty, 226, 227
Raffles, 59, 135
Rahman, 285, 286
Rainbow, 130, 135, 231, 292
Ralphson, 182
Ramirez, 252, 286
Rangers, 41
Rankin, 153, 242
Ransome, 210
Ravine, 37, 177, 183
Reagan, 273
Reaganomics, 273
Realizing, 71, 169
Rebuild, 263, 268, 285
Reconciliation, 255
Reconquest, 205
Reconstruction, 262, 264, 279, 284
Redemption, 32, 120
Redfern, 218
Redford, 36
Redgrove, 196
Redmond, 267, 274
Reef, 30, 93
Reflections, 26, 224, 245, 287
Refrain, 77, 85, 211
Reginald, 110, 232
Register, 156, 227, 228
Reich, 214
Reichstag, 8, 11
Reign, 40, 85, 119, 120
Reject, 252, 263
Relatives, 10, 182, 191, 268
Remembering, 129, 144
Remembrance, 20, 87, 147, 234
Reminiscences, 41, 145, 155
Repeal, 54, 57
Republic, 197, 284
Republicans, 247, 285
Researches, 59
Reserve, 179, 219, 224, 277
Reservists, 267
Resident, 46, 113
Resolutions, 46, 261, 286
Respiratory, 241, 261
Restoration, 15, 24, 228, 242
Restrict, 269
Resume, 260, 270, 280, 286
Resurrection, 143
Rethel, 15
Retirement, 147, 231, 238
Retires, 203
Returns, 19, 234, 284
Reveal, 153, 268
Reversible, 274, 294
Reviews, 223, 243
Revolutionary, 24, 107
Revolving, 54, 63
Rhine, 47, 195
Rhodes, 140
Rhythm, 222
RIC, 205
Richilda, 6
Richter, 267, 285
Riddle, 195, 198
Ridpath, 90
Rienzi, 48
Rift, 120, 268
Rigdon, 45
Rigel, 216
Riis, 109
Riley, 111, 229
Rima, 197
Rime, 124, 125

Ringwood, 238, 243
Rio, 161, 227
Robbins, 299
Robe, 68, 132
Robertson, 77, 245, 273, 298
Rochester, 69, 261, 278, 295
Rockets, 288, 297
Rodenbough, 28
Roderick, 20
Rodman, 31
Rogovin, 230
Roland, 28, 219
Roldan, 161, 162
Rolling, 89, 118, 158, 253
Romanian, 235
Romano, 255
Romany, 52
Romeo, 129, 214, 299, 300
Ron, 252, 267, 270, 274
Ronald, 204, 273
Rosalie, 44, 87, 140, 141
Rosanne, 258
Rosary, 130, 186
Rosemary, 208, 235
Rosich, 265
Ross, 221, 277
Rosy, 186, 199
Rouge, 296, 297
Roughing, 54, 55
Roussillon, 94
Routledge, 291
Rover, 84, 145, 272
Rowe, 221
Rowson, 26
Roxie, 227
Roy, 155, 221
Rudd, 201
Rue, 26, 71, 141, 205
Ruff, 172
Runaway, 63, 171
Runaways, 161, 162
Ruskin, 72
Rutland, 49, 222
Rutter, 232
Ryan, 48, 268
Ryerson, 206
Ryu, 246

S

Sablat, 13
Sabra, 244
Sacred, 10, 75, 93, 153, 260
Saeculare, 5
Safron, 249
Sahib, 134
Sailing, 48, 167, 175
Salammbo, 61
Salem, 27, 133, 295
Salford, 273
Salk, 283
Sally, 200, 212, 236, 238
Salt, 88, 230
Samuels, 247
Sanderson, 198
Sandler, 244
Sandy, 99, 157, 160
Sane, 266
Saniel, 64
Saniora, 288
Sanschagrin, 255
Santo, 102, 217
Saracens, 6
SARS, 261
Satan, 16, 178
Savitch, 249
Sawyer, 93, 112
Scaramouche, 191
Schearf, 278, 295, 297
Schertzinger, 217
Scherzo, 127, 233
Schilsky, 266
Schoenrich, 102
Scholastic, 235, 239
Schooldays, 73
Schuster, 230, 247
Schwartz, 245
Schwarzenegger, 285
Sciences, 238, 280
Scientific, 100, 242, 297
Scientists, 272, 282
Scotch, 160, 161
Scoundrels, 20, 139, 181
Scramble, 131, 275
Screening, 274, 275
Sea-Gull, 110
Sebastian, 215, 216, 233
Secker, 220, 221, 222, 228
Seed, 154
Seeger, 121
Seeks, 251, 268, 278, 289, 298
Seidel, 201
Selecting, 135, 170, 288
Selection, 201, 215, 233
Seljuks, 7
Selstam, 287, 288
Semblance, 255
Senator, 124, 187, 211
Sendak, 220, 224
Senegal, 292
Sensitivity, 242, 287
Sentenced, 62, 259
Serbia, 179, 274
Serbian, 179, 274
Serbs, 274
Sergeant, 13, 201, 267
Serving, 55, 206, 208
Settings, 218, 219
Settled, 7, 84, 97, 166, 283
Settling, 158, 165
Sevran, 287
Shabbat, 232
Shabby, 189, 202
Shack, 114, 213
Shanghai, 211, 296
Shann, 220, 226
Shean, 171
Sheckley, 242
Shedlock, 140
Shep, 257, 299
Shift, 150, 239
Shiite, 262, 279
Shiloh, 127
Shipments, 248, 288, 289
Shirt, 97, 115, 173, 190
Shmuel, 233

Shocked, 114, 295
Shooter, 234, 235
Shortage, 35, 262, 270
Shortfalls, 241, 281
Short-term, 230, 239
Shout, 76, 78, 181
Shu-Hua, 245
Siamese, 96
Siena, 105, 224
Signora, 108, 279, 292
Silicon, 243
Simmons, 252, 266, 281
Simonton, 227, 245, 255
Sims, 233
Simulations, 242
Singers, 212, 294
Sirleaf, 289
Siskel, 244
Skagway, 286
Skirble, 258
Skookum, 286
Skunk, 97, 204
Skurry, 52, 220, 223
Skynd, 240, 246
Slave, 7, 16, 68, 129
Slaves, 96, 276, 292
Sleeper, 95, 173
Sleeping, 95, 162
Slipping, 33, 69, 121
Sliprails, 140, 151
Sloane, 135, 223
Slowing, 259, 264
Smet, 160
Snuff, 228
Soerabaja, 217
Sok, 284, 285
Sola, 298
Solomons, 217
Somerville, 47, 192
Sonny, 134
Sooth, 79, 85
Soothe, 49, 264
Sophia, 19, 179
Sothea, 273, 288, 290
Sousa, 136
Southeast, 274, 298
Sovereign, 22, 53, 57
Soviet, 216, 273, 275
Spaniards, 102, 191
Sparks, 45, 132, 166
Speakers, 249, 252
Speculation, 203, 247, 265, 288
Spencer, 245
Spiegelberg, 121, 122
Spirn, 232
Split, 14, 265, 276, 287
Sport, 210, 294
Spratt, 235
Springs, 168, 274
Spy, 144, 177, 184, 185
Squadron, 17, 74, 167
SRP, 280
SSI, 228
Staden, 239
Stage-Land, 136
Standard, 228, 240, 248, 258
Standfast, 176
Stanton, 227, 245, 255
Star-Rover, 196
Stead, 17, 204
Steer, 273
Steiner, 224
Steinmetz, 56
Stella, 18, 216
Stenqvist, 232, 233
Stepping, 103, 177, 236
Sterling, 223, 228
Stetson, 173
Steven, 244, 272
Stickles, 75, 184
Stitt, 244, 255
Stockholm, 15, 231
Stocks, 248, 296
Stops, 54, 73, 292
Storer, 176
Storey, 94, 281
Storms, 46, 300
Stratemeyer, 145
String, 87, 136, 176
Strogoff, 79, 80
Stroke, 5, 28, 272, 278, 280
Stronger, 18, 85, 104, 252
Strouse, 225
Studio, 135, 205, 248
Sturdy, 5, 232
Sturt, 229, 230, 231
Subcommittee, 229
Suburbs, 87, 259, 261
Succession, 10, 20, 45, 89
Sucrose, 239, 289
Suffrage, 186, 211
Sullivan, 91, 247
Summoning, 40, 82, 126
Sunny, 64, 96
Superior, 6, 43, 113
Supernatural, 131
Supplemental, 284
Surgical, 139, 151, 184
Suro, 264, 268
Surrey, 198
Surveillance, 258
Survival, 183, 221
Susag, 204
Suspected, 17, 62, 273, 288, 292
Suuri, 232, 233
Svitak, 294, 295
Swabia, 8
Swaim, 256
Swallowing, 112, 134
Swap, 296
Sweden, 214, 240
Swedish, 18, 231
Sweeping, 6, 268, 272
Sweeten, 233
Sydenham, 121, 122
Sykes, 243, 271
Sylva, 240
Sylvie, 292
Symbols, 271
Syndicate, 201
Syndrome, 234, 243, 261, 277
Syrian, 281, 292

T

Tackle, 12, 255, 270, 278
Tadic, 274
Taffy, 230
Tailor, 56
Taiwan, 231
Tajik, 246, 251
Tang, 14
Tapper, 238
Taras, 44
Tartars, 9, 80
Tarun, 239, 243
Tarzan, 188
Tate, 229
Teams, 105, 248, 267
Technical, 204, 228, 256
Technique, 241, 243
Tecnoprint, 227
Ted, 199, 230
Teens, 278
Telegenic, 242, 243
Tempest, 5, 6, 12, 53
Tennis, 174, 208
Tension, 144, 273, 292
Tentative, 207, 216, 223
Teresa, 11, 12, 186
Terezinha, 291
Terminus, 64, 176
Terrain, 272
Terry, 227, 242, 253
Tess, 114
Tessa, 244
Tetley, 225
Thacher, 222
Thai, 274, 292
Thaksin, 274
Thanksgiving, 124, 268
Thayer, 73
Theft, 139, 243
Thelma, 124
Theo, 28
Theocritus, 123
Theodora, 63, 180
Theron, 101
Thoreau, 50, 275, 276
Thoris, 298
Thorndike, 220
Thoroughfare, 68, 100, 116
Throb, 178
Thrush, 26, 101
Tides, 74, 99
Tim, 233, 240, 243, 271
Timberlake, 242
Timmy, 240, 241
Timur, 9
Tin, 181, 202, 256
Tingfang, 195
Titan, 180
Tith, 288, 290
Titus, 76
Tiverton, 106
Tobacco, 228
Todd, 253, 254
Togo, 281, 282
Togolese, 252, 282
Tolerance, 238, 278
Tolman, 84
Tomahawk, 168, 261
Tomislav, 274
Tommy, 36, 151, 166, 249
Toot, 240, 241
Torrent, 34, 51, 54, 254
Torture, 68, 296
Tough, 233, 248, 252, 270
Toulouse, 8
Tourgee, 88
Tower, 94, 102, 128, 247, 290
Towers, 261, 290
Toyota, 256
Toys, 120, 138
Tracks, 89, 231, 257, 280
Trading, 97, 235, 248
Trails, 99, 100
Transcript, 19, 287, 294
Transfer, 266, 267, 268, 273
Transit, 80, 257
Translators, 235
Transmission, 109, 221, 234, 287
Traveller, 39, 62, 69, 164
Travelling, 15, 76, 97
Traverse, 72, 211
Treasury, 278, 286
Treatise, 19, 20
Trelawny, 104
Tremor, 285
Trench, 106, 227
Trever, 216
Tribunes, 48
Trilogy, 5, 130
Tripoli, 7
Troll, 185, 186
Troubles, 69, 163, 254
Troy, 214, 227, 239
Trust, 47, 140, 292, 295
Tshekisho, 104
Tsunami, 279
Tub, 18, 140
Tuckett, 238
Tuileries, 25
Tuncer, 249
Turbessel, 7
Turenne, 14, 15
Tuscany, 12, 133
Twists, 81, 119, 170
Typee, 48
Tyre, 288, 289
Tytler, 88
Tzu, 183

U

Ubaida, 296
Uganda, 293
Uitgebreid, 270, 273
Ukraine, 275, 299
Ukrainians, 275
U-N, 251
Unbearable, 193
Unbridgeable, 287
Uncertain, 44, 270, 271
Underdogs, 147
Undergoing, 35, 247, 295, 298
Understanding, 70, 118, 299

Undine, 33
Undo, 234
Une, 87
Unfamiliar, 101, 186
UNHCR, 266, 267, 273, 274
Unilateralism, 265
Unintelligible, 58, 98
Unique, 90, 253
Unity, 31, 297
Univers, 235
Universe, 142, 237, 240
Universities, 239, 244, 251
Unlimited, 239, 254
Unrest, 81, 111, 183
Unter, 239
Untilled, 142
Unwin, 225, 229
Upcoming, 262, 269, 297
Ursula, 291
Usher, 40, 278, 291
USSSR, 240
Utah, 229, 230, 276

V

Vaccari, 222
Vachel, 171, 193
Vaginia, 240
Vajra, 276, 277
Val, 230
Valby, 232, 233
Valentine, 99, 195
Valiant, 10, 161, 162
Vanity, 48, 71, 202
Vansittart, 111
Velasco, 48
Venables, 121
Venetians, 8, 40
Venice, 12, 227
Veracruz, 48
Vergara, 46
Vergniaud, 25, 124
Vesuvius, 144
Veto, 256, 264
Victoire, 161
Vie, 87
Vietnam, 277, 284
Vigilance, 78
Vigny, 38
Vigo, 220
VII, 8, 10, 218
VIII, 6
Viking, 220, 223
Viktor, 275
Villers, 212
Vincent, 203
Vinci, 10
Viola, 221
Virgin, 171
Virginian, 97
Visiting, 23, 190, 236, 289
Vite, 235, 271
Vizier, 18, 102, 211
Vocal, 167, 222
Vodopianov, 216
Vogau, 198
Voisu, 264, 269
Volunteer, 32, 205
Voting, 274, 295

W

Wacousta, 34
Wake-Robin, 76
Wakes, 39, 144, 173
Wallenstein, 154
Walsh, 224, 240
Wandered, 81, 295
Warburg, 220, 221, 222, 228
Warnes, 243, 271
Wasmuth, 216
Wason, 156
Waswo, 296
Watch-Tower, 142
Water-Babies, 56
Waterlow, 34
Watkin, 43
Watterson, 108
Wayne, 245, 274
Weakening, 180, 277
Weale, 197
Webbe, 44
Weber, 109, 127
Weekend, 239, 269, 295
Weiner, 241
Welles, 238
Wellington, 41, 102, 109, 229
Wellman, 295
Welsh, 69
Wendell, 95
Were-Wolves, 147
Wes, 261
Westminster, 83, 112, 174, 227
Wheat, 68, 236, 238, 240
Whibley, 139
Whirlwind, 37, 78, 162
Whitcomb, 111
Whitefoot, 204
Whyte, 138
Wight, 17
Wildfire, 252
Wiley, 246
Willard, 167, 220
Willows, 142
Wiltshire, 139, 154
Winding, 148, 161
Window-Gazer, 159, 160
Windsor, 6, 173
Winfield, 134, 145
Winning, 88, 118, 119, 190
Wisconsin, 224, 296
Withdrawing, 274, 277
Woad, 213
Wolfville, 134, 135
Wollstonecraft, 23
Woman-Hater, 59
Woodland, 65
Woodstock, 29
Woodville, 10
Woolson, 81
Worcester, 13, 83
Workmen, 28, 33, 104, 175
Worldly, 43, 154
Wotton, 12
Wounds, 22, 39, 150, 203, 298
Wrecker, 94

Writings, 21, 89
WTO, 251

X

Xavier, 214

Y

Yaacov, 232
Yachts, 241
Yardley, 247
Yarmouth, 25, 26, 157, 211
Yerkes, 198
Yeshara, 232
Yogi, 208, 209
Yolen, 284
Yost, 88
Younger, 71, 89, 113, 169
Youngest, 92, 293
Yukon, 286
Yushchenko, 275
Yvette, 86
Yvonne, 141

Z

Zafarullah, 254
Zagazig, 235
Zakhar, 143
Zambia, 250
Zanoni, 48
Zaragoza-Castells, 295, 300
Zealand, 254
Zelinski, 244, 264, 268
Zengi, 7
Zenobia, 39
Zetec, 237
Zevon, 277
Zheng, 14, 280, 294
Zia, 285
Ziefert, 233
Zimmerman, 269
Zorrilla, 62